GIANT PUCHSIA PLANT.-The largest and most magnificent fuchsia plant in this city, and probably in the state, is to be seen in the garden of Robert Foulkes, at 821 Front street. It springs from a sing's stem some three inches in diameter, but loon man called on the merchant who had pawned the case, and told him that it had been taken away from his saloon, and demanded pay for the drinks taken on it. The merchant was astonished, and said he was responsible for the case and would hold the saloon man responsible for the full value of it. Loui left the city that evening and the bar-keeper is wondering who is going to settle his bill. The friendship between him and the merchant is broken, and it is hard to tell who the joke is on.

Children's Home Tea.—The Ladies' divides into three at the surface of the ground. The top is seven feet in height and is 26 feet in circumference, and is loaded with hundreds of beautiful flow-ers in every stage of development, while the ground beneath is carpeted with fallen blossoms. The plant would have been much higher and broader but for the fact it has to be put in the cellar every Winter and the limbs have to be trimmed off. The height has to be reduced so that it can stand under the floor above. A rather remarkable thing is that when the plant is dug up at the beginning of Winter, it is in full foliage and still leaded with blossoms. Uprooting almost any plant in this condition would prove fatal, but the fuschia takes it all as a matter of course, and soon after it is housed the leaves and flowers fade and drop off and the plant goes to the Home.

DEATH OF MRS. L. BLUMAUER.—Mrs.

DESK ROOM AND DESK for rent in finely sleep. As soon as it feels the breath of Spring, it begins to put forth tender shoots in profusion, as a hint that it wants to get out doors. When it is planted out, it starts in growing and "blowing" as if to make up for lost time, Foulkes has several other varieties of fuchsia in his garden, one of which produces beautiful biossoms eight inches in length from the end of the stem to the end of the petals. Mr. Foulkes is always pleased to furnish slips from his giant fuchela to all who want them. He also has a number of fine rose bushes, which are at present producing more roses than are usual at this season.

DECIDIOUS TREES HAVE NO CHANCE HERE.—Visitors to this section at this season miss the forests of deciduous trees Knights of Pythlas, are rooms 406, 410, so common all over the Eastern and Mid-dle States, which "In their scarlet and their orange liveries clad," add such a wealth of color to the landscape during the Fall. The hills west of the city, which were some years ago cleared of the dense fir forests which clothed them, are now covered with a young growth of soft maple, dogwood, vine maple, hazel, alder and other deciduous trees. Their foliage is as brilliant as that of any Eastern forests, showing every hue or red, brown and yellow, and it looks as if in a few years these hills would be covered with a forest of the deciduous trees mentioned. A close examination, however, shows that young fir trees are springing up thickly among these decid-uous trees and are outgrowing and overtopping them. So fast and thrifty do these fir trees grow that they will soon evershadow and bury out of sight their deciduous rivals, and if nature is allowed to take its course, in a few years the hills will present the dark somber appearance of an evergreen forest, for the Douglas fir is the sturdlest tree in this region and no "hardwood trees" can prevail against it. Even in sections where the oak flourished and grew to maturity, fir trees have taken possession of the soil and have swamped and smothered out the oak.

nd smothered out the oaks, HAPPY COMMERCIAL TRAVELER.-L. H. Buddemer, commercial traveler in the plumbers' brass work line, was a very happy man Saturday as he started out on a trip with his little case of samples in his hand, so heavy as to convey the impression that it was filled with goldimpression that it was filled with gold-an impression that some householders impression that some householders ple hanging on the platforms, and so have imagine to be a correct one when they come to pay the plumber's bill. Some three months ago Mr. Buddemer accidentally cut a gash lengthwise on the inside of his forefinger on the rough edge of a up ever since. Blood poisoning and other fills followed his injury, and it has been necessary to lay open the finger and scrape the bone several times, an oper-ation nearly as painful as being tickled to death. He is glad that it is all over with, and vows never to bandle a tin pail again as long as he lives. In view of the present price of lard, the crop of sore fingers from handling lard buckets is not likely to be large this season.

RAINS HAVE EXCREASED DAIRY OUTPUT.

The long dry spell during the Summer, which injured the late crop of potatoes, also dried up the pastures, and caused a falling off in the output of dairies, where a supply of green food had not been stored in siles against such an emergency. The generous showers of a week or two ago gave the grass a fresh start, and grow luxuriantly, especially in river bottoms and low grounds. Now it is as good as it usually is in June, and the produc-tion of butter is increasing. Dairymen are in hopes that it may not be necessary to import any more Eastern butter than the few carloads which have come in. the few carloads which have come in. They say there should be no trouble about producing all the butter required here, and hope before long to be exporting butter regularly. This is all very well as far as 't goes, but when 65 cents is charged for a roll of butter, one might be justified in hoping that something may be done to reduce the price.

PHEASANT "NOT" FOR SALE."—A hand-some pair of cook pheasants.

some pair of cock pheasants hanging in a down-town market Saturday, attracted much attention from persons, many of whom stopped to examine the beautiful plumage of the birds and to inquire if they were for sale. The market man said they were only to be looked at, and pointed to a card attached to the birds on which was written "not for sale." Sexshould be named "Oregon" is the sug-gestion recently made by Superintendent H. E. Dosch, of the Oregon Pan-Ameri-can Exposition exhibit. The following let-ter from Mr. Dosch appeared in a Buffalo on which was written "not for sale." Sev-eral remarked that it was so long since they had eaten pheasant that they had forgotten what they tasted like. The dealer said that the law allowed pheas-ants to be sold in the markets from the 15th to the last of November, but it was doubtful whether there would be any left

POOR MEN'S NIGHT SHELTER. The Salwation Army has leased the lower floor of the brick building, 48 and 50 North Second street, between Davis and Couch, which they are fitting up for a Poor Men's Night Shelter, in which they expect to take care of a number of poor, unfortunate men during the Winter months. They will provide between 40 and 50 beds, so that the poor unfortunates will not have to resort to places of a questionable character in order to be procted from the elements, and will thus brought under good influences.

Guinea Pig Is No Hog.—A High Schoot pupil writes that he saw Guinea pigs classed as "swine" in The Oregonian, and asks if this was correct. The use of the word "swine" to indicate Guinea pigs, was probably intended as a play upon words. The Guinea pig is a rodent, or grawing animal, of which class there are many species, but is is no relation to the hog. It cannot with any more pro-priety be classed among the swine than a prairie dog among the canines, or a saw-horse among the equines.

He was in such a hurry to get back to his hotel to make out the order to send to his firm that he left his sample-case in the store. The proprietor at once proceeded to call in half a dozen friends, and they proceeded to a saloon across the street, where they put up the sample-case for drinks and cigars for the crowd. CROWDING CAR PLATFORMS

'An Indignant Old Woman" Protests

Against This Practice.

A person who signs herself "An Indignant Old Woman" writes rather a lengthy epistle to The Oregonian, complaining about people who stand on the rear platforms of street cars, in the way of people getting on or off. She says the cult for an elderly person to get up on the steps; that there is a handle there with which to assist themselves and to steady them as they go into the car, but very often, in fact almost always, there is some person, sometimes a boy, sometimes a man, smoking, standing in the way and preventing any one from using this handle. This obliges women, old and young, to crowd around them, and be thrown back against other persons standing on the platform by the car starting. This is only a very brief synopsis of the letter, which includes a denunclation of the managers of the street rail-

stop to such infringement on the

of the public, and such violation of all the laws of politeness and decency is to educate the people. Parents and teachers should inculcate in the young principles which would prevent them from making soors of themselves. After all, if every one would do what was right and proper, be honest pay their debts-in short, obey the golden rule, this world would be almost too good to live in, and lawyers and many others could not make a living. If anything can be done to abate the nuisance complained of by the "Indignant Old Woman," it can be most speedily and easily brought about by the women combining and appealing to the railway companies or the city authorities.

Last Appearance of War-Whooping Indians - Wonderful Polyscope Every Evening This Week.

Today has been designated as Wood-men's day at the Carnival, and members of that order will throng the Exposition building and Multnomah field. The uniformed teams will have their competitive drills on the field in the evening.

The Portland Union Degree Camp, with a membership of 800, which meets Mon-day night, will meet half an hour earlier and close at 8 P. M., so that all the members can join in the parade. The lipe of march has not been agreed upon as yet, but it is expected that the choice will be Washington to Sixth or Third, thence to Morrison, out Morrison to Carnival. Final arrangements will be made today. The prominent members say that while the time for notifying and organizing the members was short nevertheless they feel confident that enough will turn out to make Woodmen's night the banner night of the Carnival. Several outside camps will be represented in the parade and Kentucky's" great popularity. It is a huwill be represented in the parade, and prizes will be given for the horns that make the most noise, Members of the several camps will as-semble at Woodmen's Hall at 8 o'clock who the joke is on.

CHILDREN'S HOME TEA.—The Ladies' Relief Society will give a tea at the Children's Home, Corbett street, South

Last Night of the Indians. Tonight the people will have their last chance to hear the wild war whoops of the Klickitats, Wascos and Yakimas, as they reverberate over Multnomah Field. These Indians are a picturesque lot in their savage finery, and their cayuses are swift racers and runners. Tonight they will give their stirring farewell exhibition yell, and start early Tuesday morning for their primitive homes up the Columbia. Hermann will also make his great ride for life every afternoon and evening.

The Polyscope. Carnival visitors will see the wonderful polyscope every evening in the Music Hall, and not only will the scenes at the last speech of President McKinley be reproduced, but his funeral processions at Buffalo, Washington and Canton will be realistically shown. President Roosevelt, Admiral Dewey, General Miles and others will appear in the moving pictures.

Wedding Bells. The public wedding next Thursday night is going to be the event of the fair, and already the presents are piling up. They will comprise two handsome sets of bedroom furniture, two fine stoves, two pairs of blankets and two comfor-ters, two cases of canned fruits, two cases of coffee, teas and spices, a private box for each couple at Cordray's Thea-ter, a round-trip to The Dalles in the bridal apartment of the Balley Gatzert, and a trip to Vancouver on the Portland Railway Company's swift trolley cars, besides numerous other costly gifts that will be presented as surprises.

Last Week of Fair. The Carnival will close Saturday night, after a most successful run, and the mem-bers of the Carnival committee have every reason to congratulate themselves on the results of their untiring efforts. While the field features will be kept up to the highest notch, the interior at-tractions will this week be made more attractive than ever. The Viradeias, world-renowned gymnasts, will make their first appearance tonight, and the way companies and the conductors on the cars, for allowing the abuse to con-tinue, and an appeal is made to The Oregonian to help remedy the evil. The complaint is a just one, but there appears to be no way of preventing the abuse and nulsance complained of. The wonderful warbiers from the Tyrol, the Geisler-Hirschhom Yodiers, will appear afternoon and evening to sing in their picturesque costumes. All Zada -will amuse and mystify the sudiences, and DeCaprio's full military band will give grand concerts in the music hall, with the Third Regiment band in the east and west wings.

Battle Night Thursday. It looks like war to see the great preparations for the battle on Multno Feld next Thursday evening. Both pa crowd the platforms when the body of the car is empty. Editor Buffalo Expresa: The topic of new names for streets being discussed now and the suggestion made in the Express that they be named after the various states, kindly permit me to present the claim of Oregon as a candidate for the honor. Oregon is represented in six buildings at the Pan-American Exposition, coming 3300 miles to help make it a success. Oregon has more comprehensive exhibits than any other state; Oregon's exhibits were the only ones ready for visitors in all the six departments on opening day; Oregon's exhibits have received more favorable notices from the press than any other state, and by reason of which advertised this exposition and Buffalo more than any other state, bringing many visitors which, perhape, would not have come otherwise; Oregon has done everything in its power to make the Pan-American Exposition at success, and we feel that in reciprocation it would be a very graceful act on the part of Buffalo to name one of its streets Oregon.

RANSOM OF MISS STONE.

RANSOM OF MISS STONE.

Crusty Bachelor Says Let Her Stay and Convert Her Captors.

A party of some half dozen persons, while on their way home from church yesterday got into a discussion of the case of Miss Stone, the missionary who is held for ransom by the terrible Turks, a broad to convert. Much sympathy for the unfortunate captive was expressed by of subscribing to the fund for securing her release was brought up. All were willing to subscribe according to their means, except one, who said he would give nothing. When pressed for his reagive nothing. When pressed for his rea-sons, he said he was not in favor of sending missionaries among the Turks and other Mohammedan peoples. They had a religion which suited them, and in which they were as zealous as the Christians in theirs. Another thing was that the brigands seemed to prize Miss Stone so highly that she might safely be left with them to carry out the objects of her mis-

She appears to have fallen in with the wickedest and most unregenerate of the inhabitants, bad men from the head waters, as it were, just the people who stand in need of her teaching, and she now has the opportunity of her life before her. The brigands could kill her, but they her. The brigands could kill her, but they won't, and naturally they cannot stop her from teaching if they would. Cultured Christian people get too easily excited over incidents like the capture of Miss Stone, which, after all, is only an incident natural to missionary work, a pany, 265 Third. It would be far better to expend the money sub-ecribed to ransom Miss Stone in sending more missionaries into the field and to allow her to remain with her captors, who prize her so highly, until she either

It is hardly necessary to state that the utterer of these sentiments is an old bachelor and one of the crustlest of the COMING ATTRACTIONS.

'In Old Kentucky" at the Marquam Tonight.

Tonight at the Marquam Grand Theater 'In Old Kentucky" will open dis engage. ment of three nights. Its amazing popularity has often been the subject of comment, and has been ascribed to various causes. The spirited horse race, the rol-licking pickaninnies, the quaint character types, the wholesome humor, the sensa-tional incidents, have in their turn been made responsible for the great success the play has achieved. Everything necessary to a realistic production of a play which aims to portray Kentucky life is provided. There are handsome women man play, pulsating with life. This is its ninth season, and it will be seen here with new scenery and the strongest cast it has ever had,

"A Homespun Henrt" at Cordray's. Hal Reid's latest and best play, "A Homespun Heart," will be presented at Cordray's tonight by a strong company headed by Alice Marble, well known as one of the best character actors on the stage.

"A Homespun Heart" is written in Mr. Reid's happiest vein and tells the story of the machinations of an adventuress, who by the aid of a miserly old moneylender conspires to ruin the home and happiness of Marion Markoe, a simple, lovable farmer's daughter. The scenes are laid in a small village in Central Ohio, thereby affording opportunity for the introduction of characteristic scenery and effects. The company is one of excel-lence, containing such well-known names as Page Spencer, A. W. Ellis, Frank K. Wallace, C. C. Rowley, Miss Helen Cok-tel, Alice Marble, Helen Bereeford, Baby Marie.

Stuart Robson as "Bertle the Lamb." Stuart Robson's appearance as Bertle the Lamb in "The Henrietta;" at the Mar-quam Grand Theater Friday night, October 18, and Saturday matinee (only) is an announcement of genuine pleasure. No character in modern drama is more genial or laughter-compelling than Mr. Robson's Bertie the Lamb. The eccentric vagaries of this glddy son of a millionaire, por-trayed as only the peculiarities of the Robsonian methods could do, has made of it a character that will always be wel-come to amusement-lovers. Bertie the Lamb has taken its place beside the noted creations of American comedians-the Lord Dundreary of Sothern, the Bardwell Sloate of Florence, Colonel Mulberry Sellers of John T. Raymond and the Rip of Joseph Jefferson. Mr. Robson has made a great production of "The Henrietta." The play is newly and magnificently staged. The company contains such well-known names as Maclyn Arbuckle, Russ Whytal, Dorothy Rossmore, Estelle Carter, Clifford Leigh, Charles A. Lane, Mary Kealty, Laura Thompson, Roy Atwell, Charles Gilbert, Joseph P. Keefe and

THE WORLD MOVES

Knowledge receives higher recogknowledge receives higher recognition every year, and pretenders are discredited. The skilled optician is now recognized as the only authority to whom the eye can be safely trusted, while spectacle fakers and merchants who carry glasses as a side line, for profit only, are avoided. Permanent location and the testimony of patrons successfully treated also of patrons successfully treated also nent location and the testimony of patrons successfully treated also carries weight. The Portland Optical Institute during 16 years of continuous existence in Portland has never falled to correctly diagnose and accurately fit a single case of defective vision, which glasses could reach. This is our record.

HAIR WON'T FALL OUT If You Kill the Dandruff Germs With the New Treatment. John N. Fuller, a well-known citizen of Colfax, Wash., says: "I had dandruff so badly that it caked on my scalp. Her-picide completely cured me." George H. McWhirk, of Walla Walla, Wash., says; 'Herpicide completely cured me of a bad sase of dandruff of 30 years' standing. They took the only really sensible treatment, a remedy that destroys the dandruff germ-Newbro's Herpicide. Stop dandruff, hair won't fall out, but will grow naturally, luxuriantly. Allays itching instantly and makes hair glossy and soft as silk. At druggists. One bottle will convince any doubter of its merita.
