

PRESIDENT'S VETO POLICY

COMES UP FOR MUCH DISCUSSION IN THE HOUSE.

Two Hundred and Fifteen Private Pension Bills Are Passed, Which Is Nearly the Record.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The House spent the day passing private pension bills. In all, 215 were passed. With one exception, this is the record for the number of such bills passed at a single session. The President's policy regarding the veto of bills to remove the charge of desertion from the records of soldiers came in for much discussion during the day. Early in the session the number of bills passed was reported, and Cannon gave notice that he would call it up Monday.

The Proceedings. Some routine preceded the regular order. A resolution was adopted which authorized the Secretary of War to furnish information relative to the condition of the Missouri River improvements below St. Joseph, Mo.

Littlefield (Rep. Me.) asked unanimous consent for consideration of a bill to confer jurisdiction upon the court of claims to adjudicate the claims of duties collected on goods going into the island of Porto Rico between April 1, 1898, and May 1, 1899. The bill provided that the claims found due should bear interest at 6 per cent. Payne (Rep. N. Y.) explained that the reasoning of the bill was made necessary by the decision of the Supreme Court. The claims for interest, he thought, were just, because General Davis, the military Governor of Porto Rico, subsequently sent to the Philippines the service bills not obtained on him. The bill was passed.

A bill was passed to grant a right of way through the San Francisco mountain range to the Central Railroad of Arizona.

The President's veto of the bill to review the charge of desertion against E. Klauer was read before the House and referred to the committee on military affairs. The House then proceeded to the consideration of private pension bills.

The first bill of the session was to correct the military record of Calvin A. Rice, and Talbot (Dem. S. C.) made a speech against this class of bills. He referred to the veto of the President, just read, and to his other vetoes of like bills. "I am glad," said he, "to see that the Chief Executive has come to my assistance to keep the roll of honor from being bespattered by desertion. While I disagree with the President in almost everything else, I heartily endorse his position in this matter. I have protested against the passage of the desertion bills for 10 years. He moved to lay aside the bill with an unfavorable report.

Mondell (Rep. Wyo.) declared that the bill did not seek to remove the charge of desertion from the record of Klauer, but to have him dismissed for being absent without leave.

Mann (Rep. Ill.) declared that Congress should consider the attitude of the President toward the military records. He denied that the President had declared that he would sign no bills checking the military records of soldiers. The President, he said, had ordered that some of these bills which, instead of permitting the Secretary of War to change the military record, required him to make the change.

Robinson (Dem. Ind.) interrupted to say that Congress should act as an independent branch of the Government. It should not abdicate its powers. If the President did not approve an act of Congress, the responsibility would rest with him. Mann thought it a waste of time for Congress to pass bills knowing they would not be signed. He did not know what the President would do, he said, but he was consistent he would veto every bill which was directory in form.

Hay (Dem. Va.) contended that if special bills were to be permissive, not directory, the Congress had as well pass a general law giving the Secretary of War permission to change military records of any soldier.

The bill was laid aside with a favorable recommendation, 41 to 2.

In all, 215 bills were favorably acted upon and subsequently passed by the House.

Cannon, from the committee on appropriations, reported the sundry civil appropriation bill and gave notice that he would call it up next Monday.

At 4:30 P. M. the House adjourned.

Another provision restricts officers and managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers to persons whose military or naval service would render them eligible for admission to the Home.

DOES NOT PRESENT A CASE.

No Move Will Be Made Against the Commercial Cable Company.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Representative Corliss, of Michigan, was given a hearing before the House committee on judiciary today on his resolutions directing the Attorney-General to institute proceedings against the Commercial Cable Company for alleged combination with other companies. Mr. Corliss declared that there had been a deliberate violation of the laws against combination and that the effect was to advance the cost of cable messages on the Atlantic 12 1/2 cents a word.

Chairman Ray and the members of the committee asked a number of questions which developed that the division over the resolution. Mr. Corliss said the matter had not been brought to the attention of the Attorney-General so far as

HE knew, but he desired that the committee take cognizance of facts which showed an offense against the law, and refer the subject to the Attorney-General for his investigation and action.

Chairman Ray said the resolutions amount to a resolution by Congress to the Attorney-General to do his duty when there was nothing to show he was negligent in his duty, or knew anything about the matter. He suggested that Mr. Corliss should first to the Attorney-General. Mr. Corliss remarked that he had not come to be advised as to what he should do, but merely to be heard on a statement of facts. If there was to be no action he desired to have the committee share in the responsibility for nonaction.

Mr. Littlefield expressed the belief that the attention of the Attorney-General could be got in 15 minutes if steps were taken to get the subject before him. He added that charges had often been made against the last Attorney-General and against the present one that they had failed to act, but Mr. Littlefield said he had failed to find these officials had refused to act on any matter properly brought to their attention.

Mr. Corliss maintained that there was ample evidence to warrant inquiry by the proper officials preliminary to action. Considerable sharp sparring was indulged in between the two gentlemen. Mr. Corliss could produce.

The committee then went into executive session and unanimously reported against the resolution on the ground that Mr. Corliss had not presented a case calling for the action proposed.

CUBAN RECIPROcity BILL.

Babeoek Will Not Leave Until the Measure Is Reported.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—It was reported about the house of representatives today that Representative Babeoek, of Wisconsin, who has been in ill-health of late, would go to Atlantic City for a stay of some time. This report caused quite a stir among the members interested in Cuban reciprocity, as Babeoek's vote was thought to be necessary to report the bill by the ways and means committee by Republican votes. Those opposing the Payne bill were very much elated over the report. Later in the day Babeoek visited the House and conferred with the ways and means leaders and with Speaker Cannon. It was said afterward that Babeoek would not leave the city at once, owing to the difficulty of securing accommodations at Atlantic City, and that this would enable him to attend a meeting of the ways and means committee before he left. It is expected Chairman Payne will call a meeting early next week, and the friends of the reciprocity measure say there is no further doubt the bill will be reported by Republican votes.

Exclusion of Jews by Russia.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Representative Goldfogle, of New York, today introduced the following resolution in the House: "Resolved, That the Secretary of State be and is hereby directed to inform this House whether American citizens of the Jewish religious faith, holding passports issued by this Government, are barred or excluded from entering the territory of the Empire of Russia, and whether the Russian Government has made or is making any discrimination between citizens of the United States of different religious faith or persuasion visiting or attempting to visit Russia, provided with American passports, and whether the Russian Government has made regulations restricting or specifically applying to American citizens, whether native or naturalized, of the Jewish religious denomination, the right of entering the territory of Russia, or to report the facts in relation thereto, and what action concerning such exclusion, discrimination or restriction, if any, has been taken by any department of the Government of the United States."

The President's Veto.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—President Roosevelt today sent the House a veto of the bill for the relief of Emanuel Klausner from the charge of desertion. The President says this bill, like the others, is not authorized by the President to act, but also orders the Secretary of War to revoke and set aside the order approving the proceedings, findings and sentence of a general court-martial and to grant an honorable discharge.

"It appears to imply," says the President, "the possession by Congress of the power of overruling and reverting by statute a valid judgment. If it did not do that it was simply an exercise of the pardoning power. It is questionable whether Congress in possession of these powers, and when the bill directed the Secretary of War to revoke an order, Congress in fact did the thing which it ordered him to do."

Department of Commerce Hearing.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—At the hearings today before the House committee on commerce on the Nelson bill, establishing a Department of Commerce and Labor, Messrs. Hayes, Secretary of the Knights of Labor; Bunker, of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and ex-Governor Bradford Prince, of New Mexico, spoke for the passage of the measure. Mr. Hayes, in behalf of the labor organization represented by him, gave his adherence to the inclusion of the labor branch, which has been objected to by some of the labor organizations. The hearings will proceed tomorrow.

The Miles Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary Root has completed his answer to the House resolution calling for correspondence between the department and Lieutenant-General Miles respecting the latter's proposition to visit the Philippines. The answer would have gone to the House today, except for a misunderstanding as to whether the body was in session, and it will consequently go in tomorrow or Monday.

Drifter Fined $2000.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 28.—Henry A. Taylor, the young Eastern capitalist convicted of conspiracy to bribe in connection with a $4,000,000 water supply contract, appeared in the Superior Court this afternoon to receive his sentence. Judge Newell at once imposed a fine of $2000, the maximum, without imprisonment. Taylor paid the fine and was discharged from custody. This disposes of three of the indictments in the water deal. Ex-City Attorney Lant K. Salisbury and Stilson V. McCleod are now serving terms in the Detroit House of Correction for violating the United States banking laws. The trial of T. F. McGarry is on call for next Monday, and it is understood a fight for change of venue will be made.

Evidence of an Old Crime.

BUENA VISTA, O., March 28.—While tearing down an old house a few miles north of here today, John Downing, a laborer, found the skeleton of a man beneath the floor. The lower jawbone was broken, indicating that the woman had met a violent death. There is no clue to the mystery. The house was formerly a rendezvous for river pirates. About 15 years ago a young school teacher who came here from the East mysteriously disappeared, and nothing was ever heard of her. It is now believed she may have been killed and her body secreted under the floor of the old house.

Postmaster Was Not Lynched.

CLAYTON, N. M., March 28.—The danger of lynching in the case of Postmaster Guyer, who killed W. E. Searles last Wednesday, is past. Today friends of Guyer succeeded in having his bond reduced to $4000, and he was delivered to the State and Guyer, after forwarding his resignation as Postmaster to Washington, left the town. His destination is not known.

The motorman who was in charge of the runaway coaches had to jump through a window to save himself from being caught in the wreckage. Fortunately for me a friend, on whom I called, had a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure in the house and gave me a dose to try it. I felt the effects immediately, and I ordered a large bottle and took it faithfully. The Republican members, at their conference, also considered the question of authorizing the President to assemble for the Philippines, but concluded to omit all legislation of that character and also to make no provision for delegates or commissioners in Congress from the Philippines. Provision for a complete census of the islands is, however, to be included in the bill. This is not to be a mere numbering of people, but an inquiry into their educational attainments and property acquisitions with the view of securing information of a character which may be of use in future legislation for the islands.
