ATTACKED KING EDWARD

ARTICLE THAT CAUSED THE SEIZURE OF A DUBLIN PAPER.

All Copies of the Irish People That Could Be Found Were Confiscated by the Police.

DUBLIN, May 10.—The police of Cork, Limerick and other towns of Ireland seized all the copies of William O'Brien's weekly paper, the Irish People, found at the newsdealers today. The following are some of the personalities which caused the paper's seizure:

"Down upon his knees before an old and bald-headed roue—lover of every woman of fair features who has appeared in English society for 30 years, including titled dames and as yet untitled actresses—the English gentleman perjurer of a historic divorce case, the polluted hero of one of the most malodorous scenes in Zola's rotten novel 'Nana,' the center of a score of the most disgraceful scandals of the most contemptible type, down in front of this English King, whose latest performance was to stigmatize on his solemn oath the whole Catholic world as superstitious idolaters, knelt the English born cardinal prince of the church with a document that might have been presented to a Legree in a Southern plantation 50 years ago, but not by Uncle Tom, poor but contented, of Harriet Beecher Stowe's great story, who would have seen his black skin stripped off inch by inch rather than put his mark to a document like that signed and presented by Cardinal Vaughan and the Duke of Norfolk on his solemn oath. We do not believe be attached but the slightest solemnity to the performance. But the fact remains—this old and worn-out descendant of a race of scoundrels and practical proofs of hedeous immorality asseverated that most of the sacred doctrines of the Catholic faith were idolatrous and superstitious. He has not yet recanted. He has not said a word to indicate that he did not thoroughly approve of the terms of the oath framed in the days of Titus. The oath of a perjurer is no less vile than that of the reigning King; but on bended knees the prince of the church knelt before this unutterably abominable person. Let us console ourselves with the fact that the presentees were English Catholics, who are repudiated by the only really Catholic nation now in existence. The loyalists represented England only and if the English Catholics choose to acknowledge themselves superstitious idolators, it is no fault of ours."

The police of London are suppressing copies of the Irish People forwarded before the office in Dublin was seized.

Wyndham's Action Illegal.

LONDON, May 11.—The morning papers are unanimous in denouncing the scandalous attack of the Irish People upon the King; but serious doubts are raised as to the wisdom of Mr. Wyndham's action in seizing the paper, first, because the seizure was illegal, it being a case for prosecution, and, second, because, to the delight of the Irish members, it has given world-wide publicity to Mr. O'Brien's hitherto little-known paper and will, the Nationalists claim, be worth thousands to them from sympathizers. The friends of the government consider it would have been better had Mr. Wyndham ignored the matter. It appears that Mr. O'Brien was lying ill at Mallow and was not responsible for the objectionable issue. It is understood that the government has no intention to prosecute the paper.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Nationalists Sought Adjournment to Call Attention to the Seizure.

LONDON, May 10.—At the conclusion of the questions in the House of Commons today, John Dillon, Nationalist, moved the adjournment of the House in order to call attention to the seizure of the Irish People. Mr. Dillon complained that the action of the authorities was grossly illegal and asked whether it was due to the attack on Mr. Wyndham, the chief secretary for Ireland, or to the attack on the King. Mr. Wyndham replied that it was owing to the attack on the King. Continuing, Mr. Dillon said he was not concerned to defend the violence of the attack, but any seizure should have been done through the courts. Far more violent attacks on Queen Victoria had been made in the English papers without their being seized. The present action was a blow at the liberty of the press.

William Redmond, Nationalist, seconded the motion, characterizing the article complained of as a very proper and patriotic attack on the conduct of the chief secretary. Mr. Wyndham, in defending the seizure, declined to "soil his lips with reading the attack on the King, which constituted seditious libel, nor would he wound the feelings of millions by propagating the outrageous gross and scurrilous lies of the article." The motion for an adjournment was defeated by a vote of 252 to 64.

Henniker Heaton, Conservative, drew attention to the annual loss of £700,000 in the telegraph service, aggregating £8,200,000 since the government took over the lines, and asked how the government proposed to remedy this. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the chancellor of the exchequer, admitted the correctness of the figures. The reason of the loss was that the public was more eager for rapid communication than the revenue warranted. Unproductive extensions must be discouraged. Mr. Heaton asked if the government was prepared to lease the telegraph lines to a private company. The chancellor of the Exchequer did not reply.

In the House tonight the government had a narrow escape from defeat. The Scotch education estimates were being discussed, and a motion to reduce one of the votes was defeated by a majority of only 12.

St. Petersburg Labor Troubles.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A dispatch to the Herald from St. Petersburg says:

The St. Petersburg dispatch in the London Daily Mail, doubtless made up in Berlin, concerning the supposed labor troubles, was grossly exaggerated. The great meeting of workmen spoken of did not take place. There was some trouble between the men in St. Petersburg Metal Works and a gauger, but it is not true that the men mauled him to death. The fact is that he became frightened and leaped from a window of fright.

As regards sinister forebodings of further riots among the students, those youths, whose chief grievance appears to be that they are not allowed to "paint the town red," without let or hindrance, seem perfectly calmed by the appointment of General Van Novsky, who is making a tour of the universities in Russia.

Germany's raids in China cause great displeasure in political circles here. They are regarded as directly prejudicial to the prospect of an early conclusion of peace.

Schley in London.

LONDON, May 10.—Rear Admiral Schley has arrived in London, on his way to the United States. He is accompanied by Lieutenant James H. Sears. The Admiral is visiting his daughter's relatives, the Stuart-Wortleys. He dined with Mr. Choate, United States Ambassador, tonight, and will stay here about 10 days before sailing for New York.

Curious Railway Accident.

LUDWIGSHAFEN, Bavaria, May 10.—A curious accident occurred today to the Strasburg express, by which a woman was killed and several other persons were injured. Owing to the air brakes failing to work, the train dashed through the station wall, crossed the street 30 yards wide, plowed through a freight train on the harbor siding, and went over an embankment into the harbor.

Esterhazy's Confession Again.

PARIS, May 11.—Le Siecle publishes today the first installment of the deposition of Count Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy, the alleged author of the bordereau, in the Dreyfus case, before the French Consul in London, February 22, 1900. Protesting against "an amnesty bill that recognizes the guilty," he declares that a number of criminal acts were committed by order of the chiefs of the army, who had been in possession of a confidential document handed by him to Lieutenant Colonel Du Paty de Clam, interesting to the security of the state; and he thinks that the complicity of the chief of the general staff, the commander-in-chief of the army and the Minister of War menaced the government. He claims to have material proofs of all these statements.

Turkey's Answer Sent Back.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 10.—The German, Austrian, French and British Ambassadors promptly sent back the Porte's reply to their representations on the subject of Turkish seizure of foreign mails owing to the offensive allegations that the foreign postoffices facilitated smuggling. Pending a settlement of the question embassy couriers are taking the European mails to and from the Bulgarian frontier.

Duke of Manchester's Debts.

LONDON, May 10.—The Duke of Manchester's affairs were again aired in the bankruptcy court today, when the accounts lodged disclosed a total indebtedness of £57,794, and assets of £7545. The liabilities include £5000 in connection with theatrical speculation, and £6000 for the promotion of a company. The proceedings were again adjourned, counsel announcing that a scheme would be proposed in a few days assuring the creditors better terms.

Denied by the War Office.

WITHDRAWAL FROM PEKIN

AMERICAN TROOPS LEAVE THE CHINESE CAPITAL.

Their District Turned Over to the British and the Germans—Wu and Conger Confer.

PEKIN, May 10.—The Americans have evacuated the districts under their control, with the exception of the Forbidden City, which they will continue to occupy in spite of foreign objections, unless orders to the contrary are received from Washington. As it would be impossible to turn over the American districts to the Chinese, who certainly would not be allowed to keep them independently, General Chaffee, in order to prevent chaos, notified Count von Waldersee a week ago that he would evacuate today. Those portions adjoining the British districts were assigned to them, and the remaining portions were assigned to the Germans.

The departure of the troops for Manila has been delayed 10 days owing to the transport India being quarantined at Nagasaki because of a case of smallpox on board. The American soldiers have been vaccinated.

EXPLAINED BY DR. AMENT.

Amount of Indemnity Increased at Earl Li's Suggestion.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 10.—Rev. William S. Ament, of Pekin, China, in an address before the congregation of Dwight Place Church, which supported him on the situation in China, said in part:

"I believe that the reported atrocities by the allies are exaggerated. Chinese women are apt to commit suicide on trivial pretexts. A family quarrel may make a woman hang herself, or difficulty with her mother-in-law may make her jump into a well.

"You have many explanations for the outbreak in China. You think that it was begun by a Buddhist priest who practiced mesmerism. He organized societies. Incantations were practiced. Charms were worn and all sorts of preventives against death and harm. The Christians were attacked because they offered the least resistance.

"As to the indemnity: When we missionaries were ordered to vacate the British Legation we went with 2000 native Christians to the premises of a Chinese Prince. We forced no doors, we violated no rights. The Prince had fled. We sold the movable property, after consultation with the foreign Ministers. When it came to the question of building indemnities, Li Hung Chang sent a representative to confer with us. We agreed that the villages were to be assessed indemnity for the outrages to provide for homeless and destitute widows and children. Li Hung Chang's representative suggested that an amount equal to one-third of the whole sum should be added and distributed generally to such persons. That is the explanation of the extra one-third referred to in regard to the indemnity."

Optimistic View in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—Official circles take an optimistic view of the Chinese news. They consider that substantial and rapid progress toward an understanding is being made. Russia is especially interested in the proposal for a Chinese loan, guaranteed by the powers, jointly or severally, to the amount due to each. The view held in some quarters here is that such a loan so guaranteed would not only save China enormous discounts and interest, but would be the best possible guarantee of the empire's integrity during the period of the loan, since the entire Chinese territory would be considered as security for the loan.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has reason to believe the United States Government is fully informed regarding Russia's views on this subject. The Russian Government, as always, is interested to ascertain Washington's views.

Wu and Conger.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Minister Wu and Minister Conger have paid an agreeable exchange of visits since the arrival in Washington of the American representative to China. The meeting was purely social, the American Minister paying a call at the Chinese legation and Mr. Wu returning the compliment. There was no discussion of the political situation in China except in a general comment upon the difficulties attending an agreement where so many divergent interests were concerned.

Plot to Depose the Emperor.

SHANGHAI, May 10.—It is reported that the Empress Dowager's favorite eunuch, La Lien Yang, heads a strong reactionary party, including the Grand Chancellor, Lu Chuan Liu, Yung Lu, Prince Tuan and General Tung Fu Shiang, which aims to depose Emperor Kwang Hsu, in favor of the son of Prince Tuan.

IN BOILING BEER.

Shocking Death of a Troy, N. Y., Brewer.

TROY, N. Y., May 10.—Samuel Bolton, Jr., a millionaire brewer, and one of the most prominent and influential business men of this city has been found dead in a vat of boiling beer in his brewery. His body was literally cooked, and death must have been instantaneous.

Much mystery surrounds the circumstances which the authorities are trying to unravel. One singular feature of the case is that Mr. Bolton's hat and watch and chain were found on the floor near the vat. Despite this, friends of the dead man are of the opinion that his shocking end was due to an accident.

Mr. Bolton arose in his usual condition of health and went to his place of business, the Bolton Brewery, at the customary hour. Late in the day he was found in the vat of boiling beer on the second floor. Nobody about the brewery seems to be able to throw any light on the circumstances, and apparently no one saw him go to the second floor of the building.

For years Mr. Bolton had been recognized as one of the most influential citizens of the city and county, and his popularity was unbounded. He was the head of the brewing firm of S. Bolton's Sons, one of the oldest and largest in this part of the state. He had been a strong political factor in the Republican party, and of late and also at times previously he had been mentioned as a candidate for the nomination of Mayor. He had the largest political following of any man in the old Village of Lansingburg, and it was believed that his influence on important questions ordinarily could decide their fate at the polls. Mr. Bolton was president of the Beacon Electric Company, director of the Manufacturers National Bank and the Peoples National Bank, a member of the Riverside Club, president of the Star Knitting Company of Cohoes, and also was connected with the Empire State Power Company and other corporations.

COLONEL R. E. HOPKINS DEAD

Union Veteran and Capitalist of Tarrytown.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Colonel Robert Emmett Hopkins is dead at his home in Tarrytown, N. Y. He was 68 years of age.

Colonel Hopkins was born at Pompey, Onondagua County, N. Y., March 24, 1833. He taught school at first in Ohio and later in his native town. At the age of 20 he settled in Brewertown, on Oneida Lake, and engaged in the lumber business. In 1861 he was appointed Under Sheriff of Onondagua County. He resigned that office in 1862 in order to recruit a company of volunteers for the One Hundred and Forty-ninth New York Infantry. He received a commission as Captain and saw service with the Army of the Potomac for two years. He was captured by the Confederates at the battle of Chancellorsville, and was incarcerated in Libby Prison. He was freed by an exchange of prisoners and, returning to the service, was soon afterward commissioned as Major of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth.

In May, 1865, he went to Titusville, Pa., to engage in the lumber business and prospect for petroleum. Meeting with success in the petroleum field he in 1878 organized the Tidewater Pipe Company, the first to lay a pipe line for the transportation of crude petroleum to the Atlantic seaboard. In May, 1890, he removed to Tarrytown and established his business headquarters there. In 1866 he married Miss Fannie W. Chambers, of Newton, Pa.

CAUGHT IN THE CRASH.

Scenes During the Financial Panic in London.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A dispatch to the Journal and Advertiser from London, describing the panic Thursday, says:

The losses in the last few days have been appalling. So sudden and overwhelming a break in prices has never before been witnessed here and the panic, increased to a ten-fold degree, has chilled the health of those who live by stocks. There may be a rally and prices may rise again, it is said by some, but any such movement is devoid of hope for those who have already lost their all.

The utter helplessness of the crowd in the street was the most striking feature of the panic. The leaders of the market had vanished from the scene and the arbitrage houses which do business between London and America were not represented. As a result small dealers did not know what prices were and could not tell whether they were beggars beyond hope or still had a chance of saving something from the wreck.

In that miserable state of uncertainty they must remain until morning, but they waited for hours in dull expectancy appearing to extract some dreary comfort from mingling with others as wretched as themselves. No more deplorable picture of the ills that wait upon the speculator has ever been witnessed in London.

The frenzied crowd, which after the exchange had closed met on the curb and received the New York cables telling of disaster, were many men who, as they saw their all swept away, looked and acted as if their reason would go to smash as their wealth had gone. One particularly young dealer who bears a name long honored in the London Stock Exchange, completely lost his reason. He offered to sell stocks at prices many dollars below their worst quotations current. His broken-voiced cries were made more distressing by the fact that no other sound for a time broke the stillness. However, even at such a time of general despair nobody tried to profit by his temporary madness.

Chicago Corporation Tax Case.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 10.—In the Sangamon Circuit Court today, James M. Graham, counsel for the State Board of Equalization, in the mandamus case brought against the board by the Chicago Teachers' Federation to compel the board to assess property of certain Chicago corporations, filed a written motion asking that the service of writs of mandamus against members of the Board of Equalization be stayed and that the court order the return of the writs without being served. He contended that the perfecting of an appeal is in the nature of a supersedeas and that the court loses control of the case until it is returned to it in some form by the court to which the appeal is taken.

No Right to "Picket."

CHICAGO, May 10.—The branch Appellate Court, in a decision handed down today, denied the right of striking workmen to "picket" a shop for the purpose of persuading others from entering the works. The decision was given on appeal from Judge Holdam's court in comtempt proceedings brought against strikers who had violated an injunction prohibiting them from "picketing" the Winslow Brothers' works during the strike two years ago.

BALLIET AND VAUDEVILLE.

Variety Theater Proprietor Makes a Statement.

BAKER CITY, May 8.—(To the Editor.)—I should like to make a statement regarding an article which appeared in your issue of Sunday morning, entitled, "King of Promoters." Possessing something of a passing acquaintance with Mr. Balliet, and having a desire to see that justice prevails in the matter, I take this manner of righting a wrong. Now the article may in part be true, but as a whole it falls short of the mark. I am not interested in Mr. Balliet, but in my own behalf desire to state I was the proprietor and manager of the only vaudeville theater run in Baker City since Mr. Balliet's arrival here, and at no time was there a woman in any way connected with or interested with me. In fact, no one but myself was interested in the carrying on of the show or variety business, so the author of the above mentioned article did a gross injustice to Mr. Balliet and told a wonton untruth in reference to my side of the question. In fact, it was a lie cut from whole cloth.

GEORGE MILLER.

The statement in the story to which Mr. Miller objects was made on the authority of reliable and substantial citizens of Baker City, and up to the present time nothing has been presented to show that it was not true, but we cheerfully give Mr. Miller the benefit of his statement.

The speaker then told a number of witty stories about his early life in the West, a war story and concluded with reading from one of his works on the German language.

A Moral Wave and Its Subsidence.

St. Helens Mist.

Portland's moral spasm having subsided and those who created it having gotten all the notoriety possible out of it, gambling is again almost as wide open as it was before the late lamented antivice crusade swept over that degenerate city, and persons desiring to do so can again get action on their money at faro, craps or roulette. These games are known to be running in many of their former haunts and also in some new ones, and nearly all of these are practically wide open. Those wishing to enter one of these joints are obliged to pass a sentry at one of the outer doors, whose ostensible duty is to admit only "respectable" people, but whose real business is to notify the players in time to allow them to escape should the police appear, a contingency which is not very likely to occur again until another moral wave strikes the place.

That's What We Can.

Albany Democrat.

"Where rolls the Oregon" is pretty good, even though there is now no Oregon but a Columbia. It has an attractive sound that should take all over the world. As this old saying is at the head of our big 1905 exposition, let us also keep it at the head of all our enterprises, and with our shoulders to the wheel roll Oregon along until it shall be a state which shall take its place in population and importance among the great states of the country. We can do it.

Mr. Gould says when he felt his strength failing he started to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and now he feels strong and vigorous.

CONTENT AND HAPPY AT 93.

Gentlemen:—It affords me great pleasure at the present time to report to you the great benefits I am deriving from your Pure Malt Whiskey. I am 93 years old and enjoy the best of health. About ten years ago I found my strength was failing me, and the thought flashed across my mind: "Am I now to be an invalid the rest of my life?" My good common sense told me that what I needed was a tonic and stimulant, something to keep up my strength and ward off disease. I was recommended to try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. After two or three weeks I noticed a change coming over me. Nature seemed to be taking on new forces and life and strength were returning once more. My tired, worn-out nervous system improved, my brain became clear. I had delightful sleep, and would awake refreshed, feeling that life was not a burden. My appetite is excellent, eyesight fair, hearing good. I am positive I owe my present condition to your Pure Malt Whiskey. I am satisfied it is prolonging my life; not a life of misery, but one of contentment and happiness. I shall continue to use it with the hope that I will yet pass the century mark. Gratefully yours,

EZRA GOULD,
Park House, Newark, N. J.
