THE OREGONIAN'S HANDBOOK.

The Oregonian's Handbook tells all about Portland, the entire Columbia River watershed and the 1905 World's Fair, commo the Lewis and Clark expedition to Oregon. The ook contains over 150 handsome illustrations, and it is printed on enumeled book paper. It will be mailed to any address in the United Biates or Canada for 7 cents a copy.

RUSH FOR CITY LICENSES.-Yesterday cing the last of the 10 days' grace allowed in which to pay licenses, there was a great rush of all classes of cititens who require incenses the Hall, and they stood in long strings at the Hall, and they stood in long strings at their Transurer's counter paying in their City Treasurer's counter paying in their money and afterward at the desk of the license cierk, while he thade out their licenses. Bome 75 saloon licenses were taken out swelling the city treas-ury to the tune of $7500. There were also over 156 occupation licenses taken out. There is a very general disposition on the part of this class of citizens to take out licenses, but here and there is one who has an idea that the payment of the occupation license is being contested, Such, however, is not the case. The Portland Trust Company and Cotton, Teal & Minor, who have been inclined to dispute the legality of the license, have paid their licenses, and all others who are required to take out occupation licenses will do well to attend to the matter at once, and save trouble and expense, as delinquents will be arrested in short or-der. A large number of vehicle licenses were also taken out yesterday, for which fees running from $3 for a single vehicle up to nearly $100 for such concerns as the O. T. Company, were paid. Of course many licenses of all kinds have been taken out during the past 19 days, and those who were not able to be waited on yesterday will secure their licenses today. There is not likely to be many delinquents to be looked after this quarter, TROPICAL FRUITS IN MARKET,-The number of varieties of tropical fruits of-fered for sale on the markets here is constantly increasing. The latest is the avocado pear, or as it is commonly called "alligator pear," which arrived from the Sandwich islands. This is a pulpy fruit, much resembling in form and appearance the pound pear, with which all Oregon-ians are familiar. The interior consists of a mass of jelly-like aubstance of about the consistency of thick custard, which is highly esteemed by those who have formed a liking for it. Such a liking is, owever an acquired taste, the same as a fondness for olives, as but few are fav-orably impressed with either the appearince or taste of the fruit at the first trial. The pears sell here for $\tilde{\text{$M$}}$ cents each, and are bought chiefly by persons who have visited the islands, or other tropical regions. It is not very long since oranges, lemons and bananas were all considered tropical fruits, and were comparatively rare in the markets. Now oranges are grown in California, and are on the markets, one variety or another. year round, while bananas are load, and distributed to every port, and have become a favorite with most people.

HERE'S A CHANCE FOR GUN-CHEWERS-Mayor Howe has a letter from a man at Dubuque, Iowa, who is anxious to en-gage in the manufacture of chewing gum in this city, and wants a capitalist with, say, $100 to $200 to go into the enterprise with him. He makes the surprising and baseless statement that there is no chewing-gum factory west of the Mississippi. An enterprise of this kind in operation here would enable a large exceptage. chewing school girls and other utilized in supplying rag for chewers of POTATOES Go UP.-Housekeepers who have not laid in their Winter's supply of potatoes are likely to find themselves financially injured on this account. The rise in the price of potatoes which farm-ers have been waiting for has begun to materialize, as they are now $1.25 per sack, and some want $1.25. Onlone are also going up, and the best bring $2 00 per sack. Many complained of difficulty in procuring potatoes of good quality, and there are many which are overgrown, and are coarse fibered on acount of late rains which kept them growing too long. In sections where the land is elevated and the soil sandy or sandy loam, as good potatoes as ever were grown can be pro-

NEW ASTORIA COLD STORAGE PLANT,-Samuel Elmore, vice-president of the Columbia River Packers' Association, of Astoria, was in the city yesterday and closed a contract for the installation of an ice making plant in the Hanthorn cannery in Astoria. The combine intends establishing a cold storage plant of large ca-pacity, and will compete with other firms in this branch of the industry next season. They will now begin to feel that they are residents of the metropolis, and will look down on the dwellers in the regions around about. The plaintiff was awarded damages to the amount of 344 80, the amount sued for being $69 80. Supple is proprietor of a boat yard on the East Side, and his action was based upon a claim of damages by a river steamer, of which Hill is captain.

AN OLD ROUNDER.—"Fitsey" Wall was up in the Police Court yesterday for begging. "Fitsey" is an old-timer and has often graced the Police Court. He made a stirring plea for freedom, but Judge Cameron was not moved, and sentenced him to the City Jali for 60 days.

CHANGING CAR TRACK.

P. C. & O. R. Co. Adopts New Route for Tracks Through Milwaukie.

The work of changing the route of the track of the Portland City & Oregon Rail-way Company through Milwaukie so as to avoid the trestle over Milwaukie Slough was started yesterday. It is proposed to extend the track nearly direct south-ward from the shops at Milwaukie. The track will pass in front of where the old Standard Flour Mill building stood. The matter of acquiring title to the land required for the change has been in the court, and has finally been settled.

As some of the land over which the new route lays is low it will be filled with earth from the high hill south. Archie Mason has secured the contract for grading and has a force on the ground. By this change two curves will be done away with and a long treetle will be avoided. The treetle was built when the road was first constructed, and the timbers are

Mrs. Card confined herself to Italy, in the talk upon her travel, starting from Nice, in Southern France, and ending at Venice. MRS. DORCAS WHITING LIVES IN SCOW IN THE STREET.

Although Supposed to Be in Jail She Is Allowed to Stay at Home in Pence.

The scow dwelling of Mrs. Dorcas S. Whiting, which the Municipal Court or-dered removed from the foot of Belmont street, is still located at the place where the owner staked it seven years ago. Mrs. Whiting is still the occupant. For refusing to remove her dwelling from a public street she was fined Tuesday and in default was sentenced to jail. As she is a very old woman the Chief of Police humanely allowed her to return to her home and there she remains at the advice, it is understood, of ex-Governor Pennoyer, who sticks to his declaration made before City Attorney Long, that the rich should street, is still located at the place where City Attorney Long, that the rich should be removed from the streets first and then the poor.

Mrs. Whiting's peaceful and undisturbed possession of the street for seven years possession of the street for seven years gives rise to an interesting question. Had Mrs. Whiting's peaceful possession of the street not been disturbed, it is said, she would probably in two or three years have acquired a title to a part of the street. If she cannot be obliged to re-move, there is a lot of trouble ahead for the city, as there are a number of "squat. ters" on other streets who will soon be claiming perfect titles to the property they have been occupying.

There are a number of squatter on Upshur street, which has lately been opened and dedicated to public use, and if they cannot be obliged to remove, just how the street is to be made a thoroughfare is a nundrum which the street department would like to have solved. The city has been out and injured by neglecting to maintain its rights to its property in a number of cases, as in the case of the city levee and a lot of the park block.

Mrs. Whiting's house stands in the street and in the way of a building which Joseph Supple, boatbuilder, is trying to move, Mr. Supple owns a piece of property hav-ing a frontage of 200 feet on East Water street, and extending westward 500 feet to low water line in the Willamette River, between East Belmont and East Yamhiii, which he uses for a boatyard. He recently purchased the Studebaker building at the corner of East Morrison and East Sec. ond, with the intention of moving it on his property. The building is 50x90 feet, and he moved it down Belmont street to Water. He could get it no further, as two telephone poles prevent him from moving it around onto Water street and Mrs. Whiting's shack, standing in Bel-mont street, a short distance below Water, prevents him from moving it down that street far enough to get it on to his land. Mrs. Whiting declines to remove the house from the street, and Mr. Supple endeavored to purchase it, but although it is practically worth nothing, she refused to sell. Mr. Supple then applied to the city authorities for relief, and Mrs. Whitng was arrested and fined.

The city authorities now say they have Supple, whose building continues to block Belmont street and to keep the house-mover's plant tied up, and he is in a heap of trouble. Just what the outcome is to be nains to be se
