YEAR OF EFFICIENT WORK

PORTLAND WOMEN'S UNION AT ANNUAL MEETING.

Good Progress in the Various Departments and Satisfactory Condition of the Finances.

The annual meeting of the Portland Women's Union was held yesterday at the Women's Home, 519 Flinders street, and was attended by a large number of members and friends of the Union. Reports of officers were heard, which showed that the Home and the organization are in flourishing condition. The president, Mrs. C. E. Templeton, presided, and Mrs. W. A. McRae was appointed temporary secretary.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. C. E. Templeton; first vice-president, Mrs. P. F. Morey; second vice-president, Mrs. John Conner; treasurer, Mrs. William Macmaster; secretary, Mrs. H. Y. Hamilton; members of the board of directors, Mrs. P. J. Mann, Mrs. L. White, Mrs. W. J. Moneyman, Mrs. R. F. Burrell.

Report of President.
Mrs. C. E. Templeton gave her report as president, saying in part: "To review work well done, or a task successfully accomplished, is always a pleasant occupation. Nothing unusual happened during the past year, and that is good. In the history of a nation, or of an individual, or of a cause, those years are best in which things generally follow their natural course of development and quietly work out their own destiny. The reports of our various committees will show that we have been peacefully active in every direction; that we have maintained our own, but that commendable progress was made all along the line. It is my privilege to thank the ladies who so kindly and faithfully devoted their time and efforts to our cause."

"I am glad to be able to report that the number of our friends and supporters is steadily growing. The better our work is known, the more highly it is appreciated. The central idea of the work of the Portland Women's Union is the advancement of women. Therefore, we most cheerfully welcome the sister association recently organized in our city. There are indeed many ways to further the cause of the self-supporting woman. Far from thinking that ours is the only method, we most heartily welcome every endeavor to promote her welfare. She needs, as we all do, a heavenly message to direct her eye toward the higher things, the true, the beautiful, the good. But she likewise needs, as we all do, that sun of earthly happiness which so beneficently smiles at us from among those kindly associations inseparably connected with what we call our Home. We try to furnish the business woman a place where she may be home after the wear and tear of her busy day; home supposes a mother. There is no real home without a mother, and our boarding home is no exception. We have every reason to be proud of our home mother. To her motherly heart, her intelligent care, her wise management, we owe the best result of our work."

Report of Household Committee.
The report of the household committee was read by Mrs. H. H. Northrup, in part as follows: "We report 30 meetings held during the year, a quorum almost always being present. At 15 meetings all the members were present. We have been able to add to the comfort and safety of the home in several ways, and have much encouragement in knowing that those who may be privileged to make it their home will be benefited by these additions."

The largest number registered during one month was 40 in August, 1900. The number of meals served for the year was 3,667. There are now in the house 25 persons, employed as follows: Four clerks, three unemployed, two business

NED DAUGHERTY DEAD

EXPIRES FROM HEART DISEASE ON THE YUKON.

Served in the Navy Through the Civil War—County Jailor for More Than Ten Years.

A telegram was received here yesterday announcing the death, April 30, at White Horse Rapids, Yukon River, of Edward J. Daugherty, of Portland. Heart disease was the cause, and the attack was instantly fatal. Next day the body was sent to Skagway to be embalmed and to await instructions from his family. It will be brought here for burial.

Mr. Daugherty left here less than two months ago, with four other men from Portland to work as ship calkers for the Canadian Navigation Company, which is building several craft to ply between the railroad terminus and Dawson. He learned the trade of calker when a boy, at his birthplace, St. John, N. B. At the breaking out of the Civil War he enlisted in the Navy and served bravely throughout the struggle. After the war he came to San Francisco in a naval vessel and worked for a time in the navy-yard. He came to Portland about 25 years ago, and nearly half the time served as County Jailor under four different Sheriffs. He was a member of Lincoln-Garfield Post, G. A. R., the A. O. U. W. and the Exempt Firemen's Association. He had a great many friends here. He left a wife and three children living at 372 Fourth street, this city.

DEATH OF N. K. MASTEN.

Well-Known Financial Agent of Southern Pacific Company.

N. K. Masten, financial agent for the Southern Pacific Company, and father of E. C. Masten, the assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in this city, died of heart disease at his home in San Francisco, last night, at 9 o'clock. He was 60 years and one day old, and came to California in 1860. At first, he was connected with the Hibernia and the Nevada banks, and then he went into the railroad business. He was one of the few surviving members of the old Union Club. But it is as the able financial agent of the Southern Pacific Company that Mr. Masten became best known. He became a trusted lieutenant of the late C. P. Huntington, and in the panic of 1893 he engineered difficult financial problems. At one time the Southern Pacific had to pay $3,000,000 as the semi-annual interest on its bonds. It was demonstrated that the sum could not be raised in San Francisco, but that Mr. Huntington could borrow it in New York. In the meantime Mr. Masten negotiated small loans in San Francisco, from day to day, until the big loan came along. It was intricate work, but Mr. Masten succeeded, and earned Mr. Huntington's gratitude. In 1895, Mr. Masten's health was undermined by blood poisoning, and he became seriously ill at his residence at Menlo Park, but eventually recovered. A week ago the old trouble prostrated him, and this, with an attack of heart disease, caused his death.

PAYING NO COMMISSIONS.

Timber Land Agent's Plain Over Change in Business Methods.

"Considerable timber land is changing hands these days in Oregon," said a well-informed middle-man yesterday, "but we poor commission agents get very little benefit of it."

"Last year there were too many agents trying to sell the same property, and prospective purchasers were disgusted. One agent would ask double what another did, while the owner of the land would come in for a small share of the proceeds. Now the buyer and owner get together and make a price; the cruiser is sent to ascertain the location and value, and the deal is made without paying anybody a commission. "The price paid ranges from 10 cents to 20 cents per 1000 feet, on the tract, except where the timber is convenient to navigable streams, and here it reaches 25. Purchases are not made on the basis of feet.
