SOCIALISTS OF SALEM

Platform Adopted by the Club-Oll Speculation Ceases-Little Interest in Election.

SALEM, Dec. 1 .- The Salem Socialist BALEM, Dec. 1.—The Salem Socialist Club perfected organization this after-noon, at a meeting held in the W. C. T. U. Hall. Officers of the club are: Pres-ident, R. R. Ryan: secretary. Gideon F. Sherwood: recording secretary and treas-urer, R. A. Harris. The club will hold meetings every Tuesday evening. The Salem Club is an auxiliary of the National. Socialist organization and ex-

National Socialist organization, and expects to operate as a factor in local pol-itics. The club expects to be represented in the June campaign by placing a coun-ty licket in the field. The membership roll at the time of organization con-tained about 60 pames, but many ac-cessions to their ranks are expected, now that organization has been effected. Among the persons of some local prominence whose names appear on the mem-bership roll as charter members are City Recorder N. J. Judah, Dr. C. O. Ballard and R. H. Lenbo.

At today's meeting a constitution and by-laws were adopted, and also a plat-form. A resolution petitioning President Roosevelt impartially to investigate the action of Third Assistant Postmaster-General Madden, in denying certain sec-ond-class publications circulation in the malls, was also adopted. The resolution ad-mits the abuse of the mails in this regard by some publications, but views with alarm Madden's "recent unjust and arbitrary decision against certain So-cialist publications which have compiled in every particular with every provision of the law governing second-class postal privileges." The resolution further declares the attempt on the part of Madden to suppress the circulation of such publications "is a blow at the free speech and free press of this country, and should be resented by all liberty-loving, patriotic citizens, regardless of party or religious convictions." The purpose of the club, as outlined in its constitution, is "to study and discuss all public questions of an honorable and respectable nature, including the polit-ical issues of the day, the sciences of social evolution and government, and to promote the teaching and understanding of that line of thought and conduct which will guarantee the greatest security of human life, the widest possible opportunity for individual effort and the securing for every one of the right to labor and to own what he produces; to discourage all teaching that is liable to excuse or justify any man or body of men for substituting for personal ends or in any way acquiring personal ownership of pro ducts or property to which they are not morally as well as legally entitled, and to assist and work in harmony along these lines with the National Socialist party." The club's platform and declaration of principles, divested of the usual pream-ble, is as follows: "History attests that in the economy of Nature, changes in the relation and af-fairs of men are constantly taking place, and that the greatest honor and success is always with the people constituting the nation who can meet and solve the issues vitally affecting it with the greatest degree of harmony and satisfaction to all. "There is in America today a condition confronting the people which was never contemplated when our Government was established, a condition the necessity for which was never suggested nor conceived within the mind of those who proclaimed to the world the principles which have made our beloved country famous as the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave." For this condition no one is to blame save the element which throughout the history of the world has appropriated for personal and selfish ends the benefits of laws intended to protect the interests of all in common for and by whom they

the ritualistic work of the order was beautifully executed. A dust, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," by Shelley, was given by Mrs. Charles H. Hinges and Miss Lona White White, and Mrs. Hinges also contributed as a solo, "The Holy City." Miss Sophia Wolf read "Fleet," by Miss Browning. Invocation was offered by Rev. W. C. Kantner, of the First Congregational Church. Professor Le Roy Gesner and Miss Lelo Nichtin schemet a stoling duti Miss Leio Nicklin played a violin duct.

"The Last Spoke." The memorial address was delivered by Hon. R. E. Moody, deputy district grand exalted ruler, of Portland. It was not an address eulogistic of the order nor of the departed members, but was a thor-ough and able exposition of "charity," the underlying principle of the order, its meaning and application. Salem lodge has but five deceased members, their names and the dates of their death being as follows: E. M. Wood, March 8, 1897; Al Benicke, January 10, 1890; C. Hemple, February 10, 1899; F. S. Dearborn, April 16, 1900; E. F. Parkhurst, April 15, 1901.

Oil Speculation Ceases.

Interest in local oil well speculations has abated since the departure last Sep-tember of Messrs. Chapel and McFar-land, who were organizing a stock company for the purpose of sinking a well on land alleged to contain oil. The gentle-men are understood to have been sum-Monday. moned to California as witnesses in liti-gation concerning valuable oil properties. They expected to return within a month, but those who have taken stock in the gentlemen's enterprise express themselves as not alarmed by the failure of the men to return, having confidence in their in-tegrity, and expect Meesrs. Chapell and McFariand to return daily. Last Fall these men organized a stock company for the purpose of raising $300 for experimental purposes. Stock was sold at 25 cents per share and was quite generally subscribed for, about $1800 in stock having been sold previous to the departure of the promoters of the scheme. Since then no further stock has been sold pending the return of the oil experts. when it is believed the remainder of the stock will be taken and the land will be thoroughly tested and the true condition of property in the vicinity of Salem as regards oil wells finally determined. The board of directors of Willamette University has temporarily abandoned its project to organize a stock company and sink an oll well on the university campus, in the belief that a rich oil deposit exists there. Failure to dispose of the required amount of stock has tended to discourage the Tillotson Case. SALEM, Or., Dec. 1 .- A second Saturday hight hold-up was reported to the police today. A young man, whose name was not learned, claims he was held up by a single footpad at the Bush Bank corner, in the center of the business district, about 10 o'clock Saturday evening, and was at the point of a pistol forced to give up 50 cents, which was all the monsy he had. The police discredit the fellow's story, claiming it is improbable a hold-up could take place on the city's main business street at that hour.

There were no developments today in the hold-up of Miss Tillotson Saturday night. The police suspect two strangers of the work, and arrests may be made When arrested, the suspected men will be brought before Miss Tillotson for identification. There is an unusually large number of strangers in the city at this time, and Chief of Police Gib working hard to apprehend the guilty

SCHOOL-LAND CONTESTS.

Dissatisfaction With a Recent De cision of the General Land Office. BAKER CITY, Or., Dec. 1.-Consider-able interest and quite a little feeling has been aroused in this part of the state in consequence of the decision of the United States General Land Office in regard to the character of some of the state school land sections. It scens that any person can file a contest and require the Commissioner of the General Land Office to decide whether a particu-lar section of school land is mineral land and, if it is, then it is withdrawn from entry and the State Land Board can at once select another section of timber or agricultural land in lieu of the mineralized section, and this lieu land is for sale to the first comer who applies for it at $2.50 per acre. Any vacant Government land that is open to entry may be chosen by the applicant for lieu land and under the law the State Land Board must sell the lieu land to the first man who applies and puts up the necessary cash to bind the bargain. School sections that are mineral in character are hard to find, and it is charged that in some cases of recent origin the contestants have not confined themselves to the exact truth In the matter of evidence introduced at the hearing to determine the character of the land. It is also claimed that in one or two instances contests have been filed to have land declared mineral land 4,219 78 that has been sold to settlers by the S,675 99 State Land Board and has been occupied and farmed for several years as agricul-tural land. The result has been that the occupants of school sections in this part of the state have been considerably exercloed over the matter, and there is trouble brewing for the people who have filed 44.25 some of the contests. The new South Baker schoolhouse is ompleted, and the Winter term of school and application no law can be adequate for all time. "Today it is true that this element has to an alanming degree misused the sa-cred purposes of the law which protects property rights and provides for the en-couragement of individual enterprise and thrift, and has by this misuse succeeded in acquiring so large a portion of the life-sustaining resources of the world that the larger portion of the people are suf-fering for the opportunity to acquire that for which the former class have a superabundance. The results of these condi-tions are daily manifesting themselves in a lessening appreciation of human life with increasing crime and increasing ne cessity for the protection of society from criminals, who are such by reason of despondency and blighted ambitions, caused by the sad experiences that today are the lot of all who are not possessed of extraordinary ability to contrive and acquire the means of livelihood. Indeed, so far has this selfish misuse of law progressed in the world that no consideration is longer felt by one concern for the success of another, nor by one man for the success of a competitor, and so unequal have become the conditions and so devoid moral restraint that the murderer's knife has been found the instrument of the spirit which prompted it is manifest in a greater or lesser degree in many departments of the commercial life of the country. The result of this condition is to increase the disrespect for the law and the Government, and that such disrespect is in alarming evidence we have but to remember that only a short time ago the chief magistrate of our Nation was siain by a human being who proclaimed that he belonged to a sect whose name stands for the abolition of all government.

We believe that no man can acquire disrespect for a government as just as it could and should be, and that the sect today known as Anarchists is a result of this common misuse and disrespect for law in its implication as well as in its precent.

order to best promote the welfare of all the people, we believe it necessar to renew the spirit which evolved our from a monarchical parent, and to again frame laws and enforce their decrees which will insure to all men the enclits of all enterprises to the success of which all must contribute, and to this end we advocate the acquirement and control by the Government of all enterprises now operated by allied and syndicate capital, including first and promi-nently, railroads and all transportation, telegraphs and all public communication, mines and manufacturing industries, and to encourage the co-operative spirit in all departments of human effort, believing that this is but the spirit of union which injures none but strengthens and benefits

"We denounce anarchy in so far as the term implies disrespect for the law and government, and deplore the growing tendency in that direction which is certain growing up amid the conditions of the present time

"We heartly affirm our loyalty to our country and to all our fellowmen, and in vite their aid to meet the issues of the day as brothers animated with a common patriotism and zeal."

OREGON CITY ELECTION.

Indications Are That Mayor Dimick. Will Be Re-Elected.

OREGON CITY, Dec. 1-City election will be held tomorrow. Of the two candidates for Mayor, Grant B. Dimick and J. Sugene Hedges, the former is the favor. ite in the betting. Since the conventions were held Dimick and his friends have done a great deal of work in a quiet way, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that his election is assured. As matters low stand no issue has been raised against him. It was alleged by most of his op-ponents that he was weak on the railroad question, but Mr. Hedges has made no fight on this, and in fact has made no fight at all. The usual procedure has been turned upside down in this matter, and the attempt to oust the present Mayor has resulted in his becoming the aggressor. He has attacked the Portland General Electric Company as being the fountain head of the opposition, and while this is not believed by some the fact remains that the Mayor and his friends have made the fight, while the friends of the opposing candidate have looked on in supreme indifference in the confidence of electing their man. It is not believed that Dimick can carry the rest of his ticket with him, with the exception of the can-didate for Councilman in the Third Ward, didate for Councilman in the Third Ward, E. F. Story, who has no opposition. It looks as if John R. Humphrys, the Non-Partisan nominee for Treasurer, will beat the Citizens' nominee, Fred J. Meyer, and that Jacob Cassell will be named for Councilman in the First Ward over E. D. Kelly. In the Second Ward there is only Kelly. In the Second Ward there is only one candidate, William Sheahan. The new public hall at Beaver Creek was dedicated last night. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not large, but the audience was very attentive the speaker of the evening, State Senator George C. Brownell, who made the dedicatory address. The building replaces the hall which was burned about a year ago. It is a commodious structure with dining-hall, kitchen and dressing-rooms attached, and will be used on all public
