TAKEN BY BOERS

General Methuen Held a Prisoner.

BRITISH FORCE DEFEATED

Forty-one Killed, Seventy-seven Wounded.

200 SOLDIERS ARE MISSING

News Created Marked Feeling of Depression in House of Commons—Came Like a Thunderbolt to London—Kitchener's Report.

General Lord Methuen has been captured by the Boers, and is now held a prisoner. His forces were badly cut up, and 40 officers and 38 men killed, 70 officers and 72 men wounded, while an officer and 200 troops are missing. News of the battle created a great stir in London, and a marked feeling of depression pervaded the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 10.—It was announced today that General Lord Methuen and four guns had been captured by the Boers commanded by General Delarey. The news came like a thunderbolt to London. The extra editions of the evening papers giving an account of the disaster were eagerly bought up. Their readers hurried through the streets with anxious faces and bitter remarks were passed on the subject of the Government's declaration that the war in South Africa was over.

The news was received in the House of Commons amid great excitement. The reading of Lord Kitchener's telegram by Mr. Brodrick, the War Secretary, was listened to in deep silence, which was broken by loud Irish cheers. Instantly there were cries of "shame," "shame," from the government benches. Then the Irish members seemed to think better of their outbreak and suddenly subsided. The subsequent eulogistic references to General Methuen were received with cheer.

In brief Lord Kitchener announced that when General Methuen was captured, wounded, with four guns, three British officers and 38 men were killed, and that five officers and 72 men were wounded. In addition one officer and 200 men were reported missing.

Kitchener's Report.
The text of Lord Kitchener's dispatch announcing the capture of General Methuen is as follows:

"Pretoria, March 8.—I greatly regret to have to send you bad news of Methuen. He was moving with 900 mounted men under Major Paris, and 300 infantry, four guns, and 100 mules from Wynburg to Lichtenburg, and was to meet Grefell, with 300 mounted men, at Roviviersfontein today. Yesterday morning early he was attacked by Delarey's force between the two camps, and the Boers charged on three sides.

"Five hundred and fifty men have come in at Marlburg and Kraaipan. They were taken by the Boers four miles from the scene of action. They report that Methuen and Paris, with the guns, baggage, etc., were captured by the Boers. Methuen, when last seen, was a prisoner. I have no details of casualties, and suggest delaying publication until I can send definite news. I think this sudden revival of activity on the part of Delarey is to draw off the Boers from the west."

In a second dispatch, dated Sunday, March 9, Lord Kitchener says: "Paris has come in at Kraaipan with the remainder of the men. He reports that the column was moving in two parties. One with the ox wagons left Tweboosh at 3 A. M. The other, with the mule wagons, started an hour later. Just before the Boers attacked, before reinforcements could reach them, the rear guard broke. In the meantime, a large number of Boers galloped on both flanks. These were checked by the flank parties, but the stampede of the mules had begun and all the mule wagons, with a terrible mixture of mounted men, rushed past the ox wagons. All efforts to check them were unavailing. Major Paris collected 40 men and occupied a position on a hill in front of the ox-wagons, which were then halted. After a gallant but useless defense the enemy rushed into the ox-wagons and Methuen was wounded in the thigh. Paris, being surrounded, surrendered at 10 A. M. Methuen is still in the Boer camp."

Then follows the number of casualties. The killed include Lieutenants G. R. Venning and T. P. W. Nesham, of the Royal Artillery, who were both killed while serving their guns with coolness. Roberts Eulogizes Methuen.
Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief, who announced the British disaster in the House of Lords, said General Methuen for nearly two years had carried on his work with zeal, intelligence and great perseverance, adding that the General was beloved of his men, and no work was too dangerous nor difficult for them or General Methuen. The Commander-in-Chief was sure the House was deeply grieved at what had occurred. He would ask their Lordships to concur with him in his sympathy for the gallant officer in his present unfortunate position, and defer advice until they had had more information as to what was directly responsible. From Delarey's conduct through the war, they could all be assured that General Methuen would be taken good care of.

The Premier, Lord Salisbury, also expressed deep sympathy with General Methuen under the unfortunate circumstances. He said it was no time to discuss his actions. He had always acted with the greatest gallantry, and the Premier therefore thought all should defer criticism or examination of the very sad intelligence until details arrived. His Lordship was convinced General Methuen had done his best in accordance with this most melancholy affair. The feeling of depression in the lobbies of the House of Commons over the news of the disaster in South Africa was very marked. The service members of the House express the opinion that it will necessitate sending fresh troops to the front, while the belief is widely expressed that the Boers will not fail to take advantage of General Methuen's prominence to hold him as a hostage for the safety of Commandant Kitzinger and other Boer leaders now in the hands of the British.

made up. The ticket prepared by the county central committee, which is the Simon ticket, was filed with County Clerk Sweetland yesterday afternoon. The Democratic ticket was also filed yesterday, Secretary W. N. Gates presenting it at the clerk's office. The Independent (anti-Simon) ticket has not yet been filed, although the names have been selected, as will appear in the following. The law does not require independent tickets to be filed until two days before the primaries, which will give until Thursday to file it with the County Clerk.

"Independent" tickets (bogus) have already been presented from nearly every precinct in the city, and in the majority of instances the names are similar to those on the regular (Simon) ticket. The latter will be styled the "regular ticket" on the ballots, and the independent tickets—real and fictitious—will be numbered in sequence, as they will be or have been filed with the Clerk.

Following is the ticket of the real independent candidates, who are opposed to the re-election of Senator Simon:

First Ward.
Precinct 1—C. W. Sherman, Oscar Johnson, John R. Sipe.
Precinct 2—W. A. Storey.
Precinct 3—William Hilevers, Amos S. Groce.

CUBA LIKELY TO WIN

Republicans May Compromise on Cut in Tariff.

BITTER FIGHT STILL CONTINUES

Defeat of Administration More to Be Feared Than of Beet-Sugar Interests—Selection of Moody to Succeed Long a Good One.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The bitter fight in the Republican party over Cuban reciprocity continues with little abatement, but with the prospect that the Administration and the Republican leaders of the House will be able to form some sort of a compromise in favor of the reduction plan. Crimination and recrimination is a part of the campaign now, and all sorts of stories are afloat as to what the President says and what men say of the President. There is a suspicion that there is considerable bitterness among a great many Republicans because the President has decided not to sweep the census clerks into the classified service, and give those who are appointed to any political position influence in the Government, in spite of the civil service law. Still, it is true that the beet-sugar interests are very earnest in their desire to prevent any change taking place while those who are favoring the 20 per cent say the beet-sugar men are really cutting their own throats, or if no concession is granted, annexation is sure to follow. There are a number of conservative Republicans who think the importance of the subject has been greatly exaggerated, and as Senator Allison told the President today, Cuba would be very little benefited, and the beet-sugar interests very little damaged, if the 20 per cent proposition should prevail. Extravagant claims, are likewise made as to the effect upon the voting this Fall, but the impression generally prevails that a defeat of the Administration will be more costly than will the defeat of the beet-sugar interests.

Moody's Selection a Good One.
The selection of Representative Moody as Secretary of the Navy is very good in every particular. Moody is a first-class lawyer, a brainy and an honest man, who sprang into prominence immediately after entering the House, making a place for himself by sheer force of character and ability. He has had good training under Representative Cannon, and should be a disciplinarian of the best type. Moody's selection will make no difference in the attitude of the department on the Schley controversy, as he agrees with the President and others of the Administration, as well as a large majority of the Republicans in Congress, that the court of inquiry and the President's reply settled the Sampson-Schley incident. Moody is distantly related to the Oregon Moody's, being the nephew of W. C. Moody, an old Oregon pioneer, for whom the first public hall at The Dalles was named.

Other changes in the Cabinet may possibly follow. Those members of McKinley's Cabinet whom Roosevelt wishes to stay are Hay, Root, Knox and Wilson, and they possibly will stay, with the exception of the Secretary of State, who occasionally gets tired of his Cabinet place. Hitchcock will stay, unless something more serious happens than has heretofore occurred to jar him loose. Several times he has been flatly "turned down" by the President, but it seems to have made no difference with him, and he accepts Roosevelt's early invitation to remain in the Cabinet as a proposition which meant until the end of the term.

Both Tongue and Moody Want It.
For the present Oregon will have no member of the Congressional campaign committee. Both Representatives are as follows:
