WILL TRY ONCE MORE. Committee to Ask the President to Spend Two Days in Oregon.

As there is a very general desire on the part of the people of Portland that Presi-dent McKinley and party should make a longer stay here than was provided for in the itinerary of his trip, Mayor Rowe has appointed a committee of six to go to San Francisco and endeavor to make arrangements to that end. The committee consists of Messrs Fred W. Mulkey, Tohn H. Hall George & Steel W. John H. Hall, George A. Steel, M. C. George, J. E. Haseltine and I. L. Patter-son. They will leave for San Francisco about the first of next week, and will use all their elequence in endeavoring to per-suade the President to cut short his stay in California a day and have another day in Oregon, in order that he may make a trip to the mouth of the Columbia, to see the jetty and give the new fortifications

City School Superintendent Frank Rigier and Supervisor of Physical Training Rob-ert Krohn, who have in hand the matter of arranging for the pupils getting a view of President McKinley on his visit here. are having seats erected on the five park blocks, between Main and Market streets for the accommodation of the children. There will be five tiers of seats on each

This flag will doubtless form a very striking feature, but just how it can be made to wave is not known.

Ohio Delegation Invited. joint telegram from Mayor Rowe, Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and Commercial Club of this city Mas been sent to the Ohio Congressional delegation, who, it is understood, are foiowing on the trail of President McKiney and party, extending a cordial invi-ation to them to visit Oregon and the City of Portland. They are advised that it will be well for them to spend three days here in order to visit the Cascade Locks and the mouth of the Columbia, and see the scenery of the Columbia. Should the delegation decide to visit Portland they will be the guests of the commercial bodies extending the invitation and will be royally treated, and their stay here made pleasant.

CARS ON SECOND STREET.

Property-Owners Will Try to Induce City & Suburban to Divide Traffic.

Some Second-street property-owners are talking of trying to induce the City & Suburban Railway to run half of its "S" cars along that thoroughfare, and to that end will offer to stand the expense of laying a double track along Glisan street from Third to Second, a distance of 200 feet.

T. L. Ray, in speaking of the matter yesterday, said: Third street is now crowded with street-cars, as those of Al-bina, Mount Tabor, Irvington, Woodstock. Waverly and East Ankeny all use that thoroughfare. Heavy traffic of all kinds adds to the crush, and the street is often crowded beyond its proper capacity. The Second-street cars are poorly patronized, and they don't run any oftener than nec-essary to hold the franchise. If only haif the 'S' cars could be transferred to Sec ond street, it would relieve the strain on Third street and draw the superfluous traffic down our way. Second-street property-owners would thereby be stimulated to improve their holdings, while no injury whatever would accrue to Third street. I feel sure we could soon raise money enough to lay the Glisan-street connection, if such a course were agree-able to the street-car company."

J. M. Strowbridge was also of that opinion. "I am interested on Third street as well as on Second," he said, "and would be glad to do my share toward connecting the Second and Third-street car tracks by way of Glisan street.

d-street cars are running nearly empty all the time, while the Third-street cars between North and South Portland are loaded to the eaves. It would be a good thing for the traveling public, the car company and the Second-street property-owners, were this change made, while at the same time Third street would lose none of its importance."

NEW MACHINE NEEDED FOR PORT OF PORTLAND WORK.

ow every member had found something to do and is at work. There are way at the meeting of the Port of Portland Commission yesterday afternoon, plans would have been ordered for a new plans would have been ordered for a new thing to do and is at work. There are families living in the lodging houses able to pay rent on good dwellings, but they can not find them vacant. This is plans would have been ordered for a new dredge costing $100,000 to $125,000. He had the showing of a single district and a been reading up on dredges and went to comparatively small one. If the others the meeting prepared to do business on show up as well the increase will be Commissioner Ben Selling objected to going ahead until an investi-gation can be made. He said he was not ready to vote away $100,000 to $125,000 on five minutes' notice. No protest was made by any other Commissioner, and there appears to be no doubt that a large dredge will be built this year and put on the river in the Spring of 1902 Consideration of the subject was deferred for one week.

President Hughes' desire to go ahead arises from the fact that it will take several months to make the plans. By the time the new dredge is finished the one now in service will need a thorough overhauling. President Hughes favors a 30-inch dredge, to be large enough to cut a 250 or 300-foot swath. The present dredge is a 20-inch. A 30-inch dredge would be double the capacity of the 2d-inch machine, and would, President Hughes says, open the river, except in

In the meantime the present dredge requires fixing up. Engineer Kelley was instructed to report what improvements are needed, and President Hughes and Commissioners Banfield and McCraken were appointed to make such changes as they deem necessary in the pump.

free deem necessary in the pump.
Fuel continues to be a serious question in the operation of the dredge. For cordwood the commission pays $2.50 a cord. and for slabwood, $1.05. The price of cordwood is high, while that of slabod is reasonable. Besides, Engineer Kelley has found that a cord of siab-wood goes as far as a cord of cord-wood in steam making, although the cost wood in Steam manning, attnough the cost of one is more than double that of the other. Owing to the unsatisfactory situation in wood fuel, the suggestion has been made that the commission use California petroleum. A remedy, however, seems to be in sight. The fuel bills have been unusually high of late because the commission has been unable to make contracts for sufficient supplies of the cheapest fuels—sawdust and slabwood, E. H. Habighorst has offered to furnish sawdust at $1 per 200 cubic feet, measured on the loaded scow, and the East Side Mill Company offers slabwood at $1 75 a cord. Commissioner Banfield, who knows a thing or two about sawdust and slabwood. considers that the prices asked by Mr. Habighorst and the East Side Mill Com-Habighorst and the East Side Mill Company are reasonable. Contracts will be made with both if they guarantee constant supply for a definite period. The company which is supplying slabwood at 11 05 a cord will also be patronized. To get better results from fuel, the dredge will be equipped with a self-feeder. This will save $15 a day in the operation of the dredge.

Large Increase Found.

A man making a close canvass for the Portland directory in the East Side between East Stark and East Ankeny, and between the river and East Seventh, was surprised at the increase in population in the last year. The district comprises about 28 blocks, and the canvass shows that in the district there are now 500 sale

MAY BUILD NEW DREDGE people more than were found there last year at this time. In the Lambert building 44 people were found against helf a dozen a year ago. In the Riverside Hotel 50 people were found by the can-vaseer. In all the two and three-story buildings on Union avenue and Grand avenue the rooms are full, and in many places families, unable to secure ample quarters, were living in small rooms. The canvasser remarked that the increase is from new-comers who are full of energy and nearly every one had secured some kind of employment. In the Lambert house he was told of a family who came only a few days ago, and now every member had found some

San Diego Man Who Would Rejoice

C. R. Stewart, a San Diego representative in the California Legislature, is at the Imperial. He is on his way East for a visit, and concluded to take in the fresh green fields of Oregon at the same time, and expresses himself as well pleased with the appearance of Nature after the monotony of dry seasons in Southern California. "Things look bet-Southern California. "Things look bet-ter in San Diego than for years," he sald yesterday, "as we have had fully nine inches of rain since last Fall. This is not enough and we could easily stand Hughes says, open the river, except in a few places, to a depth of 30 feet at low water within a year. Funds for the new dredge must be raised by direct taxation. The Port of Portland Commission has power to raise money in this way under the act of 1901.

The the meantline, and we could easily stand eighteen inches, but the storage basins in the mountains have been restocked with water for irrigation and by carefully husbanding the supply we can get along. For the three years previous we had no rain to speak of, and water for the orange and lemon orchards had become very scarce. The lemon crop this year has been very good, and the orange crop, if it could have been marketed to advantage, would have put the growers on their feet, but the railroad company failed wretchedly in transporting the product. In former years we could send quesFor to Eastern markets in six days, but this season it has taken from 25 to 25 days to gride land them at their destination and most of the fruit was rotten before the boxes were opened. This system of freighting caused much loss to the orange men, who were afterward dunned by the companies for the freight, which the shippers refused to pay. At present no freight is received by the railroad unless the shipper signs a contract in which he agrees to pay the freight, no matter how long it takes to reach its destination. As shippers have no recourse but to signs, they are acceding to the railroad's demands, but much murmuring and talk about final Government ownership has resulted. The difficulty in shipping oranges East proves a good thing for consumers on the Pacific slope, as more were thrown upon the local markets than the demand required, and cheap oranges were the result.

"The bee men of San Diego County are also in much better fix this year, as the rains have given the wild sage a good start and much honey will be made from the blossoms. In past dry seasons the bee owners were obliged to buy sugar, in many instances, to tide their bees over

New Pure-Food Regulation to Be

Food Commissioner Bailey gave notice yesterday that beginning June 1 all vine-gar sold in Portland, whether in bottle, jar, jug. demijohn or barrel, must have a tag describing its quality. For the convenience of dealers, the Commissioner will have printed a large supply of tags, reading as follows: "Apple cider vinegar,"
"Mait vinegar," "Distilled vinegar,"
"Wine vinegar." These may be obtained at the Commissioner's office, 246 Washington street, or Mr. Balley will send them to dealers if they will furnish their addresses. This action is taken under section 2 of the pure-food law of 1901, which provides that adulterated food products shall be plainly marked so as to establish their true character and distinguish them from the pure article. The penalty for violation of the law is a fine of from $25 to $100.

"The regulation which I will put into effect, June 1," said Commissioner Bailey, "will work two beneficial results. It will work two beneficial results. It will save the consumer of vinegar from imposition and encourage the consumption of home-made vinegar. Thousands of bushsave the consumer of vinegar from impo-sition and encourage the consumption of home-made vinegar. Thousands of bushhome-made vinegar.
