SHE USED A PITCHFORK

FOUGHT VICTORIOUSLY WITH

Disarmed Him of His Rasor and Then Put Him to Flight.

BAKER CITY, Or., May 8.—Mrs. O. P. Ison, of this city, had a very thrilling experience with a tramp the other evening, and the facts have just been made

A tramp, evidently a foreigner, applied to her for something to eat in the af-termoon, but, having nothing prepared at the time, she refused. The same even-ing, fusi after Mr. Ison had left the house, about 8 o'clock to go down town, Mrs. Jan had secasion to with the harn Mrs. Ison had occasion to visit the barn, where she surprised her visitor of the afternoon in the act of setting fire to the hay. Seizing a pitchfork the woman attacked the hobo, who drew a razor, and for a time there was a lively battle. The trump slashed with his razor, and Mrs. Ison pitched in with her fork. Her dress was cut in several places, and she re-ceived a slight wound on the arm before she disarmed her assaliant by knocking the ranor from his hand, after which he beat a hasty retreat

The fire was gaining headway and required attention, or doubtless the victor-ious woman would have followed and cap-tured the tramp. She sounded an alarm of fire, and then proceeded to throw the burning hay out of the barn and to put out the fire, a task which she had alout the fire, a lask which she had al-most accomplished before the neighbors and her husband appeared on the scene. The officers were notified and an effort was made to locate the hobo, but he evidently did not tarry long in the vicin-ity. The modesty of the heroine accounts for failure of the matter to get publicity before.

A TERRIBLE ORDEAL.

Man W und Around a Shaft Received Many Injuries.

OREGON CITY, Or., May 8.—The clothing of Councilman S. V. Francis was caught by a shaft this morning while he was alling machinery in one of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company's mills. He received injuries that will probably main him for life. His body was re-volved around the shaft with fearful rapidity, and the machinery had to be shut down before his clothing could be re-leased. The attending physician reports that the sufferer has a severe scalp wound, one car almost torn off, and the other split nearly in two. There are two fractures in the humerus bone of the left arm, two ribs broken and a frac-ture in one of the lower bones of one is expressed that Mr. Francis will

REMOVAL OF LUMBER MILLS.

Business Considerations Will Decide the Matter.

BAKER CITY, Or., May 8.—President David Eccies, of the Gregon Lumber Company, arrived in town yesterday. Speaking of the proposed removal of the mills of the company to Whitney, he said that he had not yet determined what would be done. He said the matter would be considered purely from a business point of view, and if, all things con-sidered, a removal seemed desirable, it would be made. In regard to the proposed municipal electric light plant, he ad no opinion to advance

DEED OF A MADMAN.

Murdered a Neighbor and Killed

Himself. OREGON CITY, Or., May 8.—E. S. Mc-Clinsey, while in a fit of insanity, shot and killed Howard Baker and then killed himself with the same gun at Boone's Ferry, 12 miles south of this place, this evening. Sheriff Cooke received a tele-phone message at 5 P. M. to go and arrest McClinsey, who was believed to be instane. Half an hour afterward another message brought the news of the trag-edy. McClinsey had been away several days, and on returning home threatened to shoot W. A. Crisell. Baker, a neighboring farmer, went to McClinsey's house to take care of him, and was shot. Both men were middle-aged, and left families.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

SHEPHERD KILLED ANOTHER IN A QUARREL.

Both Defendant and Prosecution Have Engaged Prominent Lawyers.

PRINEVIILE, May 8.—Crook County has been the scene of many a bloody tragedy, but on the morning of April 4 a killing occurred which equals, if not surpasses, in sensation and excitement, any of the homicides of the criminal surpasses, in sensation and excitement, any of the homicides of the criminal annals of Crook County.

Thomas O'Reilly was shot and instantly killed by D. L. Bruner. Bruner was a sheepherder in the employ of the Prineville Land & Livestock Company, of which Henry Hahn, of Portland, is the president and principal stockholder. The dead man was a homestead settler on Muddy Creek in the northern portion of Crook County.

Muddy Creek in the northern portion of Crook County.

The Prineville Land & Livestock Company are the owners of several thousand head of sheep which are accustomed to range in the hills near Muddy Creek, the scene of the killing. They also own two ranches on that creek and each ranch has been the headquarters of a band of about 2000 sheep. These ranches lie about a mile and a half apart in the bed of the creek. These two ranches embrace most of the choice land in that immediate neighborhood. Some time immediate neighborhood. Some time within the past few months O'Reilliy filed a homestead on the creek between the two ranches. For years past it has been the practice of the company to run their sheep up the creek over the land claimed by the deceased to the range. On either side of the creek is a precipitous rim rock almost inaccessible by man or beast, and the whole of the dead man's claim is a rocky and barren waste, but still it was his.

O'Reilly protested to the company against the company driving their sheep over his ranch, and threatened vengeance of all kinds.

of all kinds. On the fatal morning Bruner started from the lower ranch to the upper ranch with a band of sheep and must in so doing pass over O'Rellly's land. Creegan, a partner of the dead man, seemed to be posted on the rocky hilleide on the west side of the creek as a sentry. When he saw Bruner coming with the sheep he signaled O'Rellly, who seized a rifle and started to meet Bruner on the east side of the creek. He met him. A quarrel and fight ensued. As a result of that quarrel O'Rellly is dead. As to the fact and nature of the killing all is not clear. Creegan claims that the purpose of the dead man in going to meet Bruner was to warn him off from his land, and in so doing it became prowith a band of sheep and must in so dohis land, and in so doing it became pro-per for him to show to Bruner the cor-ner mounments of his property. While O'Reilly was about to lead Bruner to one of the monuments and while his back was turned, Creegan claims that Bruner drew a pistol and shot O'Reilly through the left arm. O'Reilly then dropped his rifle and started to run. Bruner fired another shot or two with his pistol and another shot or two with his pistol and missed the fleeing man each shot and then picked up the rifle, a repeater, and fired two shots, the last of which took effect in the back of O'Reilly's head, making its exit at the center of the forehead. Such appeared to be the facts disclosed at the Coroner's inquest and preliminary examination.

preliminary examination. Bruner was held to answer to the charge of murder in the first degree, and was committed to the County Jail without bail. He has made no statement so far as can be accertained concerning his version of the homicide. But he has made every preparation for a thorough defense. MURDER AND SUICIDE. Double Tragedy Enacted in Harney County. BURNS, Or., May 8.—A tragic murder and suicide were enacted at Harney on the morning of May 4. John Maher shot and killed John Wyatt and then took his own life. Maher was 53 years old, and Wyatt 38. Both were old residents of the county owned property and had of the county, owned property and had tor several years evinced strong friend-ship for each other. They were arrang-ing to go by their own conveyance to Baker City, and the evening before came together to the Wyatt place near Harney.

together to the Wyatt place near Harney. Pistol shots were heard in the morning, but as it was not an uncommon occurrence, no attention was given to it. But at about 8 o'clock the first visitors to the scene saw a gruesome sight.

Both men had occupied the same bed, and Wyatt was preparing breakfast. Maher had dressed and gone first to a near-by structure used as a storeroom, opened his trunk and evidently taken a 38-caliber revolver therefrom and The caliber revolver therefrom and The Weekly Oregonian containing an account of the late tragic death of Canby and of the late tragic death of Canby and Brown at Vancouver, for the page was open as if freshly read. DWELLING-HOUSE BURNED. Property Destroyed Valued at $900-Defective Flue.

SALEM, Or., May 8.—A dwelling-house owned by the Pacific States Savings, Loan & Building Association, and occupied by C. C. Robinson, was destroyed by fire this The loss on the building was $500; no insurance; loss on household goods, $400; no insurance. The fire is supposed to have caught from a defective flue. The house was far out in the sub-urbs, and by the time the Fire Depart ment arrived the flames had gained too much headway to be checked.

The Fire Department was also called out this morning to extinguish a roof fire in Warren Johns' harness shop, on State street, near Commercial. The fire caught from a stovepipe projecting through a moss-covered roof. Because of proximity to large business blocks, this fire endangered considerable property; but it was extinguished without the aid of the department.
