CASE OF GENUINE NEED.—A case of real need exists at 435 East Salmon street, according to Deputy Health Officer Beutelspacher. The child, Charles Amacher, died Sunday of diphtheria, and the mother has been seriously ill for four months, her complaint being stomach trouble. The head of the family has been obliged to quit his job at the Standard Box Factory, to nurse his sick, and the $400 he had saved up is now all gone. One of the children has been taken by the Baby Home, another is being cared for by a distant neighbor, and there are three still remaining in the house, which has been thoroughly fumigated, so that no danger of infection exists. Amacher is a sober, industrious man, who in times of prosperity had gathered little conveniences about his home. His milk cow is being attended to by neighbors, who give the family a portion of the milk, but the house rent is long past due, and Mr. Amacher cannot leave his wife's bedside to earn any money. Mr. Beutelspacher feels sure that the family will not be permitted to suffer, and the good people of Portland know of their condition.

WINTER WORK OF Y. W. C. A.—The educational department of the Young Women's Christian Association is just finishing its plans for the winter classes. The gymnasium work and classes in physical culture are to be a specially prominent feature. The Young Men's Christian Association is to have a women's class, the members of which are to be members of the Y. W. C. A. This will be quite distinct from the other class in physical culture, among the other departments organized are English (grammar and literature); Business (bookkeeping, penmanship, bookkeeping and arithmetic); Music (singing, mandolin and guitar); Sewing and Embroidery; Modern Languages (German, French and Spanish). The class-work will begin September 20. Information regarding instructors, time-schedule, etc., may be obtained by calling at the association rooms, fifth floor of the Macleay building, over Woodward, Clarke & Co's. The secretary, Miss Hunt, is there from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

WHERE PORKERS ARE RAISED.—Among the interesting things to be seen at Bethany, on the West Side Railway, are the pork ranches, distributed on both sides of the little stream of water that flows westward. Between $25,000 and $50,000 is invested in these pork-raising ranches. They have been located in this canyon for about eight years, and the one near the head of the stream, is that of John Malzer, which is the largest and most important. He usually keeps 200 head of the porkers. His plan is to supply with fresh water from a stream which flows through his enclosures, and there are many departments which are kept as clean and free from odor as such establishments can be kept. Further on are the plants of E. Dimbar, J. Janike, L. Hequet, E. Brunke and Mr. Klein. These latter plants keep on an average of 50 head of hogs all the time.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.—A special meeting of the City Council will be held today for the purpose of legislating on a number of tax petitions. The judiciary committee of the Council worked all yesterday afternoon, investigating the various claims of over 100 property-owners, who wish to have errors in their taxes corrected. The committee will report on paid several years back, under street, sewer, sidewalk, and other assessments. The special session of the council was agreed upon, as the business would take up too much of the time of the regular meeting. More of the papers were acted on yesterday, and the fate of the petitions today will depend largely upon the recommendation of the judiciary committee.

TO OUR PATRONS.—August was a "warm number" in our business. We were crowded with orders, and notwithstanding a late addition of two presses and working "overtime," we were unable to furnish all orders promptly. We beg the kind indulgence of our customers whose printing was delayed. It was absolutely unavoidable in the rush. Through the courtesy of a brother printing firm we were extended the use of their pressroom facilities, which will enable us to furnish orders promptly, heretofore impossible to present rush continues. The Alvin S. Hawk Company.

A PLEASANT TRIP WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERYBODY.—Go to Spokane on the 15th to the Interstate Fair. This is the biggest celebration the inland Empire ever arranged. The entire section will be represented at Spokane. From all parts of the state, melons from the Snake River Valley, exhibits showing great grain interests. INCORPORATIONS.—Articles of incorporation of the Portland Free Baths were filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday. The directors are E. Holman, L. Samuel, Julius L. Meier, Robert Livingston, W. J. Burns, W. H. Hurlbut, George E. Chamberlain, J. Frank Watson, E. E. Horman, H. W. Corbett, A. E. Rocky, Ernest Bros, L. G. Clarke and T. D. Hoeneyman, who are to serve four years. The officers are: E. Holman, president; L. Samuel, vice-president; Julius L. Meier, secretary, elected for one year each. The object announced is to construct and maintain free baths and free swimming baths for the use of the public, as may be deemed advisable, subject to such rules and regulations as may be hereafter adopted, and to maintain in connection therewith, at any time it may be deemed advisable, a gymnasium and library.

CHIEF THIEVING TO BE STOPPED.—District Attorney Chamberlain yesterday filed three informations against St. Clair, otherwise known as "Dollar Bill," charging him with keeping a disorderly house. Each information designates a different location in the Whitehall district. St. Clair was arrested on bench warrants, arraigned before Judge Frazer, and allowed until Monday to plead. Colored women recently robbed numerous men in Portland, and St. Clair is said to be a number of crimes. The District Attorney is determined to put a stop to this thieving, and has decided that it is necessary to pursue a stringent course, and to prosecute all persons having any connection with the women. The police officers will be depended upon to arrest the women for occupying such houses, and if not, Mr. Chamberlain will probably take that matter in hand also.

COLLIDED WITH A DOG.—While riding her bicycle yesterday on Morrison street, near Sixth, B. H. Hurlbut, whose husband is in the bicycle business on First street, near Alder, collided with a dog, and then with a young man who was crossing the street. The dog was violently thrown from her wheel, and her head struck on a jagged piece of asphalt. Quite a crowd gathered, and the injured woman was attended by a physician in the neighborhood, and was afterwards conveyed in Edward Holman's ambulance to the Good Samaritan Hospital, in an unconscious condition. She speedily recovered, however, and was able to give her name and to ask that her friends be notified. At the hospital it was stated that the patient was suffering from a scalp wound, and that she would be able to go home in a few days.

BAILEY GATZERT, DALLAS EXCURSION.—Leave foot of Alder street, daily, at 7 A. M., except Monday, for Cascade Locks, Mt. St. Helens, Hot Springs, White Salmon, Hood River and Lytle, arriving at 2 P. M. Dallas at 3 P. M.; returning, 3:30 P. M. (time changed from 4 P. M.), arrive at Portland 10 P. M. Grand scenery, fine meals, and Sunday service. The excursion is one of the greatest attractions ever offered to tourists and citizens of Portland by any transportation company.

COPY OF AN OLD PAPER.—Deputy City Treasurer O. P. Miller has a copy of the New York Herald, dated Saturday, April 15, 1901, which City Hall officials consider quite a curiosity. The first page is in deep mourning over the assassination of President Lincoln, which occurred in Washington City the evening before. The news is headed "Important." Assassination of President Lincoln. The illustration is Seward Duggered in his bed. The Herald was only a four-page sheet then, though it had been New York's leading daily for a number of years. Illustrations had not yet become common and there was not the sign of a picture on any of its pages.

COUNTY COURT TAKES A HAND.—Clerks expected to go to work yesterday or today on the delinquent tax roll for the year 1900, but the County Commissioners and County Judge took a hand in the matter, and directed that nothing be done until the County Court has met. The court wants to know how many clerks will be required, the names of the men, about how long a time will be occupied in the work, and all other matters. It is understood that the list of those engaged had all been made up, and just exactly what the County Board is seeking to accomplish has been made plain, but it seems to be a move in the interest of economy.

IN JAIL FOR 60 DAYS.—William Hamilton was in the Municipal Court yesterday, charged with the larceny of a value and clock, valued at $50, the property of C. Guy Wakefield, and was sentenced to 60 days in jail. In speaking of the case, Deputy City Attorney Davis states that he has not wished to make any reflections on the keeper of the County Jail, but in reference to Hamilton not being made to serve ten months for larceny. "The point I wished to make clear was: Who has the right to exercise the pardoning power for Multnomah County?" concluded Mr. Davis.

CHOP HALP PICKED.—Hopping in the fields adjacent to Portland has made good progress the past week, and in some cases the crop is a half grown. The farmers are making what they consider fair wages, at 40 cents a box, and as meat, women and children work at the business, families who have their usual share of good work. The hope are of splendid quality, and with another week of dry weather they will nearly all be stored safely. The nearest hopfields to Portland are in the vicinity of Beaverton, some seven miles distant on the west.

ADDED TO THE CITY PARK ZOO.—The City Park Museum has been enriched to the extent of two young golden eagles and a porcupine. The eagles were caught in Alaska, and the porcupine was sent them to Mayor Rowe at his own expense. They are a male and a female, and are considered valuable acquisitions. The porcupine was sent by E. E. Nobilit, (George L. Hutchins), who was in Portland when last heard from. His father is very ill at Portland, Ind.

NO CHANGE IN CHAIRMAN

ADAMS WILL LEAD DEMOCRATS UNTIL NEXT SPRING.

He Has Left the Matter to the County Committee, Whose Decision He Will Accept.

It is quite certain that there will be no change in the chairmanship of the Democratic City and County Central Committee until the county convention meets next year. Chairman H. B. Adams, who filed his resignation with Secretary W. N. Gatens two weeks ago, returned from the Coast yesterday, and many Democrats called upon him and urged him to stay at the head of the machine until the County Convention elects his successor. He agreed to leave the matter to the County Committee, and to abide by its decision. As Mr. Adams enjoys the confidence and the personal friendship of all the committeemen it seems certain that the resignation will be laid upon the table and there the matter will rest.

Many have thought that Chairman Adams' resignation had a string to it because his name was not signed to it. The reason for this leaked out yesterday. Mr. Adams wrote his letter on a typewriter. Business letters he copies into his letter-book, and of political letters he makes only carbon copies, which he files for reference. In this particular instance, and in his hurry to close up his business before going to the Coast, he put the carbon copy in the envelope which he had addressed to Secretary Gatens. The original, which he signed "H. B. Adams, Chairman of the City and County Central Committee," was put in the inside pocket of his coat, where it still is, and where his fellow Democrats are pressing him to keep it. As it is the original letter, it seems certain that Mr. Adams still has that letter, and is, strictly speaking, no resignation before the City and County Committee, and Mr. Adams is still the chairman of the committee, and the official leader of the Multnomah County Democracy.

Mr. Adams declined yesterday to discuss political matters beyond to confirm the report which was current among Democratic leaders that he had left the subject of his further service as County Chairman with the committee, and that its judgment would be accepted by him.

It is learned from a man who is close to the chairman that the resignation was tendered because Mr. Adams wishes to devote all his time to his law practice. As the political situation in the Democratic ranks is all now, Mr. Adams thought he could quietly drop out without impairing the efficiency of the party organization, give the committee a chance to select a chairman from among its own members, and thus enter the campaign of 1902 fully prepared for work. This would be all right enough but for the likelihood of the sharp fight that would ensue for the chairmanship Democrats don't like scraps between elections for experience each of these persons was looked upon as a weakling and weak-kneed. They don't care what occurs in the conventions for those always are scraps, and in them, as Pat Powers would have it, every Democrat has a chance to put his horn and feel better for it. The upshot of it all is that Democratic leaders believe it to be the best for the party for Chairman Adams to resign, and for the committee to select a chairman from among its own members, and thus enter the campaign of 1902 fully prepared for work.

afternoon or evening. When the report has been considered the commission will decide whether or not to build the dredge authorized by the act of 1901. President Hughes was in favor of several weeks ago of going ahead with the dredge, but some of the commissioners protested against spending $100,000 or more without having data about the latest dredges before them and a compromise was agreed upon by sending Mr. Lockwood, who is a skillful engineer, to the Coast to investigate. If the dredge is ordered this fall work will be pushed, and the machine will be ready to tackle the channels next Summer.

It is likely that the commission will soon take up the question of a drydock, for which it is authorized to issue $600,000 bonds. A vast amount of information has been collected on the subject, and the commission will not have much difficulty to decide the style or capacity of the drydock which Portland's navigation interests require.

NOTICE TO BICYCLISTS. On and after Monday, the 16th inst., all persons using the bicycle paths will be required to provide themselves with bicycle tags. For failure to conform to the law in this regard the full penalty provided by law will be imposed.
