

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

OPENING UPHUR STREET.—The trouble connected with the opening, laying out and extension of Uphur street has all been settled and Auditor Devlin was yesterday making out the water and sewer damages. The extension of Uphur street from Nineteenth to Twenty-second through private property was petitioned for some time ago and viewers were appointed to assess the damages. They reported that they had assessed the damages at $127.10. One of the property-owners appealed from this report, and as he had improvements on his property the court awarded him $38.40 in addition to the allowance made by the appraisers. As the assessing of this amount proportionately to all the property would have caused some delay, several of the property owners who were anxious to have the extension put through as soon as possible, chipped in and made up the $38.40 awarded by the court. The amount of damages, $265.50. The property-owners will now be paid their damages and work can go ahead upon the extension of the street.

SURPRISING BICYCLE PATH.—Several bicyclists who took a spin out on the Sandy road Sunday to see how the bicycle path under construction along that thoroughfare was getting along, report that a very good path is being made from town some distance out, but the eastern part of it has some queer features. Sometimes it runs in as close to the fence as possible and at quite a distance from it, and sometimes it is on the other side of the road. But what seemed the most remarkable of all was that right across in front of the entrance gates to the grove, the E. Mays' residence and several other places the ground had been deeply plowed and it looked as if the path was to be in a trench a foot or more deep. This is in other places. Just how the residents of these places are to get in and out of their premises was a conundrum to the members of the party, and apparently to the residents, too. Judging from the remarks, perhaps the matter will be all right when the path is finished. There is an old saying about showing to certain classes of people a job when half done.

RELATED TO JONAH'S GOURD.—A prominent lawyer, who has a tract of land under cultivation on the East Side—a small farm in fact—where he raises lots of fruit and vegetables, has among other things a fine patch of cucumbers. He never uses any of them and yesterday brought in a lot of them to a friend. He said he cultivated them merely for the pleasure of seeing them grow. Those he brought in were fair-sized, some of them large, and they were in the blossom about 10 days ago. If the vines are kept picked until the full-grown cucumbers their productivity is something wonderful. Last year from three vines two large kegs of pickles were put up, but as none of them were eaten they will suffice for some time. It is very seldom that "farmers" cultivate anything merely for the pleasure of seeing it grow, but this seems to be worth while in the case of cucumbers. The Oregon cucumber would make a good running mate for Jonah's gourd, of which it is a not very remote relation.

"YAMHILL AGAINST THE WORLD."—Yamhill County is making good this year. The ever proud boast of its citizens, "Yamhill beats the world." Postmaster McCain of McMinnville, who has recently made a tour of the county, says everything is looking magnificent there. The wheat, crop, hay, corn, potato crop, fruit crop and all other crops are the finest seen in years. The farmers have given up the old style of raising wheat, year after year on the same fields, a habit they fell into the early days when wheat was about the only thing there was an unlimited demand for and for which cash could always be obtained. They are sowing more clover, to the great benefit of their farms. The same condition of affairs prevails in all the other counties of the Willamette Valley, and some other conditions more than Yamhill, but the expression "Yamhill beats the world" has been copyrighted and it would not be safe to insinuate that there is any doubt of its correctness.

NOT DANGEROUSLY INJURED.—Charles Kamm, who was kicked by a horse near Astoria Sunday afternoon, was brought to the city yesterday morning, and is being cared for at his residence, 215 Fourteenth street. He was driving a spirited buggy horse when the animal started to run and Mr. Kamm let one of the lines drop in reaching for the reins. He was kicked on the forehead over the left eye. Still the injured man attempted to regain the line and he was kicked again, this time on the side of the head. He was picked up and a physician summoned from Astoria, who at first thought Mr. Kamm would lose the left eye, but yesterday doctor of this city considered that the injury is not so serious, and it will be sometime before he can attend to business again. The horse which caused all the trouble was Mr. Kamm's own property and had been brought down from Portland, for use at the coast.

BAILEY GATZERT DALES EXCURSIONS.—Dally from foot of Alder street, at 7 A. M., except Monday. Excursions to scenic spots. Landing at Cascade Locks, cost $4.00. St. Martin's Hot Springs, Cascade St. Martin, spring, has refused $48.00 cash for these springs. The cure property of Mount Hood, Mt. Hood, Mt. Hood, trip, Portland to Cloud Cap Inn. This "manion in the skies" has a world-wide reputation. Lye outlet to Washington. Vineyard vineyard here. Arrive at The Dalles at 2 P. M. Return to Portland at 10 P. M. This boat is a palatial. Meals unexcelled. These summer resorts are inviting. The scenery is grand beyond description. Tourists, come and see for yourselves.

BUYING NOT PEDDLING.—U. Chengeno was before Municipal Judge Cameron yesterday charged with peddling vegetables without a license. Chengeno was given that Chengeno was seen buying one crate of berries at the city fruit market, and that he then admitted he did not have a license. A Walter Wolf, for the defendant, argued that no evidence had been given that Chengeno had been peddling. The defendant was discharged.

FLAYEL IS BEST RESORT, WHY?—Finest, best kept hotel; easiest reached; no change of cars; land at door; balcony, more sheltered than Washington shore; both still water and surf bathing; every attraction; sports and home comforts; business men breakfast at 7:30, return to Portland 11:30 A. M. Best people go to Flayel. Rates $2 and $2.50 per day with board. Telephone J. L. Mitchell, 615 Marquam building, Portland.

DEATH OF MILDIE SANDERS.—Miss Mildie Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Saunders, died at Good Samaritan hospital, yesterday, where she underwent an operation. She was 17 years old and her father who was executive secretary for President Cleveland, 1885-89, is absent, and has been wired of the death of his daughter. The family home is 141 Eleventh street.

FEIGAN-BENNY FUED.—Mrs. Feigan, 649 Fourth street, was in the Municipal Court yesterday charged with assaulting her neighbor, Mrs. Estelle Benny. The latter testified that one of Mrs. Feigan's daughters called her a "disrespectable" name, and that in the altercation which ensued Mrs. Feigan struck the witness on the right arm with a stick. In return, Mrs. Benny threw water on one of Mrs. Feigan's children. The stick with which the offense was committed was produced in court by Mrs. Feigan and turned out to be of the feather-weight kind. It measured 15 inches in length and was about one-half inch thick. Mrs. Feigan was fined $5 and the various witnesses examined were warned to let each other alone in the future.

WORTHLESS CHECK.—As he was explaining a "financial deal" to a stranger yesterday in front of the courthouse, Matthew Olsen, of Tacoma, was arrested by Detectives Ford and Cordano, charged with passing a bogus check by which he secured $35 from a woman whose name is not known. She complained to the police that Olsen had victimized her, and Olsen was arrested on a description received. The police say he represented to the complainant that he had $250 in a bank at Tacoma, and that the check he was handing was worthless when she tried to cash it.

BAD ROADS NO EXCUSE.—David Miller was in the Municipal Court yesterday charged with riding his bicycle on a Willamette sidewalk. Miller pleaded that it was unsafe to ride a bicycle on the upper part of Williams avenue where the policeman stopped him, on account of the condition of the avenue. Municipal Judge Cameron said that the ordinance against bicycle riding on sidewalks did not make any exceptions for bad roads, and he fined the defendant $1.

TO RUN MOTORCAR AS AN AUTO.—E. E. Womack and FBI Hummer, made a trip to Sandy postoffice Sunday in Mr. Womack's automobile. The distance is 29 miles, which was covered in two hours. Womack said that he had been driving a being plucked east of Pleasant Home and the trip was a delightful one. Many Portland people were out driving in that section, which is a beautiful tract of well cultivated farms, and promising crops of grain.

WALKING ARSENAL JAILED.—Archibald Mendall, a recent arrival from Kansas, was before Municipal Judge Cameron yesterday charged with having in his possession a loaded revolver and a slungshot, which is a piece of lead tied to a string. Mendall said he found the slungshot near Front and Davis streets shortly after he arrived here, where he had a rooming house on Washington street along with G. W. Allen. He was arrested last night by Policeman Sloan, charged with taking possession of the goods found in the store to which he was not entitled. The warrant for King's arrest was issued by Municipal Judge Cameron. King was afterwards released on bail.

TO BE A BETTER.—The cooling river breezes from the decks of a comfortable river steamer. Try the ride to Oregon City on the Altona and expand your lungs. You and your friends will like the round trip, because it only costs 25c and is made in three hours, leaving Taylor street, at 8:30, 11:30 A. M., 3 and 6:15 P. M.

DEATH OF R. ECKSTEIN.—News was received here yesterday of the death of R. Eckstein at Welsch, Idaho, and that his body would arrive here at 4 o'clock this afternoon for burial. Mr. Eckstein was formerly in business at McMinnville, and had for some time been a resident of Welsch.

INVITED TO ART ASSOCIATION.—Delegates to the Epworth League convention passing through the city are invited to visit the rooms of the Art Association, in the Library building. Open daily from 2 to 4:30 P. M.

OTHERS TAKING A HAND.

Free Swimming Baths Have Friends Working Quietly.

H. W. Corbett subscribed $100 to the swimming fund yesterday. Subscriptions in addition to this were also received which made the total result of the day's canvass $130.50. The grand total of pledges now amounts to $233.50. One list of subscriptions collected by Otto Guthman, which was received by the Oregonian yesterday, foots up to $33.20. This shows what one man interested in the worthy project can accomplish by a small amount of work among his friends. Many are willing to give, but their unfamiliarity with the procedure, or their unacquaintance with the gentleman who has taken on the shoulders the burden of raising the necessary funds, or the delays that are incident to busy lives often smother good intentions. Mr. Guthman in his letter suggests that a number of enterprising men be selected to solicit funds from their friends and acquaintances, thereby reaching a greater number of people.

Mr. Guthman's list follows: Corvallis, Or., July 25.—(To the Editor.)—Inclosed please find subscription list for $30 for the free swimming baths fund. The business calls me from the city. I am unable to continue my efforts toward the establishment of this much-needed addition to our public institutions. However, I would advise that a number of enterprising men be selected who would be willing to co-operate with Messrs. Holman and Samuel, and solicit funds from their friends and acquaintances, thereby reaching a much larger number of people. Free bathhouse a necessity and we should leave no stone unturned in order to obtain them. Very sincerely, OTTO GUTHMAN.

The subscription list follows: Otto Guthman $5.00 W. R. Ellis $5.00 C. L. K. $5.00 George W. Collins $5.00 M. P. Hansen, Oregon City $5.00 L. A. Ackerman $5.00 J. L. Smith $5.00 P. E. Stowell $5.00 K. H. Brown $5.00 H. B. Brown $5.00 M. S. Sichel $5.00 Cecil H. Baser $5.00 Total $33.20

WHERE TO DINE TODAY.

The Portland Restaurant, 305 Washington street, near Fifth, continues to be the favorite. Give them a call. For home-like cooking go to E. House's Cafe, 123 Third street; he only buys the best; fresh eggs, milk and cream from his own ranch daily. The 25-cent lunch at the Perkins, 108 Fifth, is a fine dinner. White cooks. WHEN YOU BUY FLOUR For bread-baking, have it a hard-wheat flour. "Webfoot" gives best results. CARD OF THANKS. Mrs. George W. Gus and family wish to thank their friends and the Grand Army of the Republic for their kindness and expressions of sympathy during their great sorrow. Harris Trunk Co. for trunks and bags.

DECREE NOT MODIFIED

JESSE GARR MUST TAKE DOWN THAT FENCE.

Judge Bellinger Refuses to Change His Decision Concerning Grazing Lands in California.

The motion for a modification of the decree in the case of the United States vs. Jesse D. Carr, charged with having some 80,000 acres of Government land, partly in Oregon, but chiefly in California, inclosed for many years, was argued before Judge Bellinger yesterday, J. C. Moreland appearing for the defendant and United States Attorney J. H. Hall for the Government. Mr. Moreland deduced from the testimony of one of the witnesses that there was or was at one time a fence running across the tract inclosed and the California Inclosure left intact. He also deduced that the fees of three witnesses brought from California be excluded from the bill of costs taxed to his client. United States Attorney Hall argued that there was nothing in the testimony of the witness in regard to the old fence which justified the conclusion that it fenced out the jurisdiction of the court and also argued that the fees of the California witnesses ought to be paid. Considerable legal literature was quoted by both counsel as to their contentions on this subject, and it was finally taken under advisement, but the court summarily denied the motion to modify the decree.

Wants Will Annulled.

A petition was filed in the County Court yesterday to annul a will that was admitted to probate in 1894. The petitioner is Clyde J. Scoffins, the son of G. R. Scoffins, who died February 16, 1894, and whose will was admitted to probate in March of that year, the widow, Hannah E. Scoffins, being appointed executrix. The petitioner became of age on July 11, 1900, and now institutes proceedings for the annulment of the former probate of the will on the ground that his father at that time was non compos mentis, with his mind so weakened and impaired by disease and suffering that he was incapable of understanding or knowing his property or making a proper distribution thereof. The petitioner further states that the will was not witnessed by the signers in the presence of the deceased, and that at the time the pretended will was witnessed his father was unconscious. The beneficiaries of the father's will are his widow, Hannah E. Scoffins, his two sisters, Martha and Mary Ann Scoffins, and his three children, Maude E. Tillman, Claud I. and Clyde J. Scoffins. The latter are the heirs-at-law.

Court Notes.

R. A. Frame was discharged in the United States Court yesterday as a bankrupt.

R. C. Wright has been appointed receiver of certain properties belonging to Solomon Fisher and wife, pending the settlement of suit brought by him against Albion Floss to recover $800, with interest, said to be due on a promissory note.

A new suit was filed in the State Circuit Court by Wells Fargo & Co. and R. M. Dooly, trustees of the Fiquis (Ohio) road, on a promissory note of $655.50, alleged to be due the plaintiff. The suit is also designed to set aside a lien on some property given as security, and writing work by subsequent judgment by P. Greenberg, doing business as P. Greenberg & Co.

"THE PRAIRIE FLOWER"

Origin of the Novel Claimed for S. W. Moss, of Oregon City.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 28.—(To the Editor.)—I have seen your editorial of Sunday the 28th, in regard to the authorship of "The Prairie Flower." From earliest childhood I have heard the facts in connection with the writing of this pioneer book. For five years, during the two campaigns of William Henry Harrison for the Presidency, my father, S. W. Moss, was editor of the Fiquis (Ohio) Gazette, and had always been more or less accustomed to literary work. In April, 1842, my father arrived in Independence, Mo., intending to go on a geological survey to the Rocky Mountains, but some delay occurring, he joined an emigrant party for Oregon. For some time he had had in mind a story of the West, and upon the journey of 1842 he began "The Prairie Flower" by describing into it many descriptions of actual scenes along the way. The real heroine of the story, as I have always heard, was a beautiful girl of that emigration, called "The Prairie Flower" in her real name I never knew, or have forgotten. My mother described her as being very graceful and pretty. A well-known person on the bluff above Willamette Falls, called "The Lover," was "The Prairie Flower" was often pointed out to me as the place where the heroine and her family camped on their arrival at Oregon City. The tale was completed here in Oregon, and parts of it were read at the old Lyceum in the winter of 1842 and 1843. When the Spectator was started, and the Argus later, my father was an occasional contributor, and some of these early effusions are still in his scrapbook. My father built the first hotel in Oregon, the Main-Street House in Oregon City, and among the many guests came eventually William Johnson and his wife, of my father's first wife, who had died in Cincinnati. On account of old association, my father always had a high regard for Mr. Johnson, and when finally
