RUBIN THREW FITZSIMMONS TWICE IN SUCCESSION.

The Akron Giant Proved Too Heavy and Too Clever for the Cornishman—Other Sporting News.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Gus Rubin and Bob Fitzsimmons in a Greece-Roman wrestling bout, at 220 pounds, at Madison Square Garden tonight. Rubin was both cleverer and heavier than the Cornishman and won two falls in succession, with a quarter of an hour's rest between them. In the boxes around the wrestling platform was a gathering of men whose faces were always a familiar sight at the ringside when boxing was in vogue in this city. Several noted that acting were in evidence, among them being Tom Sharkey, who has taken to the wrestling game recently, and Terry McGovern, who acts as timekeeper. Charlie White was referee.

There were three preliminary bouts between lesser lights before Fitzsimmons and Rubin made their appearance. Then Fitzsimmons jumped on the platform of the crowd cheered. Rubin followed him and also got a warm welcome. His weight was announced at 195 pounds and Fitzsimmons was said to weigh only 160. When they faced each other the spectators cheered as Fitzsimmons, in trying to hold, was twice overthrown. He was going to fight. He repeated these tactics a couple of times, to the intense amusement of the onlookers. Rubin dropped and remained on the mat three times and twisted quickly the third time, getting Fitzsimmons underneath for a rolling fall. They got up again and Fitzsimmons caught Rubin on the head with a right hand and secured a half-nelson and body hold. Rubin then had Fitzsimmons in a bad place and finally threw him. Time, 14 minutes 34 seconds.

When they came together again they sparred as if for an opening at the old game, and a second time Rubin was on the neck and shoulders. After five minutes of this kind of work Fitzsimmons got a back body hold and put his feet on the mat. He held Rubin for a while and then he secured a strangle hold, which Rubin broke easily. Rubin was too heavy for Bob, who essayed a back hammer hold, but was unsuccessful and they got on their feet again. Fitzsimmons, with a body hold from the back, gave Rubin a flying fall and a knee on the mat in the second round. Fitzsimmons secured a quarter hold and a quarter hold, but both rolled over and nothing came of it and they got up once more to their feet. Fitzsimmons got a strangle hold and Rubin tried to pull him over, but Rubin stood close and fell on Fitzsimmons, and with a combination lock pinned Fitzsimmons' shoulders and finally secured a fall and the match. Time, 12 minutes 37 seconds.

THE BIG YACHTS WILL SAIL AT NEWPORT TODAY.

Managers and Crew of the Independence Believe They Have Not Had a Fair Trial.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 9.—None of the big racing boats moved out of the harbor today. It was intended to take the Constitution out for a short spin in the afternoon to try out a couple of new jibs, but about 3 o'clock a squall came up from the west and it was decided that the boat would better remain at her moorings. It was rather expected that a little ballast would be taken out of the Independence today, but Mr. Adams, who is in charge, has decided to make no change until after tomorrow's race, at least. On the Columbia there was practically nothing to do. While the managers and crew of the Independence are still undismayed by the showing their boat has made thus far and are as full of hope and courage as ever, they feel that their craft has had an unusual run of hard luck in finding all the best spots possible in the two races in which she has sailed. They know that the boat has sailed fast in a good

Another Denver Crime.

AGED WOMAN MURDERED ON OUTSKIRTS OF THE CITY. DENVER, Colo., July 9.—Mrs. Armenia Bullis, aged 71 years, was murdered last night on a lonely road near the east city limits, being stabbed to the heart, and Jessie Klnport, 14 years of age, was assaulted at her home and terribly mutilated with a knife. Christian Jensen, a farmhand, who is in custody, has confessed to the murder of Mrs. Bullis. He says she ran against him on the road, and he stabbed her. He talks incoherently, and is believed to be crazy. Mrs. Bullis lived on a small farm and was walking home when she was murdered. She had been employed for several years. Robbery was evidently not the motive for the murder, as the woman's money was not taken. Chief of Police Jensen and the physician who examined the body, believe that the assault on Jessie Klnport was not committed by Jensen, although some circumstances point to him as the guilty party. The girl was alone at home at the West Ninth avenue when assaulted, her mother, a widow, having gone to the theater with a friend. The man who assaulted the girl gained access to the house through a window. He choked her out but in the abdomen and otherwise maltreated her. Either he carried her out of the house or she ran out in her frenzy. She was found lying on an ash dump about midnight by searchers after an alarm had been given by her mother, who, on returning home found her child's bed empty and bloodstained. The physician in attendance believe she will recover.

Norlin at the time of the robbery was 33 years of age and had been assaulted in his office, robbed and the building fired. He admitted later that this story was purely a concoction of his own.

At the National Capital he was presented to President Harrison, and he represented the Russian embassy in many social functions. He made many frequent visits to this city. He lived on a small allowance sent him by a sister in Moscow.

Sympathy of the Chinese Conrt.

LONDON, July 9.—A dispatch from Pekin says: Posthumous honors have been bestowed upon a large number of officers and soldiers who were killed in the attacks on foreigners, their deeds being commended by the court. Honors are like-wise bestowed on their families. In this manner and other ways the court still shows its belief that the war against foreigners was legitimate, notwithstanding the foreign condemnation of the outrageous methods employed. The progressive officials are doubtful as to the treaty which they will receive when the court returns.

Spanish Conservatives Blameless.

Responsibility for the disasters which had occurred, he declared, fell into the natural order, where the Conservatives, but must be charged to the Liberals. The Conservatives had not permitted the intervention of the United States in Cuba and they had refused several times to sell the United States the island. If the Conservatives had remained in power the war with the United States would have broken out. "Among the errors of the Liberal party," continued the Duke, "must figure the recall of Weyler at a very difficult moment."

TRANSVAAL CONCESSIONS.

BRITISH CONSUL MAY ESTABLISH A PRECEDENT FOR THE UNITED STATES. WASHINGTON, July 9.—The position of the British Government relative to the various mining and other concessions in the Transvaal is fully disclosed in a blue book covering this question which has just reached Washington. The subject is the very first importance to the State and War Departments, as some of the most troublesome and weighty problems now confronting them is a result of claims from various concessionaries in the Philippines, Porto Rico and Cuba. Claims of vast amounts based on telegraph and railroad franchises granted by the Spanish Government prior to the Spanish-American war have been made, and Great Britain's course may establish a valuable precedent. Moreover, the most important of the concessions in our insular possessions and in Cuba are claimed by English corporations.

The Issue was Made Last September.

The issue was made last September, when Sir Alfred Milner, the South African Commissioner, promulgated the famous order giving notice that the British Government reserved the right to recognize or modify any concession made by the late South African Republic, "without proper legal authority or contrary to law, or the conditions of which have not been duly complied with, or which appear to affect prejudicially the interest of the republic."

CONFIDENCE IN HIM—ASQUITH HAS FEW FOLLOWERS.

LONDON, July 9.—The much-discussed meeting of Liberals, called by Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman, Liberal leader in the House of Commons, with the object of ascertaining whether he still retains the confidence of the party, was held at the Reform Club today and resulted in the adoption of a vote of confidence in the leader of the association. All factions of Liberals attended. The Liberal imperialists, headed by H. H. Asquith, secured the most to a man, but Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman and Sir William Vernon Harcourt were the only two received with any marked recognition on entering. The crowd watching the arrivals greeted them with cries of "How's your friend Kruger?" Sir Henry made a conciliatory speech. The imperialists showed that they would not be associated with any anti-national policy, but the gathering was harmonious and seemed to have resulted in a temporary clearing of the air. In the course of his speech, Sir Henry met the imperialists so far as to say the war must be brought to a victorious conclusion, but he thought the government ought to insist on amnesty in the settlement. While the country had the sword in one hand, it ought to have the olive branch in the other and show a disposition to come to terms with an enemy that had fought bravely.
