ARE ALREADY DEVELOPED.

Conditions in the Philippines Justify Investment.

M'MINNVILLE, Or., July 10.-(To the Editor.)-Your editorial in Saturday's is-sue headed "Develop the Philippines" is BALTIMORE, July 10. — The 29-mile paced race at the Collseum tonight be-tween Tom Linton and Edouard Taylore was a flasco. Both of Taylore's motors went wrong, and Linton won by two miles and a third of a lap in 34:26 3-6. to the point and timely. There is, how-ever, an impression liable to be left upon reading a paragraph of it that is not jus-tified by the conditions governing the islands. The impression left in the read-er's mind is that capital must be chary about concating and investing in the islaabout operating and investing in the isl-ands, because of the certain loss following the development of a new country. You cite as instances of this the losses in South Africa, South America, Australia and India. The Philippines are not a new country in the same same as was those Heavyweights Fought at Anaconda. MANY LEAGUERS COMING. to San Francisco Exceeds All Rush Expectations.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.-The travel in connection with the coming Epworth League convention in this city is exceedlag all expectations. According to the officials of the Southern Pacific there is now in sight 25,000 people out of the Ogden gateway alone, and it is estimated that fully 4000 people will arrive by Sat-urday night. The Southern Pacific is making every meansation for the hand! making every preparation for the handl-ing of the baggage, and one wharf has especially been set aside for the rapid removal of trunks and impediments. Nearly 600 Leaguers arrived today.

Four Thousand Pass Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., July 10.-Four thousand Epworth Leaguers passed through this city today. Added to the great number of Epworth Leaguers was an unusually large travel of Summer tourists to Colorado and other Western States, attracted by the low rates. The Union Pacific, dur-ing the past 24 hours, has sent 21 extra passenger trains west, besides additional equipment on all the regular trains. In-cluded in today's party was a delegation from Pennsylvania which required four special trains, which were run in sec-tions as a part of the Union Pacific's California express. Other roads report unusually heavy travel, most of them running from three to six extra trains carrying delegates to San Francisco.

Lure of the North Lights.

Lowell O. Reese, in San Francisco Bulletin Far up in the north where the cold lights glow, And the long nights settle down, The Storm God sits in his halls of snow And broods with a sullen frown, To the groan and the creak in the froaty night, Where the icepack marches with sluggish might. might.

And the avalanche roars in its downward flight At the grim god's sullen frown.

Far up in the north there's a gleam of gold, Where the Storm God's treasure store Lies locked and held by the force god's hold On the ice-floe guarded shore: No green thing grows on the frozen land; No life germs sleep in the soulless sand; No Spring tides warm on the cheerless strand; Nor ever a laugh is heard.

Yet up in the north is the gleam of gold; Tet up in the north is the gream of goid; And the Argonaut sees and turns; No berg he fears nor the bitter cold. While ever the North Light burns; Ha sees his death in the low'ring sky; He feels its breath when the blast howis by;

He hears his requiem croon and sigh From the floe-but the North Light burns!

Far up in the north, where the cold lights

Far up in the north, where the cold lights glow. And the long nights sattle down, The Storm God sits in his halk of anow And gloats with a chilling frown; For white forms lie in his treasure store. Fast wrapped in their cold, white shroud; White ever the avalanche furies roar With a grinding shock to the 'leaguered shors; And the North Lights glimmer forevermore Through the night and the dark anow cloud.

and India. The Phillippines are not a new country in the same sense as was those mentioned countries in the beginning of their development. When capital went in-to the development of these countries the conditions under which it operated were entirely different from the conditions existing in the Phillippines today. Africa and Australia were populated with abor-iginal inhabitants, having no semblance of modern social order or civilization. Cap-ital followed the explorer, attempting to make a profit in an uncivilized country by means of civilized methods, and, as a consequence, large failures were the re-suit. Had capital waited until the cour-

QUESTION OF UNIONISM.

Wages Will Not Be Considered at the Pittsburg Conference.

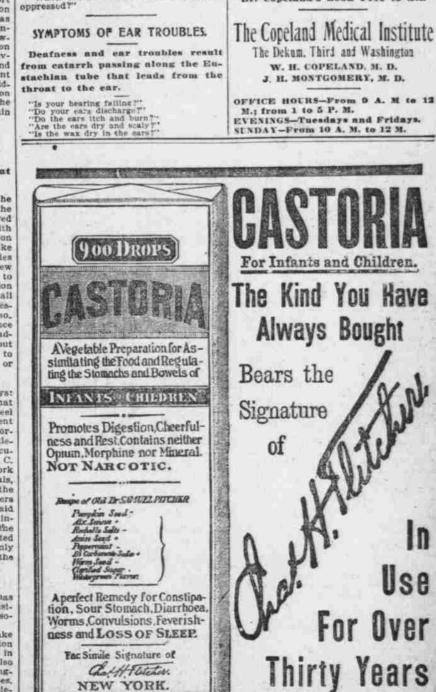

PITTSBURG, July 10 .- Nearly all the nembers of the executive board of the Amalgamated Association have arrived here for the conference tomorrow with the steel trust magnates. The question to be discussed in relation to the strike is not one of wages, as the companies have agreed to pay the rates of the new scale. The issue has narrowed down to the vital question of whether the union shall be recognized and treated with in all the mills of the two big companies. President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Asso, ciation, said tonight that the conference tomorrow need not be final and might adjourn from day to day for some time, but that his committee would not consent to an adjourned conference for a week or more,

NEW YORK, July 10 .- The Herald says: "The indications in this city are that the officials of the United States Steel Corporation do not regard the present strike in the sheet steel mills as of impor-tance or likely to prove difficult of settlement. E. H. Gray, chairman of the executive committee of the company, and C. M. Schwab will both remain in New York for the present, and not many officials, comparatively speaking, will meet the representatives and amalgamated officers in Pitisburg. A prominent steel man said the strike is a wholesale attempt to introduce unionism into the mills of the steel trust companies. The Amalgamated Association, he declares, controls only about 15 per cent of the employes of the trust."

Independent Telephone Plans.

NEW YORK, July 10.-President Thomas of Cleveland, O., the newly elected presi-dent of the Independent Telephone Asso-ciation of America, said:

"I came here from Cleveland to take charge of the operation and construction of an independent telephone system in New York and Boston. Plans are also being laid for the construction of a long-distance trunk line between the two cities. It is the intention of the telephone, tele This the intention of the telephone, the-graph and cable company to pursue an aggressive policy in the East, where the independent telephone movement has been practically neglected. The construc-tion of a system in New York and Bos-ton will cost about $9,000,000."
