FAILED TO MAKE A TALLY

SPOKANE, HOWEVER, LET PORTLAND MAKE ELEVEN.

Bleachers Gave It to Glendon, but All Their Abuse Went for Naught.

SPOKANE, July 31.—Glendon had sweet revenge on the Spokane cripples today. A determined effort was made on the part of the bleachers to drive the Blues' ex-pitcher from the game, but all their abuse went for naught. Oleson, Risley and Hurlburt took turns in the box. The poor playing of the amateur on first for the locals was the feature. Attendance, 1000. Score:

JUST AS THE CONSTITUTION.

Shamrock II Struck on a Rock in Her Trial Races.

NEW YORK, July 31.—That Shamrock II, during her recent race on the Clyde with Shamrock I, met with an accident exactly similar to that which befell Constitution when she struck a rock, is admitted by the officer on board the former, in an interview with the London representative of the Journal and Advertiser. It seems that when the challenger was off Point Argylshire, the boat struck heavily and turned for deep water, but before she reached it, again struck, but managed to scrape off. The keel was severely damaged and dented, but it is now said to be as sound as ever.

ON HAND FOR THE REGATTA.

Constitution and Independence Among the Yachts to Compete.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 31.—The boats entered for tomorrow's regatta of the Newport Racing Association are all in the harbor tonight, and ready for the contest. The chief interest again centers in the 90-foot class, and the appearance of Independence in new form is welcomed by all who have watched the racing of the big boats. Her managers and officers are well pleased with her condition. The absence of Constitution is regretted, but inasmuch as Columbia is to appear against Independence, the critics can still get a line on the Boston boat.

MAY FIGHT IN GEORGIA

JEFFRIES AND RUHLIN WILL MEET IN OCTOBER.

Governor Has No Right to License Prizefighting, Nor Is There a Law Against It.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 31.—Governor Candler said today that he had not agreed to permit Jeffries and Ruhlin to fight next October in Savannah.

"I have no authority to license prizefighting in this state," said the Governor. "Any gentleman may come into Georgia and depart unmolested, unless, while here, he violates the law. In such case he will be held and punished for his crime."

There is no law against prizefighting in Georgia, and should the contest take place the participants could only be arrested on a charge of assault and battery. The Savannah promoters of the fight who called on Governor Candler left for home tonight, highly pleased with the result of the conference. It is understood to be the intention of the Savannah promoters to pull off the fight early in October. The Legislature will meet in Atlanta during the second week in that month.

ANXIOUS TO FIGHT JEFFRIES.

Ruhlin Will Meet Him Anywhere for Any Purse.

A private dispatch received in Portland last night stated that Governor Candler, of Georgia, was willing to grant a permit for a fight between Ruhlin and Jeffries, the same to be pulled off in Savannah. Gus Ruhlin and Billy Madden, his manager, are now in Portland. When Ruhlin was seen last night he referred his questioner to Madden, saying he would "stand for" anything the latter said. Madden cheerfully avowed his willingness to have the fight come off in Savannah or anywhere else. He said:

"All we want to do is to force this fight. Jeffries is afraid of Ruhlin, and the public knows it. He has been trying in every way possible to avoid a fight with him. We are willing and anxious to have the fight, and any place suits us.

"As regards the size of the purse, we are willing to fight for any purse that is suitable to Jeffries. We want to know in advance, of course, that Jeffries is to get no money on the side, and that everything is on the square. We will accept any fair proposition to fight anywhere."

AUSTRIA HEEDS REQUEST.

Garrisons Are Ordered to Be Placed on a War Footing.

LONDON, July 31.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Buda Pest says that in consequence of the agitation in Albania, Austria has ordered every garrison in Bosnia and Herzegovina to be placed on war footing immediately. Additional regiments will leave Vienna this week for Serajeve and Banjluka. All the officers on furlough have been ordered to rejoin their regiments.

News Not Confirmed in London.

LONDON, July 31.—Nothing has been received here to confirm the news contained in the dispatch of the Pall Mall Gazette from Buda Pest, and outside of Vienna scant attention is paid to the alleged political intrigues, which are asserted to be at the bottom of the present agitation in Albania. According to a sensational Austrian newspaper, Italy and Montenegro started the Mussulmans in Albania on their present anti-Christian campaign, with the view of obtaining an excuse of some kind for intervention, the object being to checkmate Austria's priority claim on Albania, in the event of its separation from Turkey. Italy has several times denied these alleged designs on Albania.

REWARD FOR LORD ROBERTS.

English House Votes Him £100,000 for Work in South Africa.

LONDON, July 31.—In the House of Commons today, proposing a resolution granting Field Marshal Lord Roberts £100,000 for his services in South Africa, A. J. Balfour, the government leader, in the course of a eulogy of the Field Marshal, said there was no doubt that but for Lord Roberts' daring and strategy, and the rapidity with which his plans were carried out, Kimberly and Mafeking would have fallen, 11,000 British would have been starved into submission at Ladysmith, and there would have been a general rising of disloyalists in South Africa. The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, concurred in the motion. John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, strongly opposed the vote. He declared Lord Roberts had shown the greatest inhumanity in South Africa, and said he had employed barbarous methods and had proved himself a dismal failure. Mr. Labouchere, Radical, and Mr. Kier-Hardy, Socialist and Independent Labor, also strongly opposed the measure. Swift MacNeil, Irish Nationalist, said he considered Lord Roberts' operations were conducted with a maximum of cruelty and a minimum of humanity, and that his farewell speech at Cape Town was horrible hypocrisy and blasphemy. After further debate, Mr. Balfour moved the closure, which was carried by 257 to 108 votes. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 281 to 73.

Gloomy View of Far East Affairs.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Times, in an editorial taking a gloomy view of affairs in the far East, says:

"Even official optimism is unable to avert its eyes from the dark thunderclouds which seem to overlook the Balkans."

It refers to Russia as "stealthily building up her authority in the Slavonic states," and to Bulgaria as being "gradually transformed into a Russian dependency."

Commenting upon the unrest in Albania and Macedonia, it says:

"It is commonly supposed that no serious outbreak will take place in Macedonia until Russia gives the signal, but events are maturing and Russia may be taken unawares."

Massacre Reports Disproved.

Reception for Globe-Trotter.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Gaston Stiegler, who has been traveling around the globe under the patronage of the Matin, was expected to arrive here yesterday on his return, and a considerable number of persons gathered at the Northern Station. A special waiting-room had been profusely decorated, and this was reserved for the reception. Steigler, however, in consequence of the steamer Oceanic from New York being three hours late at Liverpool, missed the train, and telegraphed that he would arrive in Paris early today. The Matin, however, wired him to leave London so as to arrive here at 4:45 P. M., when an elaborate daylight reception will be arranged. The journey will thus have been accomplished by Stiegler in 64 days and four hours.

Thinks It Is the Ophir of Solomon.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Dr. Carl Peters, the German explorer, writes to the Times declaring his belief, as a result of his discoveries in South Africa during the last two years, that the country between the Zambesi and the Sabi is the Ophir of Solomon. From traces of Egyptian civilization, he believes the mining district was originally discovered by Egyptians, and that there was an Egyptian colony there before the Phoenicians took the country between 1000 B. C. and 1100 B. C. He intends at an early date to lay all his evidence before the public.

Oscar Hammerstein's Silk Hat.

New York Times.

There seems to be no limit to Oscar Hammerstein's versatility. The peculiar silk tile which he affects and which has become a part of the personality of the never-to-be-downed theatrical promoter, was the cause of a new invention for keeping it always polished and in shape. Of course Mr. Hammerstein is the father of the invention. Mr. Hammerstein has worn the same hat for a number of years and says he would not part with it for any one of the fortunes that have been his in the past. He sent it twice a week to be ironed and polished, but found that this scheme was expensive—that is, too expensive for a man with an inventive brain. So he turned his active organ over for a scheme to obviate this expenditure. The result is a new hat ironer and shaper, of which Mr. Hammerstein is so proud that he says he cannot share it with the public and will not have it patented unless all the hundreds and more schemes he has always on hand fall through. It consists of two rubber bags which are filled with hot water. One is placed on the outside of the hat and the other fits snugly on the inside. With the latter in its place the exterior of the hat is pressed against the other heated bag for a few minutes. That is sufficient to make it as smooth and polished as a mirror.

Play-Hanging May End Fatally.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31.—Ten thousand persons saw Jim Anderson, a negro, hanged here last Friday. There were 50 fakers doing business with exhibitions which bordered on the sideshow variety. Among the spectators was young Lemojine Jayne, a son of Porter Jayne, a carpenter. After the execution the lad inspected the scaffold and today completed a miniature scaffold. He invited his playmates to take the role of the condemned man. Failing in this, he sought to take the place of the executioner as well as the person condemned. He adjusted the noose and stepped on the trap. His neck was not broken, but he is unconscious, and doctors give no hope for recovery. For this and the scenes enacted, Governor Davis has made known his intention to recommend the immediate repeal of the act which permits the public to witness hangings.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY

"PROGRESSIVE DEMOCRATS" ORGANIZED IN OHIO.

Members Form Faction Which Objected to Turning Down of Bryan by Regular Organization.

COLUMBUS, O., July 31.—The "Progressive Democratic party" was organized here today. The attendance was so small that many doubted up to 1 P. M. whether any attempt would be made to hold a state convention. During the week following the recent Democratic State Convention a conference was held at Cleveland and a protest issued against the action of the Democratic convention in ignoring Bryan, free silver and other issues, and in not reaffirming either of the National platforms on which Bryan made his contest for President. At that conference a call was issued for a state convention of "Bryan Democrats" and others opposed to both the Democratic and the Republican state platforms, to meet here today. Circulars containing copies of the call and the platform of the proposed new party were sent out by mail and were widely published. However, less than a dozen persons responded today to participate in the christening of the new party.

George A. Groot, who called the conference at Cleveland and presided over it on July 17, was both temporary and permanent chairman today, and was made chairman of the state committee of the new party. The convention was held in his room at the Great Southern Hotel, and in that small room he delivered his keynote speech, holding the floor for half an hour. Even the promoters of the movement did not disguise their disappointment over the small attendance. It is said a few other persons who came to Columbus, in response to the call, were unable to find the meeting place. The reporters, who were perched on and about the bed, outnumbered the delegates two to one. The total attendance did not exceed 30, though the formalities of a state convention were carried out. Bernard Hubert called the convention to order and at once announced George Groot as temporary chairman. Order was restored at once, and Groot was introduced and spoke as follows:

"At a conference held at Cleveland recently, composed of men who believe in the doctrines set forth in the Chicago and Kansas City platforms, it was concluded, after deliberation, that the political situation required that some definite action be taken with reference to the course to be pursued by the supporters of those platforms, and of Mr. Bryan at the coming election. It was decided, since the recent so-called Democratic convention had deliberately repudiated those platforms and Mr. Bryan, that the only proper thing to do was either to refuse to vote or to put a separate ticket in the field. The latter course was adopted.

"Instead of our being bolters, the convention recently assembled was composed of bolters. It was a bolting convention, for it bolted the National Democratic platforms, and abandoned the leader who made the fight upon them. The platform adopted by it is meaningless, and lacks political virility. It is destitute of principles and offers no political issue. It is a platform adopted in order to secure votes from the opposition merely.

"They say the money question is dead, since at two elections the people have approved of the gold standard, and therefore there is no reason why the Kansas City platform should be indorsed, or Mr. Bryan, either. If the money question be dead, then the party itself must be a corpse. It could not possibly have any reason to exist if that question is dead, for with it eliminated from the platform, nothing remains worth contending for. If it be dead, by the same token the questions of tariff, imperialism, expansion and government by injunction are dead.

Dominated by the Trusts.

"The recent convention was dominated and controlled by trust magnates and their paid attorneys and those who believe in the gold standard. The followers of Grover Cleveland were there in force. They did not conceal their identity, but made known to all that they were there for the purpose of taking the first step in this state towards demolishing the Kansas City platform and installing in place and power the advocates of the gold standard. They succeeded in controlling the convention, in making their nominations and in drafting their platform, but they will fail utterly in driving the Democratic voters of this state into the camp of the gold contingent in November next, especially those who believe that the money question is the paramount one. We are now asked to swear allegiance to those who sought to destroy the party during the last two campaigns and to abandon and stamp upon the principles for which we fought and struggled then. Our implacable enemies have become our leaders, and they are seeking to become our political masters. If they succeed in their efforts it will be the fault of the Bryan Democrats of this state. Those who have struggled in this cause have done so not for office, but to secure better conditions for the people.

"To my mind it is an evidence of a concerted movement to get rid of the money question and place the party in the same position it occupied for 30 years previous to 1896. During that period it was a party of negation. Since 1896 it has stood and fought for affirmative principles. If the Democratic party was right in 1896 and in 1900 upon the money question, and that question is not settled, then why should that party in Ohio abandon it in 1901? If the contention was right during those campaigns, it is right now. If politics is to be carried on for the purpose of securing office alone, then why bother about great principles that involve the well-being of men?

Prosperity Statements Untrue.

"The gold-standard advocates, both Democrats and Republicans, tell us that the country is in a prosperous condition; that the idle are employed; business is good and the people are contented. If this condition prevails, then why try to push the Republican party out of place and power, for has not that party furnished this condition? These statements, however, are not true. They are made to deceive the unthinking. This condition does not exist. That the people of this country are apparently prosperous is true, but that prosperity is not the result alone of the increase in the money volume, but is due to the expansion of credits in the country.

"Can it be said that a country is prosperous when the debts of the people are constantly increasing? The increase in the debts of the banks in four years of more than $6,000,000,000 is surely not an evidence of prosperity. Can it be said that the money question is dead with these facts staring us in the face? To my mind these facts alone are conclusive proof of the fact that the people of this country are not only not prosperous, but that they are becoming hopelessly bankrupt. Debts are not evidences of prosperity; they are evidences of adversity rather. Another evidence that tends to prove that the people are not prosperous is furnished by the trusts themselves. The great manufacturing industries of the country have within the past five years combined for the purpose of preventing a fall in the prices of the things they manufacture and control, and in combining they have increased their stock liabilities and bonded debts from less than $4,000,000,000 to over $20,000,000,000. This is, of course, conclusive proof that the money question is dead! The total debt of the people is more than $20,000,000,00 more than the assessed value of all their property, and more than half of the real value of all the property they own and control. This is another evidence that the money question is dead! If these statements be true, can it be said the people are prosperous, that the money question is dead? And yet, in face of these facts, every gold advocate and every plutocrat will tell you, with bland smile, that the country never enjoyed such prosperity as it does at the present time.

"Already can be heard upon every hand the statement that we must get an issue that we can win upon; that Bryan has led us to defeat twice, and now we must get somebody else who can bring us victory. The champions of the gold standard are deriding Bryan, denouncing the principles for which he stood, and are paving the way for the control of the next National convention, in order to nominate some man who will be the tool and servant of Wall street. Will the bolters be able to control the convention? If they should, and it now seems quite certain that they will, the work that was done in 1896 will have to be done over again. If it should be, the Democratic party, as such thereafter will cease to be a factor in American politics.

A Fight for Principle.

"Shall we assist them in this work? Shall we strengthen their cause with our votes and influence? Shall we acknowledge publicly to the world that we, voters of Ohio, turn our backs upon the principles for which we stood, simply because we were defeated twice? The fight in which we have been engaged is one for principle, and we should not abandon the struggle, not even during our state campaigns. We should present to the enemy a united front, and be actuated by one common purpose, and we should not permit ourselves to be led from our course by the siren songs of the trust magnates who seek to control both parties. It is not a question of policy or of expediency, it is a question of principle which confronts us, and he who is actuated by principle in his political conduct cannot, and do justice to himself, vote the ticket that was recently placed in nomination by the alleged Democratic convention.

"In 1896, the Democratic convention at Chicago said to the world that all those who did not believe in the doctrines set forth in the platform adopted by it could have no place in the party; that those who have dominated before in the interest of Wall street should no longer control the party. They selected a leader, and under his banner two great campaigns were fought. That we did not win was no fault of his. That we did not win was no fault of those who stood with him. That we did not win was because the money trust was able to control by one process or another sufficient of the voters to defeat us. We are now in this state called upon to say whether we shall submit to the dominion of the same class of people who dominated the Democratic party previous to 1896, or whether we shall vote in accordance with our convictions, vote for our principles, and select men who are willing to stand or fall with us in this contest. We may not elect our ticket, but we will at least be true to ourselves, to our country and to our fellow-men."

When Chairman Groot had concluded, it was announced that the platform sent out from Cleveland on July 18, in circulars and published at the time in the newspapers, had already been adopted on the referendum system by many subscribing to the same. A committee on nominations then reported a complete state ticket headed by Dr. Rudolph Reemlin for Governor. Dr. Reemlin has been a life-long Democrat and a radical free-silver man. He is president of the Bimetallic League of Hamilton County. It is customary for conventions in Ohio to authorize their state committees to fill vacancies, but this was not done today. After Chairman Groot and others left tonight, Dr. Reemlin positively declined the nomination for Governor, and it was reported that others would not accept.

INVESTIGATE

The Absolute Truth of the Statements Published in These Columns—Note the Character of the Testimony and the Standing of the Witnesses Who Give the Result of Their Experience to the Public, and Draw Your Own Conclusions.

The testimonials that are published in these columns are testimonials that "testify." They mean something. They tell of years of suffering from real sickness. These people describe, in their own language, the particulars of their afflictions, and of their vain efforts to obtain relief from other sources. They tell of the complete, perfect and permanent cures accomplished under the Copeland treatment. They are common, honest, conscientious and trustworthy people, who, if you call upon or write them, will cheerfully verify the truth of their published statements.

In all the years since the establishment of their offices in Portland, the Copeland physicians have never asked of the intelligence of the public but one thing, to learn the truth from the evidence of real people right here at home—not imaginary people far away—who are thoroughly and permanently cured.

And this proof has been furnished for the incredulous in the public press, with names and addresses of cured people, that they can verify; and furnished for intelligence in a thousand other ways, in the consultation-rooms, where daily those come and go who tell to others the story of their benefit; in the marvelous growth of this practice, which has endured all manner of criticism, all manner of attacks, and is stronger and better today than ever; in its reputation, not only in Portland, but throughout the Northwest; in the fact that thousands of people yearly, who cannot come to Portland are receiving the benefit of the skill of these physicians through correspondence in the mails.

And why has all this been said and written? What is the necessity of enforcing this lesson and keeping it before the public? This: That the people may know the truth; that the people shall not be confused by false teachings or false prophets; that humbugs and quackery and deception shall be made to live in the light of contrast with real skill and with professional faith well kept through all these years.

Worthy of the Fullest Confidence, Says One Who Knows.

Mr. W. L. Dinsmoor, a well known merchant, located at 389-91 East Burnside street, Portland: From my own personal experience I can most heartily recommend the Copeland Specialists to all sufferers from catarrhal troubles. When I began my treatment I was in a wretched state of health, but now I am quite Well Again.

The trouble from which I suffered had been working on my system for eight years, commencing with the head and throat and finally involving my stomach and nervous system.

My nose was stopped up so I could scarcely breathe through it. The gathering of phlegm in the throat kept me hawking and spitting continually, and the filling up of the throat at night destroyed my rest. I had which became so bad that they unfitted me for work for several days at a time. I was unable to properly digest food, which lay like a load in the stomach and caused me great distress. I lost flesh and strength and my nervous system seemed completely shattered.

I had taken all kinds of patent remedies and "sure cures," but got no better. In fact, I steadily grew worse. I had heard a great deal about the Copeland treatment, but thought it was like the other advertised cure I had tried, and before beginning my treatment I made full inquiries regarding these physicians and the cures they claim to have effected, and that these claims were genuine and true. I then began my treatment and have obtained the greatest possible benefit.

I now breathe freely through my nose at all times, have gained 15 pounds, and my general health is better than it has been in years.

I have already sent several friends to the Copeland Institute and am always glad to recommend these physicians, for they are worthy of the fullest confidence.
