

KITCHENER WANTS MEN

URGENT DEMAND WIRE TO THE ENGLISH WAR OFFICE.

Call is for Trained Mounted Soldiers—Hurons of Dewet's Death Discarded.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Daily Express learns that Lord Kitchener has wired an urgent demand to the War Office for more trained mounted men.

British Accused of Brutality.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A London Times special to the New York Times says: Referring to the capture of Anglophobia in Vienna, a correspondent in the Austrian Capital quotes the especially influential Catholic organ, the Vaterland, which publishes an article headed: "Lord Kitchener as a Hangman." It says the Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in South Africa, in despite of being able to conquer the Boers by honest war, has for a long time had recourse to brutality. His bloodthirstiness was formerly restrained by the British Government, but it now appears that a free hand has been given to him.

Martial Law Regulations.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 21.—The regulations of martial law, which have just been published, provide that the ordinary law shall hold good as far as possible with necessary restrictions regarding the movement of persons, the carrying of arms, the possession of firearms and explosives, etc. Letters and telegrams are subject to censorship. The regulations are administered by the civil authorities.

Discredit Rumors of Dewet's Death.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 21.—The former residents of the Transvaal who are now in this city entirely discredit the rumors of the death of General Dewet, emanating from Durban, Natal.

TO OVERTHROW CABINET.

Movement inaugurated by Ito's Party in Japan.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 21.—The Marquis Ito's party has initiated a strong movement to overthrow the Cabinet. Important political developments are anticipated.

Not Sanctioned by Ito.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—This is very surprising news, said K. Tzedrak, ex-Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs of Japan at the headquarters of Marquis Ito at the Arlington Hotel, when advised by the press dispatch from Yokohama, stating that Marquis Ito's party has initiated a strong movement to overthrow the Japanese Cabinet. "I can say authoritatively," he continued, "that the movement has not the sanction of the Marquis himself, and he has no desire to witness the downfall of the present Cabinet.

WHY FRANCE DELAYS.

Turkey Might Be Disrupted Were Lorraino Claim to Be Pressed.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The fact that France has not yet employed coercive measures to enforce a settlement of the Lorraino claim by Turkey is due to the unsettled condition of the interior of the country. It is feared that such action might bring about the disintegration of the Empire. The misgovernment of Macedonia, the excesses committed in Armenia, and the dissatisfaction in the island of Crete have reached such a point as to constitute a menace to the peace of the Balkans. The Russian and French are now discussing the basis of an understanding for joint representation to the Porte, and for eventually obliging the Sultan not only to carry out the clauses of the treaty of Berlin, relating to Macedonia and Armenia, but to give guarantees for further reforms and the settlement of numerous pending questions.

The Bagdad Railway.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A London Times special to the New York Times says: The Constantinople correspondent of the Times says the discussion regarding the Bagdad Railway is far from being brought to a conclusion. The diplomatic guarantees occasion difficulties. The statement that the Porte has offered to concede the concession to a company of purely pecuniary facilities is altogether erroneous. Doubtless, however, the Germans would lend financial assistance if the Porte grants all they ask, including the Koweit extension, would expedite the conclusion of the concession.

Public Favors Santos-Dumont.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The question whether Santos-Dumont technically won the Deutsch prize arouse the keenest interest in sporting circles, and is eagerly discussed today by the leading Parisian newspapers. With the exception of the Matin, which supports the contention of the Marquis de Dion that Santos-Dumont did not accomplish the course within the time limit of 30 minutes, all the papers, including the Debats and the Siecle, hold that Santos-Dumont won within the time limit prescribed by the conditions. This is also the opinion of Baron de Zupin, the president of the Automobile Club, who is recognized as an unquestionable authority on such matters, says the Tribune's Paris representative. Popular feeling meanwhile is running high in favor of Santos-Dumont and considerable indignation is expressed against the members of the technical committee, who are accused of submitting to a leading enthusiastic amateur balloonist, who, although by no means a millionaire, has expended 400,000 francs and risked his life 25 times to win the Deutsch prize.

The Queen Victoria Memorial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—In a fortnight's time the public will be able to inspect the plans and models of the Queen Victoria memorial to be placed in St. James Park, says the Tribune's London correspondent. In view of the criticisms and suggestions which have been passed with regard to the plans since they were privately exhibited at the Foreign Office, some alterations, principally in the nature of modifications, have taken place. A sketch of

LEAVE FOR OCEAN ENGLAND

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF YORK START ON THEIR HOME VOYAGE.

Halifax Made Their Departure the Occasion of a Hearty Demonstration—Weather Disagreeable.

HALIFAX, Oct. 21.—The departure of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York from Halifax today was made the occasion of a hearty demonstration to their royal highnesses. It is estimated that 50,000 visitors to the city lined the wharves and the quay.

Anniversary of Battle of Trafalgar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—This is the 96th anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar, and the Nelson monument in Trafalgar Square, London, is being illuminated. The monument is the work of the sculptor, Sir Richard Westmacott. The monument is the work of the sculptor, Sir Richard Westmacott. The monument is the work of the sculptor, Sir Richard Westmacott.

Robbery on the Ophir.

Duke of Teck Lost a Gold Watch He Prized Highly.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 21.—A sensation has been caused here by the discovery that a robbery was perpetrated yesterday on board the royal yacht Ophir. The best detectives in Canada have been working for the past 24 hours on what is proving to be a very puzzling case.

Manchurian Convention.

As Near as Can Be Learned It Is Very Favorable to China.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A summary of the Manchurian convention which Li Hung Chang and M. Lessar, Russian Minister at Peking, are negotiating, was telegraphed by the Associated Press to the Standard. According to this, Russia agrees to return to China the provinces of Liao Ting, Kiro and Heilungkiang, north of the Wugary River, to withdraw Russian troops from the Ting during the current year and from the other two provinces gradually within two years. China agrees to employ Russian officers in the Manchurian army.

Deaths by Plague.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Church Missionary Society at Canton has reported showing that the bubonic plague is ravaging Foo Chow and vicinity. Fifteen hundred cases of the disease are reported daily and in some districts the number of 1000 coffins have been carried out of the city gates each day.

Railroad Fined for Accident.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A Lima, Peru, dispatch says: The Government has fined the English Railway Company $250 on account of the accident which took place near Lima a few days ago, in which two persons were killed.

The Plague at Rio Janeiro.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondent says: There were two new cases of bubonic plague here Saturday. There were three new cases Sunday. At the hospital there are 52 plague patients.

Anglo-Saxon Review to End.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—It is announced that the publication of the Anglo-Saxon Review by the Anglo-Saxon Club, West (Lady Randolph Churchill), will cease with the present issue.

Minister Sampson at Panama.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A Panama dispatch says: United States Minister Sampson and his wife and daughter have arrived here.

Strikes at Singer Sewing Machine Works.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The effect of the strike at the Singer Sewing Machine Works, at Elizabethport, N. J., are becoming apparent. The strikers number 400, but there are three times that number idle because there are no machines for them to work on. Over 300 additional young women have just been laid off on this account. The Singer Company has served notice on the strikers that unless they accept individually at once and agree to be taken back they will never be allowed to return to work at the factory.

To Cure Cold One Day.

Take Laxative From Quinine. All Grocers refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 20c.

HE WAS WITH SCHLEY

at the air pumps, back of the engine. Hunly said he kept his hand on the throttle of the engine most of the time, and did not think it possible that the signal to stop or back would have been given without his knowledge.

Lieutenant Wells was then recalled and testified regarding the battle of July 3. He said he did not remember the ranges at which the Brooklyn fired, but thought 1100 yards was the shortest. He described the turn of the Brooklyn, and the chase after the Spanish ships. When the Spanish fleet was sighted, the Brooklyn was about 10,000 yards ahead of the Brooklyn, and for a time firing ceased. He said that he had received orders to get a quantity of rapid-fire ammunition. Owning to the character of the coast it was expected that the Brooklyn and Colon would come to close quarters. He was ordered to have this ammunition ready to use with the Colon, and give her a rapid fire when they got close together. He then described the chase and final surrender of the Colon. He said he had observed the Spanish fleet from the Brooklyn made her turn. At one time during the battle, he said, the Brooklyn seemed to be alone engaging three ships.

Lieutenant Wells Called.

When Lieutenant Wells finished his description of the battle the question of dispatches was taken up. A number of dispatches were shown to the witness, and he was asked as to their receipt by Commodore Schley. One was from Secretary Long to the American Consul at Kingston, dated Washington, May 28, stating that it must be delivered to Schley at once and informing him (Schley) that the United States Government would not permit him to remain at Santiago, and asking if he could not take possession of Guantanamo as a coaling station. The witness said that he had delivered this dispatch to Captain Cotton of the Harvard, dated Washington May 28, enclosing dispatches to Commodore Schley, telling him to hold on at all hazards, that the New York, the Brooklyn and the Albatross were on the way; also two dispatches from Secretary Long to the dispatch boat Harvard, dated Washington, May 30, one informing him that the command of the fleet had started to join him, and the other telling him that Bagua, 25 miles east of Santiago, had been reported as a good place to land, from which it would be easy to reach the Spanish fleet. The witness said that he had received on May 31, the cable of the New York, dated Washington, May 31, to the cable office at New Orleans, which was delivered to the next American war vessel to arrive and informing Commodore Schley that the most absolutely important thing to know now is whether the Spanish fleet is at Santiago, etc., which was shown the witness. He stated that it had been received by the Commodore May 30. The Colon had been discovered in the harbor of Santiago by Commodore Schley on the morning of May 29.

Mr. Raynor at this point exhibited a chart upon which there were notations regarding the soundings taken in the vicinity of Santiago by the Spanish fleet.

Mr. Raynor asked the witness if he had any other information in reference to the batteries at Santiago except that given on the map referred to. He stated the Commodore had received intelligence, embodying about the same facts as contained on the chart.

Schley a Brave Officer.

In reply to questions, Lieutenant Wells said he saw a great deal of Commodore Schley throughout the battle. During the bombardment of Santiago and the naval battle resulting in the destruction of the Spanish fleet, the Commodore, according to the witness, was "thoroughly brave and self-possessed on all occasions."

Mr. Hanna, who cross-examined the witness, exhibited a letter dated May 30, 1898, and written by Commodore Schley, which contained a reference to the dispatches that had been brought by the Dupont and giving a general account of the operations of the flying squadron. He said that this letter was probably the one to show that the No. 7 dispatch, known as the "Dear Schley" letter, was received on the 22d of May, and not on the 24th.

The witness said:

"In the question of this letter and the changed intendment in lead pencil on the back of one of the dispatches might have been received on the 22d. After the receipt of this letter Mr. Raynor addressed the court as follows: 'May I please the court, we admit we got it by the Hawk and the Maribhead, now the trouble is about the other No. 7. Where did the receipt of No. 7 go? We cannot admit we got it by the Iowa, but we agree upon three propositions: The Dupont carried No. 7, the Hawk No. 8, the Maribhead No. 9. We admit the receipt of this memorandum from Captain McCalla by the Hawk, but what we have not been able to find out and cannot admit is that the Iowa carried No. 7.'

Mr. Raynor turned to Admiral Schley and asked: 'You admit that, don't you, Admiral?'

"Certainly," he admitted.

"How do you account specifically for the absence of the receiving stamp imprint on the duplicate 'Dear Schley' dispatches?"

"It is possible that I jotted down that note on them when they were handed to me. Of course, it was the custom to put the receiving stamp on letters generally. It is possible that the Commodore retained them for some time."

"Dear Schley" Dispatch.

"It is possible, but not probable. He sometimes held dispatches in the cabin for a time, but he generally sent them down as soon as received."

In reply to questions the witness said he remembered absolutely nothing whatever about the receipt of dispatch No. 8 from Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley, saying that the Spanish fleet was probably at Santiago except what was revealed by the receiving stamp indorsements. He said that on this dispatch as on the "Dear Schley" letter there had at first been an indorsement showing its receipt on May 24, and subsequently another written over the first indorsement was taken on the 23d of that month.

"You permit me to say that I cannot be taken as a very clear indication as to when these papers were received," questioned Mr. Hanna, but the witness replied that they could be, saying: "Generally, if I should say yes, it does not intend to be infallible on that subject."

"But the 'Dear Schley' letter you say would seem to have been received on the 24th, is that right?"

"Yes, sir."

"So that, although actually received on the 23d it bore the indorsement of '26d' and '24th'?"

"The 24th, as I recollect."

"Mr. Hanna then put in as testimony dispatches Nos. 3 and 6, both from Admiral Schley, collecting a strict blockade at Cienfuegos and the letter enclosing the McCalla memorandum.

The witness was again questioned concerning the receipt of more than one copy of the McCalla memorandum, but he maintained that he remembered only one copy, at the same time admitting the possibility of the receipt of another. Asked

THE AMERICAN DANGER

GERMANS DISCUSSED IT IN CONNECTION WITH THE NEW TARIFF.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The Bundler der Industriellen held a general meeting today, at which was discussed the "American Danger" and the new German tariff. The general secretary of the bund, Dr. Wendlandt, described the American danger as grave, and said that Germany's manufacturers were frequently conscious of this danger. He quoted figures showing the extraordinary growth of exports from the United States to Germany, and the decline in the movement of goods in the opposite direction.

Germany's Best Policy Will Be to Wait for the Americans to Come to Us, and then to demand the removal of the worst industries and annoyances before we begin a discovery of trade secrets and this, he declared, would bring America to her senses, and counteract the boundless despotism of trusts.

He recommended the establishment of a central European union against the United States, and admitted the great difficulties in the way of this, declared that if it should prove impossible then a common agreement should be made to the effect that Germany should differ from those of other countries.

Other speakers warned their hearers against a tariff war against the United States, since that country can easily get the better of any such contest.

The bund adopted resolutions favoring the passage of the tariff bill after dropping the existing duties on iron and steel in order that Germany may have duties for the securing of advantageous trade relations with the United States. The bund also recommended that the plan for a central European union against the United States be further considered.

M'UGH RELEASED FROM JAIL.

Editor Was Accused an Enthusiastic Reception.

DUBLIN, Oct. 21.—Patrick A. McHugh, member of Parliament for the north division of Leitrim, who was sentenced April 25 to six months imprisonment for sedition, was released today. He was met at the prison by a large number of people, who were gathered to meet him. He was met at the prison by a large number of people, who were gathered to meet him.

Russia's American-Built Battleship.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Russia's latest American-built battleship, the Retevan, was put through her paces today over a 20-mile course in the Gulf of Finland. The ship, under natural draft, attained a speed over a 20-mile course, according to her builders, of 18.91 knots per hour, one one-hundredth of a knot over her contract speed of 18.8 knots. Her top speed probably will slightly increase this year.

Creton Question to Come Up Again.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The present opportunity will be taken to seek a fresh solution of the Creton question. Russia appears to have sounded the Emperor on the subject and adhesion of Austria and Italy is considered certain. It is believed that Lord Salisbury, who proposed the Armenian reforms of 1894, will support the projected action.

A Singular Suicide.

VIENNA, Oct. 21.—The failure of the Boden Credit Bank at Oudenburg, Hungary, led to a singular suicide. The banker, Schader, whose extensive defalcations caused the failure, made a confession to his wife, who handed him a pistol and advised him to kill himself, which he did.

Carnegie and Pauncote on List.

LONGBE, Oct. 21.—The American line steamer St. Louis, which will sail from Southampton on Saturday, Saturday next, will take among her passengers Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Lord Pauncote, the British Ambassador to the United States, and Lady Pauncote.

Smelter Likely to Be Reopened.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—The Argentine smelter will almost undoubtedly be opened and in operation within a year, says the Associated Press. The smelter is the property of the American Smelting and Refining Company. "We will recommend," he continued, "that the plant be thoroughly modernized, equipped with the latest machinery, and that its capacity will be greater than ever before. This will take at least six months. We are satisfied that the executive board of the company will probably be organized in the next few days. It is practically certain that the plant in Argentina will be running within a year."

Sheldon Praises Roosevelt.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 21.—The Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," said today regarding the action of President Roosevelt in inviting Booker T. Washington to dine with him: "I am glad to have a President who will do a thing that Mr. Roosevelt has done more to obliterate sectional prejudice and race hatred than a generation of writing and agitation could do."

Chicagoan Trust Proposed.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 21.—It is announced today that there is talk of forming a company to merge all the important plants in the country producing camera and photographic supplies, and that the plan is to incorporate the company in New Jersey on Thursday placing the capital stock at $25,000,000.

HE WAS WITH SCHLEY

at the air pumps, back of the engine. Hunly said he kept his hand on the throttle of the engine most of the time, and did not think it possible that the signal to stop or back would have been given without his knowledge.

Lieutenant Wells was then recalled and testified regarding the battle of July 3. He said he did not remember the ranges at which the Brooklyn fired, but thought 1100 yards was the shortest. He described the turn of the Brooklyn, and the chase after the Spanish ships. When the Spanish fleet was sighted, the Brooklyn was about 10,000 yards ahead of the Brooklyn, and for a time firing ceased. He said that he had received orders to get a quantity of rapid-fire ammunition. Owning to the character of the coast it was expected that the Brooklyn and Colon would come to close quarters. He was ordered to have this ammunition ready to use with the Colon, and give her a rapid fire when they got close together. He then described the chase and final surrender of the Colon. He said he had observed the Spanish fleet from the Brooklyn made her turn. At one time during the battle, he said, the Brooklyn seemed to be alone engaging three ships.

Lieutenant Wells Called.

When Lieutenant Wells finished his description of the battle the question of dispatches was taken up. A number of dispatches were shown to the witness, and he was asked as to their receipt by Commodore Schley. One was from Secretary Long to the American Consul at Kingston, dated Washington, May 28, stating that it must be delivered to Schley at once and informing him (Schley) that the United States Government would not permit him to remain at Santiago, and asking if he could not take possession of Guantanamo as a coaling station. The witness said that he had delivered this dispatch to Captain Cotton of the Harvard, dated Washington May 28, enclosing dispatches to Commodore Schley, telling him to hold on at all hazards, that the New York, the Brooklyn and the Albatross were on the way; also two dispatches from Secretary Long to the dispatch boat Harvard, dated Washington, May 30, one informing him that the command of the fleet had started to join him, and the other telling him that Bagua, 25 miles east of Santiago, had been reported as a good place to land, from which it would be easy to reach the Spanish fleet. The witness said that he had received on May 31, the cable of the New York, dated Washington, May 31, to the cable office at New Orleans, which was delivered to the next American war vessel to arrive and informing Commodore Schley that the most absolutely important thing to know now is whether the Spanish fleet is at Santiago, etc., which was shown the witness. He stated that it had been received by the Commodore May 30. The Colon had been discovered in the harbor of Santiago by Commodore Schley on the morning of May 29.

Mr. Raynor at this point exhibited a chart upon which there were notations regarding the soundings taken in the vicinity of Santiago by the Spanish fleet.

Mr. Raynor asked the witness if he had any other information in reference to the batteries at Santiago except that given on the map referred to. He stated the Commodore had received intelligence, embodying about the same facts as contained on the chart.

Schley a Brave Officer.

In reply to questions, Lieutenant Wells said he saw a great deal of Commodore Schley throughout the battle. During the bombardment of Santiago and the naval battle resulting in the destruction of the Spanish fleet, the Commodore, according to the witness, was "thoroughly brave and self-possessed on all occasions."

Mr. Hanna, who cross-examined the witness, exhibited a letter dated May 30, 1898, and written by Commodore Schley, which contained a reference to the dispatches that had been brought by the Dupont and giving a general account of the operations of the flying squadron. He said that this letter was probably the one to show that the No. 7 dispatch, known as the "Dear Schley" letter, was received on the 22d of May, and not on the 24th.

The witness said:

"In the question of this letter and the changed intendment in lead pencil on the back of one of the dispatches might have been received on the 22d. After the receipt of this letter Mr. Raynor addressed the court as follows: 'May I please the court, we admit we got it by the Hawk and the Maribhead, now the trouble is about the other No. 7. Where did the receipt of No. 7 go? We cannot admit we got it by the Iowa, but we agree upon three propositions: The Dupont carried No. 7, the Hawk No. 8, the Maribhead No. 9. We admit the receipt of this memorandum from Captain McCalla by the Hawk, but what we have not been able to find out and cannot admit is that the Iowa carried No. 7.'

Mr. Raynor turned to Admiral Schley and asked: 'You admit that, don't you, Admiral?'

"Certainly," he admitted.

"How do you account specifically for the absence of the receiving stamp imprint on the duplicate 'Dear Schley' dispatches?"

"It is possible that I jotted down that note on them when they were handed to me. Of course, it was the custom to put the receiving stamp on letters generally. It is possible that the Commodore retained them for some time."

"Dear Schley" Dispatch.

"It is possible, but not probable. He sometimes held dispatches in the cabin for a time, but he generally sent them down as soon as received."

In reply to questions the witness said he remembered absolutely nothing whatever about the receipt of dispatch No. 8 from Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley, saying that the Spanish fleet was probably at Santiago except what was revealed by the receiving stamp indorsements. He said that on this dispatch as on the "Dear Schley" letter there had at first been an indorsement showing its receipt on May 24, and subsequently another written over the first indorsement was taken on the 23d of that month.

"You permit me to say that I cannot be taken as a very clear indication as to when these papers were received," questioned Mr. Hanna, but the witness replied that they could be, saying: "Generally, if I should say yes, it does not intend to be infallible on that subject."

"But the 'Dear Schley' letter you say would seem to have been received on the 24th, is that right?"

"Yes, sir."

"So that, although actually received on the 23d it bore the indorsement of '26d' and '24th'?"

"The 24th, as I recollect."

"Mr. Hanna then put in as testimony dispatches Nos. 3 and 6, both from Admiral Schley, collecting a strict blockade at Cienfuegos and the letter enclosing the McCalla memorandum.

The witness was again questioned concerning the receipt of more than one copy of the McCalla memorandum, but he maintained that he remembered only one copy, at the same time admitting the possibility of the receipt of another. Asked at the air pumps, back of the engine. Hunly said he kept his hand on the throttle of the engine most of the time, and did not think it possible that the signal to stop or back would have been given without his knowledge.

HE WAS WITH SCHLEY

Lieutenant Wells was then recalled and testified regarding the battle of July 3. He said he did not remember the ranges at which the Brooklyn fired, but thought 1100 yards was the shortest. He described the turn of the Brooklyn, and the chase after the Spanish ships. When the Spanish fleet was sighted, the Brooklyn was about 10,000 yards ahead of the Brooklyn, and for a time firing ceased. He said that he had received orders to get a quantity of rapid-fire ammunition. Owning to the character of the coast it was expected that the Brooklyn and Colon would come to close quarters. He was ordered to have this ammunition ready to use with the Colon, and give her a rapid fire when they got close together. He then described the chase and final surrender of the Colon. He said he had observed the Spanish fleet from the Brooklyn made her turn. At one time during the battle, he said, the Brooklyn seemed to be alone engaging three ships.

Lieutenant Wells Called.

When Lieutenant Wells finished his description of the battle the question of dispatches was taken up. A number of dispatches were shown to the witness, and he was asked as to their receipt by Commodore Schley. One was from Secretary Long to the American Consul at Kingston, dated Washington, May 28, stating that it must be delivered to Schley at once and informing him (Schley) that the United States Government would not permit him to remain at Santiago, and asking if he could not take possession of Guantanamo as a coaling station. The witness said that he had delivered this dispatch to Captain Cotton of the Harvard, dated Washington May 28, enclosing dispatches to Commodore Schley, telling him to hold on at all hazards, that the New York, the Brooklyn and the Albatross were on the way; also two dispatches from Secretary Long to the dispatch boat Harvard, dated Washington, May 30, one informing him that the command of the fleet had started to join him, and the other telling him that Bagua, 25 miles east of Santiago, had been reported as a good place to land, from which it would be easy to reach the Spanish fleet. The witness said that he had received on May 31, the cable of the New York, dated Washington, May 31, to the cable office at New Orleans, which was delivered to the next American war vessel to arrive and informing Commodore Schley that the most absolutely important thing to know now is whether the Spanish fleet is at Santiago, etc., which was shown the witness. He stated that it had been received by the Commodore May 30. The Colon had been discovered in the harbor of Santiago by Commodore Schley on the morning of May 29.

Mr. Raynor at this point exhibited a chart upon which there were notations regarding the soundings taken in the vicinity of Santiago by the Spanish fleet.

Mr. Raynor asked the witness if he had any other information in reference to the batteries at Santiago except that given on the map referred to. He stated the Commodore had received intelligence, embodying about the same facts as contained on the chart.

Schley a Brave Officer.

In reply to questions, Lieutenant Wells said he saw a great deal of Commodore Schley throughout the battle. During the bombardment of Santiago and the naval battle resulting in the destruction of the Spanish fleet, the Commodore, according to the witness, was "thoroughly brave and self-possessed on all occasions."

Mr. Hanna, who cross-examined the witness, exhibited a letter dated May 30, 1898, and written by Commodore Schley, which contained a reference to the dispatches that had been brought by the Dupont and giving a general account of the operations of the flying squadron. He said that this letter was probably the one to show that the No. 7 dispatch, known as the "Dear Schley" letter, was received on the 22d of May, and not on the 24th.

The witness said:

"In the question of this letter and the changed intendment in lead pencil on the back of one of the dispatches might have been received on the 22d. After the receipt of this letter Mr. Raynor addressed the court as follows: 'May I please the court, we admit we got it by the Hawk and the Maribhead, now the trouble is about the other No. 7. Where did the receipt of No. 7 go? We cannot admit we got it by the Iowa, but we agree upon three propositions: The Dupont carried No. 7, the Hawk No. 8, the Maribhead No. 9. We admit the receipt of this memorandum from Captain McCalla by the Hawk, but what we have not been able to find out and cannot admit is that the Iowa carried No. 7.'

Mr. Raynor turned to Admiral Schley and asked: 'You admit that, don't you, Admiral?'

"Certainly," he admitted.

"How do you account specifically for the absence of the receiving stamp imprint on the duplicate 'Dear Schley' dispatches?"

"It is possible that I jotted down that note on them when they were handed to me. Of course, it was the custom to put the receiving stamp on letters generally. It is possible that the Commodore retained them for some time."

"Dear Schley" Dispatch.

"It is possible, but not probable. He sometimes held dispatches in the cabin for a time, but he generally sent them down as soon as received."

In reply to questions the witness said he remembered absolutely nothing whatever about the receipt of dispatch No. 8 from Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley, saying that the Spanish fleet was probably at Santiago except what was revealed by the receiving stamp indorsements. He said that on this dispatch as on the "Dear Schley" letter there had at first been an indorsement showing its receipt on May 24, and subsequently another written over the first indorsement was taken on the 23d of that month.