THEY ARE BOUND OVER.

Hearing of Miners Who Requested Alleged "Scabs" to Quit Camp.

BAKER CITY, Feb. 6.—The 15 miners from the Columbia mine, who were arrested Tuesday on the charge of riot, because they compelled two engineers who had taken the place of the striking engineers, to leave camp, had a preliminary hearing before Justice Messick today, and were bound over in the sum of $250 each to await the action of the Circuit Court. The arrest of these men caused a sensation among the miners and mineowners in Eastern Oregon. The courtroom was crowded with friends and sympathizers of the men.

The evidence was to the effect that the men, about 20 in number, gathered at the shafthouse at 11 o'clock Sunday night, and two of them took hold of Taylor, the engineer, and told him he must leave. There was no show of violence, but the engineer was given to understand that he would be obliged to go. They awakened the other engineer, and the two men were escorted down the canyon and told that they must leave and not come back. There was no evidence offered for the defense. The defendant's attorney moved to discharge the prisoners on the ground that there was no show of violence and that no threats were made. The men all gave bonds and were released this evening.
