AFTER 49 YEARS ABSENCE

DR. JOHN McLOUGHLIN ONLY LIVING SON IN PORTLAND.

Came From Northern Idaho to Attend the Reunion of the Oregon Pioneers.

While his father was en route West from Montreal to take charge of the Hudson's Bay Company's business in this region. In 1833 he was sent to France to be educated as a doctor, but his uncle did not like the idea, and put an end to the young man's ambition for a career in medicine. Then he went to England, and joined the army of the East India Company, was commissioned a Lieutenant, and assigned to Fort William, on the Ganges. Dr. McLaughlin objected to army service and paid to have the son's commission revoked. Mr. McLaughlin returned to Oregon about 1839, and was his father's secretary at Fort Vancouver until his health he went to California with a party of gold-seekers.

Leaving Portland in 1832, Mr. McLaughlin mined for placer gold with varying success, from the Rocky Mountains westward. Eight years ago he laid out the townsite of Port Hill, in the Kootenai country, and engaged in farming and logging. Dr. McLaughlin has the high forehead of his father, whom he strongly resembles. His hair is as white as snow. He is six feet tall, and though he is somewhat stooped by age, his voice is clear and strong, and his eyes bright. His health had been good until a severe attack of the grip two years ago. "I was unable to get a doctor to attend me," he said with a merry twinkle yesterday, "and that is what saved my life." In his prime he weighed 240 pounds, and was a genuine specimen of the lusty mountaineer. He now weighs 146 pounds. His wife died four years ago, leaving him three daughters and two sons.

OPPOSED TO VACCINATION.

Paper Read Before the Oregon Homeopathic Medical Society.

Considerable discussion was evoked at the closing session of the Homeopathic Medical Society of Oregon by reason of the paper read by Dr. P. L. McKenzie, who in no uncertain terms condemned vaccination for smallpox, and gave his reasons for taking the stand he does. A number of the physicians did not agree with him, and expressed themselves when given the opportunity.

Dr. McKenzie's paper was read at the morning session, and was listened to with interest from start to finish. In part it was as follows: "As smallpox is abroad in the land, I deem it a fitting opportunity to discuss the question of vaccination, and I trust from a homeopathic standpoint, I presume it goes without saying that there is a certain amount of homeopathic relationship between vaccination and that of smallpox, and on that account I wonder why the most bitter opponents of vaccination are found in the ranks of the homeopathic profession. We suppose it first because we object to an allopathic mode of treatment, preferring to stand by the mode laid down by the master. Homeopaths pay attention to chronic diseases will not practice long without finding the results of vaccination. Observers in the old school, I deem it, are not so much troubled by the disease as the allopaths. Doubtless diseases and tendencies that have been hitherto latent may be

FOOTPRINTS

ON THE SANDS OF TIME

That is the reputation of the PIANOS AND ORGANS we represent. Take, for instance, the KNABE—over half a century of written history—not a blot on the page, from palace to cottage, but one veridical—PERFECTION.

And the STECK. Some of us have sliver in our hair, yet when our feet were as slender, we heard his praise.

And the HARDMAN. We are making history fast in these days, yet the HARDMAN gladdened many a home in the days that are now counted olden.

And the FISCHER. Many a bride was made happy fifty years ago with a wedding present from a mother or husband of a FISCHER.

We have other pianos that have not had the test of so long a time, but if it is enough to say they, too, will make their footprints in the future sands of time, in fact, the perfect EDWIG is already blazing a new trail, and already adorns the homes of both kings and peasants.

And the JEWETT is a JEWETT of the highest type. A carload just received, and we venture to say there is no other piano offered for sale by any music dealer in the Northwest that will compare with the JEWETT in value and price.

REMEMBER, our prices and terms are such that any person thinking of purchasing either a piano or organ need not hesitate to write or call and see us, as we are in a position to meet their views, as we sell on small monthly payments, if desired.

Yours for low prices, considering the high-grade pianos and organs we carry.

The next meeting will be held at the same place Tuesday evening, June 15, when permanent officers will be elected and working committees appointed. From the interest shown at the meeting, the Albina Sub-Board of Trade will be a strong organization.

NATIVE SONS OF OREGON

RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE GRAND PRESIDENT.

Question of Consolidating the Order With the Native Daughters Will Come Up Today.

The annual convolve of the Grand Cabin of the Native Sons of Oregon opened its session yesterday morning in the Elks' hall, with Grand President Sol Blumauer in the chair. The day was devoted to the preliminary organization, the reports of officers and the approval of the credentials of delegates.

Today when the grand cabin gets down to work several vital questions of the order will be settled, among them the following: The question of the consolidation of the Oregon Native Sons and Oregon Native Daughters, changes in the ritual, the question of putting a grand organizer permanently in the field, and the question of establishing an honorary membership. The election of officers will also take place this afternoon.

The grand officers of the order who were in attendance yesterday were the following: Grand President Sol Blumauer, Grand Vice-President E. A. Reames, of Jacksonville; Grand Secretary F. H. Sawyer; Grand Treasurer H. C. Wortman; Grand Orator W. N. Barrett, of Hillsboro; Grand Historian J. D. Lee, of Salem, and Grand Trustees J. F. Walker, of Pendleton, and E. B. Drake, of Silverton.

The following committee was appointed to receive the credentials of the delegates: C. W. Parrish, of Canyon City; Dr. J. M. Keene, of Medford, and W. N. Barrett, of Hillsboro.

Reports were received from the committee on ritual, consisting of Robert A. Miller, of Oregon City, and Ralph R. Dunaway, and from the committee on the state of the order, B. B. Beckman, J. M. Keene, of Medford; M. S. Taylor, of Jacksonville, and James H. Sewall, of Hillsboro.

The reports of the officers were received. Grand President Sol Blumauer, in his report, reviewed the progress of the order and made recommendations for the future. It was in part as follows:

Report of Grand President.

"To the Grand Cabin, Native Sons of Oregon, Grand Officers and Representatives: With a warm fraternal greeting I welcome you to the third annual session of the grand cabin, and I express the hope that the purposes for which we have assembled will be for the best interests of our beloved order.

"At the last session of the grand cabin, 22 cabins were represented, and I securing organized up to that date. Two new ones have been added to the list during the present year. The present membership is over 2000.

"The committee on monument to the pioneers met with like committees representing the Pioneer Association, Indian War Veterans, Native Daughters and Oregon Historical Society, and discussed measures to bring about the securing of a block in Portland upon which could be erected a building in commemoration of the pioneer builders of our state. A bill was framed for passage by the Legislature authorizing the City of Portland to donate the Market block for the purposes desired, which duly became a law. No little trouble was encountered in securing the passage of the measure, and it would not have passed had it not been for the efforts put forth by your grand president, Grand Secretary Sawyer, Grand Marshal Belcher, and Brother Alex Sweet, of Abernethy Cabin, and Mrs. Stinson and Mrs. Austin, of Eliza Spaulding Warren Cabin, aided by brothers from the various cabins who were members of the Legislature or at the Capitol during the legislative session. Having made a beginning of a most noble endeavor, we should not relax our efforts, but should be determined that the monument should be erected, and should see that the determination becomes a certainty.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

"From what I can learn of the Order of Native Daughters, I think that nearly all the cabins are in a flourishing condition. I would again reiterate my remarks of last year upon our duty of doing all we can for the upbuilding of this organization, wherever and whenever you can do anything to assist their cabins, I believe it incumbent upon you to do so. Without them, our order will not thrive nearly as well as it will with them active and engaged in furthering the same objects and purposes upon which the Native Sons were founded. It is therefore advising ourselves when we aid them, and when the least assistance is given them, we act a noble part.

HONORARY MEMBERSHIP.

"The advocates of honorary membership have quite a large following, and it is more than likely that measures tending to that end will be offered for your consideration during the session. The most popular idea is that there be two classes of honorary members: First, that of pioneers 60 years of age or over; second, native sons of promising permanently residing outside of the state. It has been suggested that pioneers be elected to honorary membership at regular elections held by the cabins, that a limited number be elected at such time, and that no nominations be allowed, but that each member of a cabin vote for any eligible pioneer that he may wish to, and that each vote cast by the secret ballot, the one or ones up to the limit receiving the highest number of votes being declared elected. This will do away with jealousies and snarls means to push any one forward. In the election of non-resident native sons to the honor, the number should also be limited in case such a law is passed, and in all cases no election should be permitted until the cabin first proposing to do so has first learned from the grand secretary as to whether or not some other cabin had not already enrolled the intended member's name on its books of record. Such elections could take place at any time, but should be immediately reported to the grand secretary.

ORGANIZATION.

"Whether it would be wise for you to provide by law that a grand organizer be an elective office, as some believe for the best, I am undecided. It might be to the better plan to set aside funds to be at the disposal of the grand president for organization and visitation purposes."

Reception to Pioneers.

The session adjourned to meet at 9:30 this morning. Tomorrow morning the Native Sons and Daughters will give a reception to the Pioneers at the Tabernacle. The reception is in charge of the following committee: W. A. Miller, N. E. Rainald, Dr. E. Graves, Mrs. T. I. Richards, Mrs. J. Cullison, Mrs. A. B. Manley, Mrs. D. A. McRea, Miss Remand.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" the Rest of This Week.

The new "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," as played by the James Ward company, having been so successful at Corvair's, will be continued through the remainder of this week, with a special school children's matinee on Saturday.

The piece, as remodeled and modernized, stands now before the people as a strictly new play. Mr. Ward's version is certainly a clean-cut play, with morals pure and wholesome. The cast which presents this piece is adequate in every particular.
