CARPENTERS MAY STRIKE
The proper time to form a union and to stand by its principles, when we can attain our ends by doing so.
The wild-cat contractor will disappear before the thorough unionizing of carpenters, and builders will not figure on new work unless they are sure of the margin. This will do away with the present method of taking contracts at a dead loss, which always falls finally on the owner of the property. The men who employ the best carpenters and pay the highest wages are now the only ones to depend on in letting a job; and these men never lose on a contract.
The remodeling of the Albina grist mill is going to take 40 skilled carpenters all Summer. At present there are not that many idle carpenters in Portland. Besides, other new work is springing up to employ every carpenter in the city.
Another union carpenter said: "The object of the mass meeting Wednesday evening is to join hands with the Federated Trades Assembly and thus strengthen our organization for the demands we propose to make."

FOR THE PURPLE SHOW.
Members of the Local Elks Lodge Will Take Part.
If all the features proposed by the Elks committee are carried out, the circus which will be given Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, in conjunction with the Norris & Rowe Company, will be a "purple show" of large proportions. A committee meeting was held yesterday in the office of Judge Sweik, the chairman, and the various members reported satisfactory progress. It is proposed to include a number of turns by local performers, as well as have prominent Elks act as clowns, ringmasters and peanut butchers. They will look after all the concessions, and on the two nights devoted to the Elks the circus will have a decidedly local flavor. The Hunt Club will be asked to join in the sport, and Portland athletes will show the people what they know of tumbling and jumping. Special attention will be given to the parade, and the committee will recommend that the local lodge of Elks turn out in full force Friday morning. Captain Charles E. McDonnell, of the amusement committee, reported that he had conferred with the Multnomah Club and that a juggler, two tumblers and a horizontal bar performer will offer their

BRICKMAKERS' COMBINE
ALL PORTLAND FIRMS FORMED INTO A CITY AGENCY.
Not a Trust, They Say, but Their Purpose is to Maintain a Stated Price.
This is an era of organization, and the brickmakers of Portland have fallen into line for the purpose of "maintaining a stated price," as a member of the combine said yesterday. Hereafter, articles have piled up in the manufacturer's hands every Summer in Portland, and as the poorer yards could not carry the stock over another year, the product would be thrown upon the market at figures which allowed no profits. Hereafter, the price will be uniform throughout the year and will be held where a small margin can always be counted upon by the men who go to the trouble and expense of manufacture.
There are five brickmaking firms in Portland, and all have entered the combine—Versteeg Brothers, Kern Brick Company, Krebs Brothers, Randles & Kinsey, and James Anderson. The combination is known in the simple title, "City Brick Agency," and as the yards are located in the outskirts of the city, economy in time and distance of hauling has been effected, as bricks will be furnished by the nearest yard, instead of being hauled for miles from one suburb of Portland to another.
The price of brick now maintained by the combine is not exorbitant, said a manufacturer yesterday, "as we ask only $7.50 per thousand, delivered. The increased cost of fuel alone would justify a still further advance, as we have to pay 50 cents more per cord for the wood we burn in the kilns. This is quite an additional item of expense to the firm which burns from 200 to 300 cords in the brickmaking season."
Wages for those employed in the yards and on the road run from $2 a day for laborers to $3.50 for burners. We pay our off-bearers extra, wheelers, truckers and clay-bank men more than we did a few years ago, and so selling brick at an actual loss every season would soon run even the strongest of us into bankruptcy. The City Brick Agency was established to guard against bankruptcy in Portland. It has no connection with any organization beyond its territory, and so cannot be called a trust.
Portland's brick making capacity is about 120,000 a day for the season of 100 days, and the number of men employed is about 100. As dry weather is necessary for successful brick making our work is naturally limited to the late Spring and early Summer months. Even when selecting the driest time of year for operations, we are frequently caught by heavy showers, while the brick are supposed to be drying in the yards in the sun. On Sunday fully 50,000 brick were spoiled by the showers which were not expected, and the mishap calls for extra labor and hurry the remainder of the week.
Vitriol brick, which is used for street-paving, has not been included in the combine. These brick range in price about $15 a thousand, while the Newberg white brick run from $25 to $40. These latter classes are known by the makers of common brick as "fancy brick" and are used only for special purposes.

MUST APPEAR IN COURT.
Judge Cameron Increases the Bail of Sidewalk Bicyclists.
When arrested for riding bicycles on sidewalks, bicyclists must now deposit $5 cash or their bicycles with the police to insure their appearance in the Municipal Court. This decision was reached yesterday by Municipal Judge Cameron.
"Too many bicyclists leave $1 with the police when the arrest takes place, and do not appear in the Municipal Court when the case is called," said the Judge. "We must have the offenders in court, so that they can have an opportunity to explain why they break the law. They have to figure to assume that they will be fined only $1. So many bicyclists persist in riding wheels on sidewalks that I may reverse the rule and fine them $10 for the first offense and $1 for the second offense."

These 10 bicyclists failed to answer their names in court yesterday, and their deposits of $1 each were declared forfeited: M. Campbell, W. W. Abbott, H. D. Madison, William Groab, John Schildman, W. J. Blakely, E. J. Gordon, C. Deal, H. Senner, Fred Zan.
Six bicyclists entered a plea of guilty and were fined $1 each: Frank Waller, George Sobola, F. Wetstler, E. R. Spencer, R. A. Christensen, G. F. Bradshaw.
"I rode only about half a block, when the policeman caught me. I have heard that policemen ride their bicycles on sidewalks; yet they are not arrested," protested one bicyclist.
"If you see any policeman riding a wheel on a sidewalk, take his number, and we will bring him into court and fine him," replied the Judge.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES.
Programme Arranged by the General G. A. R. Committee.
Memorial day will be generally observed in Portland this year, according to the opinion of G. A. R. men who are preparing the programme. Military and civic organizations will take part in the parade, which will form on First street, left resting on Taylor. The Third Regiment of National Guard, under Colonel Everett, will act as escort to the G. A. R. posts. The civic societies will follow. The line of march will be: Taylor to Third to Burnside; to Sixth; to Washington; to Eleventh. At the Armory a halt will be made and the Third Regiment will pass in review before the G. A. R. posts and into the Armory. The Woman's Relief Corps will be in waiting at the Armory, to receive the paraders.
The plan of exercises will vary somewhat from that of previous years, as the exercises usually held in the afternoon and evening will be merged into the programme of the afternoon. The procession is expected to reach the Armory by 3 P. M. Details will be sent to the cemeteries with flowers, to decorate the graves of the soldier dead.
The line of march from George Wright, Ben-cola-Gardfield, Sumner, Sunnyside and Butler posts have elected officers and arranged the minor details. R. V. Pratt will act as Commander, assisted by L. G. Day and P. A. Coleman. Rev. Henry A. Barden has been chosen chaplain; Captain J. P. Shaw, grand marshal; J. E. Mayo, adjutant; J. E. Courneye, officer of the day. Professor M. L. Pratt, of Williams school, will deliver the "Gettysburg Address," and Rev. Ray Palmer has been selected for orator of the day.

NEGRO BOY STOLE CHAMPAGNE
Says He Wants to Work and Does Not Need Reformation.
Walter Taylor, colored, 13 years old, cited in the Municipal Court yesterday, when he was ordered sent to the reform school. He was accused of stealing four bottles of champagne from Tothold and Bros, and selling them to George Phillips, who is in jail, charged with receiving stolen goods.
"I took the champagne," admitted Taylor. "An older boy put me up to it. 'How old is he?' 'About 23 years old, and his name is Phillips. He gave me change off and on. No; I didn't drink any of the champagne."
"I'm afraid we shall have to send you to the reform school," hinted Municipal Judge Cameron.
"I won't go. I don't want to be reformed. I want to go to work," said the boy.
"You can work at the reform school," replied the Judge.
"Yes, but I want to work for money."
"Very sorry, but you'll have to go to the reform school," said the Judge.
"Boo-hoo-oo," said the boy.
