A FEELING OF UNREST. Colombian Government Did Little

to Crush the Rebellion. COLON, Colombia, Tuesday, Aug. 6.-

The political situation on the isthmus has by no means improved recently, and there is a consequent feeling of unrest apparent on all sides. The government has taken no adequate steps to prevent the rebels raiding the stations along the railroad, and as a result these raids con-tinue. Immunity from attack by government forces has emboldened the rebels, small bodies of whom have been seen at drill in the daytime, along the line, and gunpowder and dynamite belonging to the iroad have been their intest acquisi-

In view of the foregoing, the United States Consul here has cabled to Wash-ington, it is said, pointing out the necessity for the immediate presence of a warship to protect American interests in accordance with treaty obligations. A British man-of-war is likely to arrive here shortly. By far the greater volume of trade transacted on the isthmus is from the hands of either the British or Americans, the Chinese coming third. With reference to the Venezuelan comdications, absolutely nothing is known sere of a definite nature, beyond the trond statement believed on all sides that Prezident Castro, of Venezuela, is giving the rebels moral and even more substanial aid. There are also rumors of a dec-aration of war betwen the two republics and of a pitched battle near the frontier in which General Uribe-Uribe has been defeated, and also victorious, according to another version.

FIGHTING IN VENEZUELA. Engagements Between Castro's

Forces and Revolutionists. SAN JUAN, P. R., Aug. 14,-Mail advices received here today from Caracas, under date of August 10, give accounts of numerous engagements in the state of Tachira, between President Castro's forces and the revolutionists. In General Castor's official bulletins he mentioned the Colombian Army. He reported en-gagements since the battle of San Cristohal, July 29, at Pirincos, Las Fill Pars, La Parada, La Grita, Encontrados, Colon and Las Cumbres, all in Tachira. GENERAL MILES POINTS OUT SOME GLARING DEFECTS.

Essentials of a Good Soldier-Laxity of Manners Strongly Condemned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Lieutenant-General Miles, commanding the Army, has issued a general order intended to improve the condition of the Army. It admonishes officers and men regarding their duties, and points out the essentials of a good soldier, specifically mentioning patriotism, discipline, physical development, self-respect and self-resourcefulness, also adding that professional knowledge is necessary at all times. Following are extracts from the order:

"Recent reports indicate the existence of marked unsoldierly deportment on the WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.-Lieutenant-of marked unsoldierly deportment on the part of some of the troops, a condition ap-parently cultivated recently under the mistaken idea that a certain uncouthness exterior and laxity of manners are the essential characteristics of a soldier. As they are most subversive of discipline and efficiency, offenses of this nature must neither be ignored nor condemned.

"Commanding officers are strictly accountable for the general ammerance of countable for the general appearance of their troops, under all circumstances, whether they be in garrison, in camp, on the march, off duty or on brief furlough. Soldiers are as much responsible for their conduct while off the military reservation or out of camp as when in garrison.

"The exchange canteen, recreation or amusement-room, as it was originally called, will be made as attractive as possible, and the recent law concerning it will be faithfully and loyally observed. "The third principle to be observed is the highest passible physical development that will render the soldier capable of the greatest endurance on the march and on the field of battle. To this end athletic games are superior to prescribed symmastics that require special apparatus and marches of increasing length at attention, to those at rout step with shampling sait and irregular cadence.

The art of war is the application of its principles to actual practice and of more im-portance than the science. Military prob-lems will be carefully and timely prepared for solution during important military drills and maneuvers. The troops will be frequently occupied in extended field exercises, such as scouting, reconnoitering and map-making expeditions and other practical field work. Wherever practipractical held work.

Tolstoi in His Old Age.

Ledger Monthly. If half the charges made against Count Tolstol by the Holy Synod of Russia be true, he has surely lost the simplicity of religious belief that were shown in his writings of a few years ago. The Countess has written an indignant letter of protest to the synod against the decree excommunicating him from the orthodox church and forbidding his burial in consecrated grounds.

The great Russian writer, now 72 years of age and in poor health, bears the "boy-cott" of the church with calmness and tranquillity of mind.

He is now at work on a new novel-the story of the transformation of a beautiful butterfly of the world into, a useful member of society, awakened to the real-ization of the dignity, privilege and majesty of real living. The book, which promises to be a strong one, seems to liustrate Tolstoi's two seemingly paradoxic ideals—that everyone should do every-thing possible for himself and that every-one should help his fellow-man with his work, or even do it for him, unquestion. ably if need be.

All of Tolstol's manuscripts, when fin-ished, are rewritten by the Countess or the daughters. This fresh copy is soon scored with corrections, sentences are cut out and new ones substituted, interlinea-tions seem to form as much matter as the original draft, the corrections hang over the margins and are often connected by ine margins and are often connected by long lines with the phrases they amend. Ink of a different color adds to the seeming chaos. Finally a third copy is made, which is then "tried" on a few faithful friends. Then, when it returns from the printer, Toistol begins to revise his proof as if it were the original copy. After he wrote "The Powers of Darkness" he read it to his tenants, and the poor peasants laughed uproariously—but unfortunately at the most pathetic passages. ately at the most pathetic passages, British Railway Earnings Small. NEW YORK, Aug. 14.-There is more pessimism in financial than in political circles, says the Tribune's London cor-respondent. The record of British rail-ways, disclosed by the August dividends and reports, is the worst known for many years. The expenses have increased and earnings have shrunk, and the decline in dividends is general, but most marked on the heavy lines. The decline in the net earnings for six months for English lines approximates $8,750,000. The croak-ers assert that the shrinkage in railway earnings indicates a decline of business interests, and in that there is little to believe that shareholders will be relieved by economies in the working expenses.

Docking the Chicago.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Rear-Admiral Crowell is in London tonight trying to arrange to dock his flagship, the Chicago, at Southampton. The authorities there have refused to dock the cruiser unless she discharges all her ammunition, and the upshot will probably be that the Chi-cago will go to Havre or Portsmouth. The fact that the United States cruiser

Columbia docked at Southampton a few years ago for repairs caused the dock authorities to impose new regulations in order to avoid responsibility. The South-ampton dock is a private and not a Gov-
