ANKLE DEEP IN THE MUD

NATIONAL GUARD AT DRESS PA-RADE IN MULTNOMAH FIELD.

Great Competitive Drill Tonight, Rain or Shine-Hermann Made His Perilous Ride.

"Rain or shine, the military competitive drill will come off on Mulinomali Field," announced the executive commit-tee of the Portland Carnival last evening. Today will be one of the great mili-tary days at the Exposition building. Through the building the soldiers will be seen scattered in picturesque throngs, while at night on the field the scene will be one of military order, the companies vying with each other for the handsome prizes offered. They will be marshalled into dress parade, and drilled in regimental formations, and then drilled separately by companies. All of the companies are on their mettle, and, rain or shine, the competition will come off, and the company with the most soldlerly ap-pearance and the best mastery of the drill manual will win. Canvass awnings will cover the reserved seats, and every arrangement will be made so that the apectators may see the drill in comfort.

Yesterday the Carnival programme drew a great crowd through the Exposition foors, in spite of the rain, Those that went were more than satisfied with the sights they saw. Hermann's thrilling ride for life was witnessed by several thousand people in the afternoon. In the evening the exhibition drill of the Third Regiment, Oregon National Guard, was seen by another large crowd of spectastand or stood around the field while the members of the regiment marched through the mud, banners waving, band playing, just as if it had been in the glare of the sunlight rather than the blaze of the arc lights through a misty weather outside and the cheer and the warmth within was noticed by every vis-tior that entered the doors last evening. The fact that the weather is bad should drive no one away from the Carnival. There the brilliant lights, the gayety of the crowd, the utter of sight-seeing. was enough to cheer any one away from theb lues induced by the present visita-tion of the weather. As the crowd flowed here and there through the great, spa-cious building, every nook and cranny of which is filled with something worth see. ing, the utmost good humor prevailed The ever-present rubber-neck (a strange evice that unfolds in fantastic shapes unexpected lengths when blown up) took the place of the confetti of the Elks among the pleasure-seekers. A sight that esused some merriment last evening was the devotion of an old, bewhiskered man, much resembling a caricature of Uncle Sam, to one of the strange toys. He o up to two well-dressed women aquenky, crawling extension into their faces. They were startled out of their wits, and drew back in alarm. They turned on their persecutor with a look of scorn intended to wither even such a hardy wretch. He was looking at them good-natured, with a smile stretching from ear to ear. When they took in his make-up, and his evident delight at his joke, their anger vanished and they smiled and laughed back.

"No offense meant, ladles," said the old man as they turned away. None taken," was their laughing an-

Hermann Made the Ride.

"I wouldn't make it for a hundred thousand!" exclaimed L. D. Cole yester-day afternoon after witnessing the thrill-ing ride for life by Hermann, the daring bievelist. It is one of the most perllous feats known to the amusement world. The slightest swerving of the machine would dash the rider 75 feet to the ground. with an impetus that would surely cause The pedestal from which Hermann starts on his thrilling trip is something over 75 feet from the ground. The actual stance traversed from top to bottom is 115 feet, made up of steps 4½ inches high, with an 8½-lnch tread. The stairs are three feet wide to an inch, with no reilings of any sort at the sides. If the rider should lose control of the wheel and it should turn but a scant inch it would hardly cover a distance equal to its own length before plunging over the side to the ground below. It is human nature impassively to watch the other man take a chance. There was not a person in the vast audience that saw Hermann's bair-raising ride yesterday who would duplicate it unless con-templating self-destruction. Yet the central figure in the exciting event was as perned as though taking a spin on well-kept boulevard.

Attired in the conventional riding cos tume. Hermann ascended the steps with his bicycle and turned on the raised plat-form at the top. The distance lessened his apparent height perceptibly and viewing it from the security and safety of the grand-stand, it increased the apprehension of the onlookers that if anything happened it would be a tragedy. Her-mann was cool and smiled to his audience as if to say: "It's a jolly ride and here goes." You couldn't say Jack Robinson in the time it took for him to reach the ottom, unless you said it fast, Two secends was the recorded time and for those two seconds the multitude held its breath.

The blcycle glided from the stairs to the dirt field and ran the distance of a city block before Hermann dismounted and bowed his acknowledgement of the hearty applause that greeted the successful performance of the daring feat.

The rain last night prevented the act being given, but on each pleasant day Hermann will make the ride, both afternoon ning. Hermann is a bovish-'ooking chap, who gives lits age as 22 and looks younger. He says that in the seven years he has been in the show business he has never had an accident. During the Sum-mer and Fail months Hermann does the "ride for life" out of doors, and during the Winter he performs a trick bicycle "turn" at the vaudeville houses.

Dress Parade in the Rain.

The members of the Oregon National Buard proved conclusively last night that they are not "fair-weather soldiers." In mud that was ankle deep on Multnomah Beld, sand amid pouring rain, they went through with dress parade. The attendcording to the officers, was the largest in the history of the local militia

At first it was thought that on account of the inclemency of the weather the whole military demonstration planned in connection with the Carnival for last night would have to be postponed, not alone on account of the soldiers, but because it was field to witness it. Colonel Everett and other officers took the bit in their teeth, however, and declared that they would be ened by a little rain, and the dress parade nstration which had of the demo been planned for the field came off as

Six companies of the Third Regiment, one company-the Eugene company-of the Fourth Regiment, Battery A, of the Artillery, and two companies the Naval Battalion turned marched from the Armory to Multnomah Field. A reviewing stand had been placed on the west side of the field, from which the parade was reviewed by General Owen Summers, chairman of the Carnival com-mittee, who was escorted by the other members of the committee. The full dress parade drill was gone through with, the band playing patriotic airs the while to keep up the spirits of the boys. At least 500 people stood around the edges of the allppery field, and under the protection of umbrellas witnessed the spectacle which was Eluminated by ample lights After the parade was over, the Third Regiment company marched back to the Armory, where the quarterly inspect in and muster were gone through with, About 600 men, all told, were in line. Had the weather been good it was the ntention to have the muster and inspec-ion on Multnomah Field, also other manouvers, including tent-pitching. But it was too much to ask of the boys,

"These boys have shown that they have the true soldier spirit in them," said Gen-eral Summers, "and on behalf of the Car-nival committee I desire to congratulate them on turning out tonight."

BeCaprio's Music.

Signor DeCaprio has given two of his sest programmes the last two evenings. On Tuesday night the selection from "Macbeth" (Verdi) for the full band, the crezia Borgia," and DeCaprio's superb rendering of "Faciliti," by Hartman, on the baritone (one of Liberati's favorite solos for the cornet) won much enthustasm from the audience. Last night's programme was just as effective in its way. yet at the same time furnished the spice of contrast. Veril's furnished the spice contrast. Verdi's funeral march, Cortege Don Carlos," opened the programme in Music Hall. The well-known overture to "Marthn" (De Flotow) followed it, and a solo, Millan's "Dream of Love." from the brilliant young cornetist, Signor Alfredo Arriola, that brought a Signor Alfredo Arriola, that storm of applause. Signor Arriola has entered anypiciously upon a must successful musical career. He comes of a highly musical family that has embraced for generations back a number of prominent in-strumentalists. When his youth is taken into account, his remarkable technique is all the more surprising,

"Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon" (Koppey) was a clever piece of work, and the descriptive music that opened part II, "A Hunting Scene," by Bucalossi, was just the sort of music that is sure to set the gallery wild. In it the hounds may be heard, the singing of birds, and the hunting cries of the men. A meio-dious march by DeCaprio himself, entitled programme,

The company went with three officers and 40 men. The offleers are: Captain R. S. Huston, commanding; First Lieutenant C. E. Klingensmith and Second Lleutenant C. C. Hammond The company will enter in four of the contests—the close-order movement; extended-order movements; rifle competition and the individual drill. There was some disappointment at the last moment by come of the men who have been drilling having to remain at home for various reasons, and that necessitated supplying their places with other men of the company who have had no special prepara-

BAKER CITY, Or., Sept. 25.—Secretary O. L. Miller, of the Baker City Chamber Commerce, has just completed the gathering of about 1000 pounds of choice samples of gold and copper ores from the mining districts of Eastern Oregon, which will be shipped at once to the Portland Exposition and Carnival. The samples are specimens of choice ore, and will well represent the richer ore lodes of the district. Mr. Miller will go to Portland, accompanied by his wife, to see the proper installation of the exhibit. There is so much demand from all quarters for mining properties in this camp that the demand for ore samples had to be met

"PUMP" GUNS BARRED.

One Shooting Club Will Limit Guests' Firearms.

The Deer Island Shooting Club, at a meeting on Sunday, adopted a resolution forbidding the use of "pump" guns on their preserves. Hereafter any of the members inviting a friend to shoot will have to see that he isp rovided with an ordinary double-barreled gun. The Deer Island Club rents the entire shooting on Deer Island, which comprises some 5000 acres, the greater part of which is takes acres, the greater part of which is lakes and sloughs and is probably the most ex-tensive and desirable preserve in the country. The club consists of Watt Mon-teith, A. E. Guist, Maurice Abraham. George Leithoff, Guy Willis and Frank and Ed Geisler.

Of course none of these uses a pump gun, but sometimes persons invited to shoot with the club have brought along such pump-thunders, and in order to prevent a repetition of this the club adopted the resolution mentioned. The pump gun is not objectionable on account of the amount of game it kills, but on account of the noise it makes. People who use such guns generally begin shooting sooner than is necessary and keep sho ing at a bunch of ducks as long as they are in sight. This, especially early in the season, has a tendency to scare the ducks clear out of the country. Game Warden Quimby highly approves of the action of the Deer Island Club and would like to see all sportsmen indorse it. He says no real sportsman uses a pump gun, but they are used by market hunters, pot hunters and game hogs, people who will take a shot at ducks sitting and then shoot at them as long as they can see them. Sportsmen always give the birds a chance, but these pump gun fellows will give them no show to escape. The pump guns are the friends of the ammunition dealer only. Avoid harsh purgative pills. They make you sick and then leave you constipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the

EDUCATIONAL BALLY AND RECEP-TION TOMORROW NIGHT.

All the Club Instructors to Be in Attendance-Fine Art Exhibit-Entertaining Programme.

Tomorrow evening an educational rally will be held at the Young Women's Christian Association rooms, fifth floor of the Macleay building, Fourth and Washington streets. This will be followed by an informal reception, in which members will be given the chance to shake hands with one another after the Summer's vacation, and new members will be introduced to the officers of the association. This is an open meeting, members being privileged to invite their friends, men guests included.

The educational rally will take place at 8 P. M. This is for the purpose of forming the regular Winter classes, and it is therefore important that every one who is interested in the work, should be in attendance. An unusually entertaining programme has been prepared. Mrs. Holmes-Lawrence will give an outline of the Winter work. This will be followed by a brief description of the plans for the Bible classes, by Mrs. Rockwell, after which the guests will be given an opportunity to enjoy a highly interesting art exhibit of very beautiful carbon photographs, kindly loaned by the Little Art Shop. These embrace copies of the fa-mous paintings by Raphael, Titian, Rubens; Rembrandt, Murillo, Batticello, Durer, Carlo Dolci, Van Dyck, and others. The rooms are to be prettily decorated for the occasion, and music will be furnished by Signor Rebagliati, and the other members of the Columbian Quar-

All of the club instructors engaged for the year will be present, and each one will be ready to explain any points that require elucidation, and answer questions as to fees, etc., etc. Specially delightful and valuable work is anticipated from the art-free-hand drawing-gymnasium, manual training, and physical culture. A class will be formed, later on, in pho-tography, if sufficient interest is aroused in this line of art. The term is for six months, September 30 to April 1. Many applications are already pouring in. Membership in the classes is limited to those who join the association, the fee for membership being $1 for active, and $5 for sustaining membership. Any young woman of good moral character, who is over 15 years of age, is eligible to membership.

Following are the classes outlined for Evening Classes-Monday.

ONE SCRAP FROM THE RECORD

Four Cases of Drunk in the Municipal Court.

The daily comedy, with sad features, was enacted in the Municipal Court yesterday afternoon, when four forlorn-looking specimens of humanity stood in a row, facing Judge Cameron, answered "Guilty" to the charge of having been drunk, as the name of each was called. O. LaChappelle promised four months ago that he would leave town and go to work, and so his 45-day sentence was suspended. He left the city for awhile, he explained to the Judge yesterday, and came back resolving to behave himself, but took one glass, of liquor, and this made him want another, and so he got drunk and became quarrelsome. He will now serve 30 days in the city jail, while the 45-day sentence still hangs over

George J. Cronk, a laboring man, con fessed that he had been drinking up the money that should have gone to the sup-port of his sick wife. The Judge asked him if he thought he could resolve to do better at the end of 60 days in jail, and he pleaded: "I deserve the sentence, Judge but it will be punishing my sick wife more than it will me, as she will suffer from want. I am sorry I got drunk and I will try to do better."

"If it was not for your sick wife," the Judge said, "I would have you shut up for a good, long term, but putting you in prison will only punish her. You will be set at liberty at the end of five days." The third victim was J. Wilson, "Where is your home?" asked His Honor.

"In Scotland, sir," the sailor replied, and a smile passed over the faces of attorneys and spectators, who suspected that the Judge's sentiments would favor the mar on account of his nationality. Jailer Roberts explained that Wilson was "a very civil sort of a fellow and not a bad man at all, Your Honor," and so the Judge simply said, "Two dollars," which meant viving partners of Livingston & Co., yes-that Wilson might be set at liberty im-mediately, as he had been arrested the night before, and so had virtually worked out the nominal fine. R. F. Gearin was fourth on the list, He had not been arrested before, and had simply got on a spree on landing from a steamer where he had been working as deckhand. He was let off with "two doilars," and the quartet was marched be-low, two to their cells in the gloomy old basement, and two to the captain's office, where they were given back what valu-ables they had on their persons when ar-rested, and permitted to breath the free rested, and permitted to brea air of Oak street once more.

A PULL ALL TOGETHER.

Father Black Talks to Catholic Foresters About the 1905 Fair.

Rev. Father Black, pastor of St. Fran-cis Catholic Church, East Eleventh and East Oak streets, is very deeply inter-ested in the proposed Lewis and Clark Exposition of 1905, and anxious that active measures should be taken to start the preliminaries. He thinks that if there be long delay in starting to or-ganizing forces for carrying it forward it may either be a small affair or have to be dropped altogether. At a meeting of the Catholic Foresters, held at St. Francis' Hall Tucsday evening, he outlined his views, after giving the subject careful consideration. Among other things he

"It is my judgment, young gentlemen that every citizen and every organization religious or civic, should get to work to make the proposed 1995 Exposition a great success. This can only be done by con-crete effort and united force. The Foresters, the Masons, the Woodmen of the World, and the many other organizations should prepare to do their part in this great enterprise. The Catholics, the Methodists, the Presbyterians, and all the churches and denominations in the state should organize to help the enterprise along, to give it an impulse and a start. If we are going to make this exposition a great success and honor to the North-west we must unite and work along the same lines and in the same directions. Time is slipping along, and still there is no definite movement. There must be patriotic work on the part of every citi-zen and every organization in this state. The time is now ripe for work along this line. We want organization throughout the state, patriotic effort, and the sooner we can start the better it will be and the more certain the success we shall achieve."

Church Row at Pleasant Home. Recently the Woodmen of the World tave an entertainment in the Pleasant Home Church, and donated the proceeds which amounted to $18, to the support of the Union Sunday school. It was paid over to Miss Priscilla Miller, treasurer, A committee representing the Methodist Church, waited on her, and asked that the money be turned over to them for the purpose of painting the church, but she declined to do so. After further urging and failing to secure the money, the minister in charge ordered the junitor to close the doors of the church to the Union Sunday school, which he did. Meanwhile the officers of the Sunday school secured the hall of the Woodmen of the World for meeting purposes. Considerable ill feeling has been engendered over the mat-

Sir Knight William H. Fisics.
All Sir Knights requested to attend.
W. S. MACRUM, Rec. submitted by the prosecution, the Wood-men of the World lodge at Troutdale chartered the Ione for a picnic to Latour. ell Falls. As the party was landing on its return Day persisted in pulling the skirts of the women and pinching them, and Mershon interfered. A fight followed and Day, so it was stated, bit Mershon's ear, Day, in his own defense, entered a general denial and stated that Mershon
