MAY REPUDIATE BRYAN

DEMOCRATS OF OTHER BIG STATES LIKELY TO FOLLOW OHIO.

Party Is Squinting at an Abandonment of Silver—Bryanites Liable to Bolt.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Such Democrats of National prominence, whose opinions are of value, think that an effort will be made by the Democrats of all the big states to follow the action of Ohio and avoid any mention of silver in the state platforms next year. In this way it is believed that the party can approach the next National contest without being dragged down by Bryan and his free-silver heresies. The National committee is now for free silver, but there is nothing to prevent its members from changing, and, as the next convention approaches, encouraging the repudiation of free silver. Everybody knows that two-thirds of the delegates at the Kansas City Convention would have preferred no mention of the white metal, but that the perpetual candidate insisted upon free silver or nothing.

Already a movement is on foot to organize a bolt, and Chicago platform Democrats in Ohio intend to run a Bryan ticket. This leads to some speculation as to the probability of Bryan heading a bolt from the National Convention in 1904, if Bryanism and free silver are repudiated, as seems likely. Bryan has stated that the Democracy cannot desert its allies, the Populists and the Silver Republicans. If he keeps on during the campaigns of this year and next the preliminaries to the 1904 convention, he will be able to gather about him a Democratic following which could, with the Populists and a few scattering Silver Republicans, organize a semblance of a party. The prospects are, however, that Bryan will be too dead by that time to cut any figure in Democratic politics. The Ohio Democrats have shown that the way to repudiate Bryan is to repudiate him.

The strength of free silver was in the South, but if the Democracy of the South changes its opinion and follows the path blazed by the Ohio men, it can easily sway the Democracy of the Nation, and there is no difficulty in the South changing. The South has followed the banner of the Democracy through repudiation, fiat money, ballot-box stuffing, disfranchisement, tariff for revenue only, free trade, abandonment of tariff for revenue only, and abandonment of free trade, for Cleveland, against Cleveland and for free silver, and will follow it against free silver. It is only a question of properly labeling the Democratic jackass so far as the South is concerned. It will make no difference whether the platform be for Bryan, 16 to 1, repudiation and denunciation of the courts, or a conservative and sensible platform; the South will follow it wherever it leads. Having tried two Presidential campaigns as allies of the Populists of the West and the free silverites of the mountain states, the Southern Democracy will be perfectly willing to become an ally of the business interests of the East, with the hope of carrying enough Eastern States to restore the Democracy to power.

Bryan may not accept the situation. It is hard to see how some of the Democratic leaders of the past five years can get down from their silver platform, but if they do not, the party will get out from under them.

With the Democracy squinting at the abandonment of free silver the situation is interesting to those who watched Teller, Dubois, Pettigrew, Towne and other former Republicans desert in 1896 and again in 1900 to support Bryan. Just what they will do if the Democrats follow the Ohio example and abandon Bryanism, Populism and free silver is an interesting question.

They will no doubt make an effort to keep the Democratic party on the free-silver route, but it does not take very much of a prophet to predict that they will find it mighty hard work.
