DOES PORTLAND WANT IT?

1902 MEETING OF NATIONAL LIVE-STOCK ASSOCIATION.

Effect of Middle West Drouth on Livestock Industry of Oregon-Animals on Ranges.

C. J. Millis, livestock agent of the O. R. & N. Co., is striving to get the 1902 meeting of the National Livestock Association set for Portland. It now has a membership of several thousand wideawake men. The annual meetings are attended by 1000 to 3000 persons, and Mr. Millis is convinced that much good would result to Portland from having the meeting next year held in this city.

"For several months," said Mr. Millis yesterday, "I have been investigating the possibility of bringing the next annual meeting of the National Livestock Association to Portland. I have taken the matter up with Oregon livestock people and am assured of their undivided support. On a recent trip through the Middle West I spoke to officers of the association, and such prominent members as I could reach, and I found among them a very general willingness to consider Porthand for the next meeting place. Indeed, many of them pledged me their support, and expressed the opinion that the stock-men in general would like to visit, this

"Not only would the direct benefit be great, but the advertisement of our livestock interests and the general resources of the state would be still more beneficial. But other places are alive to the advan-tages of having this meeting, and there will be a lively canvass in favor of Kan-sas City, Fort Worth, Omaha, and Dener, each and all of which will be after it. However, Portland got in the field so early that it has already secured many sup porters, and it stands a fair chance to win If our own citizens manifest the proper

We should have liberal rate concessions for the round trip from Missouri River and Texas points, and there should be attractive side excursions from Portland. There should be a cordial invitation from some such body as the Portland Chamber of Commerce, indorsed by the Mayor, and half a dozen of our most prominent and active livestock men should be put in the field to work for Portland, men who can make good speeches, and do effective per-Badges should be provided to make prominent the Oregon sympa-The expense of this campaign would not be large, and the benefit of get-ting the National Livestock Association

Corn-Belt Cattle-Feeding.

Mr. Millis spent three weeks in the stock-feeding regions of Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota, where drouth made fiself manifest the past Summer. He made a careful examination of the conditions prevailing there, particularly with reference to the ability of that country to fatten livestock from the Oregon ranges. While the drouth did much damage there, Millis reports that the losses have been considerably overstated.

"It is a fact," 'snid Mr. Millis yesterday, "that early corn in Kansas and Nebraska is a very light crop, but the late corn looks well, and it will materially relieve the sliuation, while the wheat crop is the st ever grown throughout that district Merchantable corn in Kansas and Ne brasks will average less than 50 per cent of a full crop, and the price will undoubtedly operate against a very large specu lative feeding business, but the supply of nubbins and small grain will permit nearly the usual amount of home-feeding will take care of all the hogs and cattle now held for that purpose, the surplus having already been disposed of by shipment to Dakota, Montana and other Western ranges, one train of 13 cars having been brought as far west as Winona, the lar Wash. This surplus was sold off at a vation. sacrifice during the panic, when the drouth was at its height. When it became cressful. While this movement was not large, it so reduced the supply to the district from which it was drawn as to insure good, early feed for the stock in dull indeed. Fremont has none whatand is shipping out its hay. Ames will feed no cattle, except such as are now on hand. St. Joe and Missouri feeds lots are very lightly stocked. The same is true of the other leading yards. Comission men are, however, still hopeful.

"Montana is away short on cattle. Prices have held so stiff for the past few years that cattlemen refused to stock up. Beef shipments to market over the Great thern alone show a shortage of more than 200 cars this Fall.

"Now, with the price of beef steadily rising, with the feed lots empty, with the corn bell reserve gone, the surplus 'feeders' shipped out, and the remainder hastily preparing for market, and with Montana grass 50 per cent short, I think Oregon producers are justified in expecting high rices on all classes of cattle after March or April. Then our rangemen should find opportunity, for the reaction in the East will create a demand for animals for restocking, which can be met only from Texas. New Mexico and Oregon. tana, Wyoming and Colorado will all be in the field as buyers.

The Sheep Situation.

In the Middle West the sheep situation is similar to that of cattle. The farmers are cleaning up and the Chicago market is glutted with everything that will make any kind of mutton. But the Montana supply is like that of Oregon-abnormaland because of the inability of the sheepcarry their excessive flocks through the Winter without great danger losses, they are offering large numbers at 40 to 50 cents per head less than the present Oregon figures. This, in connection with the fact that Montana is nearer the market, will compel Oregonians to reduce their prices or to wait until Montana shall have unloaded, probably the "Screenings are so high-over $12 per ton-that the St. Paul feeding lots are now absolutely empty, whereas they usually contain 350,000 to 200,000 sheep at this season of the year. The prospective searcity and consequent high price of beef should induce late short feeding of sheep in those yards. If so it will help to relieve the congestion on the sheep ranges. Otherwise the movement from the ranges will be deferred until Spring. whn another crop of lambs will so crowd the range that there will be a forced movement to market at any price. Oregon ranges are now supporting Li-more than their normal capacity." siderable missionary work while in the East, and as a result of this he brought back orders for large numbers of cattle and sheep. It is expected that these may be procured for shipment this Fall or early in the Spring. He also says it is surprising to see how little well-informed people in the East know about Oregon and its resources. He finds that much good is accomplished by personal contact and keeping constantly before them the

A careful estimate made by Mr. Mellis of the number of cattle, horses and sheep now on the Oregon ranges is as follows:

the year's output 7,200,000 pounds of scoured wool. This puts Oregon amoung the leading wool-producing states of the

TAX SALE POSTPONED,

District Attorney Gives an Editorial Opinion of the Law.

The sale of property for delinquent taxes for the years 1888 to 1895, which was to have come off yesterday, was post-poned by Sheriff Frazier until Tuesday next, on the advice of District Attorney Chamberlain. The District Attorney refers to the act as one aparently gotten up by tax-title sharks to take advantage of those whose lands are to be sold without more than constructive notice, and he says it would be a good thing if the Sheriff would continue to make these postponements until the next Legislature can have a chance to change the act in question and avoid the possibility of ounties' being looted.

Mortgage companies and others have been paying up these back taxes and so long as this continues the county authorities have no desire to push the sale. Mr. Chamberlain, in his letter to Sheriff Frazier, quotes the sections of the act regarding the sale of lands heretofore bld in for taxes, the provisions of which have heretofore been frequently pub-lished, and comments upon the same as follows:

The act in question has been a fruitful source of trouble not only to those throughout the state whose duty it is to attempt to carry out its provisions, but to the taxpayers as well. The ends sought to be attained by some of its provisions are praiseworthy, but as a whole it is a piece of crary-quilt legislation, gotten up apparently by certain tax-title pirates to assist in defrauding the counties and school districts out of taxes justly due and place districts out of taxes justly due and place themselves in position to hold up and rob those whose lands are put up and sold without more than the constructive notice. The suspicion that this was the purpose of the act is strengthened by the fact that no one has as yet appeared to claim its authorship. It was doubtless bunglingly prepared to hide its real purpose, and it is almost impossible to intelligently construe it in so far as your duties are concerned, and an attempted construction can at best be but a guess at what the courts way hold to reference thereto.

may hold in reference thereto. You are required to sell the lands mentioned in the act "in manner and form as upon sale under execution." In cases of sales under execution, Section 203, Hill's Code, the Sheriff may postpone the sale not exceeding one week next after the day appointed, and so from time next after the day appointed, and so from time to time for the like cause, giving notice of every adjournment by public proclamation made at the time. The Sheriff, for like causes, ma yalso adjourn a sale under execution from time to time, not exceeding 30 days beyond the day at which the writ is made returnable. with the consent of the plaintiff indorsed upon

There is no question, then, but that proceed-ing in manner and form as upon sale under execution, the Sheriff can postpone the sale from week to week, but the difficult question from week to week, but the diment question is for what length of time can these postponements be made. As stated above, there is no writ placed in his hands. The statute itself is his sole authority. No time for making a return is fixed by the act, and no return is provided for, and hence the section of the statute governing executions in this respect cannot be applied. It would seem, therefore, that the Sheriff may continue to postpone from week to week for an indefinite time, "when he deems it for the advantage of all concerned to postpone the sale for want of purchasers, or other sufficient cause."

This is the safest construction to place upon the act, and it would not be a public calamity to continue to make these postponements until a succeeding Legislature can have an oppornity to so amend the act in question as t old the possibility of the looting of countle and taxpayers by the few distinguished gentle-men in the state who make purchases at tax

In 1862 he bought out Mr. Foster's interest and conducted the business under the firm name of Jacob Underhill & Co. until 1868. He then went to San Francisco, where he was in business for five years. Battery Drill and Fireworks Entertained Large Crowd. The grand military tournament, which has been the star attraction at the exposition for the past week, was brought to a close last night with the competitive individual drill of members of the National Guards of Oregon and Washington, and the mounted artillery drill by Bat-tery A, under command of Captain H. Welch. The programme was witnessed by the largest crowd that has yet at-tended the exposition, and a conservative estimate of the number of people present last night places the attendance at 6000.

In addition to the evolutions of the the Naval Battalion that was on the field cheered the winners, and the spectators approved the findings of the judges with a noisy expression. Following the individual drill, Battery A rode on to the field, entering at the side. Then came a splendid drill that was all the more creditable because the members of the battery have had but a short time to get into shape. The heavy guns and lighter Gatlings were handled with precision, and the different movements executed with rapidity and in good order. It was ex-pected that several rounds of blank am-munition would be fired, but, out of consideration for the windows in the neighborhood, this feature of the drill was omitted. At the conclusion of the drill Hermann made his daring ride, after which the battery departed.

The success of the tournament has demonstrated the popularity that would attend the institution of an annual event for the military of the Northwest. The visiting soldiers are enthusiastic over the plans of several Portland officers to enplans of several Portland officers to endeavor to arrange for a tournament each year. The matter will probably be brought to the attention of the military board at its next meeting, and already several members have expressed their approval

Sale of Scats for Scabrooke Engage ment.

This morning at 10 o'clock the advance sale of seats will open for the engagement of Thomas Q. Seabrooke, at the Marquam Grand Theater, Friday and Saturday nights, October 4 and 5, with a matinee Saturday, at 2:15 o'clock, in "A Modern Crusoe." The Boston Dally Advertiser, ommenting on "A Modern Crusoe," says "It is a genuine production, remarkably abundant in real humor, fine, clear-cut lines and choice situations, and wonderfully deficient in stale quips on stock sub-jects. There is not one drunken scene. Not one mixed-up couple scene, not one misunderstanding of the old threadbare sort. It needed Mr. Rosenfeld's deftness serious and the comic, for the two lines were always threatening to diverge from heir parailelism. CLOSING-OUT SALE

STEINWAY, EMERSON, ESTEY, GRA-MER AND OTHER PIANOS.

Baby Grands and Uprights-The Entire Stock of a Former Agency of a San Francisco Firm to Be Closed Out at Once by Eilers Piano House - Organs Also Included -Easy Payments-Come Early To-

Piease bear in mind that if you intend to secure one of these many bargains while this sale of the Soule Brothers & Johnston stock is in progress, you cannot afford to put off coming. Run in this forenoon, at 331 Washington street; see for yourself, and you will find that you can save enough money in the purchase of a good plano to fairly educate the whole family in music, or take a trip to Buffalo for that matter.

Yesterday we sold an Emerson plano to a gentleman who came nearly buying the same style of plano two months ago from the former firm. At that time he was asked $35 for the instrument. Yesterday he secured the same plano from us for less than $250. And he can buy the instrument on easy monthly payments, too, if he desires to do so.

There are several styles of Steinways in stock, and it doesn't take much more than $400 to get one now. We have quite an assortment of Estey planos. No need of paying much more than half the former prices asked for a fine Estey now. They are new instruments, accompanied by the respective factory guarantees.

Then come the Emerson planos. Emerson planos are good pianos. Soule Brothers & Johnston's prices on Emersons ranged from $400 to $500—an average of, say, $450. It is said that they sold two or Then come the Emerson planos. Emerson planos are good planos. Soule Brothers & Johnston's prices on Emersons ranged from $400 to $500—an average of, say, $450. It is said that they sold two or three for that figure. This morning we offer the best Emerson in this stock for $287; others for $218—and some that are said to be Emersons, and probably are well, we'll sell these so-called Emersons for what they are worth, for we have nearly a carload of them; $485 and $198 will secure choice of several different cases.

Whoever heard of the Nugent plano? It is what is known as a stencil plano-although it has been said to be "worth $250." We offer one of Soule Brothers & Johnston's big oak Nugent planos tomorrow for $146. Several Richmond planos, in fancy walnut and oak cases, for about half the former prices asked for them.

Remember, we have the factory warrantles for every instrument in stock. We will deliver planos at sale prices to any part of the city, and give our regular one year's tuning agreement with every instrument sold.

During this closing-out sale of the Soule Brothers & Johnston stock, we will offer also a number of Kimball, Decker, Vose, Wheelock and others at "eut prices."

The Tivoli Company at Cordray's. Ferris Hartman, the leading comedian and general director of the Tivoli company, which will open in "The Babes in the Woods" at Cordray's, Sunday night, is one of the most successful and bestknown men in comic opera, and numbers among his admirers all those who have seen him. No matter in what character he appears-and there are few leading parts in comic operas he has not sung-he always gives it a new and original interpretation, and loses himself in the character. The fact that the Tivoli company broke all records during its recent engagement at Cordray's shows how popular it is in Portland, and there can be ular it is in Portland, and there can be no doubt that the house will be filled to overflowing all the week. "Babes in the Woods," the opera selected for the opening night, is said to suit the company better than any in its repertoire.

"Sporting Life" at the Marquam. "Sporting Life" is to be seen here for the first time at the Marquam Grand Theater, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, October 7, 8, and 9. This big melodrama enjoyed runs of five and four months respectively in New York and Chicago last season, and is pronounced a marvel of it sclass. The story has to do with the fortunes of Lord Woodstock. who loves sport for sport's sake, but who gets himself into a tight place by reck-less betting. Not only has he incurred debts of honor, but the brother of his otheart has forged his name to a bill for several thousands, a liability which, for the sake of the young lady's family, Woodtsock chivalrously assumes. plete ruin now stares him in the face, and when he is offered a great sum to permit his racing mare to lose a great race for which she is an odds-on favorite, the temptation to accept it is too great for any but a melodramatic hero to decline, but, of course, Woodstock, without hesitation, spurns it, and happily all goes
