IT'S A NEW DEAL

Republican County Convention Meets.

INDEPENDENTS IN CONTROL

Political Offices Filled, Then Week's Adjournment.

HENRY E. M'GINN FOR SENATOR

Twelve Strong Candidates for Representatives—Regulars Are Outnumbered, but Make Game Fight—Good Feeling Manifest.

The Multnomah County Convention met yesterday, and was organized by the Independents. A Legislative ticket and delegates to the state and Congressional conventions were named. A committee was appointed to select a Central Committee, and adjournment was taken till Thursday, March 27.

REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

State Senator, HENRY E. M'GINN.

Representatives.
A. A. COURTNEY R. B. COBE
GEORGE M. ORTON H. J. FISHER
RANDERSON REED W. R. HUDSON
JOHN GILL C. W. HODSON
DAN J. MALARKEY A. A. BAILEY
J. R. HUTCHINSON W. W. BANKS

By the decisive vote of 101 to 57, the independent Republican delegates elected at the primaries Saturday captured yesterday's county convention, assumed control of the naming of a candidate for State Senator and 12 candidates for the Legislature, elected 67 delegates to the State Convention, and named a committee of seven to select for election members of the County Central Committee. A boisterous but good-tempered minority strenuously endeavored to secure recognition on the list of delegates to the State Convention, and otherwise made its presence felt, but with the election of A. A. Courtney as temporary chairman it became apparent that the expression of public sentiment at the polls was to be confirmed in the convention, and the majority continued in full control until the appointment by the chair of a committee to select members of the City and County Central Committee, when an adjournment was taken until next Thursday, at which time the work of the convention in making city and county nominations will be taken up and completed. Early in the day a resolution, offered by A. L. Mills, and pledging the nominees for Senator and Representatives to support the charter, just completed by the board appointed at the last Legislature, was sent through with a hurrah, and another resolution, offered by George H. Howell as a representative of the Federated Trades, and declaring in favor of the Mitchell-Kahn bill excluding Asiatics, was also passed with unanimous enthusiasm. Although evidence of factional feeling was everywhere present, even the most spirited debate failed to arouse any rancor or bitterness, and at the end of the session the minority leaders conceded that the majority had done nothing out of reason, and had annexed more of the party machinery than could be expected under the uneven circumstances.

Candidates and rumors began to drift into the A. O. U. W. Hall, where the convention was held, as early as 9 o'clock yesterday morning. They were followed by the delegates, who dallied with both, discredited them with equal facility and passed on to their seats. It was known that both factions were organized, and would act as units, and therefore, in spite of a persistent report that some of the Simon men were going to walk out, there was a lively prospect of a dull day. The election of Mr. Courtney as temporary chairman and of John P. Kavanaugh as temporary secretary served as a "show-down," Mr. Courtney defeating Judge H. H. Northrup, the candidate of the regulars, by a vote of 100 to 57, and there was nothing that promised even passing interest in the appointment of the committee on credentials and permanent organization, on both of which recognition was accorded the minority.

There was, nevertheless, something in prospect. After the noon recess, on motion of Charles H. Carey, the choice of the independent caucus for permanent chairman, the temporary officers were made permanent, and Clarence Gilbert, a regular, was elected as an additional secretary. After the adoption of the resolutions pledging the Legislative nominees to support the new charter and declaring in favor of the exclusion bill, the order of business became the selection of delegates to the State Convention, and F. P. Mays moved that the chair appoint a committee of seven to attend to this duty. This was the signal for the minority to speak, and its mouthpiece was Dr. C. A. Macrum, by M. L. Pipes, proxy. Instantly the doctor was on his feet with a neatly-folded paper in his hand, which proved to be a resolution to the effect that the delegates be elected by wards and precincts, a plan which would have had the result of landing a very goodly number of the partisans of Senator Simon in the State Convention. The doctor was seconded by C. H. Prescott, by Richard Williams, proxy, Mr. Prescott, through his eloquent proxy, made a ringing speech in favor of

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR STATE SENATOR.

HENRY E. M'GINN.

Henry E. McGinn, Republican candidate for Multnomah County, is a native Oregonian, and is recognized as one of the most brilliant attorneys of the state. He served two terms as Prosecuting Attorney of the Fourth Judicial District, and in 1902 he was elected to the State Senate. In 1895, upon the death of Judge Harwell Hurley, Mr. McGinn was appointed Judge for the Fourth Judicial District. Judge McGinn remained on the bench for one year, and since his retirement has been engaged in law practice. Judge McGinn is an orator of fine ability. He was born in 1859, and is the eldest son of a prominent pioneer family.

plained the desire of the minority at much length.

"It has been said on the floor of this hall," said Mr. Pipes, in conclusion, "that what is wanted is a new deal. From what I have seen of the majority, I think that they do not want a new deal so much as a new dealer."

At this juncture, when every one had begun to clamor for the question, E. R. Becket, who had for some time been acting excitedly by George W. Stapleton, proxy, got the floor and waved a paper over his head.

"Mr. Chairman," began Mr. Becket, impatiently, speaking through the lips of his proxy, "there has been a mysterious paper going the rounds of this convention. It contains the names of 67 men, and it is entitled 'Delegates to the State Convention.' What are these delegates? Who are these 67 men?" Mr. Becket then proceeded to arraign the majority severely, still speaking with the voice of Mr. Stapleton, but no one seemed to know the answers to his questions, and, there being no further champions or opponents of the measure, it was put to a vote.

C. H. Prescott, Dr. C. A. Macrum and Robert Warwick sprang to the feet of Richard Williams, M. L. Pipes and J. T. Ross, proxies, while shoulder to shoulder with them rose Wallace McCamant and H. H. Northrup. Said the five in one voice:

"We demand a vote by ballot."
A resolution authorizing five delegates to call for a vote by ballot had previously been introduced, and the chair was about to order one when he observed C. H. Prescott, by Richard Williams, proxy, still standing and shouting defiance across his right shoulder to W. L. Hoise.

"What were you saying?" he inquired. "I—I was about to ask for a vote by ballot," said Mr. Prescott, by Mr. Williams, proxy.

"You have already asked it, and you shall have it," said the chair. "Be seated." Mr. Prescott sank into the seat of Mr. Williams, proxy, and the vote was taken, resulting in the rout of Dr. Macrum's resolution by the regular 101 to 57 votes.

But Mr. Becket, by Mr. Stapleton, proxy, was not to be squelched so easily. "Mr. Chairman," said he, "I move that the list of delegates that has been circulated in this convention be adopted by the convention as our delegates to the State Central Committee."

"There is no list before the convention," said the chair.

Mr. Becket strode forward and placed the list on the secretary's table. "I move that it be read," said he.

Hard-Coal Miners on the Eve of Another Struggle.

OWNERS REFUSE TO MEET THEM

The Demand for an Agreement on the Wage Scale is Refused, as It Involves Recognition of the Union.

The anthracite miners of Pennsylvania and West Virginia are on the eve of another great strike, which, it is declared, will throw over 100,000 men out of work. The operators and officials of the coal-carrying roads refuse to treat with the officers of the union in the matter of arranging a wage scale. The sentiment of the miners' convention at Shamokin is in favor of a strike.

SHAMOKIN, Pa. March 19.—The Miners' Convention today began the consideration of the important matter which will decide whether the notices posted by the operators at the various collieries announcing a continuance of existing conditions shall be accepted or rejected. When asked if he would make any further effort to see J. Pierpont Morgan, President Mitchell said he had made no arrangements to that end.

DANISH WEST INDIES.

Perfecting Details of the Programme for Their Acquisition.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Although the details of the programme for the acquisition of the Danish West Indies have not been perfected, the discussion of the subject by the Cabinet has indicated a purpose on the part of the President to erect a provisional government in the islands at the outset. The American flag having been raised by an officer of the Army or Navy (just which is not yet certain, though it may be noted that the United States Gunboat Machias is now at St. Thomas) some person, probably a civilian, will be dispatched from the United States to take charge of affairs. Meanwhile, a scheme for a permanent government will be submitted to Congress, probably approximating the Porto Rican government in form, and if favorably acted upon, a permanent government will be installed before the end of the fiscal year.

Assured of Ratification.

COPENHAGEN, March 19.—The Landthing, the upper house, in committee of the whole and in executive session, voted today to ratify the treaty providing for the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States. The opponents of the treaty are playing for delay, but the measure is now assured of a majority of two votes in favor of ratification.

Chun's Gifts to the Kaiser.

BERLIN, March 19.—The presents given to Emperor William by Prince Chun, who came from Peking to Berlin last year to make atonement to Germany for the murder at Peking of Baron von Ketteler, German Minister to China, have been in storage here since Emperor William refused to accept them. The Emperor took this action since he believed their acceptance would be incompatible with the character of Prince Chun's mission. The presents, which consist of costly silks and objects of art, will, upon the second request of the Chinese Prince, be sent to a certain German museum.

Boston Strike Practically Over.

BOSTON, March 19.—With less than 200 men idle of the 20,000 who participated in the sympathetic strike here last week, traffic in the various trades affected by the trouble has resumed normal conditions. Prominent business men, labor representatives and members of the State Board of Arbitration are still in touch with each other, endeavoring to secure the reinstatement of the men now idle. The only difficulty in the matter is the question of finding places for the old men, and the strike is considered as practically settled.
