No FALLING OFF IN BUILDING BUSINESS, -it was naturally supposed that when Winter set in in earnest there would be a falling off in the building business, but the building permits issued yesterday do not bear out this iden. Whether it is because buildings can be erected at this season cheaper than in the Summer, when every workman is employed, or because the weather indicated that the thermometer was to remain steady at "fair weather" for a time, four permits were issued for buildings amounting in value to $17,300. The Woodmen of the World, Multnomah Camp, have commenced the work of excavating for the foundation for a two-story hall on East Sixth street, be-tween East Alder and East Washington, to cost 2000. A. N. Fosdick took out a permit for a three-story ledging-house on Hood street, north of Lincoln, to cost $300. A. Pautz and others secured a per-mit for building three two-story houses at the southwest corner of East Ninth and East Everett streets, to cost $5400. C. W. Green was granted a permit for the erection of a two-story dwelling on Ross street, between Broadway and Dixon streets, to cost about $2000. This is a very fair starter in the building business for the Winter.

SALOON MEN AFTER LECENSES .- Saloonkeepers are now filing applications for R-censes for the first quarter of the new year, as required by law. As a number of saloons have been complained of lately as disorderly and disreputable places, the liquor license committee and license officer are taking time by the forelock and are giving the proprietors of dives and hoodlum resorts notice that if they de-sire to obtain licenses for next quarter they will have to make a radical change in their style of doing business. An effort will be made to keep dance halls and dis-reputable saloons off all much-frequented streets and to see that wherever they go they are not nuisances to the people in their vicinity. The committee has decided to cancel any saloon license on recommendation of the Chief of Police, and this will cause him to have a sharp lookout kept on all saloons which have been complained of as disorderly or as places where thugs and criminals are harbored. As there are in the neighbor-hood of 300 drinking saloons of all kinds in Portland, if a few of them have their licenses canceled and are obliged to shut up they never will be missed.

CAR TRAVELERS HAD TO WALK-A triffing part of the machinery in the power-house of the City & Suburban Railway Company got out of whack yesterday thorning and necessitated a characteristic of the City & Suburban Railway Company got out of whack yesterday the company got out of whack yesterday morning, and necessitated a shut-down for a short time for repairs. As a supply of electricity sufficient to enable the company to operate all their lines could not he procured from any of the other elec-tric plants, several of the lines were knocked out until the necessary repairs could be made. On this account a num-ber of people who had to get to-business early were obliged to walk. Fortunately it was a lovely morning, cool and bracing after the first frost of the season, and the sun shining brightly, so that many said they really enjoyed the walk. The com-pany's new 1000-horsepower engine is now completed and at work.

Jeneral Meldrum recently advertised for bids for surveying 16 townships of land, and has received proposals from no less than 27 different surveyors. The bids have been opened, but it will take a day or two to compare them before the contracts can be awarded. It would appear that the woods are full of surveyors, and as it is impossible that all who bid these 16 townships will get even one there are not enough to "go around," For the benefit of those who get left it may be stated that it is probable that bids will be asked for early in the new year for the survey of a number more townships. Such work cannot last long, however, for there are less than 200 townships remaining unsurveyed in the state. OFFICERS OF LINCOLN-GARFIELD POST .-

The annual meeting of Lincoln-Garfield Post, Grand Army of the Republic, was held Tuesday night at Grand Army Hatt. when the following officers were elected for the coming year: Commander, R. V. Pratt; senior vice-commander, B. Mc-Donaid; juntor vice-commander, James Barr; surgeon, D. Cavanaugh; chaplein, Rev. H. A. Borden; quartermaster, H. Sutcliffe; officer of the day, J. P. Shaw; delegates to state encampment—James Barr John H. Williams, D. Cayennugh, James Jackson and William Sinclair; alternates—Charles Duggan, William Brown, D. McDowald James Glessner and Leon. D. JUST THE WEATHER FOR DIOGING POTATORS.—A group of farmers who met on Front street yesterday were congratulating themselves in the change for the better in the weather. One said he was cer. tain when Mount Hood came out so clear Tuesday afternoon and a rainbow arched the sky that there would be frost that night, and he just hit it. There was quite a sharp frost out in the country, enough to stiffen the mud in the roads and kill the potato and tomato vines. One of the party said he was glad the potato vines were killed at last. As the frost would dry the ground, he hoped to finish digging his potatoes before New Your's. They Amusements.

The lone robber who has been holding up people in the southern limits of the city for four weeks past seems to have settled down to make a permanent busi-ness of it. His latest exploit occurred on the opposite side of the river. On Tues-day evening two Clackamas County farm-ers, McNickle and Young, were riding homeward from the city. As they were passing a point about one mile above Milwaukie on the county road, the worn "Hait!" was heard coming through the darkness, and a man grasped the horse's bridle, at the same time pointing a re-

THE NEW YEAR'S OREGONIAN.

I next. It will contain an immense amount of very valuable information bearing especially on the Lewis and Clark expedition to Oregon and the resources of the thousands of square miles of territory that were acquired by the United States as a direct result of this

The New Year's Oregonian for 1902 will be well "featured." There will be a leading article by Governor Geer, of Oregon. There will be a symposium of views on Portland's financial strength, offered to The Oregonian by the leading local bankers; and Portland's prominent shipping and wholesale people will have a good deal to say in the annual number about the magnitude of the heavy business and shipping interests which now center at this point, and also the factors that will contribute the most to Portland's supremacy as a shipping

The annual number will contain at least 60 pages, and it will prove especially valuable as a medium for conveying extensive and accurate information of Portland and the entire tributary section of country to the people abroad who may want accurate knowledge of the Pacific Northwest.

AFTER SURVEYING CONTRACTS.—Survey-pines. Albers & Schneider will supply 1256 tons of hay and 1600 tons of oats; G. A. Westgate, of Albany, 1250 tons of oats, and the Pacific Coast Milling Company 250 tons of oats. Of the hay, 1100 tons will occupy a space of 55 cubic feet and 150 occupy a space of 55 tons of 85 cubic feet.

SURPLUS GORS TO LEWIS AND CLARK FUND.-At a meeting of the Oregon State Poultry Association last evening it was decided to donate the surplus received from the annual poultry show to the fund for the Lewis and Clark Fair. The annual exhibit will be opened December 28 at the Rambler Cyclery, and with the liberal support of the public the directors hope to realize a neat sum for the centennial celebration.

BIRDS GIVEN AWAY.-Game Warden Quimby, who confiscated 91 upland birds in a First-street poultry stand on December 3, had them kept on cold storage, pending the result of the prosecution, and yesterday the game was parceled out to various charitable institutions of the city. Its value, wholesale, was about $50; so the expenses of the suit, including $30 fine, amounted to $70, which the defendant

RETAIL CLERKS ELECT OFFICERS.—Sixty
members of the Retail Clerks' Protective Association Local No. 254 met law even he considered safer quarters.

Residents on both sides of the river jus south of the city have become cautious about carrying money with them when they travel along the roads or railroad tracks, and the result is the robber is not becoming very rich, though he runs the risk of sometime holding up the wrong man and getting lead instead of silver as a reward for his enterprise,

This is his third robbery on the east side of the river, his first being that of a Clackamas farmer named Smith, three weeks ago, and the second that of two men named Hagenberg and Garaher, a week later. Garaher yielded up $4 on this occasion. Neither of the victims saw the robber, who stood in the brush by the wayside, and gave his order to throw their purses on the ground and pass on

The people of the City of Portland, as well as those of Multnomah and Ciackamas Counties, are now equally interested in the capture of this persistent outlaw, who works with a boldness resulting from subsequent arrest. All the residents interested can do in the matter is to leave their valuables at home and wait for the robber to give himself up or leave the lo-cality. The remark is often heard, how-"Something ought to be done with this fellow."

NEW FACTORY FOR PORTLAND

Grand Rapids Firm May Engage in Manufacture of Hardwood Finish.

C. A. Lindner, of Grand Rapids, Mich. is contemplating the establishment here of a factory for the manufacture of interior hardwood furnishings. Mr. Lindner has been connected for years with the Ocker & Ford Manufacturing Com-pany, of Grand Rapids, and of late has secured several desirable contracts on

The company represented by Mr. Lindner has the contract for supplying the furnishings for the interior of the new Custom-House here, and will also place $25,000 worth of artistic lumber furnishings in the new hotel being constructed at Nampa, Idaho.

"There is no establishment on the Pa-cific Coast," said Mr. Lindner yesterday, "turning out this grade of work. some of our largest contracts come from this section of the country. There is no denying that the Pacific Coast is enjoying a building boom, and considerable money is being expended for the class of work we turn out from our Grand Rapids

"Portland would be the most desirable location for such a factory, and there is every reason to believe that we could do a business amounting to $200,000 a The firm would employ from 125

SWITCH TAMPERED WITH.

This Caused the Salem Wreck, Says Engineer B. W. Riggs.

W. Riggs, of Grant's Pass, a South ern Pacific engineer, whose run is be-tween his home town and Glendale, was among those who attended the funeral of Engineer White and Fireman Fish, killed in the Salem wreck. He attributes that accident to the switch lock having been tampered with by hobos who had been put off a previous train.

"We have a good deal of trouble with these gentry at this time of year, as from one to a dozen pass southward every day. When they are put off the trains, they frequently threated dire vengeance, and they don't seem to care who they make suffer so long as they are railroad men.'

on being asked if these frequent acci-dents of late did not make locomotive en-gineers somewhat nervous, he said:
"No. A nervous man has no business running an engine. He has his time to make, and he must exercise all the care he can, at all times, so it would not do to get scared. The man who is not nervous is the man that acts with judgment in time of danger and thus often averts calamity. A man won't die till his time comes, any way, and to live in constant fear would only make mat-ters the worse for himself."
