of their service the volunteers were paid at the Government rate of 52 cents a day privates. Adjutant-General Ganten-O. N. G., learned on December 21 recent ruling of the Controller of the Treasury holding that the volunteers could recover state pay in addition to the Government pay already received. In Oregon, state pay for enlisted men is $150 a day, and the men will accordingly be paid at that rate. Oregon is the seventh state to receive pay under the ruling of the Treasury Department. When this information was received Governor Geer at once caused an itemized claim to be prepared by the Adjutant-General for each member of the Spanish-American War Volunteers, giving the claimant's name, organization, date of as-sembly at rendezvous, date of muster in, number of days' attendance and amount claimed by each volunteer. The claim was completed and forwarded to Washington the evening of December 25 1901. General Gantenbein was directed on Jan-uary II to proceed to Washington, D. C., to attend the convention of the Interstate National Guard Association, to be held January 29 to 22, for the purpose of discussing and preparing a bill to be intro-duced at the present session of Congress with a view of making the National Guard a reserve to the regular Army and of inducing the Government to pay its fair proportion of expenses in connection with its maintenance. He was also directed to prepare the necessary statements and evi-dence in favor of the claim against the United States Government. Though not within his prescribed duties, the work was cheerfully and energetically performed. General Gantenbein proceeded to Wash-ington, arriving January Ib. On the fol-lowing day he succeeded in inducing the Auditor of the War Department to make a special order of business of the Oregon claim and to take up its consideration at once, although the Auditor's department United States Government. Though not once, although the Auditor's department was exceedingly busy in preparing the items in the deficiency bill. All details were thoroughly considered.

Satisfactory evidence was produced showing that all the volunteers were members of the National Guard at the time they were mustered into the United States service, and were therefore entitid to the compensation claimed under the ruling of the departrment. The set-tlement was reached Thursday morning, January 24.

The first claim, amounting to $4633 50, was for per diem allowed and paid by the State of Oregon to members of the Oregon National Guard, who presented themselves for examination preparatory to enlistment in the volunteer service and were rejected. This claim was allowed in full, Under the act of the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, approved Feb-ruary 17, 1899, this sum will be applied and placed to the credit of the military remained at the place of muster and were fterwards received into the service of the United States. Of this amount, $21 899 77 was allowed, the disallowances being prin-cipally in the case of members of Battery B, who served more than 30 days before being mustered into the service of the United States, and who, under section 29 of the military code, in force at that time, would be entitled to only 52 cents per day instead of $1 50 per day. The section referred to provides that when called into actual service "the forces so called shall receive the same pay and rations as troops in the service of the United States, unlose such service be for less than 10 days, when the enlisted men shall be paid a per diem of $1 50."

Immediately after the allowance of the claims, General Gantenbein proceeded to the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and induced him to make a special order of business in drawing the warrant for the amount allowed. He consented to do this as soon as the Auditor's certificate reached him. The same afternoon General Gantenbein took the train direct to Portland, arriving Tueeday evening, Janu-ary 28. The Treasurer's warrant will prob-ably reach Governor Geer by the end of the week. He will make every effort to have the volunteers receive their pay with-out delay, and without unnecessary trobble. The procedure will be very simple, so that every claimant may collect his claim without assistance.

All members of the Second Oregon Volunteers and of Batterles A and B, except hose who were mustered into the service the same day they appeared at the state rendezvous, will have something coming to them, ranging from $95 to $1 50, the average amount being about $15 for about 1500 officers and men. The National Guard Convention was very successful, 32 states being represent-ed by 136 delegates. A committee of 15 was appointed to consider all bills presented for the reorganization of the Guard and to report its recommendations. Gen-eral Gantenbein was the fifth member named on this committee, which was inter enlarged by the addition of one member from each state. The efficiency of the Oregon National Guard was recognized by the election of its Adjutant-General to one of the seven offices of the association. Adjutant-General Drain, of the State of Washington, did very effective work in the consideration and adoption of the bill recommended by the convention, and was appointed by Major-General Dick, presiappointed by Major-General Dick, presi-dent of the association, as a member of the executive committee, and as such will remain in Washington for a week or two to assist in explaining the bill to Con-gress and securing its passage. The bill was adopted by the convention by a vote of 108 to 28, 24 of the opposing votes coming from the State of Pennsylvania and the remaining from the Southern States. Pennsylvania will undoubtedly change its attitude towards the bill, and will probably support it in Congress.

President Roosevelt received the mem-bers of the convention in the White House and promised to stand shoulder to shoulder with them in securing the passage of the

It is expected that the bill will pass Congress within the next two months. It has the support of the President, of the War Department and of a large majority of the representatives of the National Guard. This is the first time within 100 years that the War Department and the representatives of the militia have been able to agree on a bill. The members of the Oregon delegation have agreed to the Oregon support the bill introduced by Major-Gen-eral Dick, who is commanding the Na-tional Guard, State of Ohio; president of the Interstate National Guard Association and chairman of the committee on militia of the House of Representatives,

GREAT TIME BY WOODMEN Head Consul Falkenburg Will Beach Portland Today.

Head Consul Falkenburg, of the Wood. men of the World, accompanied by Mrs. Falkenburg, will arrive in the city this afternoon, and will remain several days, the guest of the local camps. Mr. Falk-enburg comes from Denver, Colo., and is visiting the camps of the extreme Northwest. There are 700 camps in the Pa-cific jurisdiction, with a membership of nearly 80,000. It is therefore impossible for the head consul to visit all local branches of the order, and he stops at only the principal points, into which excursions are usually run from neighboring

Mr. Falkenburg enjoys the reputation of being one of the leading exponents of the fraternal system of insurance in the West. The order of which he is the chief executive is the largest of its kind on the Pacific Coast. In the State of Oregon there is a membership of some 13.000, over 4000 of which are in the City of Portland. The head consul will be royally entertained by the Woodmen of this city, who have a reputation for never doing such things by halves,

The party will be met at the depot with carriages and taken to the Hotel Portland. Tonight they will be entertained as the Marquam Grand, where boxes have been engaged for the entire party. There will be special stage settings and decora-tions in honor of the guest. Tomorrow afternoon will be devoted to receiving members of the order at the Hotel Portland, and tomorrow evening a recoption will be tendered the head con-sul by the Woodmen at Arion Hall,
