ANOTHER LETTER FROM PADEREWSKI

Private Car "Riva," en route to San Francisco, March 24, 1902.—To The Aeolian Company, New York: Gentlemen: As an admirer of the Aeolian, the wonderful merits of which I have testified to in a former letter to you, I have now much pleasure in adding my tribute to your latest invention, the Pianola, which I consider still more ingenious.

THE GUESTS OF NASHVILLE

Admiral and Mrs. Schley in the Tennessee Capital.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 31.—Admiral and Mrs. Schley are the guests of Nashville today, and the city is in holiday attire in their honor.

Along the route from Louisville it was the same at every station—cheers and cheers and flags. The Admiral had a pleasant word for all, but no speeches were indulged in.

Rushing in Manila Cigars

RAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Private advices from Manila received in this city state that there are over 2,000,000 cigars on the way from the Philippines to this country. It is thought that before the end of February or the middle of March at the latest there will be 10 times that number consigned to American tobaccoists from the same quarter of the world.

The Eastern Sleet Storm

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 31.—A covering of two inches of sleet extends over the entire southern portion of the state, and still the sleet continues falling. Business is at a standstill.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 31.—Louisville is still cut off from telegraphic communication with the South. The effects of the storm are still in evidence, the streets being almost blacked by the half-frozen mass of sleet.

WILL REMODEL BILL

Proposed War Tax Reduction Unpopular in the East.

SENATE WILL NOT ACCEPT IT

Determination to Leave Many of the Taxes On and Attach to It a Cuban Reciprocity Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Eastern press, and especially those papers which have been supporting reciprocity with Cuba, severely criticized the ways and means committee for making a sweeping reduction of the war revenue taxes, saying that such a reduction means that the committee does not intend to grant Cuba reciprocity, because the revenues will not stand it. These criticisms are what evoked the statement from Chairman Payne today that the action of the committee had no connection with Cuban reciprocity. The impression prevails that the Senate will remodel the bill in some particulars, and that all the taxes will not be cut off and that the Cuban reciprocity amendment will be attached to it and the House compelled to accept it, that is, if there is such a strong majority for Cuban reciprocity as seems apparent for the present time. Some authorities on financial matters estimate that the reduction of the ways and means committee would create a deficit, especially if there are to be appropriations for rivers and harbors, for the isthmian canal and for public buildings.

Canal Advocates Have Hope.

While at least half a dozen propositions are pending in the Senate and tending to delay consideration of the canal question and to prevent the Hepburn Nicaragua Canal bill from passing, the friends of that measure still insist that there is no reason to be discouraged, and they believe that it will be finally adopted, even in the Senate, where so much hostility has been shown. It is feared in some quarters that Senator Morgan does not realize the importance of early and immediate action, and that he is allowing altogether too much leeway in the matter of hearings. It is believed that if the Nicaragua bill could be reported the anxiety of the Southern Senators for that measure would tend to discourage the debate of a filibustering character on the Philippine tariff bill, and if it is not reported, the Philippine debate is likely to continue for several weeks.

Settling the Naval Debt.

President Roosevelt is endeavoring to find means to settle the Sampson-Schley controversy when he renders his opinion on the appeal of Schley. He thinks that the continued discussion and agitation of the question is injurious to the Navy. While there is no doubt that he will stand by the department and the majority of the court, it is possible that he may make some statement regarding Schley's achievement as a naval officer so as to pacify the supporters of Schley and end further controversy. Schley's friends do not care for a Congressional investigation, and it is doubtful if the majority in either House will order such an investigation, if it is demanded.

Idaho Appointments.

Senator Dubois today filed with the President the replies of Surveyor-General Perrault to the charges of the Civil Service Commission that he has repeatedly violated the civil service law in making appointments in his office. The President has called for the full charges and recommendation of Secretary Hitchcock, and is expected to decide the case very soon. Senator Dubois says if Perrault is re-nominated both he and Senator Heitfeld will vote in favor of his confirmation.

The appointment of John Yost, as Receiver of the Land Office at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, is to be held up until charges which are being prepared by residents of that district can reach Washington and be considered. Yost is recommended by Shoup and Stansford, and while Senator Dubois has asked for delay, he says he will not object to the appointment if the committee decides to report it after reviewing the charges.

Kootenai Forest Reserve.

At the request of the Idaho Senators Secretary Hitchcock has held up action looking to the creation of the Kootenai forest reserve in Northern Idaho until protests from the state can be received.

Invitations to Cushman.

Representative Cushman has been invited to speak before the Creve Coeur Club, of Peoria, Ill., with Senator Hanna on Washington's birthday, and to address the Union League Club, of Baltimore, on Lincoln's birthday. He has not yet determined whether he can accept.

Promotion of Wyckoff.

Senator Foster and Representative Jones today introduced bills to promote Lieutenant A. B. Wyckoff, United States Navy, retired, of Seattle, to the rank of Lieutenant-Commander, without increase of pay. Wyckoff claims he would have attained this rank had he not been prematurely retired.

Dubois' Bad Break.

Senator Dubois finds himself in an unenviable position with a great deal of disagreeable publicity as a result of his brutal fling at General Wheaton. The defenders of Wheaton are filing the papers with denunciations of the Idaho Senator, which indicate that it was an extremely bad break and one from which he will suffer for years to come. No paper has been found which advocates the action of Dubois.

Nearly a Million-Dollar Blaze.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 31.—The loss by this morning's fire will approximate $900,000, possibly half covered by insurance. The buildings burned were The Atlantic Hotel, for which, with the site, C. M. Randolph, who is associated with Lancaster Williams, of Richmond, in the Ocean View Railroad, recently paid $1,000,000; the Columbia building, which cost $500,000; everything in the offices of the building being destroyed; loss, over $100,000; the Albemarle apartment-house, owned by George L. Arps, valued at about $25,000; also eight smaller buildings, on which the loss is estimated at $55,000.

RETIREMENT OF GAGE.

His Last Cabinet Meeting—Employees Prohibited From Lobbying.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The only business matter of interest under discussion at the Cabinet meeting today was the Cuban reciprocity question, now before Congress. The President is very much in earnest in his advocacy of a reduction of the duty on Cuban sugar. Secretary Root also is a strong advocate of a reduction of about 25 per cent. It is believed that this proposition meets with the general approval of the members of the Cabinet. The President has issued the following executive order:
"All officers and employees of the United States of every description, serving in or under any of the executive departments, and whether so serving in or out of Washington, are hereby forbidden either directly or indirectly, individually or through associations, to solicit an increase of pay or to influence or attempt to influence in their own interests any legis-

DEAD AT ROPE'S END

Wade and Dalton Expiate Their Crime.

NO DELAYS AT THE GALLOWES

One Murderer Makes Hysterical Speech, the Other Is Taciturn and Indifferent—Throws of Curious People.

Jack Wade and William H. Dalton, murderers of James B. Morrow, were hanged in the Courthouse square at 7:58 o'clock yesterday morning. Wade walked "They're Hanging Danny Dever." The crowd, which was largely composed of idly curious, laughed at the verse and at the same minute a knock at the jail door of the enclosure announced that Wade and Dalton were being brought to the gallows. At the same time a slight rain began to fall.

Their Last Day.

Both Wade and Dalton arose early yesterday morning. Wade was up at 5:30 o'clock and he told the jailer he had slept well. Dalton arose a few minutes later. At 6:15 o'clock breakfast was served, and Wade good-naturedly passed a leg of a chicken to Fred Marshall, who, with his brother George, had been offering spiritual consolation to the prisoners since the death watch was set. "It's your last meal with me," Wade remarked grimly. When the meal was finished and Wade did ample justice to the chicken, eggs and ham—a song service was begun. "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung and was followed by Charles Wesley's "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." At 7 o'clock Wade started the strains of "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" Both the Marshalls and Dalton joined in the refrain. Five minutes later Chief Deputy Sheriff Thielsen read the death warrant to the two prisoners. Dalton pressed his face to the bars and nodded and said "Yes."

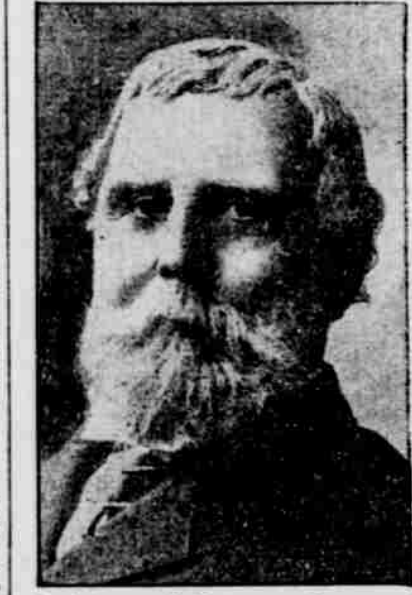

to the gallows in a state of indifference, and advised his audience to avoid "the tracks of Jack." He summed up the life which, were his sentence commuted, awaited him—life imprisonment at Salem. "What would life imprisonment be to me?" he half asked and half declared to the spectators. Dalton walked to the scaffold with Wade. During the passage of the prisoners up the long and covered corridors of the County Jail he did not say a word, except that he was thankful for the treatment he received from the Sheriff, the deputies and the jailer.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"White House, January 31, 1902." It is understood the executive order is the result of complaints made by members of Congress that postoffice employees, and particularly route agents and general delivery carriers in their districts, are making every possible effort to secure legislation by Congress favorable to their interests, and in some instances threats had been made that unless their Representatives in Congress favor such legislation they would not be re-elected. The President is fully determined that this thing shall cease, and it is said that any person who violates the order will be summarily discharged from the Government service. This was Secretary Gage's last Cabinet meeting, and the President and the Secretary's associate members individually expressed to him their most sincere regret at the severance of relations which have always been of the closest possible character.

Secretary of Treasury Lyman J. Gage, who retires from Cabinet today.

An Offer From New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—It is stated that Secretary Gage will visit this city Monday to confer with the directors of the International Banking Corporation, the presidency of which it is reported the directors are urging him to take.

CAN SHE KEEP AFLOAT?

Wade clasped the bars, and when Mr. Thielsen concluded, he said: "I don't want to see anyone get nervous; I don't want to see anyone feel bad."

March to the Scaffold.

At 7:01 o'clock the order to proceed to the scaffold was given. The spectators in the County Jail were excluded by order of Sheriff Frazier. The roll of members of the Sheriff's jury, which was composed of: Dr. C. W. Connelley, John P. Sharkey, Dav Rafferty, E. J. C. Zan, G. O. Jefferson, R. R. Merrill, P. S. Smith, William McLean, C. B. Bartel, H. W. Cardwell, J. T. Bridges and J. B. Stemmmons. County Physician Harry McKay and Dr. H. R. Littlefield were announced as the attendant physicians. The Sheriff turned to talk to the prisoners, and six telegraph linemen ascended neighboring telegraph poles, from which they could easily witness the execution. Wade surveyed them grimly and looked at Dalton, who, standing on the southern trap, had kept his eyes fixed on the crowd before him.
