

CAPITOL WORK MAY STOP

CONTRACTORS WILL HAD AN ULTIMATUM TODAY. Dispute Arises as to the Kind of Trusses in Annex to Washington State Building.

OLYMPIA, Jan. 17.—Governor McBride, as chairman of the State Capitol Commission, tomorrow will probably be presented with a lengthy communication from the State Construction company which has the contract for the construction of the Capitol annex, and the subject-matter of the communication will practically amount to an ultimatum to the commission which will be compelled to choose between three evils—the granting of permission to the contractor to place wood trusses in the annex, the non-completion of the building in time for the next session of the Legislature, or the allowing of extra compensation for steel trusses. The last alternative also includes the second one of not having the building completed in time for use by the next Legislature, in violation of the provisions of the bill authorizing the construction of the annex.

The commission has at various times had all these matters under consideration, but the contractors are in really desperate straits and will undoubtedly make a fight that at this time has all the appearance of being a desperate one. Vancover Determined to Keep Them Element Aways From There. VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 17.—Since the advent of the railroad, Vancouver has been overrun with bobos, and to rid the city of these characters, it has been decided to put them to cleaning the streets. STILL NO WORD FROM CONDOR. British Sloop-of-War Had No Beaches Honolulu January 10. HONOLULU, Jan. 10.—The British sloop-of-war Condor, long overdue from Victoria, has not yet arrived at this port.

Captain Fleet Has No Fears. VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 17.—Captain Fleet, senior in command of the Esquimaut station, suggests that the overdue Condor is on the night of the 30. Having used up her coal owing to the extra labor employed on her engines by the severe storm on the night of the 2nd. Having used up her coal, and being obliged to make sail, her progress would be slower, more especially, as at this season of the year, the wind is blowing from the west. This, he thinks, will detain the sloop-of-war beyond the time ordinarily scheduled for her arrival in the Hawaiian port. He points out that it is probably intended that a British man-of-war is swamped by a sea, no matter how heavy the storm. They sometimes founder, but they very rarely are swamped in the manner mentioned. He is confident that when he receives his mail in a few days it will be found there has been no ground for the apprehension felt.

THE DOCTOR'S GUESS

An Episode in a Turkish Harem. A woman of the harem is taken sick. Turkish etiquette makes no allowance for sickness. The woman is for her husband's eyes alone. No other man may look upon her. When the doctor comes the sick woman thrusts her hand through a curtain, on the other side of which sits the physician. From the hand alone he must make his diagnosis as a consequence when a Turkish woman is sick she does not often get well.

There is a modesty of nature among American women which, as much as the modesty of etiquette among Turkish women, often prevents an attending physician from making a proper diagnosis of disease. Women who are suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex shrink from the indelicate questioning, the of Without subjecting their weak nerves to the shock of an examination. "I was all run-down in health from November until March—could not work but a short while without resting. Was so nervous at times that I could not even write; had a very poor appetite, and what I ate did not seem to do me much good. I decided to write to Dr. Pierce and state my case, and am thankful that I did, for in due time I received a favorable reply as to what kind of medicine to take. I sent and got it and commenced taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets.' Took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and one of 'Pellets.' I can now work as well as I could before I was taken sick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine the best in the world for sick and nervous women."

Another way to be cured. While a great many sick women write to Dr. Pierce and find a cure by that means, there are many other women who use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and write only to say they are cured by the use of this great medicine. For women's ailments, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is particularly and peculiarly a medicine for the cure of womanly diseases. It makes women strong and healthy, because it cures the disease which undermines the strength. The tiny worm destroys the beauty and fragrance of the rose. My son has your book, Common Sense Medical Advice, and I thought from reading it that Dr. Pierce's medicine would do me more good than all the home doctors—and so it has. The Best Treatment. Blackburn, La., August 2, 1900. May 7th, last, I miscarried and was confined to my bed two months with severe pains in my head, shoulders, back, hips and lower bowels and spells of violent flooding every few days. My husband had a good physician attending me all the time, but he could do me no good. I gradually grew worse. My womb became so sore and was swollen so badly that I was unable to get up. At last the doctor said he must perform an operation, but I refused. Flooding and pains continued for five days so bad I could hardly turn myself in bed. I was growing weaker all the time and had given up all hopes of ever getting well. One day my father brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and my physician told me to take it and keep taking it three times a day. It was the very thing for me—just what I needed. I am now able to do housework. Doctors in treating female diseases too frequently advise surgical operations. And wives, mothers and daughters have gone to their death because they needlessly submitted to surgical operations. To-day over 1,000,000 cured women know WINE OF CARDUI as the unerring specialist which has relieved them of disordered menses, falling of the womb, miscarriage, leucorrhoea and other female ailments, without private examination, without the surgeon's knife and without any embarrassing publicity whatever. Wine of Cardui makes it unnecessary for thousands of women to suffer any longer. A dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui can be secured from your druggist. By taking this pure Wine in your home the disordered menses are made regular. All the other troubles of women disappear with the regular return of the menstrual flow. Taking this remedy saves hundreds of dollars in doctors' fees and brings a cure in the privacy of home.
