

WILL RETIRE MILES

President Offended at His Talk Before Senate Committee.

DISRESPECT TO HIS SUPERIORS

Roosevelt is Wary of the Constant Friction in the Army and Has Determined to Take a Decisive Step.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The statements made yesterday by General Miles before the Senate committee on military affairs were discussed by the President today with a number of his callers.

At the Cabinet meeting today the statements made by General Miles were brought up, but consideration of them was postponed.

The President is known to have stated that he is tired of the friction in the Army, and whether it is decided that General Miles' statement was privileged or not, he will at no distant day take action looking to his retirement.

The printed testimony of General Miles has not yet been made public, and it is understood that it will be submitted to him for approval.

Members of the committee say the report published yesterday afternoon was correct in substance in every particular.

At the same time, these Senators do not agree that General Miles' statement was privileged, and they are of the opinion that, whether they appear in the record or not, of course, the committee could take no action to prevent the retirement of General Miles.

Secretary Root is in consultation for some time with President Roosevelt at the White House tonight concerning the statement of General Miles before the Senate committee.

Secretary Root refused to talk for publication concerning the matter, saying that he had not read the testimony given by General Miles before the committee.

It is understood that General Miles will be asked to submit a general report of his testimony for revision.

BRITISH VIEWS OF HAWAII

GLOOMY PICTURE IS DRAWN BY THE SON OF W. T. STEAD.

The Ruin of the Islands, He Declares, Was Brought About by Annexation.

LONDON, March 21.—The Saturday Review, continuing its anti-American campaign, today publishes a long communication from Alfred Stead, son of William T. Stead, the editor, picturing the alleged despicable condition of Hawaii as a result of annexation to the United States.

Stead says that the unvarying lament is heard from every class, whether planter, merchant, or laborer, that the annexation to the effect that Hawaii has reaped no good of the annexation.

Mr. Stead says that the application of the American coastwise navigation laws has deprived the island of the use of 37,000 tons of shipping annually, thus crippling trade and raising freight rates.

The wealthy inhabitants of the islands, continues Mr. Stead, when they are in a hurry to reach the Pacific Coast, are frequently forced to take passage on a foreign vessel and pay a fine of $300 in addition to their fare.

The frequent sale of transports are greatly disliked, since they almost always bring smallpox or some other contagious disease requiring quarantine, says the writer, and the exclusion of the Chinese is ruining the islands.

Commenting editorially on this communication from Mr. Stead, the Saturday Review says: "Whatever evils the Hawaiians are suffering as a result of American protection they have richly merited as a punishment for their monstrous treatment of Queen Liliuokalani."
