CLOSE WATCH ON BRECH-SMITH SEWER.
Property-owners who are paying some $100 for the construction of the Brech-street sewer about $50 per lot are determined to have a good sewer for their money. City Engineer Chase is using his best means to see that the sewer is a good job and has a thoroughly competent inspector on hand to watch the progress of the work all the time.

THREE OF LIFE ON THE OLD HOUSE-STRAND.
Many persons consider life in the country the best, and many are independent on a farm, you know. These persons persist in their delusion, until they have gone through the experience of living on a farm for a year or more. From society and the eternal and monotonous round of duties which are inseparable from life in the country. An elderly couple after being for many years in Portland, concluded to go on a farm they owned some 30 miles from Portland, to end their days in rural felicity. Their farm was some distance from the main line of travel through that section, and so was rather a lone-some place. A friend from the city visited them a few days ago and found them enjoying good health and all the comforts and luxuries a farm affords. He congratulated them on their good luck in being so happily situated. The farmer's wife said they had everything they could desire, except society. "I get so lonesome," she said, "that I actually pine to see people, and I would like to go to Portland and live with you for a week, and just sit in that window and watch the people pass from now to Christmas." If any of the women of Portland notice an old friend employed in starting from a show window at the city, they will understand the meaning of the strange spectacle.

IMPROVEMENTS IN POSTOFFICES.
The postoffice has just been thoroughly renovated and some additional work is made to the mailing facilities. The money order, registry departments, the city distribution, and mailing rooms, halls and lobbies have all been renovated. The walls are painted in light tints of pale blue, drab and slate color, with some ornamental touches, and last of all the postmaster's private office has been improved. The improvement was sadly needed and the appearance of the office in general has been greatly improved. Another section to be added to the postoffice is the case in the city delivery-room, which will allow of several old packing cases, long in use, to be dispensed with. A new and much larger mailing rack, capable of holding 125 pouches, is to be installed in the mailing-room. It will cost $200, and will hold more sacks than both the old racks, which it will displace. These new racks will add much to the comfort of the clerks and will facilitate their work.

EXPEDITING WATER COMMITTEE'S WORK.
W. T. Branch, who was employed by the Water Committee to go over their books and accounts from the start, in accordance with the request of Superintendent Frank T. Dodge that such an investigation be made, is getting along with the job as well as could be expected, but finds that it is a work of considerable magnitude. There is something over 30 registers of the receipts of money from water rates alone, all of which have to be checked up. As the receipts are now getting away beyond $200,000 per month, the checking up of the registers alone involves a lot of work. He has gone through the accounts of the construction work done since the old water company was bought out, covering the building of the pipe line to Hill Road, building reservoirs, etc., all works of considerable magnitude and involving the expenditure of several millions of dollars. It is not definitely known when he will be ready to submit his report.

CABBAGES GO TO SEA.
A window of big cabbages, standing on their heads on the sidewalk on Hill street, Saturday, with their stalks intact and the roots sprawling in the air, attracted the notice of many passers. One, who stopped to look, why the cabbages and roots had been left on the sidewalk, was told that they were going on board of a ship about to sail, and that they would keep much longer with the stalks left on them. They would be hung up by the stalks under the ship's boats, and in this way would keep fresh and good for a month or two. Cabbage is a wholesome but rather coarse vegetable largely used in logging camps and other places where markets are not accessible and other vegetables cannot conveniently be procured. After being at sea a few weeks, cabbages, when well salted, are probably highly relished by sailors as the only green vegetable obtainable.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES WASHOLE.
A dispute between the rival proprietors of the employment agencies was investigated Saturday by Acting Municipal Judge McDevitt, when J. G. Sharpnack was charged with having procured the services of a railroad near Bridal Veil, and that on one occasion recently he found out that men sent by another employment agency had filled his men's places. Sharpnack then called on Uplinger, and is alleged to have threatened to hit him. Sharpnack furnished $100 bail for a further hearing, Tuesday. It was shown that E. P. McCroskey, an employment agent on Morrison street, has no connection with the present hearing.

FOR MEDICAL SERVICES.
Suit has been filed before Justice of the Peace Kraemer by J. M. Ryan against C. Colfield to recover $50 for Maggie Russell, 315 for Dr. George F. Wilson and $175 for Dr. Harry F. McKay for medical services performed. In his answer, Colfield admits liability for the two claims first stated, but refuses to pay Dr. McKay's account, which he says was for medical treatment for his daughter, who has since died.

LEWIS AND CLARK MEDAL.
The loan exhibit of the Art Association expects to add to its collection the very rare Jefferson medal struck in honor of the Lewis and Clark expedition. This was found by Major McNelly, of Ft. Vancouver, and was given by him to W. B. Ayer, who in turn gave it to the Oregon Historical Society.

DELAY IN WORK ON CUSTOM-HOUSE.

The new Custom-House in this city is so far advanced toward completion that it could be ready for occupation in 30 days, if it were possible to get the iron work for the staircases. The standing finish is completed and the doors hung. The floors are being laid in all except the lower story; in short, 90 per cent of the work of construction is completed. The contractors for the iron work about the staircases are away behind with their contract, and this will delay the completion of the building some little time. The work as completed so far is very satisfactory, as is shown by the report of an inspector who lately examined it. He pronounced the planing in the building as the best in any Government building he had examined. It will be a relief to residents in that vicinity, who have been complaining so long enclosed the building and included half the streets around it, are taken down for good, and that part of the city will be greatly benefited, when the building is occupied by the various Federal officials and employees, who are to be located there.

THE SCOTCH PILGRIMS HOME.
PARTY THAT WENT TO FOSSIL HAD A ROARIN', RANTIN' TIME.
Under Leadership of Judge Cameron Visitors Attended Gathering of Caledonian Club.

The Scotch pilgrims from Portland, under the efficient chaperonage of Municipal Judge Cameron, who journeyed to Fossil to take part in the annual gathering of the Fossil Caledonian Club, are home again, after singing, dancing, pipe-playing and speech-making to their hearts' content. They say they were received with the best of hospitality, and that when any of their number uttered the password in Fossil, "Am Scotch, ye ken," they were immediately made one of the family.

Headed by Judge Cameron, the party consisted of the following: George S. Shepherd, Piper James S. Moon, David Forbes, Harry McArthur, William Stevenson, Mrs. John Retscher, and Misses

The leaders of the party are only asking for what is right and just, and content that the restaurant men ought to accede to their demands. More than 20 restaurant men have signed the agreement with the Walters' Alliance, but there are a number who refuse to line up, and on these the war is being waged.

The text-book used gave a representation of the brain, something resembling a map of Darkest Africa, showing the location and size of the areas devoted to vision, speech, hearing, the motor area, etc. An ignorance of the accurate location of these areas was the reason why old-time school teachers so often applied the ruler to the wrong part of their pupils' heads, and so failed to stimulate or depress the proper part of the skull to secure the results desired. Teachers well grounded on psychology will make no mistake of this kind, but will always hit the right spot.

A CHINESE DEN RAIDED

POLICE BATTER DOWN SHEATHED STEEL DOOR.
Caught Twenty Chinamen Who Were Playing a Gambling Game-Excitement in Chinatown.

Police officers and Chinamen had contests in different houses along Second street yesterday, the police trying to find places where gambling was going on, and the Chinamen exercising ingenuity in devising barricades to prevent the police from entering. When accounts were balanced late last night, the policemen were winners. Twenty Chinamen were arrested at 83 Second street.

During the night Chinese carpenters had strengthened the door leading to a former gambling-room on Second street, the first door north from the engine-house. Sergeant Church heard of the preparation made to receive his party, and he went and critically examined the door. In the presence of a dozen grinning Chinamen. The front of the door is sheathed in steel, and back of it are several stout wooden posts operated by a pulley arrangement. The lookout man has just to pull the string and the posts fall from the hinges, making a strong, solid wall, on which only sledge-hammer blows would be effectual. Different police officials examined the steel door, and they generally agreed that in a raid the door would prove a formidable obstacle, but thought they knew ways to beat it and at the same time prevent prisoners from escaping.

"I'll tell you we beat that door!" echoed a police official. "We won't give away any of our secrets; wait and see." Last night Sergeant Church and Policemen Sloan, Warner and Howland learned of a game in progress at 83 Second street, and on their arrival there they found the big front door barred. The axes and hammers were set for, and in a few minutes the door was battered down. The Chinese architect who had planned the labyrinth of passage-ways had fortunately planned only one exit, and not three or four, as is usually the case in most Chinese houses. The consequence was that the Chinamen inside were found huddled together like frightened sheep. Every table and chair was overturned, and, of course, were removed, but the inmates were carried off to the police station, where they gave these names: Sam Young, Ah Hay, Ah Gong, Ah Sing, Ah Lee, Ah Gung, Ah Long, Ah Chong, Ah Wing, Ah Wong, Ah Hing, Lee Kong, Sam Young, Lee Tong, Lee Ming, Ching Wong, Lee Dong, Lee Hang, Wing Chong and Won Tong.

Ball was promptly furnished by the various Chinese cousins at the rate of 25c each, and the prisoners were released to appear at the Municipal Court.

PARLOR ORGANS

Now is the Time to Get a Good One for $65, $82, $85, $27-Any Old Price.

We have a surprisingly large number of very fine used parlor organs that are in every way as good as new, and which we have taken in part payment for new organs during the past two or three weeks. In selling new pianos we are in position to save customers considerable money, and for this reason we are in a position to let us have their old organs in exchange for little money; thus we can afford to sell these organs for a great deal less than their intrinsic value.

Look at this most massive, solid black walnut-cased Spohninger organ, which cost when new $250. It is the handsomest specimen of American reed organ-building that has ever come under our notice. No factory produces anything like this at the present time. It has 15 stops, giving the complete range of tones, including cymbals and chimes. It is absolutely as good as new, perfect in every way, and you are looking for a fine instrument, you will take this one for $90, $100 down and $5 a month.

There are two Estey's, as good as new, of them only a few left. One is a two other very fancy cases in walnut, every bit as good as new, and also a very choice Mason & Hamlin. These instruments, you will take this one for $90, $100 down and $5 a month.

A Dentist Tells Us.
I have been prescribing SODODONT in my practise for 15 years, and believe it to be the most delightful as well as the most efficient dentifrice 25c. on the market. Sample for 5c.
