

THE PHILIPPINE DECISION

MAY MAKE NECESSARY NEW LEGISLATION FOR THE ISLAND.

No Change in Duties on Imports From the United States—The News at Manila.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The duties on imports going into the Philippines under the Spooner amendment will remain the same as fixed by the Philippine Commission and approved by the Secretary of War, which went into effect about six weeks ago.

New Legislation Probable. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The Supreme Court decision relative to the Philippines has brought to the attention of leaders in Congress the need of new legislation for the archipelago somewhat on the lines of that enacted for Porto Rico, and particularly dealing with revenue questions and imports from the Philippines.

The first will leave New York on the 6th inst., on the transport "York," the second will leave the same port on the 13th inst., on the "Butor," and the third will leave San Francisco on the 16th, in the "Sheridan."

MISUNDERSTOOD THE ORDERS

Coroner's Investigation Into the Seneca Train Wreck.

ADRIAN, Mich., Dec. 3.—It is expected that the coroner's jury, which has been investigating the disastrous wreck on the Wabash Railroad near Seneca last Wednesday night, in which many Italian immigrants were crushed and burned to death, will render a verdict tomorrow.

Satisfactory to the Administration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The Cabinet meeting today was principally consumed in a discussion of the Philippine decision handed down yesterday by the Supreme Court. On the whole, it is believed, the views of the majority of the court were quite satisfactory to the Administration.

It was pointed out that the ultimate results of the decision are, in a measure, speculative at present, with the exception that the customs duties collected in this country on goods shipped from the Philippines since the ratification of the Paris treaty, will have to be refunded. It is not thought, however, that the aggregate will be large, and Secretary Taft expects that it will be within $1,000,000.

IRRIGATION QUESTION.

President's Knowledge of the Situation in the West. CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—George H. Maxwell, executive chairman of the National Irrigation Association, in speaking tonight of the President's message, said: "The message recommends to Congress a National policy for the storage of the waters that now go to waste in the arid region, and the reclamation and settlement of the arid public domain, which, if carried out, will result in practically doubling the wealth, resources and population of the United States within a generation. The President has outlined this whole policy in such a logical way that it shows that he thoroughly understands the problem and what is necessary to be done to solve it. He knows that water is the life of the arid region, and that the forests must be preserved as the primary source of water supply. He knows, however, that forests are not enough. They must be supplemented by great storage reservoirs, to be built and maintained by the National Government as integral improvements. The President shows further that where the arid public lands are to be reclaimed, the National Government must also build great main line canals to bring water within reach of settlers and reserve the lands for homesteaders. His familiarity with Western conditions enables him to speak with authority when he says that the problem must be solved by the National Government, and not by the states.
