SERVICES FOR CHRISTMAS

NO MIDNIGHT MASS IN ROMAN CATH-OLIC CHURCHES.

First Service 5 o'Clock Tomorrow Morning - Episcopalians Begin Christmas Worship Tonight.

The custom of holding midnight mass in the Catholic Churches of the city has been dispensed with, and, under instructions from Archbishop Christie, no Christmas mass will be celebrated in any of the churches within his jurisdiction, until Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock. To-marrow morning solemn high mass will be celebrated at the Cathedral, at 5 A. M., followed by the intervening low masses. and at 10:30 pontifical high mass will be celebrated, with Archbishop Christle as celebrant, assisted by a number of priests and a full choir of voices. At the second mass the papal blessing will be given to those present. The detailed programme

Contributions Solicited.

Home, 312 Maclesy building, will be open today from 9 to 12:20 A. M. and 2 to 5 P. M. to receive contributions for the Home, either of money or supplies of food and clothing. Contributions of money for the prospective building are specially so-licited. All moneys received from this on and clothing. Contributi are to be placed in the bank, and held in trust for this purpose. We believe there are people in this city and elsewhere who are only awaiting an opportunity to place their benevolence where there is real need and will take pleasure in responding to a call for aid in erecting a suitable build-ing for the class of persons cared for by the Crittenton Home Association, than which there is no more pathetic side to humanity's varied needs. It is the plan of the organization to keep this matter before the public until there is sufficient in hand to erect the building. Among the contributions which reached us at Thunks. giving none aroused our gratitude more than a $10 bill folded in a piece of blank paper, without even an accompanying initial or other means of identification, it is hoped this may reach the eyes of the donor, that he or she may know that this voiceless beneficence was appreciated. Will not some one make December 25, 1901, or January 1, 1902, memorable by adding a substantial contribution to our present small nucleus? This might be placed in

Park Commission Adopts Suitable

The funeral of the late C. M. Myers, City Parkkeeper, will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The services will be held at the Calvary Presbyterian Church, and the interment will be in Lone Fir Cemetery.

A special meeting of the Board of Park Commissioners was called by Mayor Rowe yesterday morning, to take suitable action in regard to the death and obsequies of Superintendent Myers, by all or whom he was highly esteemed for his faithful and efficient services and the active and intelligent interest he displayed in his work. The following resolution was adopted unanimously:
The Board of Park Commissioners, being at this time advised of the sudden death of Park Superintendent Charles M. Myera, hereby make record of his long and faithful performance of his duties, through a period of 16 years, in which the City Park has been brought from a which the City Park has been brought from a state of wilderness to its present order and beauty, mainly by his assiduous care. His enthusitem and constancy in the pursuit of his vocation should be commemorated, and remain as a worthy example to those who may succeed him in office. The Commissioners will attend his funeral service in a body, and hereby order a copy of these minutes to be furnished to his family, conveying therewith the expression of their personal respect and sympathy.

Commissioner Fleckenstein arranged to have the employes of the City Park act as pallbearers, and the members of the Park Commission will act as honorary pallbearers.

Last night the streets were thronged from early after dinner until lights were extinguished in the big stores, and busi-ness for the day was over. Apparently salf of Portland had not made their holiday purchases before yesterday, and the jam that resulted was substantial evience of the city's growing population. Not all were bonn-fide shoppers, and for those who came down town to see other people, and help swell the crowds there was plenty of amusement.

HOLIDAY TRADE EFFECTS.

Holiday shopping keeps people on the move these days, and Portland's streets and stores present very lively scenes. With

As to the holiday trade's effect on banking, several bankers were asked yester-day, and most of them agreed that it caused to be withdrawn from the banks no considerable amounts of money. On the other hand, they said that it increased their deposits very largely. The retailers banked up pretty closely every day, and the increase in their deposits was very noticeable during the continuance of the holiday trade. The business causes a great demand for small change, and the banks prepare for and meet the demand, so that there is no inconvenience. The money expended in the retail holiday trade, said one of the bankers, is mostly loose, current funds, generally carried in the pockets and not immediately withdrawn from any banking channels.

New York City Takes a Great Fancy to Our Doors-Other Timbers Tried and Found Wanting.

Robert B. Shollenberger, junior member of the firm of D. M. Shollenberger & Son, dealers in doors and finishing lumber in New York City, will leave Port-land today for the East, after having spent two months looking over the timber situation in the Pacific Northwest. His firm introduced Pacific Coast fir and cedar to the New York market about three years ago, and the demand for these woods has grown so fast that it already exceeds the supply. Mr. Shol-lenberger brought a pocket full of orders West with him when he came, but was obliged to send half of them back to be filled by Eastern mills.

"Our experience with the fir and cedar of this Coast has been very satisfactory," said Mr. Shollenberger last evening, "and the only limit to the trade is the capacity of the mills here. We find that it does not pay to handle rough lumber, the long

A Wonderful Road.

A Wonderful Road.

Did you ever stop to think what a wonderful road the Canadian Pacific is? This railroad, with its 11,000 miles of track, joins the Pacific and Atiantic Oceans with a band of steel, and has through train service from Vancouver, B. C., to Hailfax, Nova Scotia. The engineers who built the Western division of the road through the Cascade and Rocky Mountains met with every natural impediment known to railroad construction. The final success met with has more than repaid them by the fact that this road is now conceded by all to be the grandest scenic route in the world; in fact, the scenery along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway is indescribable, and the grandness of it can only be experienced by making a trip by this "Popular Route." The company operates through tourist cars and standard sleeping cars from the Coast to St. Paul, Toronto and Boston, and also offers variety of routes, namely, via St. Paul and Chicago, Buffalo and Toronto and Montreal. The courteous treatment extended by the employes of this road has earned for it the reputation which it has so long maintained, and the local representatives take personal pride in explaining the numerous advantages offered by the different routes. The Canadian Pacific has been represented in Portland for the last 16 years, their present office being at 142 Third street.

been working so busily the past week. Many gifts have been made for their mothers, who were invited to be present to enjoy the tree that the youngsters had for them. Incidentally, of the small givers were not forgotten. Gay candy bags, fairly bursting with bondons, were distributed to all.
And besides these, the boys received
Japanese tops and the girls were made happy with paper dolls. A kind friend of the school, Mrs. W. R. Nelson, also surprised the pupils by additional presentsbright picture books, tin horns, watches and other knicknacks that children love. All the other kindergartens, except the two on the East Side, which have not yet opened, celebrated their Christmas last week in much the same way as that at the Third-Street Mission. Nearly all the children are in attendance again, for they are blissfully happy to be at school more. They will now have vaca-with the other public schools till
