TO GET MARKET PLACE

POMONA GRANGE IS DETERMINED TO FIND A SITE.

If City Council Will Not Give Up Market Block, East Side Block Will Be Secured.

At a meeting of the committee composed of Jasper J. Johnson, C. H. Welch and F. A. Miller, appointed by Pomona Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, of Multnomah County, to investigate the status of the Market block, on Second and Market streets, and lay plans to secure a market place for farmers, held yesterday, a full programme was agreed upon, after extend-ed discussion. An outline of a campaign to secure the desired market place in

J. J. Johnson, chairman of the commitsubmitted his report on the title to Market block. He made thorough examination of the records, and found that the city has a warranty deed to block 132 from W. W. Chapman, dated in 1866, for a consideration of $1300. He also found a number of quit-claim deeds including the block, but in no way affecting the title city to the block.

Mr. Johnson said that he found nothing on the records to indicate for what pur-pose the block was donated, which was a little disappointing to the committee, as it was confidently expected that it would somewhere be found that it had been donated for a farmers' market place, as common report had so stated.

C. H. Welch said that he had been told by Judge Northup and many others that it had been donated for that purpose. He said it had always been generally so un-derstood. However, according to the resuit of Mr. Johnson's investigation, the control and title was found vested in the City Council. Whether there is another document bearing on the purpose of the donation is not yet known, but Mr. John-son said he would continue his investigation. The committee decided it would pro-ceed on the plan that a market place is wanted by the farmers, and would en-deavor to secure this one if possible, and if not would see what can be secured on East Side. It was thought that a block near the east end of the Madistreet-pridge, that would be no further from the center of the city than the Mar-ket block, would be suitable. Every effort will be made to secure the Market It was decided to work through the granges of Multnomah, Clackamas, Washington and Clark Counties, but mainly through those of Multnomah. A petition will be circulated through the districts covered by the several granges, and then the matter will be presented to the City Council by a strong delegation of farmers representing these counties. Meanwhile ing the working of market places in other cities. C. H. Welch said that, so far as his information extended, in cities where there are market places, and about all are so provided, the market places are carefully regulated. Everything to be sold in certain lines in the way of small fruit, vegetables, wood, coal, etc., had to be st brought to the market place in their respective turns. In this way the streets are kept clear of teams. However, the committee will gather full information and will be fortified at all points. The times of the meetings of all the granges in Multnomah County were noted, and at these meetings a member of the committee will be present in person; or send a communication, asking that com-mittees on circulation of petitions be ap-pointed. Grangers in Clackamas, Washington and Clark Counties will also be reached. The programme outlined will take some time to work out, but it will be pushed energetically and effectively. The meeting adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman.

SOUTHEASTERN CAR SCHEDULE. Clinton Lelly Board of Trade Voted to Give It One Month's Trial.

After thorough discussion at a meeting of the Clinton Kelly Board of Trade last night, held in the W. C. T. U. Hall, Powell and East Twenty-seventh atreets, it was decided to accept the new proposed time schedule fixed for that district by the City & Suburban Railway Company for one month, in order to give it a trial.

The new time, when put into effect, will provide Woodstock and Richmond with 20-minute service. For Richmond, how-ever, there will be a transfer at East Twenty-sixth street. For Brooklyn branch a 20-minute service will be provided, and also for the district southeast from Grand

There was a fair attendance of rest dents from Woodstock, Kenliworth and Richmond. W. W. Brefberton presided. C. F. Swigert, of the City & Suburban Railway Company, was present. The whole situation and conditions were gone over in the best of humor. It was ex-plained by Mr. Swigert that the proposed time card had been adopted after careful consideration of the conditions and the district. He regarded the schedule the best that could be made for a single-track line for that district. Ralls had been ordered, he said, for the double track to East Twenty-sixth street and when they arrived, which would be next August, they would be laid as soon as possible, when the transfer to Richmond ould be done away with and a 10-min nte service given east from Grand ave-

The objections to the new schedule were mainly to the transfer at East Twentysixth street for Richmond and the sub-stitution of a 29-minute service from Grand avenue to East Twenty-sixth street. T. M. Edmonds said that the transfer would injure property in Rich-mond 25 per cent. C. J. Southerland also said that he should correct the control of mond is per cent. C. J. Southerman miso said that he should oppose the schedule, but for the promise of Mr. Swigert that it would be only temporary. H. S. Her-court spoke strongly in favor of the proosed schedule, and declared that it would e a good thing. T. A. Wood said he regarded the change as a retrograde

After all had spoken for or against the change, Mr. Swigert again went over the subject, explaining fully where he thought the new time would be a benefit, but remarked that the company would not at-tempt to force the change in the face of any considerable opposition of the peo-

Councilman Sherrett favored giving the change a trial, and then if the people were not satisfied, said that it would be an easy matter to go back to the old time. He remarked that he had always found the City & Suburban Railway Com pany ready to carry out its promises.
It was, therefore, moved and carried that the new schedule be given one month's trial, and if satisfactory it will stand until a double track is laid to East Twenty-sixth street, when quicker service will be inaugurated. Hence the new time will go into effect within a few days on these conditions.

Chaptain W. S. Gilbert and General Owen Summers were present and made short talks, dealing with incidents of the campaign and battle of Malabon. Dainty refreshments were served, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

PHYSICIAN'S STRANGE EXPERIENCE Dr. Johnson Is Confined to His Home

With Severe Pain in His Heel. Dr. A. H. Johnson, who lives on the cor-ner of Ninth and East Ankeny streets, is having a peculiar and painful experience, as he is confined to his home with a severe pain in the back of his right foot above the heel. He was on the West Side Monday evening waiting for a streetcar, when this pain struck him all of a sudden. At first he thought he had been hit with a stone, and turned around to see where the missile came from, but saw nothing. Suffering with intense pain in his heel, he managed to reach his home, where he passed the night in great misery. Yesterday there was little if any improve-

Superintendent Eerguson, of the Street-Cleaning Department, recommended that the board purchase two new sprinkling carts and four sprinkling attachments for the coming Summer. The city, he said, has 17 carts. Each Summer one is required for the City Park and two for the White House road, leaving 14 for the city proper. He asked that two more be added, and the board referred the matter to Mr. Ferguson and the purchasing committee, with power to act.

Mr. Ferguson also asked that he be pro vided with a horse and buggy, so that he might better be able to look after the might better be able to look after the street work being done in the city. POTENCY OF THE PRIMARY As Exhibited at Portland, and the Results Thereof.

Tacoma Ledger.
The City of Portland has furnished the The City of Portland has furnished the country with an example of how to elect Senators by popular vote. The lesson that the Portland episode teaches is that if the people went to elect their own Senators they must go to the primaries; or, in other words, they must not leave politics to the politicians, and then complain if it is not well done. Portland has not defeated Senator Simon for re-election not defeated Senator Simon for re-election. not defeated Senator Simon for re-election or elected a good man in his place, but she has decreed that the men who go up to the Legislature from Multnomah County shall be found voting against him when the last ballot is counted. And that practically means that the Senator's sphere of usefulness shall hereafter be confined to local politics.

The people of Oregon are to be congratulated upon the fact that they run their own politics, and that they are able to drop at their own will a man of the type of statesmanship not congenial to them. Simon's only shrewd political move was to get himself elected on a fluke that left him standing in the light of an ingrate to his friends. He seems to be much that the popular conception of an ideal Senator is not. In a position that presupposes benignity and breadth of sympathy, he is credited with being nar-row and cold and bigoted. Where high-mindedness is demanded, he is devoted to celf-interest. He has never tried to de-serve popular favor, but has kept his chumb upon a few precinct leaders in his own county. He knows the geography of the state by the political bosses of the counties. He has already been rewarded far beyond his deserts, and the people seem determined to cut short his career.

The Oregonians are not always so un-fortunate in their political selections. Simon's colleague is a Senator of a different stamp. Senator Mitchell is a National figure, and has been for 30 years a friend at court for the Northwest. He got off on the free silver heresy, and the people of Oregon, to show that they were running things, left him out of the Senate for term. But he is back again and making up for his mistake. He is a Senator who gets things done at Washington, and yet finds time for those little things at home which may be grouped under the head of "policy." He remembers the Indian War reteran who may need a pension; he congratulates the youth whose mother he knew, upon his coming of age; he sym-pathizes with a family or community upon the loss of a pioneer; he does a hundred other things that cost little, but count for much, and, at the very least, show that he does not despise, as does his olleague, the hand that feeds him. Such is the difference between men wh seek popular favor, and where that favor is so often abused it is comforting to find occasionally a public that is able and will-

His Figures Too Low.

PORTLAND, March 25 -(To the Editor,) -My attention has been called to the fig-ures presented in my communication published today in The Oregonian. I stated the assessed valuation of the Albina water works, the property referred to, as $17,000, which, in fact, was assessed in 1991 at $32,300, the first figures being the as-cessment for 1900. In either event, the values, judged by the subsequent sale to the city, are disproportionate, and con-firm my previous statement that such acts result in the shifting of the burden from those able to pay their just proportion the taxes to those less able." I had I heaten to rectify the misstatement in figures, so no injustice may be done. LEO FRIEDE
