

THE MULTNOMAHS HOME

THEY ADMIT THAT OREGON TEAM OUTPLAYED THEM. Diversity of Opinion as to Whether or Not Coaches Should Have Played—Charges Made.

The members of the Multnomah football team and the rosters who accompanied them arrived home from Eugene yesterday. They say that the game was a hard-fought one, and admit that the University of Oregon men outplayed them, but deny the charges that Captain C. E. McDonell, who acted as only of the officials, was in any way unfair. On the other hand, they declare that Professor Burden, physical director of the university, who acted as the other officials, was in the line of unfair to the Portland men. Both Captain McDonell and Professor Burden occupy public positions, and their fairness has never before been questioned. It is quite likely that the declaration as to unfairness are made by the more impetuous, and that there is no serious questioning of the integrity of the officials, although some mistakes were probably made. The Multnomah men declare that Dolph's drop-kick went over the upright post of the goal, and, according to the rules, would count as a score. It has been decided, however, that the "mah luck" for all agree that the university team played the better game, but went to pieces at critical moments.

Some disconcerting mistakes as to whether or not the team had the right to play their coaches, and it is generally agreed that Dr. Woodruff insisted upon entering the line-up, Coach Smith had the same right, and the latter was the point of strict amateurism, neither of these men should have played. If the university men believed Dr. Woodruff to be a professional coach, they should have refused to play with him in the line-up. If the Multnomah men refused to play without Woodruff, then Eugene was certainly justified in playing Smith. The question of playing coaches is quite a vexatious one, and some fixed rule should be made to prevent their entering the game. However, it is "horse and horse" with the university, and the coaches who played in Saturday's game seemed to be of equal value to their respective teams.

When questioned by an Oregonian reporter last evening, Dr. W. G. Woodruff said: "It was a very slow game. The Multnomah backs were slow about getting out of the club players, and the university boys put up a snappy game. This was shown by the way they broke through and blocked Dolph's punts. Coach Smith put up the best game for the university, although some of the other did good, hard work. No one has a right to question Mr. McDonell's decision. They were perfectly fair. On the other hand, Professor Burden's decision was equally partisan. He does not know the first principles of the game. The Oregon team ought to have scored. They were within scoring distance several times, but did not use good judgment in directing their plays."

Charles H. Grimsbacher, who is a graduate of Amherst College and a prominent Multnomah man, said: "The Oregon team put up a better game than Multnomah did. In fact, they outplayed us right along, but they did not hang together at critical moments. It is no reason why Coach Smith should not be permitted to play, so long as the games are not against colleges. He is a strong player, as is Goodrich, who played half. Multnomah's game was a poor one, a good game for the Oregon men. I think the university team compares favorably with any team the institution ever turned out. The Eugene people and students who have been running the game, simply because it did not contain all the old stars of previous years, ought to be ashamed of themselves. The team is a poor one, and plays fast ball."

A graduate of the University of Oregon, who played for a number of years on the team at Eugene, was of the opinion that Dr. Woodruff's decision to play Coach Smith should not have been permitted to play, and that the university men, instead of playing their coach, should have declined to enter the game unless Multnomah withdrew Dr. Woodruff.

The Multnomah men say that Kerrigan should have been allowed a touchdown which he made by running the entire length of the field, from behind his own goal line, after having kicked the ball. Referee Burden did not allow the touchdown, as he held that Kerrigan had said that he wished to take the ball to the 25-yard line for free kick. The referee contends that he blew his whistle when the ball went behind the goal line, thus declaring the ball dead.

SCORE DIDN'T TELL THE STORY.

Oregon Men Contend That Drop-Kick Decision Was Unfair.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, Nov. 3.—Although the University of Oregon was defeated yesterday afternoon by the Multnomah players of Multnomah Club of Portland, the 1-0-0 score fails to tell the story of the game. The clubmen evidently went on the field with the idea that the "variety" was an easy thing for the little college team, and that a victory was necessary for an overwhelming victory. But the visitors reckoned without their host. The Multnomahs were poor football players, woefully lacking in team work, and permitted the "variety" to outplay them at all points of the game.

The collectors feel that they have good grounds to question the referee's decision which gave the clubmen three points on the drop kick by Fullback Dolph in the middle of the first half.

Concerning this feature of the game, Coach Smith gave out the following statement: "As to the validity of the field goal there is room for considerable discussion. The ball cleared the upright post and to the left of the post. The referee called out 'no goal,' but on immediate protestations from the Multnomah players he reversed his decision and counted it a point for the clubmen."

The contest was certainly the greatest game ever played on the university grounds. At no time during the game was the Oregon team in danger of being forced behind its goal line, but four times the variety had the clubmen going back to their home goal, and twice in the second half the leather reached the five-yard line. The game was a close one, and the clubmen were doomed to disappointment, and had to be satisfied with having got nearer the coveted goal than had any previous "variety" team.

Coach Warren Smith, in commenting on the game, said:

The weak points in our opposing team were the fact that the institution was so large that it was hard to back, although Oregon got through at times. The "variety" men all played well. They all started in good shape, got the charge on Multnomah, and the institution was big game between the two teams. Oregon has been played on Thanksgiving day, but the season has been shortened somewhat, and beginning with this year, the great match will be pulled out to the second Saturday in November. Just what the outcome of this game will be is a matter

DARK HORSE IN THE FIELD

ANOTHER CANDIDATE FOR BAKER CITY POSTOFFICE. Fred A. Sack Is Urged by Leading Republicans for the Place—Activity in the Mines.

BAKER CITY, Nov. 3.—There has been a change in the complexion of the post-office contest, or rather there is another Richard in the field in the person of Fred S. Sack, who is being urged by some of the leading Republican business men and politicians of this city. Among the knowing ones, Mr. Sack's candidacy is regarded somewhat in the nature of a dark horse, although it is known that he has a number of active supporters who are not given to fighting in the dark. Mr. Sack, it is said, has a number of the Football in Washington. It is almost certain that there will be no game this year between the football teams of the state universities of Oregon and Washington. Owing to Manager Brightman's absolute refusal to agree upon a date that will allow mutually satisfactory, and his unwillingness to make an equitable apportionment of gate receipts, the Oregon manager, has called for a date of Eastern Washington and Idaho, playing Whitman College, Washington Agricultural College and the Idaho University. The record of the present season is such that it is superior to the University of Washington, for Whitman and Pullman have already defeated the Seattle team by 12-0 and 14-0, respectively, while Idaho has beaten Pullman 5-0, comparison of scores would indicate that Idaho is the strongest team on the list, but it is generally thought that the Oregonians will have a hard time riding all three of them. The Oregon team will leave Eugene this afternoon and will spend tomorrow in Portland. They will leave on the P. M. train tomorrow for Astoria, where they are to meet the Idaho University on Wednesday.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

Suggestion That Institute Team Should Organize Permanently. The decision deferred last Saturday by the Portland Seamen's Institute team to the officers and crew of the British ship Cleomeuse was a matter of favorable comment in the circles of sportsmen. Very few people expected to see the institute men shut out their opponents, but this happened. The most of the sailors are experienced football-players, and are familiar with all the rules of the game, but their friends are explaining their defeat by stating that the tars had not played football for months. Nearly all the tars had not played football for two or three years, but six or seven of them are athletes who believe in keeping in training all the time.

John Latta has a good record in football, and is being urged by some of the prominent Republican officials and political workers. At the present time Mr. Sack's candidacy is regarded somewhat in the nature of a dark horse, although it is known that he has a number of active supporters who are not given to fighting in the dark. With the continuance of the finest Fall weather ever known in Eastern Oregon, the unprecedented mining activity in this camp has been greatly augmented. Prospectors and surface miners are doing more work than ever before, and many more men are in the hills than in any previous season. Work is not confined to any one district. North, south, east and west for miles in every direction development of mining claims is in progress. At Susanville, Robinsonville, Prairie City, Greenhorn, Alamo, Red Boy, Cracker Creek, Cable Cove, Burnt River, Gold Hill, Brazo, Virtue, Sparta, Cornucopia, North Powder and Halsey-Elkhorn development, extension and improvement work and active mining and shipping of ore are in full blast. Tons of new machinery have been ordered, are on the way, and much work is being done in the way of outfitting the output of gold and the payrolls of the mines are rapidly increasing, and the coming winter promises to be very lively.

ACCEPT DEFEAT GRACEFULLY.

Albany College Players Say They Were Outplayed. The Albany College football team left on the 4 o'clock train yesterday afternoon. The boys accept their defeat gracefully, and entertain the best of feelings toward the Portland Academy players. Coach Fred A. Edwards said yesterday: "We were beaten because we went up against a better team. The Portland Academy players were because they outplayed us on offensive plays. Our defense was weak, because we have had no defensive practice, there being hardly enough candidates at Albany for one good team. We have not had the advantage of a second team, otherwise our men would have given a better account of themselves. Our team will play the Monmouth Normal, Pacific College and McMinville colleges, and we will do our best to win the league championship."

CLOSING OF THE YUKON

WINTER HAS SET IN IN THE FAR NORTH. Preparations Are Being Made for Over-ice Travel on Alaska's Great River.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Nov. 3.—The steamer Dirigo, arriving from Skagway this evening, brought 100 passengers and 700 tons of canned salmon. Advice brought by the Dirigo are to the effect that navigation is practically at an end on the Yukon. October 27 cake ice was rushing out of Pelly River into the Yukon, and the river is daily expected to close. Great preparations are being made at Dawson, and during the winter there will be strong competition

SUICIDE AT CLATSKANIE.

Perry C. French Left Directions for His Funeral. CLATSKANIE, Nov. 3.—Perry C. French, a single man about 23 years of age, committed suicide Saturday evening by sending a bullet through his brain. He had recently come West from Lone Tree, Mo., and for the past three or four years has been in the employ of the local contractor, Sanford, Carter. He seemed in rather unusually good spirits Saturday, and about 7 P. M. went up stairs to his room, from where a shot was heard. He was found by the janitor, followed by a groan. When found he was unconscious and died in about 15 minutes. A note was found with his pocketbook in his hat near by, directing that his body be sent to his father, L. W. French, Lone Tree, Mo.; that his money, about $12, be used as far as it would go and his father would pay the balance. The note directed other arrangements for his funeral, naming pallbearers, clergyman, etc., and closed by bidding all good-bye and stating that life was not worth living any longer for him.

There will be a housewarming at the clubhouse, corner of Second and Grant streets, tomorrow evening.

ATTENDED SUICIDE.

Wesley S. Roberts, of Huntington, shot himself with a revolver Thursday morning about 11 o'clock, with suicidal intent. He was brought to this city last evening, and is now in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where he is lingering between life and death, with the chances very much against his recovery. He says that a woman shot him, and that he will go to his grave without revealing her name or the reason for the shooting. The facts do not coincide with any previous reports. He is a stock man, who, it is said, has seen better days, although there is no positive evidence to this effect. He has been acting in a queer manner lately, and for some time it has been the opinion of those who observed his actions that he was of unbalanced mind. Deputy Sheriff Mouda, of Huntington, has looked after Roberts for some time, and has furnished him with money for living expenses. The other day Roberts came into Mouda's office, and from the way he acted Mr. Mouda was satisfied that he meant to do him harm, but he was able to talk him

Preparations are under way at Corvallis for digging a drainage ditch from the orchard of the college farm to a point west of South Hall, a distance of some 50 or 60 rods. It is also to be dug from the prune-drier to connect with the one running from the orchard south.

The case of G. F. Luckey against Lincoln County for $500 damages is to be tried in the Circuit Court at Eugene this week. The trial is on a change of venue from the Circuit Court of Lincoln County. In the suit damages are sought by plaintiff, whose mother was killed in the bridge accident on Latta, last year.

The weather has been too rough to lay the cables from the anchors to the strand. The scheme of sluicing the sand from ground her by turning the stream in Four-Mile that way worked admirably, and while the tide was at its highest she rolled till it made those working on board of her seasick.

The schooners Albion and Parkersburg, sailed in over the straits in Four-Mile last Wednesday, and both struck on the middle bar which has formed in the mouth of the river recently. The Albion got off and went off up the river, and is loading at Lyons' mill. The Parkersburg had a lot of break for the lighthouse on board, and did not come off as easily. However, she was pretty well inside, and by putting a line to the breakwater she was pulled into the channel.

CURES ALL DISEASES OF MEN

"It is a crime to experiment with the health of the people," says Dr. J. Henri Kessler, manager of the Old St. Louis Dispensary at Portland. "I did not know positively and also lately that my new home treatment will cure all diseases of men, even when all other methods of treatment fail. I would consider I was committing a crime to make such a statement to the public. Nothing is so precious to a man as his health—nothing so horrible as an Insane Asylum or the grave. I do not promptly recover, often result in obstinate chronic diseases. I know that my new discovery is the most marvelous treatment ever known, and I intend to give its benefit to the world. I intend that every man, woman and child who comes for treatment shall have it. I propose to tell the sick, absolutely free of charge, if they may be restored to perfect health. I would rather be a benefactor to the sick than to have the wealth of Croesus."

The above are remarkable words, but those who know Dr. Kessler, and have tried his treatment, can vouch for their absolute truthfulness. He restores the wasted power of sexual manhood.

He also cures to stay cured VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, SYPHILITIC BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS-SEXUAL DEBILITY and all associate diseases and weaknesses of men. To these maladies alone he has earnestly devoted 25 of the best years of his life. He makes a man feel, absolutely cured, and gives each patient a legal contract in writing to hold for his promise.
