EXCHANGE FAIR A WINNER

THE PENDLETON MEETING WAS MARKED BY $7000 IN SALES.

People Came a Long Distance to Attend-First of Its Kind in the Northwest.

PENDLETON, Oct. 8.-The first monthly exchange fair in the Northwest, which was held here today, was a suc-cess. There was a good attendance. This cess. There was a good account of the last told by the sales, which aggregated $7000. The demand far exceeded the augusty, horses coming in first. the supply, horses coming in first. Ranchers, who reside 150 miles from Pendieton, were in attendance, and pur-chased cattle, horses, etc., as well as offered them and general farm produce for sale. Farmers in Slivies Valley, Har-ney County, left for home this evening with their purchases, which filled six four-horse and two five-horse wagons. The fair was held in Alta street, at the ner of Main, next to the Pendleton rings Bank. R. T. Cox was in charge of the arrangements, and represented the Pendleton Commercial Association. He had thoroughly canvassed the country, and knew in a general way what was to be on hand for sale. Mr. Cox acted as a sort of master of ceremonies, and acted efficiently. Others of the business men assisted, and Colonel R. C. Judson, industrial agent of the O. R. & N. and other Harriman lines, was here to see how the first fair succeeded. He it was who proposed it, and who caused its trial as an experiment for the towns of the Pacific Nortwest. Colonel Judson will present the matter to other towns and secure the co-operation of the local commercial bodies and of the press in stablishing these sales as a permanent PORTLAND PRESBYTERY ADJOURNS Will Meet Again in Albina on the Evening of October 22.

OREGON CITY, Oct. 8.—The Presbytery of Portland met pursuant to adjournment at 8 o'clock this morning, in the First Presbyterian Church, and was opened with a half-hour devotional service, led by Rev. Edward M. Sharp, Rev. M. D. McCicliand, the newly-elected moderator, opened the business session. A letter from Dr. Landon, of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, at San Anseimo, was read. He reports an attendance of 18 students, eight of them being in the senior class, and one of the last, E. T. Allen, a member of the First Church, of Portland, who, upon graduation next April, expects to go to Persia if the way is clear. Eugene Ballis, a member of the same church, is also at San Anselmo, and doing good work. Bey. Edward M. Sharp, of the Presbytery of Buffalo, and the new paster of Mount Tabor Church, and Rev. Julian Hatch, of the Presbytery of Kearney, were admitted by letters to the roll of the presbytery. Mr. Hatch is retired, and lives in Washington. Rev. Hiram Bill, of the Presbytery of Oakland, was invited to sit as a corresponding member. The resignation of Rev. W. O. Forbes as paster of the Forbes Church, of Albinn, was received, and the congregation was cited to appear at an adjourned meeting of the presbytery to show cause why the resignation should not be accepted. Mr. Forbes was persona non grata to some of the members of his church, and he ten-dered his resignation, which was rejected by a vote of 60 to 7. Having this vindication, and desiring to sever his connec-tion with the church at Albina, Mr. Forbes presented his resignation to the WHITE RIBBONERS MEET.

Convention Does Honor to the Late Mrs. Narclass White Kinney.

ASTORIA, Oct. 8.-The 19th annual con vention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union began its eession in this city today. The convention is called a memorial one, out of respect to the memory of the late Mrs. Narcissa White Kin-ney, who had been president of the state organization for a number of years. This afternoon an executive session was held in the First Presbyterian Church to ar-range the details of the convention, and in the Methodist Church consecration services were held. This evening the convention was formally organized at the Methodist Church, where the future meet-ings will be held. An address of welcome was delivered by Rev. Mr. Dell, pastor of the First Congregational Church, for the churches of the city, and by Mrz. L. J. Trumbull for the local union were responded to by Mrs. Ida Marsters, after which Mrs. Helen D. Harford, presatter which Mrs. Helen D. Harford, president of the state organization, delivered her annual address. She delivered an excellent eulogy on Mrs. Kinney, and said the White Ribboners had sustained an irreparable loss. Mrs. Harford reports the W. C. T. U. work in the state to be in a flourishing condition. The convention will addourn Bridge avening. adjourn Friday evening.

EASTERN OREGON PRESBYTERY.

It Will Convene Today-State Meeting at Baker City Tomorrow.

BAKER CITY, Oct. 8.—The presbytery of the Presbyterian church for the East-ern Oregon district will meet in this city on Wednesday afternoon, October 3, at the Presbyterian Church. This organization is composed of one minister and one elder from each church in the district and it is ed that all of the churches in this I the state will be represented. On Thursday evening the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Oregon will also convene in this city, and as this body is composed of ministers from all of the churches in the state it is expected that there will be a great gathering of Pres-byterians from all parts of the state. In addition to the ministers from Oregon a number of prominent ministers of the church from the East will be present. The members of all the churches in the city are preparing to entertain the visiters. In point of numbers this session of the synod bids fair to be the most important session that has ever been held in the state. During the session of both the presbytery and the synod there will delivered by some of the ablest men in the church. The sessions of both organizations will last until Monday.

TO COMPEL JUDGE TO SIGN IT. One of Parties to a Suit Wants Testimony Certified To.

SALEM, Oct. 8.—C. V. Wintzingerode, German Consul at Portland, today began a mandamus proceeding to compel County Judge Scott to certify a statement of the evidence taken in the case of Wintzinge-rode vs. Lane. When the latter case was tried in the County Court the evidence was not written, but after an appeal had been taken to the Circuit Court a statement of the testimony in narrative form was presented to Judge Scott for his signa-ture. The statement of testimony was not objected to by Lane. Judge Scott refused to certify the testimony because it did not appear in question and answer form. or in full as given by the witnesses, with objections made to the questions. The Wintzingerode-Lane case is not in the Circuit Court, and the appellant wants the testimony taken up to the latter court with his appeal. Whether a County Judge can be compelled to certify testi-mony presented, as in this case, is the question to be decided. Gantenbein & Veazie, of Portland, are attorneys for Wint. zingerode.

Woman Proved to Be the Thief. BAKER CITY, Oct. 8-I. K. Levy, a emmercial traveler, came into town late Saturday evening and opened up his sam-ples of cloaks, hosiery and ladies' underwear at the Gakes sample rooms. Yes-terday morning he discovered a thicf had entered the place during the night and curried off about $75 worth of his finest samples. He suspected a Mrs. Jack, who is employed at the Oakes, of being the thief. He told his trouble to the Chief of Police and today a search was made of the woman's residence and most of the missing articles were found. first the woman denied she had taken the goods, saying the things found in her bouse, saying the things found in her house had been sent to her from Boise, but later she broke down and confessed to the theft and produced the remainder of the missing articles. Mr. Levy was so glad to recover his property that he declined to prosecute the woman.

Sey-mour, a warrant broker, today brought NEW WHATCOM, Wash, Oct. 8.—One of the great sensations in the history of the state was sprung today in the case of ex-Chief Justice Elmer Scott, who is on trial here for a criminal assault on Mina Shaeffer. The prosecutrix was being cross-examined by defendant's attorney, when he handed her five letters which she identified and admitted having written. They were directed to a next-door woman neighbor, and in them she told the woman that defendant had never done anything wrong to her, and that her stepmother had forced RICHEST INDIAN ON THE KLAMATH RESERVATION.

HENRY JACKSON.

KLAMATH FALLS, Oct. 8.-Henry Jackson, whose possessions are valued at $30,000, is the richest Indian on the Klamath Reservation. When Jackson was 6 years old he was stolen from the Pitt River Reservation, in California, by Lelo, the Klamath chief, whom he served as a slave for four years. Gov-ernment soldiers rescued him and gave him work and board at Fort Klamath. When Superintendent Huntington started for Yainax, to make a treaty with the Piutes, he induced young Jackson to accompany him as camp rustler, but the first night out he became frightened at some of the antics of the party and took flight for the fort. This incident christened him "Skedaddle," by which he was known until the outbreak of the Modoc War, when, on joining the whites against the hostile Indians, he was named Henry Jackson. After the war he returned to the reservation, and for 10 years was engaged in splitting rails at $25 per thousand, for white settlers, taking his pay in cattle. That is the way he got his start. Every Fall, for 15 years, he has sent to market $1090 to $7000 worth of cattite. Four miles from Yainix on Sprague River, he owns 1900 acres of land, well-stocked and nearly all fenced. He has a large, well-fur-nished dwelling, large burns and granaries, fine vehicles and modern farming implements. He knows how to make and save money but has no education. He can neither read nor write, doesn't know his own age, he looks to be about 50. doesn't remember the names of his parents, nor the name applied to him origi-nally. His father, however, was a Pitt River and his mother a Modoc. He married Junietta, a Klamath. They have had 12 children, seven of whom are dead. He has given his family educational advantages, and his oldest son now and keeps his accounts. Jackson's siveness have made him a recognized leader among the Indians, to whom well as to the Government officials and white settlers, he has always extended a helping hand.

OREGON WARDEN'S REPORT ON THE IMNAHA RIVER.

Neither Salmon River Nor Payette Lake, in Idaho, Are Suitable-Work in Western Oregon.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 8.—The monthly report of Fish Commissioner Van Dusen shows that efforts are being continued to discover the most suitable sites for the establishment of hatcheries. It is believed the importance of this work was demonstrated in this year's run of salmon, and it is the purpose of the Fish Commission to push the work as rapidly as the receipts from fishery licenses will permit. Mr. Van Dusen has examined the Imnaha River, in Eastern Oregon, and the Salmon River, Payette Lake and Welser River, in Idaho, during the past month. His report in part is as follows:

F. C. Brown who made the examination, month. His report in part is as follows:

F. C. Brown, who made the examination, reports the Immaha River as a natural spawning stream for the Chinook salmon. By the settlers along the stream he was given to understand that we would find a Spring run of the Chinook salmon there as well as a Fall run. At the time he was on the stream, September 1-5, it was too late to attempt any experimental work this year, but another year we should get in on to the stream as selected at the end of the wagon road or at the mouth of Horse Creek or Cow Creek, the young fry turned out from such a plant would never be subjected to the mercies of irrigating ditches that are so abundant in parts of Eastern Oregon and Idaho.

Salmon River, in Idaho, was not found

Salmon River, in Idaho, was not found suitable, nor was Payette Lake. In the suitable, nor was Payette Lake. In the latter place dynamiters run the lake for breeding purposes. The Little Salmon and the Weiser Rivers were found to be sat-isfactory. Concerning work in Western Oregon, the report in part says:

On September 11 I went out on the McKen On September 11 I went out on the McKen-zie River. This stream appears to be an ideal stream for our work, and feeling that such a stream should receive as prompt at-tention as possible at our hands, I have sent James T. Hettan to give the river a thorough investigation. He will also investigate the Santiam River, after getting through with the McKenzie. In these streams we will have the obstruction to contend with that the Wil-iamette Falls at Oregon City offers, but from the examinations I have been able to make the examinations I have been able to make of that situation. I see nothing in the way of our providing an ample fishway over the falls and one that would be absolutely permanent, at a very moderate expense, by blasting a series of channels and rests through the ing a series of channels and rests through the social water to the ascent from the lowest stage of water to the foot of the dam that the electric people have in there. With this dam provided with a suitable fish ladder that could also be put in and maintained at a trifling expense, fish should have a good clear run from the waters below have a good clear run from the waters below to the waters above, barring, of course, fisherman poachers, but these I think we can take care of under the law.

On September 17, in company with E. C. McReavy, Deputy Fish Commissioner of Washington, I visited the site offered at Cellic, looking forward to the matter of establishing ourselves, if posible, at some such a point in the main Columbia for our work instead of confining ourselves to its tributaries. This situation we found to be a fair one, and a point where a great many salmon could be taken and held at a moderate expense, but not sufficiently attractive to warrant us in attempt-ficiently attractive to warrant us in attemptficiently attractive to warrant us in attempting anything there at the present time.

The receipts of the Fish Warden's office during September amounted to $873 80.

REPORT OF GENERAL RANDALL. He Lays Much Stress on the Rigors of an Alaskan Winter. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.-The War Department has made public the annual report of Brigadier-General George M. Ran-dall, commanding the Department of Alas-ka. General Randall lays much stress on the rigors of an Alaskan Winter. The cold, he says, is intense and continues so from November to April, with severe and frequent blizzards. There is no dockage for ocean vessels at the supply port, Fort St. Michael, and all supplies must be lightered from ships in the open. I the weather is rough the work of light ering becomes impossible.

General Randail says that the most important work in the department, after providing for the housing and supply of troops, was that of constructing the milltroops, was that of constructing the interpretary telegraph line and military road through Alaska. The total length of line constructed up to August 15 was about 400 miles. The work is being pushed as fast as possible, and by the close of navigation this year it is hoped that telegraphic communication between Fort St. Michael and Fort Gibbons, 420 miles distant, will have been established. The constructing of these lines, General Randall says, is attended with many difficulties peculiar to an arctic climate.

Owing to the isolation of army posts and to the lack of facilities for instruction in drill and for convening court-martial, General Randall says, troops left to serve there for several years must deteriorate in military efficiency. He therefore recommends that troops stationed in Alaska be relieved every two years, and that only men with more than two years to serve be ordered there. In conclusion, General

Randall says:
"The location of department headquar ters in Alaska for the past year is be-lieved to have had a pronounced bene-ficial effect toward the protection of person and property and the establishment of good order in the territory. This has been accomplished without friction with the civil authorities, and in harmony, it is thought with the sentiment of all lawabiding and self-respecting citizens."

Mange at the Reservation.

A few years ago a great many horses in the Pendleton neighborhood were afflicted with mange. Twelve hundred head of such were killed within three months, and the disease was exterminated with the exception of what remained with a few horses at the reservation. Those persons in authority at the time refused to allow the Indians' horses to be killed, says a local paper. As a re-sult the disease has again spread and the number of horses affected is almost as great as before.
Authority has been given to Dr. Lantz to experiment with remedles on the horses at the reservation at the expense of the Government. Dr. Lantz is a Federal meat inspector and is interested in animal industry. He has investigated mange and is thoroughly acquainted with the disease. It was his plan to put the affected horses of the reservation in a pasture by themselves, and treat them, but neither the agent nor the Indians at the reservation take any interest in the matter. Dr. Lantz says that there would be no expense to anyone except the Government, and the treatment could not in the least harm the horses and might be the means of exterminating the disease.

Valuable Oil Lands Involved. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.-Millions of dol-lars' worth of valuable lands in California are involved in the case of Kern Oll Company et al, against C. W. Clarke, and the Gray Eagle Oll Company against C. W. Clarke, which were argued before as-sistant Attorney-General Vandevanter at the Interior Department today. The hearing, which will continue tomorrow, is on a motion for review of the department's decision of last April in favor of the two companies. These companies are the min-eral claimants in the litigation, while Clarke selected the lands involved in each case under what is known as the lieu-land forest reserve act. Two companies assert their right under the placer mining law. The motion for review contends. The motion for review contends, among other things, that the right of the lands were acquired before furnishing the necessary proofs, instead of being acquired upon the furnishing of such proofs.

Bad Fire at Steveston VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 8.—An incendiary fire destroyed eight stores in the fishing town of Steveston today. The remainder of the town and the 45 salmon canneries located in Steveston narrowly escaped being burned. There are two the ories for the motives of the incendiaries. One is that the fire was started by a gang of tramps for purposes of plunder, the other that the fire was the culmination of a series of local controversies in Steves ton's official circles, and which developed great bitterness. The loss occasioned by the fire is estimated at $30,000.

Notes of Oregon Mines The Golden Wedge gold mine at Galice began crushing ore last week.

C. H. Brooks and Tom Bessler, who trict, have made a good strike. An ore body five feet wide, averaging $31 30 per ton, has just been encountered.

Within the last 90 days a number of good copper ledges have been discovered on the Grey Back Mountains, at the head of Deer and Sucker Creeks, in Josephin Jounty. About 30 locations have been filed. The Standard and Dixle Mining Com panies have had the pyritic smelfer moved from Sumpter and it is now ready for operation. The site covers about 10 acres. The building is 20x70 feet of two stories and the ore bins have a capacity of 500 tons.

Last week the clean-ups of the Bonanza, Columbia and Red Boy mines passed through Sumpter. It is estimated by a pa-per of that city that the outputs were: Bonanza, $64,000; Columbia, about $85,000 and Red Boy, $30,000. Several deposits of gold dust from nearby mines were made at the local banks. Word comes from Union of another im portant mineral discovery southeast of the city, a few miles from Telocaset. For several years development work has been prosecuted on a number of ledges rich in copper and gold in that section, with

I Coughed

It's the experience of every one. Sooner or later we all take cold. Colds naturally tend downward, that's the trouble. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops this downward tendency and quickly cures these early colds. Ask your doctor. If he says this isn't so, don't believe us.

"I know from personal experience that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up a heavy cold on the lungs."

good results, and it was while this work was being carried on that the new find was made. A shaft had been sunk and a tunnel was being run to strike the shaft, and in digging this tunnel two ledges were cut, both of which are reported to consist of what is probably the best copper ore yet found in that district. Some new discoveries of rich control of the contro coveries of rich copper ore are reported in the Goose Creek district, further east.

Oregon Notes.

out, mainly to Kansas and Nebraska. Probably 20 carloads will be shipped from Milton this season. from Milton this geason.

Er. N. G. Bialock, of Walla Walla, is purchasing large quantities of fruit thoughout the Walla Walla Valley and in the vicinity of Weston and Athena. He has contracted for all the fruit on the places of John Beil, John Harris, J. R. Ring and others on Wildhurse. He pays for apples 1½, cents per pound, and the same price for pears. For prunes, 55 per ton is the price, the Bialock people picking the prunes from the trees.

A. McDoniel, who lives a mile east.

A. A. McDaniel, who lives a mile east of Saxe station, on the Wildhorse, is harvesting and delivering his potato crop, raised on 89 acres of summer failuw. He says he will have over 2000 sacks, which, at $1.50 per sack will bring $5000. Mr. McDaniel thinks fallow will produce just as good a crop of wheat after a potate crop as without. These after a potato crop as without. These potatoes were grown on high land and were not affected by the frogta of last
