

WIND IS WHAT THEY WANT

UNITED SENTIMENT OF MEN ON BOTH YACHTS.

Weather Prophets Predict a Good Breeze for Today's Race—Complaint Against Captain Barr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The first race of the America's cup series which, after a disappointing day of fuky air, was abandoned in a dead calm Thursday, will be resumed tomorrow over a course off the Sandy Hook Lightship. A boat to windward or a run to leeward and return will be sailed, the course depending upon the direction of the wind at the time the two yachts arrive at the lightship. According to the agreement, the first, third and fifth races are to be sailed 15 miles to windward or leeward and return; the second and fourth races being over a course represented by an equilateral triangle, measuring 10 nautical miles to the leg.

At a late hour tonight the Weather Bureau issued the following bulletin: "The wind off Sandy Hook Saturday will be fresh and easterly in the morning and will probably shift to the north-east in the afternoon, increasing in the afternoon to brisk."

According to the definition of a "fresh breeze," interpreted in figures from the standards of the Weather Bureau, in the morning the velocity of the wind will vary from 16 to 19 miles an hour. By a brisk breeze is meant driving anywhere between 20 and 25 miles an hour. "Wind, wind, my kingdom for a wind!" This was the united sentiment tonight of the two rival yachts that lay behind Sandy Hook. "We must have wind," Sir Thomas Lipton said, "and from the present indications we shall get it tomorrow. If it comes and there is a race, all America and all Britain will rejoice, for then we shall have the first adequate test of the yachts."

"Why, none here has seen that boat race as yet," he declared. "Give her chance. The race of Thursday was a procession of flukes and a bouquet of flukes which it would be hard to equal in searching the records of the races of two years ago. I am confident that never, and everybody aboard, Captain Sycamore, Mr. Ratsey and Mr. Jameson, share my confidence. We have seen the Shamrock sail and we know what she can do. We are more confident than ever. But give Shamrock a day. She is a fast ship. It is 22 or 23 knots—anything, in fact, over eight knots an hour. We do not mind a sea, if only we have the wind to drive us. Why, had we even one of the boats in the race, we could have won the race. It was a thoroughly unsatisfactory, regardless of the winning boat."

"All I desire is a snapping breeze tomorrow," said E. D. Morgan, managing owner of Columbia. "Don't interpret this to mean that in a strong wind Columbia can't win, for as to that, I am sure I can tell, but I want a race, a good, bona fide contest, where the mettle of both marine steeds will be tested. Yesterday's trial race was a mere sham. It was no contest. Because the American boat was in the lead when we had flukes in the wind is no reason why we should declare that Columbia is on a par with the Shamrock. We hope for victory, but that is all we can do at present."

From an authentic source it is learned today that there is a very strong protest on the part of Captain Sycamore and those in charge of Shamrock at what they term crossing of Shamrock at the start yesterday. "If he is going to continue those tactics," said the person quoted, "what he did yesterday would not be a surprise, for he started in a race in British waters. He must not expect us to stand it, and we won't. Our relations with the New York Yacht Club and with the American Yacht Club have been so extremely pleasant that it is to be hoped one man's action shall not be permitted to mar them." Odds on Columbia against the Shamrock after the race at the various hotels and clubs where yachtsmen gather. A number of small bets were recorded at those figures.

BRITISH FORESEE DEFEAT.

Mourning Comment of the London Press.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Sir Thomas Lipton has called to his friends here, "Am very hopeful," but the feeling is not reflected by public opinion, which foresees defeat for Shamrock II in her races with Columbia. "The day's sailing did nothing to suggest that Shamrock will not win in a good breeze. I think she will." In an editorial today the Times says it is very gratifying to know that the course during the first of the series of races for the America's cup was admirably kept by the patrol boats, and that there is no suggestion that the crowd of yachts and steamers which went out to view the race interfered in any way with the movements of either boat. The Saturday Review is the only paper which deals with the yacht races. Its comment consists of two caustic columns headed: "Sport or Snobbery," declaring that the races are a waste of time and money, and that the yachtsmen are a set of snobs. "Yacht racing is, or was, as real a national sport as any. The greater pity, therefore, to find upon this lead of snobbish vulgarities."

The Field says: "It is impossible to dispute the fact that during the time when the yachts were fairly reliable, the performance of Shamrock II was distinctly disappointing to her supporters." The Field quotes the opinion of C. P. Clayton, of Southampton, that the question at issue between Shamrock II and Columbia is whether the extra sail area of the former will be sufficient to overcome the extra wet surface of her skin. Mr. Clayton thinks that while sailing to the windward, Columbia, with her small surface, will be successful, and that the extra sail of Shamrock II will only avail her when she is sailing in a rolling sea and a fairly fresh wind.

The Kaiser Interested. NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A Berlin correspondent of the Journal and Advertiser gives the following account of the manner in which the German Emperor received news of the international yacht races: "Emperor William stayed up late at night to hear the result of the America's cup race. It was almost midnight before the bulletin announcing that the race had been called off reached him at his hunting lodge at Rominten, close to the Russian frontier. He had telegraphed to Berlin directing that every bulletin be wired immediately to him.

"The Kaiser is an enthusiastic yachtsman and has taken a keen interest in everything that pertains to the America's GLASGOW, Sept. 27.—There is mourning all along the Clyde, and many yachtsmen who have been confident that Sir Thomas Lipton would lift the cup are now equally confident that he will lose it. The bad luck of Shamrock II cannot be accounted for, unless a mistake has been made in altering her trim after she arrived in American waters. Major Duncan H. Neill, a leading member of the Royal Clyde Yacht Club, and one of the shrewdest yachtsmen in Europe, was outspoken.

"I am not surprised at the Shamrock's disaster," he said. "The fatal mistake was made when her trim was altered. If Britain wants to lift the cup from America, she must cut down the displacement and reduce the sail area."

Chagrin at Ulster Club. BELFAST, Sept. 27.—When the bulletin came over the wire telling how Columbia was outwitting Shamrock II in the light breeze, there was chagrin at the Ulster Yacht Club. Members of the Ulster Yacht Club have never doubted that Sir Thomas Lipton would eventually bring back the coveted cup. They had absolute confidence in his yacht, and they were sorely disappointed at the latest performance of Shamrock II.

Consentation at Southampton. SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 27.—The poor showing of Shamrock II, which was expected to be a sure winner by the yachtsmen of Southampton, caused disappointment and even consternation here. The fact that Shamrock II could not sail against Columbia in a light breeze, leads to the belief that the English boat has little chance of defeating the American.

Pile Not Surprised. LARGO, Scotland, Sept. 27.—W. Fife, designer of Shamrock I, showed no surprise when told that Columbia had outwitted Shamrock II in a light breeze. Neither did he display any interest.

"I am not in position to give an opinion," he said, "and can make no statement."

WINNERS HAD EASY TIME

STATE FAIR RACES WERE GOOD, BUT NOT EXCITING.

Mount Hood Again Come to the Front—Fastest Time in Harness Race Was by Freddy C.

SALEM, Sept. 27.—The races at the State Fair today were interesting, but not so full of excitement as those of yesterday or the day before. The winner clearly outclassed their competitors, so that the grandstand was not thrilled, as it was in the great mile pacing match yesterday. There were two harness events and a running match. Freddy C. was first in three straight heats for the 2:30 pace. The fast trotter Mount Hood, who captured the 2:30 class, was regarded as the 2:40 class competition by three heats straight.

The third race, a consolation, five and a half furlongs, was easily won by Lucy White in 1:12. The fastest time in the harness race was by the pacer Freddy C. This same horse did a mile in 2:29, last Monday, the record so far in the harness matches. The pacer Hassalo covered a mile Wednesday, one second slower. Mount Hood was first in his meeting on today by Mack Mack, in the second heat of the trot. Mack Mack might have got in first had he not lost his feet near the wire. The fast trotter Mount Hood, who captured the 2:30 class, was regarded as the 2:40 class competition by three heats straight.

The races were made in fast time for the condition of the track. The course was muddy and heavy, but the horses were as at least 10 or 12 seconds slow, and was not as good as it was Thursday. Rain fell early in the day. The grandstand was packed with spectators and the races were well attended. Ten or eleven thousand people saw the races. The grandstand was packed with them and the enclosure densely thronged. Betting was confined chiefly to Bob Kirk, Mack Mack and Kittle Caution in the trotting match. Mount Hood was too sure a winner to get much money.

Two harness and two running matches were on tomorrow, and the total value of purses will be nearly $30,000. The races promise to be unusually fast.

The Races in Detail. Freddy C. paced the 2:30 pace for 2:29, without a hitch. He was the only starter who could touch him, and he made it three straight in fast time, 2:29, 2:29, 2:29. With all the fast horses in the race, the time was fast. The first heat was won by Harry Hurst and Marjorie. Freddy C. was second and third in each of the heats. THE ASSASSIN COLLAPSED

CZOLGOSZ BEGINNING TO REALIZE HIS POSITION.

Shown the Most Abject Terror on His Arrival at Auburn—Strong Guard Over the Prisoner.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Leon F. Czolgosz, assassin of President McKinley, in the custody of Sheriff Caldwell, of Erie County, and 21 deputies, arrived in Auburn at 3:15 A. M. The prison is only about 50 yards from the depot. Awaiting the arrival of the train there was a crowd of about 300 people. Either for fear of the crowd, which was not very demonstrative, or from sight of the prison, Czolgosz's legs gave out, and two deputies were compelled practically to carry the man into the prison. Inside the gates his condition became worse, and he was dragged up the stairs and into the main hall. He was placed in a sitting posture on the bench while the handcuffs were being removed, but he fell over and moaned and groaned, evincing the most abject terror.

As soon as his hands were unlocked the man was dragged into the principal keeper's office. As in the case of all prisoners the officers immediately proceeded to strip him and put on the new suit of clothes. During this operation Czolgosz cried and yelled, making the prison corridors echo with evidence of his terror.

The prison physician, Dr. John Gueen, examined the man and ordered his removal to the cell in the condemned row, which he occupied until he is taken to the electric chair. The doctor declared that the man was suffering from fright and terror, but said that he was shamming to some extent.

The collapse of the murderer was a surprise to everyone. On route from Buffalo he showed no indication of breaking down. He ate heartily of sandwiches and smoked cigars when not eating. He talked calmly and expressed regret for his crime. He said he was especially sorry for Mrs. McKinley.

Czolgosz reiterated his former statement that he had had no accomplices. He declared he had never heard of the man under arrest in St. Louis, who claimed to have tied the handkerchief over his head concealing the pistol with which the President was shot. He says the handkerchief was not tied. He went behind the Temple of Music, arranged the handkerchief so as to hide the weapon, and then took his place in the crowd. To fathered the message to his father: "Tell him I am sorry I left him such a bad name."

Czolgosz was in normal condition this afternoon, and seemed to have fully recovered from his collapse. There are five cells for condemned men in the prison, and Czolgosz was placed in the only cell now vacant, so all are now occupied. Two keepers are constantly on guard in the room which is separated from the main prison, but to guard against an attack by Czolgosz, the committee has added, and one will constantly sit in front of Czolgosz's cell and will have a key so that any attempt at self-destruction may be frustrated at once.

Anarchist Editor in Jail. SPRING VALLEY, Ill., Sept. 27.—John Campbell, the proprietor of La Aurora, the anarchist paper published here, which was the assassin of President McKinley, was arrested here yesterday by United States Marshal St. Clair, of Streator. Campbell was arraigned before United States Commissioner H. Dicks on a charge of violating the postal laws by publishing lottery notices. There is said to be no law under which he can be imprisoned in this country. The language used in his paper, but the authorities state that the other charge will be pushed vigorously.

VOYRON AT HOME. French Officers Optimistic Regarding China's Future. LONDON, Sept. 27.—A dispatch to the Times from Marseilles says there have been great rejoicings there this week over the return of General Voyron and the French troops to China. The general, who was in the expedition to China, General Voyron has been much affected by the attention shown to him, especially by his promotion to the rank of General of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor.

All the members of the general staff are optimistic regarding China's immediate future. They believe that the Chinese now comprehend the value of the French troops in China and are said to be amply to preserve tranquility.

The French officers say that the two powers most benefited by the recent changes in China are France and Great Britain. The latter has strengthened her position and increased her influence. The Paris correspondent of the Times quotes an interview with General Voyron by a representative of the Temps. The general praised Field Marshal von Waldersee and the Russians, and said also that the relations between himself and the British, however, were cordial. The British, however, had much more in common with the Americans. The British troops included a detachment of Sikhs, whom the French do not regard as soldiers.

German Troops in Austria. NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The correspondent of the Times at Vienna says the detachment of German East Asiatic Infantry passing through Austria on its way home from China has been received with enthusiasm at Trieste, and will be received with similar enthusiasm at Vienna. The reception is purely military, but the press represents it as a popular welcome and calls the fraternizing of the Austrian and German soldiers a proof of the cordial relations existing between the two countries. The German troops will be reviewed by Emperor Francis Joseph tomorrow. The idea of letting the troops pass through Austria was conceived by Emperor William.

China May Sell Warships. SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—China is favorably considering a Russian offer to purchase the Pei Yang squadron, consisting of three fast cruisers, four torpedo-boat destroyers, and some third-class cruisers, the price, 5,000,000 rubles, to be deducted from the war indemnity.

International Cricket Match. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—The first of the last matches representing All-Philadelphia and Bosanquet's English eleven was started here today. The Britishers ran up a total of 100 runs. The Quakers scored 75 for the loss of five wickets.

New Automobile Record. BUFFALO, Sept. 27.—Henri Fournier, the French automobilist, covered a mile on the Port Erie race course today in 1:13, beating his own record for a circular track of 1:14, established Thursday, Lyon, third, time, 1:12.

CARTER'S STOLEN FUNDS.

Government Officials on the Track of a Large Part of It.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Government officials, says the Chronicle, have learned that $100,000 of the money embezzled by O'Brien M. Carter, now serving a five-year sentence at the Port Leavenworth Penitentiary, has recently been taken from Chicago depositories to some Eastern city, and that Secret Service men have gone to the place to seize the funds. Last week, Government authorities located a cash and securities $800 in a safety deposit vault at Huntington, W. Va., and during July real estate worth $100,000 conveyed by Carter to a brother and was impounded by the authorities. The whereabouts of the remainder of the $100,000, which consists of cash and securities, has not been made public.
