TERM -IS OPENED

STATE CIRCUIT COURT NEEDS NO JURY TILL JUNE.

Attorney Chamberlain Asked That No Grand Jury Be Chosen-Cases Set for Trial.

The May term of the State Circuit Court was opened yesterday morning. There was a large attendance of lawyers, and considerable business was transacted. The four Judges occupied the bench when court convened, Judge Frazer pre-

District Attorney Chamberlain did not make a request for a grand jury. The only criminal case of importance is that of Dr. Von Grueningen, charged with manulaughter in having killed Fred Bermansiaughter in having killed Fred Berstecher. The evidence adduced at the Coroner's Inquest indicated that it was a case of self-defense, and the District Attorney seems to think he can complete the investigation of the matter himself, and that it is not necessary to have a grand jury pass upon it. Under the present law the District Attorney can file an information against Von Geningen if the evidence before him justifies such a course.

Injunction Suit.

G. W. Allen yesterday filed suit against L. D. McArdle and the Co-operative Investment Company in the State Circuit Court, to enjoin the sale or incumbrance of the undivided one-half of lot 2, block 77, Portland, three lots at Highland Park, and a lot at Woodlawn. Allen in his complaint alleges that he holds a judgment plaint alleges that he holds a judgment against McArdle for $15%, rendered by the Superior Court in the State of Washing-ton, and placed upon the records of Multnomah County in December, 1900. At that time the property previously referred to and also 21 lots at Highland Park were attached. McArdie, it is stated, owns the undivided one-half of tot 2 block 77, Portland, in common with M. McArdie, it is stated, owns the undivided one-haif of lot 2 block II, Portland, in common with M. Billings, and the German Savings & Loan Society holds a mortgage against the property for $10,000. The charge is made that four days before the attachment was levied McArdie conveyed his undivided one-haif interest to the Co-operative Investment Company for the purpose of covering up his ownership and hindering his creditors, the consideration being $10. his creditors, the consideration being $10, and it is further asserted that three lots at Highland Park and the Woodlawn lot described as lot 11, block 29, are held by the investment company for the same reason. In conclusion it is averred that McArdig is endeavoring to negotiate with innocent third parties with the lutention of putting the property out of his reach, and that of his creditors, and it is asked that he be enjoined from selling or mortgaging it. The court granted the customers are limitary, restraining order. iomary preliminary restraining order, pending a hearing of the case, Cases Set for Trial.

Judge Frazer stated in view of the fact that there were but a few jury cases to come up during the term, he would ex-cuse the jurors until June 3 at which time all matters requiring a jury will be taken up in quick succession. Jury trials in civil suits have been waived in many cases, and the trials will be before the Captain James T. Gray, who has been steamboating on the Yukon for the last two or three Summers, is looking forward to going up there again before long. He says boating on the Yukon is quite a different thing from boating on the Co-lumbla. The distance from 8t. Michaels to Dawson is 190 miles and a cound to Dawson is 1800 miles, and a round trip occupies 30 to 40 days, long enough to go to China and back. There is no still water on the Yukon. The current is always running from three to eight miles an hour, and if a boat stops her wheel she begins to go down stream at once. In such a long journey it is impossible to remember all the channels, snags, bars, etc., and a captain has to note down all such things, and he has also to learn to read the water.

The trip up the river is a very tiresome

one. There are about 20 places to stop at on the trip, and a great deal of time is taken up in wooding. Some of the larger boats burn 75 cords of wood per day, and it takes about half the time to get this on board the boats. Last season there were four boats of 1200 tons plying on the river. In supplying water to the bollers, great care has to be taken to prevent sand from getting in. Seven bollers were burned out in one trip last fall on account of sand and mud. Last season there were 39 steamers running or season there were a steamers running on the Yukon, aggregating a capacity of not less than 20,000 tons, and there were also 32 barges, having a capacity of 12,000 tons. This was owing to the Nome excitement. This year Captain Gray says there will not be more than half as many boats on the Yukon. The season for boating there is short, lasting from about July 20 to September 1.

JESSE C. MORGAN WRITES OF BLIZZARD OF JANUARY 19.

Sevember Election News Does Not Reach Nome Until February 6-Other Nome Items.

Two letters have recently been received from Jesse C. Morgan, a well-known young man of this city, who is now in Nome. The letters were received by his family, who reside at 431 Montgomery street. One of the letters, which bears date of January 26, describes the fearful blizzard which wrought such havoc at Nome on January 19. Among other things the letter says:

Nome on January 19. Among other things the letter says:

"The last blizzard froze quite a number of people, and they are being brought in every day. Rellef parties are being sent out to different places where parties are badly frozen and without grub. One party left this morning for the head of Nome River, where 17 people are gathered in one igloo, all of whom are too badly frozen to travel, and several are still further on at St. Mary's igloo, dead."

An igloo, it should be explained, is

IN THE ST. HELENS DISTRICT Valuable Ores Received From the Polar Star Group.

E. A. Sessions, secretary of the Cas-cadia Mining & Development Company, which owns properties in Northern Ska-mania County, in the St. Helens district, yesterday received specimens of very ex-cellent ore from the Polar Star group. The samples contain about 40 per cent copper, 10 per cent silver and 10 per cent gold. Assays show the ore body will yield from $150 to $175 per ton. The rock is highly charged with copper, and the metal manifests itself to the eye without aid of a microscope. If the specimens fairly represent the ore of the mine, the company has a valuable property, and as the district is near Portland the people of this city will find interest in it. The great problem with which the St. Helena district has to struggle is that of transportation. At present the ores are shipped to the Tacoma smelter at great expense, but with the extension of the Vancouver & Yakima Railroad and con-struction of a smelter at Portland the ore would gravitate to this city. Develop-ment of the St. Helens district is greatly aided by the fact that the country has been broken up by volcanic action into deep canyons. The ledges are therefore exposed and the expense of shafts and pumping is obviated.

FAIR RETURNS FROM PLACERS Portland Man's First Experience 1 Douglas County Dirt.

James Jansen, a former Portlander, who has been placer mining in Douglas County since last Fall, returned yesterday with a goodly supply of coarse gold and nuggets, which he disposed of at 318 an ounce. He considered himself well repsid for the time spent, although this was his first attempt at mining and he had considerable to learn.

The claim upon which he worked is sit.

that lies between the surface and the bedrock. After the gravel is piped off the bedrock is scraped into aliace boxes and thus the wold is secured. Mr. Jansen figured that the claim produced $5 a day to the man on the average. Of the 20 acres, not one whole acre has yet been washed off into Cow Creek, but a careful estimate shows that $22,000 has been taken from that area. The gold runs in nuggets of $3.50 in value down, and being all-coarse, no quickuliver is needed in saving it.

He thinks mining in Southern Oregon is one of the pleasantest occupations in the world, as the Winter climate is mild and the elevation of the diggings renders the locality healthful. Scarcity of fresh provisions was the only drawback, as his camp is 10 miles distant from Riddles station, with a high, rugged ridge intervening. He expects, the ensuing Summer, to fit up the mine with a more modern equipment and better stock of supplies, so that much more ground may be worked off next rainy season, at a great deal less expense and inconvenience. He thinks there are lots of just as good diggings as his in that portion of Douglas County, where men may make good pay if they can stand the hard work and isolation for six months of the year. He thinks mining in Southern Oregon is

EAST SIDE MATTERS.

Petition to County Court for East Burnside Street Extension.

A petition will be presented to the County Court on the 10th of the month, asking for the opening and extension of East Burnside street from the city limits to a connection of Edison avenue at the intersection of Davidson avenue. intersection of Davidson avenue. This petition has been circulated in Center Addition and in the district interested, receiving a considerable number of signatures. Still the extension will not have clear sailing, as some whose property the street will pass through are not pleased with the prospect of losing a slice of land. However, the benefits will be very great should the street be opened, as it great should the street be opened, as it will be sooner or later. Montavilla is anxious to get a direct street to the Burnside bridge and the Sub-Board of Trade for that place is working for this purpose. For the extension of the street to the city limits the preliminaries have been started by the City Council in the ap-poigtment of viewers.

Was Modern Crib Work. Just now the people of Sellwood and University Park are reading all the his-tory they can get hold of concerning the visit of Captain Clark up the Willamette River. That he came up the Wil-amette and stayed a night or two at an Indian village near a wappato lake there is no doubt. Both Sellwood and University Park have claims to the honor of being the place the explorer stopped. At a recent meeting, the Sellwood Sub-Board of Trade had the matter under discussion when the statement was made that Clark had slept in a log house and that the flace where this log cabin had stood in City View Park could be seen. An elderly gentleman, who had listened intently to the discussion, arose and said that there could be no mistake whatever about the remains of the old log cabin in which the explorer passed the night be-ing seen. He had seen the old bottom logs that formed the foundation of this cabin many a time, and he could take any one right to where the crib could be found. As he sat down another man in the audience arose and said that he had no doubt the crib work was still there, as he had helped build it about 20 years ago when the lake was filled with wappa-tes and was good shooting grounds. The incident caused considerable amusement. but the claims of Sellwood rest on better dation than the modern crib work.

Funeral of Mrs. Lua Cranston.

The funeral of Mrs. Lua Cranston, wife of Charles K. Cranston, of Pendleton, has been arranged to take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Taylor-street Methodist Church. The Rev. H. K. Hines, father of the deceased, was in Southern Oregon, but was wired concerning the death of his daughter and is now in the city. Mrs. Cranston was well knows at Salem and Portyand. At the former place she attended the Willamette University for a time, and then made her home on the East Side until her marriage to Mr. Cranston. She had been an invalid for about 15 years and suffered intensely. Hers was a beautiful character of patience through long suffering. Funeral of Mrs. Lun Cranston. tience through long suffering.

Will Sell the Farm. Judge Ryan and Richard Scott, of the trustees having in charge the Odd Fellows farm, at Cleone, both say that the farm will be sold. Both are opposed to retaining it, notwithstanding some Odd Fellows think it should be retained. They control of First English Church; Carus added to Oregon City; McCoy added to Monmouth; Ballston and Mill Creek have full authority to dispose of it and made new appointments and served with less than $6000. The trustees think the money can be invested in something else for the maintenance of the home on the Riley property.

Enst Side Notes. Construction on two dwellings to cost commenced on East Twelfth and East Ankeny streets.

Mrs. L. H. Clark, of Gresham, who was stricken with paralysis several weeks ago, has recovered sufficiently to be able to visit friends on the East Side. County School Superintendent Robinson and teachers in attendance are pleased with the hospitality with which Monta-villa people treated them during the in-stitute on Saturday.

A number of tents have already been set up in the Ladd grove, north of Sun-nyside, in advance of the Seventh Day Adventist campmeeting and conference, The campers come from a distance.

At the Intersection of East Stark and East Eleventh streets, a big fill is being made. A considerable portion of the dirt came from the basement of the new Cen-tral schoolhouse, and more is being ob-tained from East Eleventh street, which is being improved.

Dr. Wise has removed to rooms 211, 212 and 218. The Failing, cor. 3d and Wash.
