BASEBALL IN THE MUD VANCOUVER YELLOW HAMMERS

Stephens and Oregon City Game Called in the Third Inning on Account of Rain. The double attraction at the professional baseball park yesterday afternoon drew 800 baseball-loving spectators, who sat cuddled together in the grandstand, trying to keep warm and to dodge the rain drope that did their best to blow in. On the field in the mud the ama-teurs cavorted like mud larks on the turi. To the tune of 7 to 1 the Stephens team in three innings rolled the Oregon Citys in the soft mushy slash. The Fontellas played nine indings against the Vancouver Yellow Hammers, scoring 9 touch-downs in the lagoon at home plate, to their exponents 2. opponents' Z.

The first game, between the Stephen players and the Oregon City nine, wa chiefly notable for the daring with which the amateurs stuck to the game in the politing rain. The ball was as heavy as a 16-pound shot, and the maneuvers of the pitcher to put the ball over the plate were the efforts of a track athlete struggling to break a world's record. The ground resembled a football field more than anything else, and the dives of the players running to second base had the appearance of daring tackles. While the misery was going on the Stephens team showed their ability with the stick by pounding the heavy sphere for run after run. Towards the end of the third inning the rain was coming down so hard that pelting rain. The ball was as heavy a the rain was coming down so hard that the crowd sympathized with the efforts o Umpire Rankin to end the match. The half would be heaved in the direction o

"One strike," would be the cheerful de-cision of Rankin.

The batter would gesticulate with his bat where the ball really went. Next time the performance would be the same

The batters then got onto the game, and either reached after the balls or fanned out gladly. At the end of the inning the Second Game Was Played Out.

Soon, however, the sun came out and shone ever the bleak-looking grounds. There was not a glimmer of a hope of escaping the mud, but the Fontellas and Vancouvers, rather than disappoint the public decided to play. And the game that was put up considering the state of the field was gilt edged. Up to the fifth inning the score was a tle, 3 to 3, and the teams were playing for all that was in them. The "Yellow Hammera," as the Vancouvers were called, from the yellow stripes on their blue suits, played good ball, and made things interesting for the undefeated Fontellas, until the latter struck up their usual batting streak toward the close of the game.

Jordan Zan was the star of the day when it came to bandling the long, heavy, black stick with which he did his batting. Three tong three-baggers, one single to right field, and one base on balls were his record for the day. When Zan came to the plate the fielders moved their pins out to the fence, but to no avail. Zan's bits each time stranged the rains off the Second Game Was Played Out.

double play, Fleming catching Corey's pop fly and retiring Gleason at first. Corey scored for Vancouver in the first inning on Whitehouse's muff, and Zan's wild throw to third. In the second, Vancouver scored two or more runs. Stutt led off with a hit, and Shaw was given his base. Stutt was advanced to another oasis in the waste of mud by Forsyth's scratch hit, which forced Shaw out at second. Forsyth stole second and the two scored on Harrison's hit to center. The Fontellas managed to score Rich Parrott in the third. He took his base on an error by Stutt and reached third on the error of short in handling Black's easy grounder. Then Zan came to the plate with his batting eye, sent out a clean two-base hit, and scored the run. The Fontellas filled the bases in the fifth with Black, Arch and Rich Parrott, the first two getting safe hits. Jacobs came to the bat and sent out a slow scratch hit to third that scored Black and Parrott in the confusion of throwing the ball all over the lot. After that the game

RIVER CONTINUES TO RISE.

Nearly Eighteen Feet of Water Rec orded at Portland.

The Willamette rose slowly yesterday, and reached 17.8 feet at 6 P. M., equalling the highest water mark of last year, that recorded on May 20, 1900. The in-dications are that the river will rise today to 18.3, and tomorrow 19 feet may be recorded. The figures for Wednesday's water mark will have to be calculated

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning, the river at Portland was 17.5, and the flood continued to increase. At 2 A. M. yes-terday these figures on the condition of the Columbia, were given: The Dailes, 22.1; Umatilia, 18.5; Wenätchee, 28.5; and Northport, 16.2. Lewiston registered 16.6; Weiser, 8.8, and Riparia, 16.5.

Weiser, 5.8, and Riparis, 15.5.
Inquiry showed that the Columbia River is rising at all stations, and that the Snake River is slightly failing at Riparia and Lewiston.
Numerous pieces of debris were noticed floating along the river at the steel bridge last night.

Better Than Carlshad Mineral Water, This is to certify that I have used the Witter Springs Mineral Water in discusses of the skin with marked success. I have also employed it as an adjunct in the treatment of liver and kidney affections, and consider it equal, if not better, than the justly and world-renowned Carishad mineral water, of Germany. In every case it has had an action equal to the Carishad water. It is almost liftle-pensable in the treatment of cutaneous diseases, relaxing the skin and soothing the eruptions. It must be used as any other medicine, judiciously and carefully, I heartily recommend it to any of the profession who may require a valuable aid in the treatment of all skin diseases.
