DUE TO HEAVY CHECKING

NEW YORK BANK REPORTED TO BE IN DIFFICULTIES.

Directors Provided Ample Means for All Purposes—Flurry Started for Stock-Jobbing Purposes.

NEW YORK, June 25.—It became known today that there was a debit balance on the clearing house of the Seventh National Bank amounting to $38,000. This gave rise to rumors that the bank was in difficulties, and caused rumors that other banks would be hampered. All these were cleared away when Manager William Sherer, of the Clearing-House Association, issued a statement to the effect that the bank was in no way in difficulties, and that the clearing-house sheets had gone through. Tonight a statement was given out by the directors of the Seventh National Bank, in which it was said that the debit balance of the Seventh National Bank with the clearing-house yesterday morning was $38,000, and that the balance was due to heavy checking of the part of men connected with several large brokerage and banking houses. The directors and stockholders of the bank convened, and at once provided ample means for all business purposes. The statement further stated that the flurry was probably started for stock-jobbing purposes, and that the rumors were not to be taken seriously. IS IT AN EPIDEMIC?

Vital Statistics Show an Alarming Increase in an Already Prevalent Disease—Are Any Exempt?

At no time in the history of disease has there been such an alarming increase in the number of cases of any particular malady as in that of kidney and bladder troubles now prevailing upon the people of this country.

Today we see a relative, a friend or an acquaintance apparently well, and in a few days we may be grieved to learn of their serious illness, and in some cases caused by that fatal type of kidney trouble—Bright's disease.

INVENTIONS FOR THE BABIES

Much Genius Expended in Finding Comforts for Them.

New Orleans Times-Democrat. "I was looking over a recent monthly report sent out from the Patent Office at Washington," said a local attorney yesterday, "and was struck by the large number of small things that are patented monthly by the ambitious inventors of America. Many of them, too, will prove of immense benefit to humanity, and in this connection I may say that the growth of this business in importance has impressed me with the wisdom of the forefathers who made this encouragement of invention one of the fundamental parts of our system of government. Great fortunes are annually made by the inventors of new and simple devices, so we have individual profit combined with a more general public benefit. But there was one thing that impressed me more than any other thing in this connection, and that was the fact that the inventor of the American baby, do you know, it is almost impossible to pick up a report sent out from the Patent Office at Washington without finding one or more little things that have been patented just for the sole and exclusive benefit of the babies of the country. One would think that the larger and more necessary institutions of the country would crowd the baby out of the mind of the inventor, but this is not the case. The baby has his day in the sun. In one of the recent reports I counted three inventions of this character, and incidentally I may remark that there is probably a lesson, just a bit of philosophy, if you please, in the nature of the things patented. One of them was a bottle—yes, a bottle—the kind the young fellows nibble at when the mother is not around. The other two had a similar relation to the comfort and well-being of the baby, but the inventors confined their time and talent to constructing devices to slip over the mouth and neck of the bottle, and of course the general idea was to provide a more healthful apparatus for the child who is forced occasionally to fall back on this modern utility. Among the other things designed and patented for the use of the American baby, are many rattlers, symbolizing something, inventions that will probably find lodgment in some of the famous nurseries after the plan of Froebel and other kindergarten teachers. The bottle and kindred things made the deepest impression on me, because they seemed to indicate the drift of things. There is no chance to lose the American baby in the whirligig of time, for the same is a peach."

Trouble in Raising the Ingalis.

NEW YORK, June 25.—An attempt to float the proposed Ingalis, which sank in a drydock in the Erie Basin June 14, into a stronger drydock, has resulted in the vessel's dropping an additional four feet, and now being deeper in the water than ever. The cause of the accident is not yet known, but it is believed that it was an accident almost impossible to avoid. Nobody was injured in this second accident. Divers say the hull of the vessel is not injured. Blocks in the dock on which the keel of the vessel rested fell away, which caused the mishap.

Kansas City Star.

It must be admitted, even by temporary advocates, that prohibition does not prohibit even when it is embodied in the laws of a state. How, then, can it be expected to be successful in the regulation of isolated camps or posts? In the case of the new aviators, who are reformers are doing untold injury to the morals and the discipline of the Army by their tenacious but impractical adherence to principle. Yet this attitude is maintained in the case of temperance.

The Reading Strike.

READING, Pa., June 25.—Not a dozen of the 100 striking shopmen of the Philadelphia & Reading shops returned to work today, as they had been urged to do by President Baer in his letter of Saturday. On the other hand, there were some accessions to the ranks of the strikers. The strike of the Reading shops was a general strike over the greater portion of the company's system is predicted.

Short Line Versus Clark.

CARSON CITY, Nev., June 25.—The Oregon Short Line versus Senator Clark's forces are still trying conclusions in the United States Circuit Court at Carson. W. F. Egan, general solicitor of the Southern Pacific Company, was entered as attorney for the Short Line people yesterday, but left for San Francisco last night. The case will not be argued before tomorrow, as it has become a mere offer of documentary evidence.

General Lee's Daughter Married.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The wedding of Miss Ellen Lee, daughter of Brigadier-General Fitzhugh Lee, to First Lieutenant James Cooper Rhea, of the Seventh Cavalry, United States Army, took place today in the Church of the Transfiguration, in the city. The bride was accompanied by the young couple in travel before they start for Cuba, where the bridegroom is now stationed.

Death of Joseph Cook.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., June 25.—Joseph Cook, the distinguished lecturer and author, is dead at his summer home in Whitehall. He was born January 25, 1833. He had been ill in health for several years. Mr. Cook is best remembered by his efforts to show in his lectures the harmony of the Bible with science.

Killing Was Not Intentional.

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—L. L. Bailey, the young stenographer who killed Walter L. Zeph last Thursday night at Audubon park, in a fist fight, was discharged today.

Doubts That May Return.

It is easily understood that Dewey might have indulged an optimistic tendency in touting McKinley for a third term, but how did Groverner happen to go wrong? It is not that he was wrong, but that the President it was really the President who spoke. There is also a question as to why the President needs a Cabinet meeting to help him to do it. Whether he wanted to break through a tradition as old as the Nation. He must have had some doubts which he wanted
