

FIRST EVENING COURT

BRILLIANT FUNCTION AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

Downpour of Rain Spoiled the Spectacle, So Far as the General Public Was Concerned.

LONDON, March 14.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra tonight held the first evening court of the new reign. The function replaced the drawing-room and was naturally very brilliant. The court was held in the ballroom of Buckingham Palace.

The beautiful Spring weather of the past few days changed this afternoon to a heavy downpour, which continued throughout the evening and quite spoiled, as far as the general public was concerned, the spectacle of the King's court. In spite of the blinding rain, which turned the roads to quagmires and hid the entrance of the palace in blurring mist, the constant streams of arriving carriages were watched by a large crowd, which cheered most loyally when their Majesties, in a state coach and escorted by officers of the Life Guards, came along the Mall and passed into the palace; the guard of honor giving the royal salute and the Grenadiers band stationed in the courtyard playing the national anthem. Their Majesties were bowing all along the route, but in common with the occupants of the other carriages, they could scarcely be recognized through the rain.

Once inside the palace the contrast was striking. Nothing so brilliant has been seen since the early days of the reign of Queen Victoria. The blaze of new electric lights, the scent of flowers heaped along the corridors, the glitter of ladies' jewels and dresses and the court uniforms made a memorable and magnificent scene. King Edward's private band played in a gallery of the ballroom.

The breast of King Edward was blazing with orders and stars, and he appeared to be in the best of health and spirits. Queen Alexandra wore a golden yellow dress, embroidered with lilies. Rows of pearls hung from her neck, and she wore a diamond crown. The Queen stood throughout the fatiguing ceremony, graciously smiling. On one side of their Majesties stood a brilliant group of Ambassadors and diplomats and ladies displaying gorgeous dresses and jewels; on the other side stood the members of the royal household. King Edward received the guests according to precedence, and afterward moved freely among the brilliant company. An informal supper was served after the reception, and the court continued until midnight.

Among the striking beauties present were Lady Cynthia Graham and Viscountess Castlereagh. Lady Arthur Butler, daughter of General Anson Stanger, of the United States army, was also noticeably pretty. With the exception of those presented there were few young girls present. Lady Strathcona presented Miss Twining, of Canada.

The newly decorated dining-room, which is most beautiful, was opened for the first time this evening. A horseshoe table was laden with gold plate and pyramids of flowers and fruit. All the arrangements were highly successful.

The diplomatic circle included Joseph H. Choate, the American Ambassador, and Mrs. Choate; Henry White, secretary of the American Embassy at London, and Mrs. White; John R. Carter, second secretary of the Embassy; William C. Eustis, third secretary of the Embassy, and Mrs. Eustis; and Commander Richardson Clover, the naval attaché. Among the American presentations were Mrs. and Miss Padelford. Altogether 500 invitations were issued, but a large number of those invited did not attend the court. Mrs. Choate wore a Worth dress of pink satin, with a train of black velvet trimmed with pink roses.

Following the termination of the King's court, an unusual scene was witnessed. All the fashionable photographers of London were busy taking pictures with the aid of electric light, of the ladies in their presentation dresses.

PRAISE FOR DELAREY.

London Paper Suggests That Cronje or Viljoen Be Released.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The newspapers are puzzled to account for the release of General Michener, but they generally give credit to Delarey for acting with great moderation, courtesy and tact. The Daily Mail expects to see either General Cronje or General Viljoen, and is inclined to the Boers in exchange for the British General. The London correspondent of the Tribune, however, is profiting by the lack of detailed information respecting the military situation in South Africa. They are repeating silly inventions about the recall of Kitchener, the return of Lord Roberts to South Africa and the promotion of French as Commander in South Africa. These reports are dismissed with contempt by officials and military men as even more preposterous than the assumption that Delarey will re-establish the siege of Mafeking or make a dash for Johannesburg.

Lord Salisbury has decisive influence in determining the selection of the commander of the forces in South Africa, and Lord Kitchener has been his favorite General from the outset. It was Lord Salisbury who suggested the appointment of General Kitchener as Lord Roberts' chief of staff, when General Buller's campaign went wrong, after Omdurman, and there is no evidence that the Prime Minister is dissatisfied with the results of recent operations.

Information is required respecting the column which Lord Kitchener expected to join when he set out from Vryburg, but otherwise there has been no apprehension on the part of the military authorities of serious results from the recent defeat, which was mainly due to panic among the unseasoned yeomanry. It seems probable, however, that the number of Boers under Dewet who succeeded in breaking through the Boer lines, was far greater than considerably larger than official reports indicated, and that a junction may have been effected with Delarey.

Wolsey Goes to the Cape.

LONDON, March 14.—Field Marshal Lord Wolsey will start for Cape Town tomorrow. Although the officials deny that his trip is anything but a private visit, gossip connects it with the military situation. It is pointed out that Lord Wolsey's knowledge of South Africa gained as a fighter and administrator, might be highly useful to Lord Kitchener, either at the battle (Cape Town) or at Pretoria. Lord Wolsey himself says his trip is entirely private.

Colonel Frank Rhodes and Arthur Rhodes, brothers of Cecil Rhodes, and Lady Methuen will be passengers on the steamer which will take Lord Wolsey to Cape Town.

Broke the Blockade Line.

HEILBRON, Orange River Colony, (Tuesday) March 11.—Commandant van der Merwe broke through the Heilbron-Welvethe blockade line at Gottenburg last night. The Boers had been pursued for several days. So far as known, only one Boer was killed. The British columns, during the pursuit of Commandant Mentz, picked up scattered parties of Boers aggregating 50 men.

INEFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION.

British Scheme of Defense, Says Beresford, Needs Reorganization.

LONDON, March 14.—In an address today before the London Chamber of Commerce on the lack of administrative efficiency in the British organization for defense, Rear-Admiral Charles Beresford remarked that initial naval reverses similar to the military reverses experienced in South Africa, would entail disasters which would be irreparable and which would be eternal in their effect. It was lack of organization which led to the remote and other scandals. His plan for insuring naval efficiency included the addition to the Board of Admiralty of a naval war lord, of the Admiralty who would be responsible for placing before Parliament the full requirements of the navy.

The government, Lord Charles added, ought to purchase coal fields at home and in the colonies. All warships useless for fighting purposes or valueless on account of lack of speed ought to be abolished. The reserves ought to be reorganized, and as early as possible the whole war fleet should be mobilized, to test its organization and discover its weak points.

Instanting the shortage of coal at some of the principal stations, Lord Beresford said he had succeeded, after much obstruction, in finding out how inadequate were the supplies at Gibraltar and Malta. When he represented this state of affairs to his chief, he had threatened to haul down his flag and publish the whole business in the newspapers in order to get the matter remedied.

THE ABANDONED IRISH VISIT.

Lord Cadogan's Enigmatic Explanation.

DUBLIN, March 14.—In an address delivered at a public meeting here, Earl Cadogan, Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, made a rather enigmatic reference to King Edward's abandoned visit to Ireland.

After declaring that nobody is more disappointed in this matter than the King himself, with whom the idea of this visit originated, and after expressing his own conviction that His Majesty would have been most enthusiastically welcomed here, Earl Cadogan said he shared the full responsibility with the other Ministers for advising the King that the present is not an appropriate occasion for a visit, and that the advice was given after the fullest consideration. The speaker said he refrained from characterizing the difficulties which rendered the abandoned visit inopportune, but that they are well known and deplored by a vast majority of the Irish people. Earl Cadogan said he is quite sure these difficulties are only of temporary character, and that before long His Majesty would be able to carry out his wish which is very near his heart, and the realization of which would be productive of the greatest possible advantage to Ireland.

France May Send a Warship.

PARIS, March 14.—The Echo de Paris, commenting on the adoption of the resolution by the United States Congress inviting France to participate in the inauguration of the Rochambeau monument at Washington, May 24, says:

"M. Cambon, the French Ambassador at Washington, has strongly urged the French Government to send a warship to represent France at the ceremony. We hope the Ministers of the Navy and the Navy will be represented by high officials. There is no doubt it is an excellent opportunity on the morrow of Prince Henry's visit, to make the exercises at the French-American manifestation of sympathy with Rochambeau imposing in character and invest them with solemnity and grandeur."

The Atlantic Union.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Atlantic Union, which was established a few years ago with the object of drawing together the various English-speaking peoples, has held its annual meeting in the House of Lords, says a dispatch from London to the Tribune. It was announced by Lord Aberdare, who presided, that the membership of the union had trebled during the last year. Lord Mowbray was elected President in succession to Lord Aberdare.

Consul at Lyons Resists Taxation.

PARIS, March 14.—A dispatch to the Patrie from Lyons says there is much comment there over a conflict between the municipality and the United States Consul there on account of an attempt to impose certain new taxes on that official. The latter claims to be exempt by the convention of February 2, 1893, and refuses to pay. The municipality threatens to seize the Consul's furniture.

Important Cancer Discovery.

NEW YORK, March 14.—A young Berlin physician, Dr. Ludwig Feinberg, has made an important discovery of independent animal organisms in cancer growths, says the Tribune's London correspondent. This discovery, he says, means a diagnosis of cancer.

Princess Alice Goes to Potsdam.

THE HAGUE, March 14.—Princess Alice of Albany started for Potsdam today. Queen's countess her visit with the reports of the coming betrothal of the Princess to the Crown Prince of Germany, Frederick William.

TO MAKE SMALL FARM PAY

DR. WITCOMBE GIVES HIS IDEAS AT AN INSTITUTE.

Other Agricultural College and Local Speakers Address Meeting on Timely Topics.

BUXTON, Or., March 14.—The first farmers' institute ever held here convened Wednesday. The meeting was under the auspices of Green Mountain Grange and the Oregon Agricultural College. Three representatives of that institution being in attendance.

The meeting was formally opened by the selection of William Stevens as permanent chairman. W. R. Whitney was called upon to welcome the visitors, which he did in a very happy manner.

To Make Small Farm Pay.

In response, Dr. James Witcombe said in part:

"In districts where farms are small it behooves the farmer to adopt systems of intensive culture in order to realize the largest return from his land. Especially the fertility of the land most rapidly, grow wheat, practice the Summer fallow, and burn the wheat straw."

Good Roads.

J. R. Bailey discussed "The Roads," holding that to secure good roads it is necessary to remove the stumps, make the roads 20 to 25 feet wide, crown them up and drain them. It would be a great improvement to have the work done systematically and by contract, instead of under the present arrangement.

Patronizing of Creameries. Mr. Bailey favored the idea of giving the County Commissioner a good monthly salary and making it his business to let road contracts in various parts of the county, and see that the work was properly performed.

The presentation of the topic, "Shall We Patronize the Creamery?" by Professor F. L. Kent, was followed by a lively discussion of questions arising from the sale of milk and cream, particularly with reference to variations in the Babcock test. Some patrons thought cream from a hand separator should not vary in fat content so long as there was no change in the adjustment of the machine; but it was explained that variation in the fat content of the milk separated, in the temperature of the milk, in the speed at which the machine is run, and the character of the feed would each affect the per cent of fat in the cream, and to such an extent that a variation of 5 per cent in the test of the cream from two consecutive separations was a frequent occurrence.

How He Makes Dairying Pay.

H. V. Whitney very intelligently discussed "How I Make Dairying Pay," saying in part:

"The first two principles of success in the dairy business are to select a cow and the right kind of a man to handle her. After the first year of my dairy operations I began to read dairy books and papers, experiment station bulletins, and everything I could get my hands on in the care of dairy cows that came under my notice, with the result that I got my eyes opened on the feeding question, as well as some others. I found that it paid to be regular with milking, feeding and watering the cows; that it paid to be quiet at all times, not running or worrying the cows in driving them to or from the pasture; that it paid to be careful in the milking stool, but with a brush and comb. Absolute cleanliness in the barn, and with all pails and cans will cause less kick from the creamery man; will make a better feeling between him and the farmer, and also a better price for the butter."

"I believe the average annual butter production per cow in Oregon is less than 200 pounds. By study and perseverance I have raised the average of my herd from 126 pounds to 354 pounds of butter per year, according to creamery statistics, and the milk flow from 277 pounds per cow annually to 522 pounds. I raised the value of the milk from 28 cents per 100 to 38 cents, and the income per cow from $13 to $60 per year. An inspection of my creamery statements for five years reveals the following information:

Year	No. cows	Milk, pounds	Butter, pounds	Cash rec'd.
1906	4	11,110	223	$34.67
1907	4	20,823	423	$67.42
1908	24	39,022	786	$121.78
1909	24	42,405	848	$135.68
1900	8	49,537	991	$158.28

P. H. Buxton presented a very able paper on "Farming as a Life's Vocation."

Some of the other topics presented were: "The Dairy Farm," by W. R. Whitney; "Variations in Milk Tests," by Eli Mills, and "Conservation of Moisture," by Professor A. L. Kinsley.

The meeting closed with an illustrated lecture on the dairy farm, given by Dr. James Witcombe and Professor F. L. Kent.

DESPERATE MAN TAKEN.

Dawson Police Disguise as Miners to Capture Highwayman.

DAWSON, Feb. 27, via Seattle, March 14.—William Brophy, for whom the police have been seeking the country for many weeks as a highwayman, was captured within five miles of Dawson last night after a hard fight with the police. Three Northwest mounted police made the capture. In the scuffle with the prisoner, one of the policemen's revolvers was accidentally discharged, and Brophy was shot in the stomach. The wound, however, is not serious. The highwayman was taken to the hospital and is expected to recover. The police are now looking for a man who was seen with Brophy within a few days. Three of the police, disguised as miners, captured Brophy. They found him at the Stokard Roadhouse on the edge of the town. As Brophy stepped out of the house they pounced on him, and after a hard struggle put him in irons. The desperate character of the fellow is shown in the fact that when captured he had a rifle filled with loaded cartridges, and a razor sewed in the flowing end of his four-in-hand tie. He was pounced on so quickly he did not have time to use the rifle.

Accidentally Killed Himself.

SEATTLE, March 14.—The steamer Cottage City today brought down from Juneau the body of William Goldstein, a well-known merchant and skillful miner, who was killed near Juneau on March 8, as a result of the accidental discharge of a shotgun. No one witnessed the tragedy. Goldstein had gone out for a few hours' shooting back of the town. A few hours later passersby came across his body, lying across a pile of timber. There was a gaping hole in the breast where the charge had entered. The most reasonable supposition appears to be that Goldstein tripped over the timber and the charge exploded.

Terrific Volcanic Eruption.

SEATTLE, March 14.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Juneau, Alaska, says that a letter has been received there from the Greek priest at Kenai, on Cook Inlet, telling of a terrific volcanic eruption in that vicinity about January 4. The whole side of an unnamed mountain seemed to be split open, and fire and lava were pouring from it. The village of Kenai was covered with ashes, and the earthquake which accompanied the eruption caused several tidal waves, doing considerable damage.

CIRCUIT COURT AT ASTORIA.

Term Will Conclude Today With Damage Case Against the City.

ASTORIA, March 14.—The trial of the case of John L. Bock vs. the City of Astoria, a suit to recover $500 damages for injuries alleged to have been received by falling through a hole on Duane street, was being held before a jury in the Circuit Court today. Judge McBride this morning excused all the jurors in the regular panel for the term, excepting those in the Bock case. He will adjourn court tomorrow evening and will go to Astoria where the regular term of court will convene on Monday, but expects to return during May to hear arguments on various motions and to give decisions in cases which he now has under advisement.

The trial of Michael Erickson on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, which was set for today, has been postponed, and it will be heard next week, as will the damage suit of John Reid vs. J. J. Kinney and Paddy Lynch. The

BACKACHE? IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Mrs. Frances W. Gresham, Secretary and Treasurer Higher League of Educational Society, Washington, D. C., says she was permanently cured by Warner's Safe Cure, a Trial Bottle of which will be sent Absolutely Free, postpaid, to every reader of The Oregonian.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

If you have pains in the back, rheumatism, uric acid, poison, rheumatic gout, diabetes, Bright's disease, inflammation of the bladder and urinary organs, scalding pains when you urinate or torpid liver, if a woman a bearing-down sensation, fainting spells, so-called female weakness, pain in the back, your kidneys are diseased. Diseased or weak kidneys cause more trouble and complications than any other sickness. CURES

This state of affairs could be avoided if every one was careful to test urine as soon as they felt the first backache; then if any trace of disease shows itself, get a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure. It will purify and heal the kidneys, kill all germs of disease, and prevent the serious complications that are liable to ensue, and restore perfect health.

"I firmly believe that I owe my life to Warner's Safe Cure. For two years I suffered with kidney trouble, and I could find no relief anywhere. I spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicines. Some would give temporary relief, but none would cure me. I decided to try Warner's Safe Cure as a last resort, and I wish I had followed the advice of friends sooner. It was the only thing that helped me, and in less than four months it had made a new woman of me. I am entirely cured, and I give all the praise to Warner's Safe Cure. FRANCES W. GRESHAM, Secretary and Treasurer Higher League of Educational Society, Washington, D. C.

Our doctor will send medical booklet, containing symptoms and treatment of each disease, and many convincing testimonials, free.

June term is usually one at which only equity cases are heard, but a jury will be summoned this time in order to dispose of several cases now on the docket. The case of Frank Spittle vs. the Columbia River Packers Association was dismissed. The suit was to recover $600 for a Universal can-soldering machine, and it was settled out of court.

WILLIAM BROWN DIES.

Commissioner of Baker County, and a Well-Known Rancher.

BAKER CITY, Or., March 14.—William Brown, County Commissioner of Baker County for the last eight years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Landreth, this afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock. Deceased was born in Ireland in 1841. He came to this country in early youth, and Thousands, both men and women, have kidney disease and do not know it. It is hereditary. If any of your family in this or past generations have been troubled with kidney disease of any form, you cannot be too careful. You should make a test of your kidneys at once and satisfy yourself as to their condition.

MAKE THIS TEST: Put some morning urine in a glass or bottle; let it stand for twenty-four hours. If then it is milky or cloudy or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased.

Howard Avenue, New Orleans, La., August 13, 1901.

Gentlemen: Last Spring my health broke down under continual mental strain. For several nights I was unable to sleep, and my nerves were completely unstrung.

The doctor told me that my trouble came from a diseased condition of my kidneys. He prescribed Warner's Safe Cure, and I am happy to say it worked wonders for me. It healed my kidneys so that they were able to do their work, and my general health was restored speedily. I enjoy refreshing sleep, and am now as strong and vigorous, physically and mentally, as I ever was in my life.
