DID THINGS TO SEATTLE

PORTLAND WALKED AWAY WITH THE FIRST GAME, 8 TO 5.

In the Seventh Weed's High Fly Was Lost in the Long Grass, and He Scored a Home Run.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 12.—The Portlands did things to Seattle in today's game, walking away in the ninth inning with the score 8 to 3 in their favor. The batters on both teams had their day. They pounded out hits in every inning. In the seventh Weed sent a long high fly to center field, losing the ball in the long grass and scoring a home run. Portland put four runs over the plate in that inning, and although the Seattle players made a gallant effort to overcome the lead, by getting one run in the eighth and two in the ninth, Portland walked away with the game. Hurley distinguished himself by making two double plays, unassisted. Attendance, 500. The score:

TOBOGGAN CAREER STAYED.

Tacoma Picks Up a 2-0 Game From Spokane.

TACOMA, Wash., June 12.—Tacoma stopped Spokane's winning streak today, and incidentally stayed the toboggan career that McCloskey's men entered at Portland. In a game that was all the score indicates the visitors were given the short end of a 2 to 0. Adams, the Texas southpaw, was largely responsible for the victory. His two-bagger brought in the first run, and he scored the second after another two-base drive on Zearfoss' single. The work of McIntyre at second was a feature. Out of 16 chances he handled 15 cleanly, and his one error was excusable. He figured in three double plays, and made a spectacular catch of a foul a few feet back of first base. Threatening weather kept the crowd down to 700. The score:

STEPHENS TEAM WITHDREW.

Outcome of Trouble in the Amateur Baseball League.

The Stephens baseball nine formally withdrew from the Pacific Baseball League yesterday afternoon. This action was taken voluntarily by Manager Nestor, for his team, and was done to forestall the action of the league, a meeting of which had been called for last evening, and at which it was generally understood that the Stephens team would be ousted from membership in the league. Both the Stephens and Fontella nines have been unable to agree as to the schedule, the fact that there were two Portland nines in the league causing continual disagreement as to which nine should play on the local grounds. The gate receipts of the game in the city being the larger, of course each nine was desirous of playing games in the city. Several of the outside games were thrown off by each team, and finally, since no agreement could be reached, it was decided that the best thing for the league was to let one of the local teams go out and hoe its own row. This the Stephens players decided to do, and took this action voluntarily, preferring this to being fired, since the preponderance of strength in the league was against them.

The Stephens team will go to Albany Sunday to meet the Albany nine. In the future Manager Nestor announces that his team is ready and willing to meet any nine in Portland, or in the state at large.

AMATEUR BASEBALL SUNDAY.

Fontellas and Vancouvers to Play at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn.

The Fontellas and Vancouvers will open their second series on the Portland grounds Sunday, and from indications it will be a good game, as the Vancouvers are the only team that has held the Fontellas down, and in their last game at Vancouver had the Fontellas beaten up to the eighth inning, when the Vancouvers made a couple of errors and let the Fontellas score three runs, which was enough to win the game. The Fontellas have a record of five straight games, and have not lost a game this season. They say that the Vancouvers will have to go home Sunday with another defeat, but that remains to be seen, as the Vancouvers are confident that they are going to be the winners, and will bring a crowd of rooters with them to help them rattle the Fontellas. With Joe Stutt on the coaching line they will make a hard pull for the game. Claude Schmeer will play short-stop for the Fontellas in Sunday's game.

BOXERS MEET TONIGHT.

Denny and Irwin Will Contest in the Pastime Club's Ring.

Tonight the 20-round glove contest between Toby Irwin, the San Francisco whirlwind, and Martin Denny, of Australia, will be decided in the ring of the Pastime Club, at the Exposition building. Both men have put themselves in good condition for the bout, and if good, hard exercise counts for anything, they are certainly fit to engage in a fast mix-up for 20 rounds. Irwin has strength, ruggedness and aggressiveness, as pitted against Denny's science and shiftiness. Both men will be heavily backed, with the Australian probably favorite.

Irwin and Denny are under weight. They are to weigh in at 3 o'clock today at 135 pounds, and if either is over that weight he is to forfeit $100. The club has made arrangements to accommodate a large crowd, and the building has been renovated and fitted up. The ring has been pitched in the center of the floor, affording a good view from every seat in the building.

The men who will handle Irwin will be his manager, "Biddy" Bishop; his trainer, "Ginger" Griffin, and Harry Lord.

Denny will have Tommy Tracy, Joe Murphy and Dud Evans in his corner. The referee will be selected this afternoon.

JUNIOR FIELD DAY.

Multnomah Outdoor Athletic Committee Announces Date.

The outdoor athletic committee of the Multnomah Club has announced a field day for the juniors, for which preparations have been making for some time. The date has been fixed at Saturday, June 22. The two junior classes of the club have been divided into six separate divisions, each separate division contesting in a separate group of events. In this way the contestants will all be given equal chances of winning prizes. Prizes will be awarded the first five winners in each group of events. A consolation race, open to all those who have not won prizes, will close the field day.

Following is the list of events:

First division—High jump, 220-yard dash, 120-yard hurdle, throwing baseball.

Second division—Broad-high jump, 100-yard dash, 120-yard hurdle, throwing baseball.

Third division — 100-yard dash, broad jump, 100-yard flag race.

Fourth division—75-yard dash, broad jump, 100-yard obstacle race.

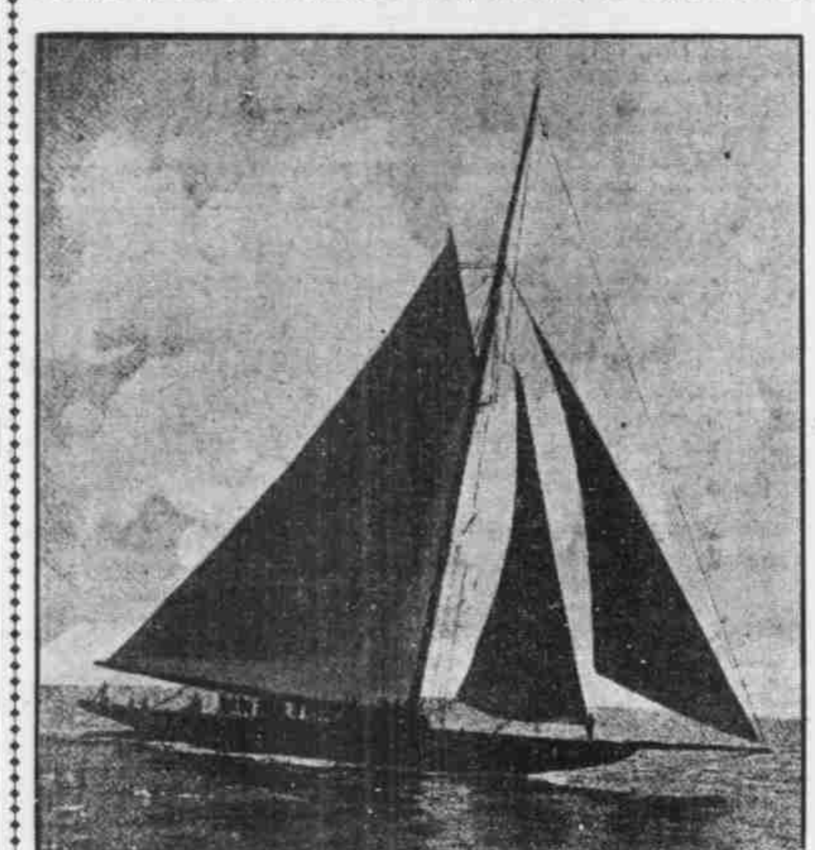
INDEPENDENCE FINISHES HER SERIES OF SAIL TRIALS



THE BOSTON YACHT INDEPENDENCE.

BOSTON, June 12.—The first of the series of sail trials of the yacht Independence was finished today, and the big 90-footer will not go out again until some changes have been made to correct a few slight defects brought out during the five days of sailing. These changes will be a shortening of the mast by 10 feet, a reduction of the sail area of about 200 feet, due to the tenderness shown by the boat while on the wind, and the substitution of a stern post rudder for the balance affair, which has not proved satisfactory. This reduction will lighten the yacht without additional ballast. The Independence sailed today for the first time under racing canvas, mainsail, foresail, jib topsail and club topsail, and in the light breeze seemed to slip along very fast. The Independence will go into the Navy-yard drydock tomorrow as soon as her mast has been removed.

VISITORS AGAIN VICTORS

SECOND DAY OF THE INTERNATIONAL TRAP SHOOT.

The Match Will Close Today Undoubtedly in Favor of the Americans.

LONDON, June 12.—The international clay bird trap-shooting match, which began yesterday on the grounds of the Middlesex Gun Club, Hender, was resumed under entirely different weather conditions today. Rain, with varying winds, fell during the early afternoon, making shooting extremely difficult. The Americans gathered confidence, however, from their work of yesterday and their growing familiarity with the suroundings.

At the end of the sixtieth round, when each side had shot at 600 targets, the British gunners had broken 476 and the Americans 524. Out of the first 60 targets W. R. Crosby broke 58, Fred Gilbert 56, John S. Fanning 55, and R. O. Heikes 54. The match closed for the day in a driving rain, with the following totals: Americans, 877; British, 794.

When the contest closed this afternoon it was believed that tomorrow's shoot would surely end the match in favor of the Americans. Their average today was decidedly better than that of yesterday, but the team will be disappointed if tomorrow's average, under anything like favorable conditions, does not exceed 90 per cent.

Crosby led today's score with 95 per cent of kills; Heikes and Gilbert, 93 per cent each, and Tripp with 90 per cent. No member of the American team secured less than 87, whereas the highest British score was 87 per cent. In view of the fact that tomorrow's match will decide the contest, a number of sweepstakes have been arranged for Friday and Saturday, and another live bird contest for Monday, after which the American team will go to Glasgow, proceeding from that city to Germany and France.

Emeryville Track Released.

OAKLAND, Cal., June 12.—The California Jockey Club has renewed its lease on the Emeryville racetrack for 10 years, with an option to extend the lease seven years longer if desired. The lease is from Mrs. Margaret A. Mee, of San Francisco, to President Thomas H. Williams and Secretary R. B. Milroy. It is agreed that a monthly rental of $500 shall be paid in advance. It is further stipulated that the California Jockey Club may assign the property to the Mercantile Trust Company to raise $400,000 with which to pay the San Francisco Jockey Club for the Ingleside and Tanforan tracks. The purchase price was $600,000. In the event of the racing being prohibited by the State Legislature, it is agreed that the California Jockey Club may conduct on the premises any other forms of amusement it may see fit. The buildings are to be insured at between $60,000 and $80,000.

Lipton and Royal Yacht Squadron.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The Tribune's London correspondent says:

The Duke of Cornwall will probably be elected vice-commodore of the Royal Yacht Squadron. The King has been compelled to resign the commodoreship, and the nomination of the Duke to the second office would be a graceful recognition of his Royal Highness' enthusiasm for yachting.

It is understood that Sir Thomas Lipton has resolved again to seek election to this very exclusive club, and the King himself will be his sponsor. Sir Thomas' rejection last year was a poor reward for his plucky attempt to win the America's cup, and did not reflect credit upon the squadron.

Proposed Race in Irish Waters.

LONDON, June 12.—The Royal Ulster Yacht Club proposes a race in Irish waters before the annual yacht-race meeting on the Clyde. It suggests that this should take place June 18, 19 or 20, and offers two prizes of £100 each for a contest between the Shamrock I, Sybarita, Meteor and Kariad, one prize to go to the first yacht home and the other to the winner on time allowance.

TESTIMONY RULED OUT

DEFENSE IN KENNEDY CASE LOST IMPORTANT EVIDENCE.

Other Witnesses Called to Prove Defendant Was Temporarily Insane at the Time of the Murder.

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Judge Wofford today ruled out the testimony of one of the strongest witnesses presented so far by the defense in the case of Lulu Prince-Kennedy, on trial for the murder of her husband. The defense had evidently counted much on being able to present this testimony, and the court's order to strike it out was considered a blow to their side. Mrs. Kennedy was visibly depressed by the court's decision. The witness was Edward W. Lewis, an inspector for the Western Railway Association Insurance Protection Bureau, and a personal friend of the dead man. Through him the defense hoped to prove the theory that Kennedy had ruined Lulu Prince under promise of marriage and then refused either to marry her or to live with her after the marriage had been forced upon him. The defense's theory is that Kennedy jilted Miss Prince for the Grand Rapids, Mich., woman mentioned in the statement. Other testimony presented today by the defense was in an attempt to show that Mrs. Kennedy was temporarily insane at the time of the murder. The defense had not closed when court adjourned.

The courtroom was crowded two hours before Judge Wofford appeared, dozens of women being present with their lunches, prepared to remain through the hour and a half noon recess. The prisoner was even more cheerful than yesterday. She laughed and talked constantly with those about her, and occasionally prompted her attorneys to bring out a desired point.

H. H. Allen, for whom the defendant had worked in the capacity of stenographer, told of Kennedy calling on her at his office frequently. Other employes of Allen's office corroborated this testimony.

C. F. Bernhardt, who had been present immediately after the murder, saw Will Prince scuffling with Thomas Kennedy, the dead man's brother, who had tried to disarm Mrs. Kennedy. A policeman attempted to arrest Prince, and she said: "Let that man go; I did the shooting."

C. F. Wooly, who had boarded at the Prince house, testified that Kennedy called on Miss Prince at numerous times last Summer. He had seen her walking in front of Kennedy's office after the forced marriage, and she appeared careworn and worried.

Edward W. Lewis, a shipping clerk, began to tell of a conversation he had with Kennedy after the latter's marriage, but its admission was objected to. A long argument ensued. Judge Wofford contended that the conversation of the deceased was not admissable, but reserved his decision until afternoon. At the afternoon session Judge Wofford announced that he would not permit Lewis to give his testimony in the hearing of the jury, but ordered it taken down by the court stenographer, it being given before the Judge and court only. As taken from the court's record the testimony follows:

"The day of the marriage Philip Kennedy came to me to talk about the wedding. He told me that he had known the girl for three years, that he had loved her and that he had promised to marry her, but had ruined her. He said that after he had ruined her he had lost respect for her. He told me that he had been called up by Mr. Nearing and went to the latter's office. Nearing told him that he had to marry Lulu Prince. He refused and went out in the hall, where he found Lulu, the father and brother. Lulu put out her arms and said: 'Phil, don't blame me. This is not my doings.' Kennedy said: 'They threatened me and I went with them over to the courthouse, where we were married.' Phil asked me what he should do. I told him he ought to marry the girl and acknowledge her. The day before the killing Kennedy told me he would not live with the girl, and threatened to commit suicide."

Took the Pauper's Oath.

HELENA, Mont., June 12.—Gustav Schriekengast today took the pauper's oath, and thereby relieved Congress of the necessity of passing a special enactment to remove him from the Montana State penitentiary. Shriekengast had been sentenced to serve five years and to pay a fine of $500 for counterfeiting. After completing his term several months ago he declined to take the pauper's oath, thereby securing a remittance of the fine and his liberty, because Idaho officials wanted him for highway robbery. Having been convicted in the Federal Courts, Congress was to have been appealed to this Winter to order his discharge.

Jealous Husband's Crime.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 12.—Crazed by jealousy Elijah Heathcote, a contractor, entered the apartments of his wife in the Darrow Block, shortly after midnight and, grabbing her, held her at arms' length while he fired the contents of his revolver into her body. Four bullets took effect. Heathcote accused his wife of being in love with another man. The couple had quarreled frequently of late, and only two weeks ago the husband was arrested at the instigation of the wife for having threatened to kill her. Heathcote is now in jail, while his victim is at the hospital at the point of death.

Held for Forgery.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Melville Chester Findlay, who was arrested here Monday on numerous charges of forgery, waived preliminary hearing today and was held to the grand jury in bonds of $2400. Findlay is the son of a Kansas City business man, a graduate of Yale and admits that he has had exceptional advantages in life, but he is said to have passed forged checks in nearly all the important cities of the country. It is alleged that in Bloomington, Ill., he secured $5000.

PENNSYLVANIA MINE HORROR

Another Explosion Shows That the Gas Is Still Active.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., June 12.—The death of Harry Beveridge at the McKeesport hospital last night brings the total number of fatalities of the Port Royal mine disaster up to 18. The last rescuing party entered the ill-fated mine shortly before midnight and explored it for a distance of about 3000 feet. The dead body of David James was found this morning and was identified by a rag tied around the little toe of the left foot. The flesh was burned from the face in several places, and apparently the body had met nearly the full force of the second explosion.

Five bodies have been recovered since the first explosion. There are still 13 bodies in the mine, and several experienced miners here from the Panhandle district think that they will be recovered. What the exact conditions are in the unexplored part of the mine is not known. That there is fire is the opinon of many, but its severity cannot even be guessed at. The next party to enter the mine will extend its ventilation as far as possible and rid out whatever gas can be reached.

The conference of mineowners today showed that more explosions are looked for. As soon as the officials left the office of the company men were hurried to the shafts of the mine and ropes were stretched around the shafts and guards stationed to keep the people back. It was decided to have the crowd kept back about 300 feet from the mouth of the pit, as the fire raging below is expected to light the gas in other workings at some time, and should the crowd be around the mouth of the shaft when these explosions occur lives might be lost.

The mine is rapidly filling with gas, and the muffled reports of explosions can be heard every few minutes. The rope stretched across the mouth of the mine keeps the crowd well back, and notices have been sent out that a heavy explosion like an earthquake may occur at any time, and the hoist may be blown away, and all moveable property belonging to the company has been cleared from the pit mouth.

Another explosion took place in the Port Royal mine at 4 o'clock this afternoon in No. 2 shaft. It sent up a whirlwind of oil, dust and smoke and proved conclusively that the gas is still active in the mines. It will probably be tomorrow afternoon before the mine inspectors can get together for the purpose of deciding as to the advisability of making another attempt to recover the dead in the mine before flooding it. Coroner Wynne, of West Moreland County, commenced an inquiry into the cause of the disaster at this place this afternoon. Only two witnesses were examined. The inquest will probably occupy several days, as the jury, which is composed of well-known business men, seems determined to get at the cause of the disaster, if it can be learned from any living person.

Rev. Father Carroll, of Smithton, says that some of the men in the burning mine are yet alive, and asked tonight that he be permitted to lead a relief party.

"I have four experienced miners from the coke regions," he said, "who will go into the shaft with me. I will go 10 yards ahead, and will bring out the men alive or dead."

Some one spoke of removing the plugs in the river bed and letting the water into the mine.

"That would be wrong," said Father Carroll, "at least until the mine has been closed seven days."

Father Carroll has offered a reward of $2000 to any one that will recover the bodies in the mine or rescue the entombd men alive. The mine authorities have advised Father Carroll against going into the mine.

DRS. COPELAND & MONTGOMERY'S GOOD WORK

ONCE DREADED DISEASES WHERE CURES MAY NOW BE ASSURED.

Asthma, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, Rheumatism, Catarrh and Other Maladies, Once Dreaded as Incurable, Now Yielding Readily to the Copeland Treatment.

If a man dies he will not live again till the resurrection. That much is clear. Medical science has advanced wonderfully, but it cannot warm a dead man's feet or set in motion a heart that has stopped. Furthermore, there are living invalids to whom it can no more restore health than it can restore life to the dead. It cannot cure fatty degeneration of the heart nor cancer of the stomach, and it cannot repair a lung that has undergone total decomposition or a liver that has undergone a hardening or a malignant ulceration.

But, in drawing the line between what is possible and what it not possible to enlightened medical science, there is neither sense nor humanity nor professional honesty in exaggerating the list of incurable maladies. The physician who holds today that common types of chronic lung disease, chronic kidney disease, chronic liver disease, or the severer types of catarrh, asthma, rheumatism, etc., are incurable, because chronic, contradicts a matter of fact attested by 20,000 people who have been cured of those very maladies by the specialists of the Copeland Medical Institute.

A family doctor who knows little of the nature of chronic diseases, and still less of the secrets and subtleties involved in their mastery, might well abstain from any expression of "views" regarding their curability or their incurability. His opinion has grown in the shade, like hemlock and may be just as poisonous as hemlock—just as depressing and deadly in its action—when administered to patients.

To say that the chronic maladies enumerated above will not yield promptly to correct specialty treatment is either an inexcusable error or an inexcusable falsehood. In either instance it is an inexcusable impertinence in the face of 20,000 intelligent and reputable people, who testify to their radical and lasting cure of those diseases by the Copeland specialists. And when they say "cured," they mean it. They do not mean a moment's balm to pain, a little rest to sleepless agony. They mean the complete elimination of the seed poison and seed principle of chronic disease and the permanent return of natural health to the system.

But chronic catarrh being the malady most frequently and most impertinently described as incurable by those who have no real knowledge concerning it, below is presented symptoms of different forms of the disease, any sufferer from which may be practically assured of a cure by applying to the Copeland specialists. For convenience, the applicant should cut out the symptoms applying to his case and bring them with him, or send by mail if desiring the mail treatment.

CATARRH OF HEAD AND THROAT

The head and throat become diseased from neglected colds, causing Catarrh when the condition of the blood predisposes to this condition.

"Is the voice husky?"
"Dou you ever spit up slime?"
"Do you ache all over?"
"Do you blow out scabs?"
"Is the nose stopped up?"
"Do you snore at night?"
"Does your nose discharge?"
"Does your nose bleed easily?"

CATARRH OF BRONCHIAL TUBES

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

This condition may result from several causes, but the usual cause is catarrh, the mucus dropping down into the throat and being swallowed.

"When your stomach is empty do you feel faint?"
"Do you belch up material that burns your throat?"
"When the stomach is full do you feel oppressed?"

SYMPTOMS OF EAR TROUBLES.

Deafness and ear troubles result from catarrh passing along the Eustachian tube that leads from the throat to the ear.

"Is your hearing failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Do the ears itch and burn?"
"Are the ears dry and scaly?"
"Is the wax dry in the ears?"

"Is there a roaring like a waterfall in head?"
"Do you hear better some days than others?"
"Do the noises in the ears keep you awake?"
"When you blow your nose do the ears crack?"
"Is your hearing worse when you have a cold?"

CATARRH OF THE LIVER.

The liver becomes diseased by catarrh extending from the stomach into the tubes of the liver.

"Are you irritable?"
"Are you nervous?"
"Do you get dizzy?"
"Have you no energy?"
"Do you have cold feet?"
"Do you feel miserable?"
"Is your memory poor?"

"Do you suffer from pains in temples?"
"Do you have palpitation of the heart?"
"Is there a general feeling of lassitude?"
"Do these feelings affect your memory?"
