NO EXCUSE FOR THEIR ASSAULT

Eyewitnesses Give Further Partie ulars of Attack on Mr. Albers-He Wall Remain Many Days in Hospital.

The brutal attack made by the police upon Henry C. Albers, while Sunday's fire was in progress, continued to be a general topic of conversation on the streets of Portland yesterday. It was the universal opinion that Mr. Albers was most unfairly treated and that the whole affair was an outrage, not only upon the victim, but upon the community as a whole. Mr. Albers spent a restless day, but his physicians say that he will re-cover, although it will be some days be-fore he will be able to leave the hospital. Indignation is directed largely toward Po-lice Sergeant Church. Had Sergeant Church been in his regular uniform, with his official badge in a conspicuous posi-tion, the trouble might have been averted, but he was on the scene, civilian dress, and according to the statements of numerous reputable citizens, without any visible badge or insignia of his office. Church asserts that he wore his star on the outside of his coat, but there are many who are positive that he did not do so, while some say that they did not notice it until after the fire was over. Why Officer Charles over. Why Officer Church should have been clad in citizen's clothes is a matter of some speculation, as only city detectives are supposed to go without the

Yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Mc. Lauchlan and Commissioner D. Solis Cohen called on Bernard Albers, president of the Albers & Schnelder Company, and asked him if Sergeant Church wore his star when the unfortunate occurrence took place. Mr. Albers was certain that not wear it, and he was assured that the matter will be investigated. The Police Commissiosners will meet this evening and the matter will be looked into. When seen yesterday evening Bernard

Albers said: While we dislike the notoriety of this unfortunate affair, we will pursue the matter to the end. In order to fortify my own opinion that Sergeant Church did not wear a star, I have made inquiry on every hand, and I find many reputable citizens who say that he did not wear it, among them being J. P. Sharkey, Henry Donnerberg and J. W. Gorman. My broth-er has four ugly scalp wounds, and it will some time before he will be able to Attorney Chamberlain yesterday, but no criminal proceedings were instituted. Mr. Chamberlain stated last evening that should the facts of the case warrant any arrests, the offenders will be brought to justice without fear or favor.

W. H. Wallace and W. J. Corcoran have a store on the side of Front street di-rectly opposite Albers & Schneider's mill. They did not see the beginning of the dis-pute between Police Sergeant Church and Mr. Albers. They did, however, see the rs clubbing their victim

"It was a most cruel and uncalled-for assault," said W. J. Corcoran, yesterday. "I do not know how many clubs were in the play, but I actually saw two, and they were wielded on the head of Mr. Albers 10 or 12 times at least. They were not love taps either, I tell you. When the officers had laid their victim out, they pitched him brutally into the patrol wagon. I was not close enough to see all the details that occurred, but I saw enough to raise my indignation.

"Officer Church, to my knowledge, were no star on the outside of his coat, and an investigation certainly is needed into this outrageous affair. If there is a member of the police force who cannot restrain of the police force who cannot restrain himself from savagery, something ought to be done with him. Yes, Mr. Albers was insensible when he was thrown into the wagon. I started for the jall immediately, when I got there Mr. Albers had not recovered his mind fully, and was talking incoherently. He had three cuts in his head."

in his head."
"Mr. Albers was beaten into insensibility," said William H. Wallace, "I was not close enough to the fray to see all that went on. I saw the clubs wielded, however, and I can testify that Mr. Albers was most unmercifully handled. So far as I know and have heard, Officer Church did not display a star until after

Bert Knight, a young railroad man, says that Church wore no star until af-ter the fight, and a medical student, who was close to the scene of battle, says that he thought Church was a private citizen, as he wore no star or badge of citizen, as he wore no star or badge of authority. Many of the spectators sup-posed Church was a private citizen, and thought that his trouble with Albers was just a common "scrap." When the offi-cers were throwing Albers into the wagon the crowd yelled: "Arrest them both!" thinking that one fighter was being taken to jail and the other allowed to go scot free.

M. Lavenson, proprietor of a grocery store at 374 Morrison street, was an eye-witness to the assault. "I stood about 199 feet away from the place where the fight occurred," said Mr. Lavenson, last evening, "and I think that the police officers were rough and brutal in their treat-ment of Mr. Albers. It seems strange that so many stalwart policemen should pitch onto one small man and beat him in such a cruel manner."

In answer to a number of questions as to whether he ordered the arrest of Henry Albers, a member of the Albers & Schneider, Company, Sunday, Fire Chief Camp-bell said yesterday that he had given no

"While we were working at the fire in the Albers & Schneider building," the chief said, "I saw several men engaged in a dispute. They were in our way, and I called to the police, 'Do your duty.' I did not point to any one man, but I did mean that all should be cleared away. They were in the path of the firemen, and on that account I called for the police. I had no time to leaving whether lice. I had no time to inquire whether they were interested in the burning property or whether they were simply specta-tors. I knew the property-corre-

the heads of property-owners. The small losers, who by most strenuous work saved the greater part of their effects from the the greater part of their effects from the fire, received no attention from the po-lice. Fred Anderson, a harness dealer at 248 Front street, managed to carry nearly all his goods to a safe landing on the side-walk opposite. He kept a constant watch on them, for they represented practically all his capital. But six or seven hoodlums came by and trampled his stuff under foot, and some small articles they carried away. Between 10 and 15 pollocmen were away. Between 10 and 15 pollocmen were near by, but none of them offered any aid to Mr. Anderson. One of them did step over and order the crowd away from the lines, but at the same time a stream was turned in his direction, and he vandodged the water, talked, laughed and iooked pretty."

"If the facts of the case, as I hear them, are correct," said Judge Charles H. Carey, last evening, "Mr. Albers can sue Ser-geant Church and recover damages. He was roughly handled by the police."

About 17 years ago F. S. Insley was arrested and beaten by a police officer in this city, and civil damages amounting to $800 were obtained.

PORTLAND, Feb. 24.—(To the Editor.)— Permit me, through your columns, to add a little more strong language to that already deservedly published, anent yes-terday's dastardly and brutal police club-bing of a reputable citizen, because, forsooth, he sought to save his property from devouring flames. Could no other way be found to quiet a naturally excited man than to beat him half to death? Or do these petty minions of the law conceive that the bestowal of a star carries with it despotic powers over those whose life and property they are sup-posed to protect? Heil's North End acres reek with crime, but no clubs are flashed there; perhaps it is too hazardous. Strens woo Reubens to their dens in open daylight and fleece them; but it is only in extremely flagrant cases, where public opinion is feared, that the police intervene. Gamblers skin their victims with marked cards, as was proved in the Demartini case, but the police are conveniently blind. Clubs are not trumps there; they are reserved for nobler (7) purposes. Yet the ring politicians tell us that the city was never so clean as now. God forbid that Portland should ever reach a condition these critics would characterize as foul!

Contrast the heroic deeds of Dave Camp-bell's brigade of fire fighters yesterday with the cowardly and brutal display made by the other branch of municipal service. If men like these can be secured for one department, why not for the other? Let us take counsel together and let decent citizens in serried ranks so vote on election day as to clean out the Augean sta-ble once for all. I am neither religious crank nor professional reformer, but it does seem to me that the old question, "Quis custodiet upsos custodes?" should receive a practical and emphatic answer in this city and the answer—to borrow once more from the Latin—should be, FIAT JUSTITIA.

Time to Crush the Machine. PORTLAND, Feb 24 .- (To the Editor.)-The public is justly indignant at the police officers for their brutal assault of one of our leading businers men at yesterday's fire. In view of the fact that the District Attorney has repeatedly asked the Com-missioners for Sergeant Church's removal upon charges filed and proven, are not the Chief and Commissioners equally as guilty as Church for sustaining him up to the present time? Whatever action may be taken by the Commissioners in matter, there are many Republicans who are of the same opinion as the writer—that the best way to teach the party to be more considerate of the business interests in this city and county be to give them a crushing defeat at the coming election. The people are pretty generally of the opinion that yesterday's affair is the climax of indignities which have been thrust upon this city by the present administration. Let them beware eave the hospital."

A friend of Albers called upon District

With the arrangements which have been made by County Clerk Swetland for keeping the registration books open until 9 o'clock each night until further notice, there should be no delay or inconvenience to voters. The registration has lagged because of a fear on the part of voters that they would have to wait too long. The total registration vesterday slightly exceeded 300. County Clerk Swetland says the force can take care of 800. To avoid the rush of the last few days before the primaries, voters should make it a point to register without

MOCKING-BIRDS WANTED?

Colonel Dosch Says They Can Be Had

"Does Oregon want mocking-birds?"
This is the question asked by Colonel Dosch, who has charge of the Oregon ex-hibit at Charleston. He asks it in a let-ter to George H. Lamberson, secretary of the State Board of Horticulture. Colonel Dosch says he can get any number of birds in South Carolina, their native haunt. It is thought the birds would thrive well in Oregon, owing to the mild-ness of the climate here. They migrate northward every Summer, and return southward after the brooding season, It is thought that perhaps the birds would remain in Oregon all the year. Colonel Dosch writes:
"Mocking-birds are plentiful here, and I understand can be bought reasonably in Spring. If a fund could be made up in Oregon for that purpose, I could get them caught and oring them back with me at little expense.

He suggests that a fund be raised by Oregon citizens. As the principal food of the birds is insects, they would probably be valuable to fruitgrowers. They readily learn to whistle a tune of considerable length. The barking of a dog, mewing of a cat, cackling of a hen, or creaking of a wheelbarorw is within its imitating powers.

CONSIDER MOHLER'S LETTER Chamber of Commerce Trustees Will Meet Today.

The Board of Trustees of the Chambe of Commerce will meet this morning at 11:30 o'clock. The navigation committee will probably make report on Mr. Mobler's letter, which was referred at the last meeting of the trustees. Another important matter of business will be consideration of plans for raising funds wherewith to print literature for immigration purposes The advertising committee, composed of Adolphe Wolfe, H. C. Wortman and A. H. Devers, held a meeting yesterday. Its report to the trustees will recommend a booklet containing matter borrowed from the New Year's Oregonian. The booklet tors. I knew the property-owners expected me to keep the fire within the closest possible limits, and I could not allow our department to be obstructed in its work, which it certainly would be Commerce, Board of Trade and Manufacby a gathering in front of any of the buildings."

The detachment of police on duty at the fire was not half so vigilant in its efforts to protect property interests as it was vigorous in the wielding of clubs on the head of property owners. The swell has been described by the present,
