presented a sad spectacle. County Phy-sician Harry McKay was present and interrogated Covacevich, asking if he was not financially able to provide for the child. The father answered that he was. Dr. McKay continued: "You have got a home?" "Yes," replied the father. "Well, the Poor Farm is not maintained for such cases." said the doctor, "It is for poor people. Take it home and care for it." The father stated that it was very hard for him to care for the child, who was crany. Some one present re-marked that the child ought to be sent to the Insane Asylum. Covacevich took the advice and made a complaint for com-

Road Master William B. Steele submit-ted his first official communication to the County Commissioners yesterday. It was about the probable cost of a bicycle path much desired on East Twenty-first street beginning at Division street and extending south on East Twenty-first street to the Southern Pacific car shops, the path to be six feet wide. The Road Master states in his report that the probable cost of the path of earth with wood curb 4xll set down six inches below the street grade and leveled and rolled with gravel on same will be $127. If made of planks the probable cost will be $756, or a dif-ference of $60. Charles Emlie Jacque was born in 1813 and sur-vived until 1834, the last representative of the famous group of painters known as the Barbizon school. He was especially noted as a painter of sheep and the ex-hibited picture shows a shepherdess lead-ing her flock in a pleasant landscape, a scene of quiet peacefulness such as the artist best loved. Jacque was also an etcher of great merit, and in fact, it was in that branch of art that he first gained recognition. Photographs from the draw-ings and paintings of Leonardo are also exhibited. They will remain in piace till exhibited. They will remain in place till June 1. The rooms are open daily from 1 to 4:30 P. M., with free admission on Thursdays and Saturdays.

It is right. Mr. Pope said the time checks given to the men by the road supervisors show-ing the amount of work performed was the proper way. He asked before whom the men would take the oath. Judge Cake answered that the Auditor could swear them, and Mr. Pope explained that a man might have a claim for not more than might have a claim for not more than a dollar, and he would not want to come from a country district all the way to Portland to be sworn. Judge Cake sug-gested that the road supervisors could swear the men, and the Auditor replied that each country have not sutherized that road supervisors are not authorized to administer oaths. His Honor then said notaries would do, and Pope called at-tention to the fact that the notary's fee would be charged the man, amounting to 50 cents. The Auditor contended that if the plan The Auditor contended that it the plan was adopted of having the men present and swear in bills for their time, any man could swear in a bill against the county who did not have anything com-ing to him, and others who did could make the amount as large as they pleased,

The statute provides: "The Auditor is authorized and empow-ered to administer gaths and may re-guire any person presenting for settlement an account or claim for any cause against the county to be sworn before him touching said account or claim," etc. Auditor Pope says the word "may" makes it-discretionary with him to swear a person or not.
