As political conventions will occupy the attention of many of the solicitors this week, it was deemed inadvisable to begin the canvass until next week. All the committees will be invited to meet at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, No. 246 Washington street, next Friday evening at 8 o'clock, to receive their instructions and lists of persons in their districts who are likely to take stock. The canvass, once begun, will be pushed to early com-pletion, so that the work can be extended to other parts of the state. The amount remaining to be raised is $200,000. The secret societies will be expected to

SCHOOL EXPANSION.

Superintendent 'Ackerman's Lecture at the University of Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, March 16. -State Superintendent of Public Instruc-tion J. H. Ackerman lectured before the educational club of the university Tues-day night, on the subject of "School Ex-pansion." The theme of Superintendent Ackerman's address was a plea for utili-tarianism in education. He presented the ides that true culture in education comes from the study of those branches which teach something useful, and he believes that the old-time classic course, though it will probably remain with us for generations to come, has long outlived its use-fulness. "No advance in education," says Superintendent Ackerman, "is more sig-nificant than the growing thought that the studies of the highest practical usefulness are just the studies in which lie the highest possibilities of culture. It is important that young people learn to honor those-employments that are in some sense productive. The true culture in every walk of lifeds that knowledge which enables man to link his own activities with all things that are. Such education embraces the truths and laws, the tech-nical knowledge and skill, needed for the lighest efficiency in his vocation; it gives him that sense of dignity and worth that grows from a knowledge of the extent and meaning of the social service that he performs; it exalts labor to its true posion in social esteem."

Professor Lucila Clay Carson, head of the department of English, is compiling for publication in pamphlet form lists of be used as supplementary reading in the public schools of the state. Professor Carson has spent considerable time in corresponding with teachers, superintendents and publishing firms all over the United States, to ascertain from the best educational sources in the country what, in the opinion of those best able to know, was the proper material for supplementary reading in the public schools. The book is to aid the teachers in selecting the reading matter for their students and the reading matter for their students, and will contain tabulated lists of books suitable for the various grades, with the names of the authors, the pub-lishing houses and the selling price. In addition to lists of books for classroom work, there will be lists of books intend-ed for general library uses. The publication will also include lists of books for high schools and academies, and a few suggestions to aid teachers in pursuing their own course of reading. Professor Carson, in preparing this work for the public schools of Oregon, has consulted with J. H. Ackerman, the State Superin-tendent of Public Instruction, and with

Arrested for Forgery.

HILLSBORO, Or., March 16.-John Stemar, the forger, was arrested this evening by Sheriff Sewell and lodged in the County by Sherin sewell and lodged in the County Jali. He was found at the farmyard gate of his father-in-law's ranch, where he had for some hours been refused admittance to the house. Siemar does not appear to realize the enormity of his offense. He said he had 40 acres of land near Mepper, Ill., and that it was worth $90 an acre, Ill., and that it was worth $60 an acre, and that he had the land sold at a better figure, but the intending purchaser's wife died just as the deal was about to be effected. He intended taking up the forged instrument with the proceeds of the sale. Siemar has no possible conception of his wrong and was surprised at his errest. wrong, and was surprised at his arrest.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Depressing Influences Prevented Much Activity.

LONDON, March 16. - Too many depressing influences were abroad last week to permit of much activity on the Stock Exchange. Money is still scarce, and there is no prospect of this scarcity being relieved by large government disbursements until after the Easter holidays.

The health of Cecil Rhodes added to the depression of the stock market, although it is confidently asserting the stock market.

it is confidently asserted that arrange-ments have been perfected to avert a serious disturbance in the event of his death.

The capture of General Methuen was the most serious factor of the week from the sentimental point of view, although the suppression of this news by the government until the concluding of the set-tlement prevented what doubtless would have been a disastrous slump of the market. There is no question that the Stock Exchange is now in a healthler condition than it has been for several weeks past. owing to the drastic shaking out of the weak bulls, but there is no disposition to embark upon fresh commitments at the present moment.

New issues met with scant encouragement in the exchange, and Americans were absolutely stagnant. Home rails were dull and lower. Mines were dull, at were dull and lower. Mines were duil, at only a slight decline on the week, but their general range was from 10 to 15 per cent below the high level of the early part of the year.

AGE OF EXPERTS

MEN The ability of a Physician is measured by the CUREShemakes, and not by the number of diseases he treats.

Professional excellency can be obtained only by the Physician who concentrates all his faculties on a single class of diseases.

A great many people do not seem to understand the difference between the general practitioner and the medical expert who has devoted his life study to three or four diseases. They seem to be under the impression that any physician cures every disease with equal success. It is an every-day experience to have a patient eay: "I have tried nearly every remedy sold by druggists for my trouble," and the invariable verdict is, "No benefit." Another will say: "I have been treated by several family physicians in my neighborhood, who thought they could cure me, but the results proved otherwise."
