

LETTER FROM PAT CROWE

TERMS ON WHICH THE OUTLAW WILL SURRENDER.

One of the Conditions is That He Be Allowed His Freedom Until He Has Been Adjudged Guilty.

OMAHA, Oct. 13.—Chief of Police Donahue today receives a letter from Pat Crowe, naming the terms on which he will surrender. The letter came in care of an Omaha newspaper in which it is published, and covers 12 closely written pages of manuscript. The postmark is illegible, but the letter was mailed at 8 o'clock in the morning, and reached this city at 8 in the evening of the day, indicating that it had not been delayed in its journey. Crowe agrees to give himself up and stand trial for the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy, providing he is not locked up until a jury shall adjudge him guilty. He says he is unable to furnish bond in excess of $500, and demands that bond be fixed in that sum.

Chief Donahue expresses himself as satisfied that the letter came from Crowe. Donahue has known Crowe a few years, is acquainted with his manner of handwriting and style of expression. The chief also received a letter from Crowe's uncle at Manchester, Ia., submitting a check for $500, and a surrender, which leads the police to believe that they are dealing with the right man. Crowe, in his letter, takes the detective agencies to task, defining them to attempt his arrest, and continues:

"Now, Mr. Donahue, let me tell you all I ask is justice, a fair trial by 12 men, citizens of Douglas County, Iowa. Not by Herod, nor by a king. Their God is gold, and with that power they rule the world. Donahue, all I ask is a square deal. Grant my request and I will give myself up. He now believes me guilty. Nevertheless, I think he will give me a fair trial, as all he wants is the public to know the truth."

Crowe says he was arrested by Governor Savage ever since he was a barefooted boy on the farm in Iowa, expresses regret that he has fallen into ill repute, and then lays down the conditions of his surrender as follows:

"Now, Mr. Donahue, I will give myself up to you if you will promise me on your word of honor that I will not be locked up until the jury says guilty. If the jury says that I am guilty, I will accept the punishment like a man, without a murmur. I can give a bond for $500, and that is all. If the court will not accept that, I will remain in custody until the signatures of Edward Cudahy, Governor Savage, Sheriff John Power, Attorney Shields, Chief J. Donahue and the Judge that fixes the bond. Mr. Donahue, I want you to understand that I am not afraid of the combined wealth of all the Cudahys on earth and the efforts of all the scrub detectives that there are in this state. The man that tries to pinch me will bite the dust, for I am ready to die in the mix. I will not be kangarooed. Chief, I ask but I do not expect to get justice. There is some one who wants to get me away, and I know the god of gold."

Crowe says that he has been in South Africa, fighting with the Boers, recites reminiscences of the war, and discusses the context. He directs that Chief Donahue's reply be made through a local paper, and says if his offer is not accepted, he will return to a foreign country, from which he will send a copy of his letter to Chief Donahue. He says that if he would request the city and Mr. Cudahy to withdraw the rewards offered for Crowe with the provision that he surrender himself. He said that if they would do this, he would be given all the advantage the law provided.

Edward A. Cudahy said tonight: "I am opposed to the return of Crowe. It is only a matter of time when he will be apprehended. However, I shall withdraw the reward offered for his apprehension and conviction."

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 13.—Several months ago a prominent attorney of this city, who had formerly been a member of the bar, received a draft from Crowe from South Africa for legal services rendered.

RANCHER SHOT POACHER. Killed One Boy and Fatally Wounded Two Others Near Leadville.

LEADVILLE, Colo., Oct. 13.—The town is wild with excitement tonight over the killing of one boy and the fatally wounding of two others this afternoon by Jesse Sherman, a prominent ranchman residing near Leadville, and who, with his family, are among the most respected residents of the place. He caught a crowd of boys supposedly poaching on his rabbit preserve, and, jumping from his buggy, he started after them with a heavily loaded shotgun. One of the boys, Sherman claims it was accidentally discharged while he was running. Ed Dorrington, 16 years of age, was instantly killed; Earl King, 17, is shot through the right lung and is dying, and James Conroy, 14 years, is shot through the back and hips. Sherman immediately brought the wounded boys to town and then gave himself up. He has been arrested on the charge of murder. All of the boys were running at the time of the shooting, and can give no account of it, excepting to say that he ordered them to halt. Mr. Sherman and his family were preparing to go abroad, expecting to leave here tomorrow. Conroy made a statement tonight, to the effect that Sherman had threatened them before the shot was fired, but as he was running at the time he could not say how the shooting was done.

Charged With Fifty Burglaries. BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Herbert S. Dudley, 24 years old; Annie Dudley, his wife, Albert Reynolds, James Reynolds, and O. O. says he is a salesman by occupation, and Frank B. Gordon, 20 years old, of Utica, N. Y., are under arrest here. The men charged with nearly 50 burglaries in the woman's wardrobe of stolen property. It is estimated that the amount of stolen property recovered will reach $500, and that the total value of the plunder is between $300 and $10,000.

Rangers and Outlaws Fought. BISBEE, Ariz., Oct. 13.—A telegram from Hunt Mossman, captain of the rangers, camped at Nacon, says a fight had occurred between a gang of outlaws and rangers on Black River, Graham County. One ranger was killed and another wounded. The outlaws escaped, coming south. Four rangers left Nacon last night to intercept them.

Illinois Bank Robbed. CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The Bank of Marquette, at Potomac, a village 20 miles east of Chicago, was entered by robbers early this morning. The robbers carried off $100,000 in currency and silver taken.

Reason for It and Unreason of It. Aurora Borealis. Prices of commodities are rising, rents are going up, and in all lines high prices are reigning, but that of labor. When Portland was notified that milk would hereafter be $2 per month for a daily quart, the workmen considered that the prospect of the period crossed the increased demand, but at the same time wondered at a system that did not benefit them as well. The reason for this is that there is more competition in the labor market in the other markets. When the laboring man is properly and proportionately compensated, the system will be perfect. And it is so now. The fault rests with the producers and employers, who are too grasping to accord justice. The government protects all in life and property, but cannot be expected by reason-

THE FLEET OF SEALERS

CATCHES MADE BY VESSELS IN BEHRING SEA.

Wreckage From the Manchester Was Found on a South Pacific Atoll—All Hands Probably Lost.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 13.—With the return of the steamer Queen City from the west coast, the first news of the Behring Sea fleet was received in Victoria. The schooner Florence M. Smith, Captain H. Balcom, and Anoka, Captain A. McDougall, have reached the coast. No accidents are reported other than the fact that two Indian hunters of the steamer schooner Geneva, belonging to Clayquot, are missing under peculiar circumstances, and no seizures have occurred. The highest catch reported is that of the schooner

Domestic and Foreign Ports. ASTORIA, Oct. 13.—Sailed at 11:30 P. M. British ship Samson, for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders; British bark Falls of Halladay, for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders; and schooner Lena Sweeney, for San Francisco. Left up at 1 P. M. French bark Marchal Davout. Condition of the bar at 5:30 P. M., smooth; wind, southwest; weather, hazy. New York, Oct. 13.—Arrived—Bohemian, from Liverpool; Celtic, from Liverpool;

the little City of Silverton is yearning for a cement sidewalk, and Homer Davenport is going to satisfy the longing. He has agreed to give a series of illustrated lectures on architecture, drawing pictures and telling the public how the thing is done. It is not guaranteed, however, that the spectator will be qualified to take Davenport's job away from him after hearing the lectures. Along this line an admirer once asked a friend of Davenport's wherein lay his success, and the friend told a story: "A student once asked a famous painter with what he mixed his colors to get such splendid effects. The artist looked at his questioner a moment, and replied: 'With brains, sir; with brains.'"

But to return to Silverton's yearning and Davenport's entertainment. The attraction was booked to appear at Albany, Saturday night, and when the cartoonist arrived the opera-house was crowded. Before beginning his talk on caricaturing, Mr. Davenport made a significant and impressive declaration, that was uttered with an earnestness that carried the weight of absolute sincerity in every word. Stepping to the front of the stage, he said:

"My friends, much has been said and intimated that cartoons were largely responsible for the assassination of the late President McKinley. I want to say to you that if I, for one moment, thought that any picture ever drawn by me had in the slightest degree, directly or indirectly, been responsible for our National loss, I would throw down my pencil, and never draw another line."

The audience not only believed him, but showed it by demonstrative and prolonged applause. Mr. Davenport then proceeded with his lecture, he outlined the growth and development of caricature, and commented upon its use and abuse, while talking his pencil was busy, and one by one the well-known men of America and Europe were drawn in view of the audience. Interspersed with his serious statements were interesting reminiscences of interviews with the famous men of politics, and stories of incidents that were intimately connected with the cartoons. He related that two Virginia girls once asked the doorkeeper of the Senate to point out Senator Hanna. He did so, but the girls shook their heads.

"Certainly not," Senator Hanna has dollar marks on his clothes," one of them asserted. It developed subsequently that they had come all the way from Virginia to see the man with the dollar marks on his clothes. In every way, the lecture was successful, and Portland will devote his attention to the free bath fund; and will lecture here to aid in raising funds for that purpose.

Florence M. Smith, which brought down a catch of 640 skins. She left Behring Sea September 24, and was becalmed for four days of fine sealing weather, which Captain Balcom thinks the majority of the vessels may have been able to take advantage of, before she sailed for Victoria on the 28th. The schooner Anoka had a total catch of 355 skins for the season. The catches reported by the Florence M. Smith were as follows:

Zillah May, spoken September 28 with 438 skins, which, added to the 228 taken by her on the coast, gives her a total of 664 for the season; Sable Turret, spoken September 24 with 365, making 475 for the season; Penelope, spoken September 21 with 450, making a total of 895 for the season; Otto, spoken September 19 with 596, making a total of 887 for the season; Triumph, spoken September 19 with 400, making a total of 609 for the season; Beatrice, spoken September 21, 215, making a total of 429 for the season; Sable Turret, spoken September 21 with 377, making a total of 294 for the season; Annie E. Paint, spoken September 30 with 600, making a total of 602 for the season; Victoria, spoken September 24 with 280, making 420 for the season; Enterprise, spoken September 22 with 200, making 442 for the season, and the Anoka with 338, which, with her skins taken off the coast added, makes a total for the season of 475 skins.

The two Indian hunters lost from the schooner Geneva, who were shipped from Clayquot, went on board a broken-down American steamer, according to the story told by their fellow-hunters. They secured three bottles of whiskey on the steamer, and when last seen were leaving her. Whether they returned on board the vessel or were swamped in their boat was not learned.

A TALE OF THE SEA. Evidence of the Wrecking of the Ship Manchester in the South Pacific. TACOMA, Oct. 13.—The steamer Glenroy brings news from Hong Kong that wreckage has been found on Bikaryland, a small uninhabited atoll of the Marshall group, which proves that the British ship Manchester came to grief there. The Manchester, Captain F. Clement, left New York loaded with kerosene shipped by the Standard Oil Company, just one year ago. Her destination was Yokohama, but the ship has not since been seen, shipping men agreeing that she must have been lost in a typhoon. Footprints of all kinds were marked on the sand, together with other signs, make it certain that Captain Clement, his wife, two children and crew had been on the island and unable to find water, had pushed off again. Plainly marked in the sand were footprints of a woman and children.

The body of one sailor was found in a scrubby growth of trees near shore. There were also found bodies of birds, which had been sucked of their blood. As no signs have since been seen of Captain

BAD WEEK IN GERMANY. Hopes Which Many Had Begun to Cherish Proved Deceptive. BERLIN, Oct. 13.—"After the brief revival which marked the previous week," begins the Frankfurter Zeitung's Bourse report, "there followed last week complete depression and despondency, worse than has been thought possible. The hopes which many had begun to cherish again proved deceptive. Neither in industry nor anywhere else was the slightest trace of permanent improvement perceptible. On the contrary, such striking bad news came that there is absolutely no cause for wonder that universal despondency is increasing."

The bad news referred to was the reduction of dividends or the passing of the same by many first-class companies in the iron trade. Such instances are multiplying. Coal shares were weak on the arrival of American anthracite in Hamburg, and the prospect of lower coal prices depressed shares. A large Berlin dealer went to New York a few days ago, intending to order from 100,000 to 200,000 tons of anthracite coal. Trans-Atlantic securities were generally neglected, with the exception of Canadians and Northern Pacifics. Canadians closed at 106.37, Northern Pacifics at 85.

The production last year was 6,069,000,000 tons. The improvement in the sugar market continues.

The rate of discount outside the Bank of England last week did not go above 2 per cent, and setting day, thanks to generous government dividend distributions, cases without strain. Do you want it? All that dark, rich color your hair used to have? Easy enough, so long as you can buy Ayer's Hair Vigor. It always restores color to gray hair. It stops falling of the hair, too, and sometimes makes it grow very long and heavy.

There was but little interest in the fluctuations of the Turkish option, which was recently created there on a charge of swindling, and that an investigation disclosed the fact that he had received instructions from the Ottoman Minister of War to organize a rising of the Arabs in South Algeria in the event of the rupture of diplomatic relations between France and Turkey, resulting in a declaration of war.
