TO PREVENT SMUGGLING.

Steps Taken to Stop the Illegal Entry of Chinese From Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The officials of the Treasury Department have decided on a plan which it is believed will solve the problem of how to prevent Chinese from crossing the Mexican border into the United States. During the last few years many thousands of Chinese have been landed at San Francisco under alleged contracts to work on plantations and railroads in Southern Mexico. A careful investigation has developed the fact that not 10 per cent of them ever reached the points to which they are ticketed, but leave the trains at points along the northern border of Mexico. In a short time they reach the United States, which, officials claim, undoubtedly was their original purpose. The Treasury officials have decided to take advantage of the proviso in the treaty with Mexico, which stipulates that they shall be satisfied of the good faith of the Chinamen seeking to go through the United States to a foreign country, and instructions will be sent the officials at San Francisco to require that each Chinaman claiming Mexico as his destination present his contract as evidence of good faith. In case of his failure to satisfy the officials he will not be permitted to land. It is expected this order will have the desired effect.

Basuto Sayings.

Chambers's Journal.

The Basutos are addicted to metaphor, and their metaphorical sayings are numerous and interesting. The following are a few in common use, and are given as specimens: "Men may meet, but mountains never"; "Do not prick an enemy with a two-pointed needle, as that hurts yourself quite as much as it does him"; "A mother is like the cow which sustains the family in time of drouth"; "One hand washes another"; "A sitting hen never gets fat," an answer to our "rolling stone" aphorism. When all is quiet in the land they say, "We are sitting down building houses." Another saying is, "A man who is patient eats fatted beasts; but an impatient man has to content himself with the flesh of a lean goat."
