LONGSHOREMEN DEMAND RECOGNITION FROM STEVEDORES. Have Established Headquarters, From Which Men Must Be Employed—No Danger of Tie-Up.

The hitch in the relations between the general longshore workers and the stevedores on the waterfront was unchanged yesterday. No one admits that a strike is in progress nor that there is any misunderstanding. It is said by each side that the other is quite well aware of the precise situation and of the intentions of the opposition.

As to the statement that I am allied with the San Francisco stevedores, that is untrue. I never operated with them in any way, and any declaration to the contrary is a lie.

Some of the members of the union have been endeavoring to persuade nonunion workers in the harbor to stop work, but have not as yet met with much success.

As a citizen and taxpayer of this city, I desire to place myself on record regarding the 1901 Lewis and Clark Fair, and to state that I fully agree with the views of Mr. J. Frank Watson as to its inability to hold such an exposition.

The wages of 50 cents per hour, which were not exacted by a union, but given freely by the stevedores. He said: "The longshoremen feel that I consented to recognize their union. I recognize a union man? Of course I will; that is, when he works. I don't care whether he belongs to a union or not, but I do care what he does. If he attends to business, I will recognize him, and he may belong to all the unions on earth. But I reserve the right to hire what men I choose and where I choose. When I need men I will pick them out myself, and nobody shall do it for me. I am expected to send down to the union for men, and the union will select them. This is not business, and I shall not consent to it. So long as I am engaged in loading ships I shall employ the most efficient men I can find, and I don't care whether they are members of the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Pythias or the Longshoremen's Union. If any organization should demand that I hire only its members, I should resign the demand, just as I am doing this.

"The union threatens to go into the stevedoring business. That is none of my affair, and I have nothing to say about it. I will say nothing to stop work, but the union does this it will not increase the amount of shipping, and it is not clear how the longshoremen will be benefited. No matter how many stevedores there may be, there is just so much business and so many men.

"As to the statement that I am allied with the San Francisco stevedores, that is untrue. I never operated with them in any way, and any declaration to the contrary is a lie.

BROOKLYN SEWER SYSTEM

IT WILL AGAIN BE DISCUSSED AT A SUB-BOARD MEETING. The Brooklyn Sub-Board of Trade has changed the time and place of meeting to Thursday night and to Webster engine house on Fowell and East Eighteenth streets. The first meeting at the new place will be held tomorrow evening, when the proposed Brooklyn sewer system will again come up for discussion. It was considered one evening by the board, and then further consideration was deferred one month. There is no more light to throw on the probable cost of the system than was shed from the reports at the last meeting.

The City Engineer has said that he would have the district surveyed this Fall and the extent of the territory as well as the routes of the large conduit determined and the branches located within several months, but it would take a long time to prepare full plans and details, on were taken from them and cultures made. From the cultures other worms were incuolated, and the disease was reproduced with the same results. The investigation led to a fixed conviction that the disease was epidemic in the cutworm world, and the non-appearance of the pest in this season shows how fatal it was. Professor Fernald, who made the investigation, believes that the disease was contracted by something that the worms ate, as in every case the digestive organs were involved. Professor Fernald still has a supply of the fatal germs on hand ready to dose any stray cutworm that happens around.

ADVICE TO PORTLAND. Mining Stock Exchange Should Investigate Sumpter District. Correspondence of Baker City Democrat. Sumpter.—Now that the Portland Mining Exchange has started doing business, this is a good time to call the attention of the management to the fact that a thorough investigation of the Sumpter mining district would prove of inestimable benefit to the exchange. A competent mineralogist sent here in the interest of the board could do more than anything else to demonstrate to mining investors the possibilities that are lying right at Portland's doors. It is said the mines of Nevada made San Francisco the city and commercial center she is today, and created two-thirds of her millionaires. There is no reason why Portland should not be benefited fully as much as San Francisco by her mines. The establishment and success of a mining exchange depends much upon the stability and character of the securities dealt in. If bona fide investments in bona fide properties are constantly presented; if the wild-cat propositions are eliminated and prevented from being dealt in on the floors of the exchange, then will its success be assured.

Careful attention should be paid to the character of the stock listed, and nothing but first-class securities or properties with first-class possibilities, should be handled by the patrons of the exchange. More interest in mining matters should be taken by Portland people. The success of these opportunities, investment capital in them and make them pay big interest on the original investment. Unless interest is aroused in good paying securities a mining exchange can never hope to succeed; therefore, every effort must be put forth to handle this class of stock and prove to the public that the opportunities for gain in mining securities are as many as in any other calling.

GOOD COFFEE MAKER. Experience With the Berry. "I have gained twenty-five pounds since I left off coffee and began drinking Postum Food Coffee in its place. "I had become very thin in flesh and suffered tortures with heartburn, was a nervous wreck with headache practically all the time until one dreadful day when the good doctor told me I must quit drinking coffee, as he had nothing left to try to relieve me. "I could not drink tea and had tried everything else, even Postum, but put it by at the first trial, because it was tasteless. "Forced to eat again, I determined to see if it could not be made palatable and found at once that when I followed directions and boiled it long enough, that I not only liked it but gave it to my husband for several days without his finding it out. I have the name of making splendid coffee, and we always used the best, but of late I have given Postum to guests many times in place of coffee and have never been detected yet. "Our four children have not drank coffee for three years, and all have gained health and flesh since using Postum. One son, who was always sick, has been greatly benefited by its use, and as above stated, I have gained twenty-five pounds since taking up Postum. I am healthier today than I have been for years and give Postum all the credit. Please do not use my name in public. "This is my home in Burlington, Iowa, and the name will be furnished by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., to those interested.
