Judge-Advocate Lemly Will Devote Another Day to Questioning the Admiral—Other Members to Take a Hand.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The cross-examination of Admiral Schley was continued throughout the court of inquiry today. The program made was exceedingly slow. Practically the whole day was consumed in questioning the Admiral about the cruise from Cienfuegos to Santiago and the motives and influences that governed him in turning back after his squadron had arrived in the vicinity of the latter port.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The cross-examination of Admiral Schley was continued throughout the court of inquiry today. The program made was exceedingly slow. Practically the whole day was consumed in questioning the Admiral about the cruise from Cienfuegos to Santiago and the motives and influences that governed him in turning back after his squadron had arrived in the vicinity of the latter port.

The Judge-Advocate, in conducting the cross-examination, used a carefully prepared typewritten list of questions. They called for the motives and influences that governed him in turning back after his squadron had arrived in the vicinity of the latter port.

Before resuming the cross-examination of Admiral Schley Judge-Advocate Lemly announced that with the consent of counsel for the other side the signal books of the New York for May 18 and 19 and July 2 and 3 and the Brooklyn's for July 15 to June 2 inclusive, and July 2 and 3 would be included in the record. He explained that May 18 and 19 were the day before and the day on which the New York left Key West.

The first question the Judge-Advocate asked was in connection with Admiral Schley's examination in chief regarding the meeting with the Eagle after the flying squadron left Key West.

"As you sent the Scorpion to communicate with her do you not think you were in error?" "No, I do not think I am mistaken."

"Did the Eagle report anything else?" "No, only that she had no news."

The Judge-Advocate then jumped to Cienfuegos, examining Admiral Schley upon his statement that after the arrival of the squadron there the Scorpion was sent to the picket boat, and was to recontact that statement with the entry in the log of the Scorpion to the effect that from midnight to 4 A. M. "drifted to company with the fleet for the remainder of the watch."

"Would not the fact that from 36 to 48 hours was necessary in covering this distance have brought the Spaniards to Cienfuegos after your arrival there?" "I did not wish to be understood that that time would have been necessary for the Spaniards to make the voyage."

Reverting to the blockade of Cienfuegos, Captain Lemly asked the witness how he estimated the distance of the blockading fleet to be between three and four miles from shore.

"In the day time I took a bow and beam bearing. This, together with the surf and the land, seemed to confirm that that distance was correct."

Close Watch at Cienfuegos. The Admiral, in answer to another question by Captain Lemly, said he had plotted the distance on a chart for his own information. He did not know this would ever become a matter of such importance, otherwise he would have kept a memorandum as he would have kept a great many other things.

GOVERNOR JOSEPH K. TOOLE

WHO, FOR HIS STATE, HEARTILY SECONDS THE CENTENNIAL TO COMMEMORATE THE LEWIS AND CLARK EXPEDITION.

Executive Office, Helena, Montana.

The following letter of Governor Joseph K. Toole, regarding the Lewis and Clark Centennial, was written for The New Year's Oregonian, but is printed at this time to show the interest of outside states in the project.

To the Editor: I have yours of the 10th inst., and note with interest the proposal to hold a fair at Portland in 1905, to commemorate the Lewis and Clark expedition.

As suggested by you, a part of Montana was in the territory of Oregon, according to the treaty of 1846 with Great Britain.

It is enough of itself to entreat our sympathies and co-operation in the laudable undertaking. It would have been worthy of Montana to have taken the initiative in this ceremonial, and no more appropriate spot could have been selected than on her own soil.

It was here that the great explorers first caught the glimpse of the Rockies; it was here they discovered the source of the mighty Missouri, and named its three forks the Madison, the Gallatin and the Jefferson; it was here that many, if not most, of their hardships and privations were endured.

But since Oregon, with commendable enterprise and zeal, has taken the lead in planning before the world the re-reenactment and discoveries of these intrepid pioneers, Montana heartily seconds Oregon's efforts, and will be no less interested in the complete success of the scheme proposed than she would be if the ceremonies were to be held within her own limits.

Yours truly, J. K. Toole, Governor.
