The Dowling delegation had received the tickets for the convention seats from the seat committee yesterday, and won the long contest last night before the committee on credentials, and heretofore had also won in all the series of Mont-

COLUMBUS, O., July 10.—The Demo-cratic State Convention here today had more prominent men as delegates than any convention of Democrats in Ohio for many years. It was otherwise distin-guished. The nomination of Colonel Kilbourne was appropriately called one of "spontaneous combustion." Howells, Hody, Alshire and Holman were favorites at great odds from the start. Young was sprung as a surprise and nominated over Smoots, who had been such a favorite that others would not previously enter the race for Clerk of the Supreme Court. None of the delegates outside of Court. None of the delegates outside of Cleveland knew Young, and he was nominated because Cuyahoga wanted him. Cuyahoga could get anything it wanted except the head of the state ticket after the Johnson amendments were ingrafted into the McLean platform, and that document as amended was adopted with equalinity.

It was currently reported that Johnson desired the nomination of Monnett as At-torney-General, and the McLean men wanted Monnett defeated. At any rate. the defeat of Monnett was so decisive as to be a feature of the convention. Mon-nett, as Attorney-General, had brought suits against the Standard Oll Company and other corporations to cancel their had sought a third-term nomination from the Republicans on the issue that he should be retained in that office to con-tinue these prosecutions. After his de-feat for the third nomination in 1895 he supported Bryan in 1900 on the anti-trust issue and canvassed Ohio and other states with Bryan Indee Smaller in recently. with Bryan. Judge Smalley, in presenting Monnett's name, said he was known from the Golden Gate of San Francisco to the Hell Gate of New York as the enemy of

Bryan a Back Number.

In the alleged stampede "for principles rather than men," the most striking turn of the convention was on Bryan. The most bitter things were said on his leadership this morning, when it was said, that his name should not be mentioned, and that there should not be any reference to either of the National platforms on which he made his campaigns. After this plan had been agreed on one of the Il members of the platform committee offered a minority report resfirming the Kansas City platform and expressing confidence Bryan a Back Number. City platform and expressing confidence in Bryan, and he received only six votes out of $50 delegates on his substitute for the platform preamble. Court resulted as dx delegates called atter it to the platform. The aisles were or, dered cleared, and the picture did not reach its destination. It was trampled under foot and spoiled during the wild demonstration when Kilbourne was escorted into the hall. Members of the committee on resolutions say that over one hour was spent after last midnight in efforts to atrike the word "salable" out of the plant on reliewy taxation and out of the plank on railway taxation, and several hours in denouncing the Chicago and Kansas City platforms and the leader who stood on them. The platform caused much comment tonight over what it does not say as well as what it does say.

Unusual interest is being taken in the selection of members of the state execu-tive committee by the state central committee, which adjourned until July 2 without selecting its chairman or secretary. It is said that none of the candidates for either of these places can s cure a majority of the 21 votes, and that Colonel Kilbourne will be compelled to co-operate with either the McLean or the Johnson men, who are not friendly to each other, to control the state executive committee. In the selection of this executive body the head of the ticket has always been consulted. In this connection there are all sorts of rumors about the Senatorship, for which the convention indorsed no one as the Democratic candidate to succeed Senator Foraker. The names of John R. McLean and Tom L. Johnson are most prominently mentioned ohnson men, who are not friendly to Johnson are most prominently mentioned in this connection. No one is able to poll the 21 members of this committee to tell w it will stand with the Cincinnati and Cleveland elements after the November election, if the Democrats should have a majority of the Legislature. Proceedings of the Convention

The convention was not called to order until about 11 o'clock by Chairman Bruck-er, when prayer was offered by Rev. John Hewitt. Hon Charles P. Salen was greeted with an ovation on being introduced as temporary chairman, Before Salen could proceed, the Cuyahoga delegation gave three cheers for "Tom Johnson and Charlie Salen," and demonstrations Charile Salen," and demonstrations followed. The closing part of Salen's speech, which was on railway taxation, was loudly applauded.

After the adoption of the rules and order of business the report on credentials was submitted scating the Dowling delegates from Montgomery, the McCloud delegates from Union, the Buckley delegates from Portage and the Mason delegates gates from Butler County, E. H. Moore presented a minority report signed by seven of the 21 members of the committee to seat the anti-Dowling delegates from Montgomery, and an animated scene followed over this contest, which involved the local power of J. H. Dowling, and which has been precipitated into the state convention for several years. Thomas Galthe management of public institutions vin moved as a substitute for both reports that both delegations be seated with half of the state. He was requested by the chair to use more parliamentary language when the lie was passed He accused his opponents of be-ing in league with the Republican Secwas the Constitution with the greatest indi-

While Monroe was replying to Dowling there were heated demonstrations in the audience. Judge B. F. McCain, of Dayton, charged Dowling with attempting to defeat him and other Democratic candidates.
