THE OREGONIAN'S HANDBOOK.

The Oregonian's Handbook tells all about Portland, the entire Columbia River watershed and the 1905 World's Fair, commemorative of the Lewis and Clark expedition to Oregon. The book contains over 150 handsome illustrations, and it is printed on enameled book paper. It will be mailed to any address in the United States or Canada for 7 cents a copy.

"PRINTER BOY" IS RECOVERED.—The valuable pointer dog "Printer Boy," owned by W. C. Gibson, and which was supposed to have been stolen by someone about three weeks ago, has been located, in charge of one of the baggage men at the railroad depot, at The Dalles, and is now in possession of Mr. Gibson. Yesterday Mr. W. W. Peaslee, one of the officers of the Kennel Club, received a letter written at The Dalles by Mr. Gibson, and reading, in part, as follows: "Sheriff Kelly, of Wasco County, asks me to write you about the recovery of 'Printer Boy.' H. F. Zeigler, of The Dalles, told Mr. Kelly, Saturday, that a dog answering the description of 'Printer Boy' was at the depot in charge of the night baggage man. The next day, Mr. Kelly started for the baggage-man's house, and on the way over he met the son of the baggage man, who was leading the dog. The latter had a rope around his neck. Kelly took possession of the dog, and told the boy to inform his father that the dog had been stolen and that he, the Sheriff, would hold the dog until the owner turned up. Sunday evening a man named Ross called at the Sheriff's office and stated that he had received the dog from a brakeman named Jackson, employed by the O. R. & N. Jackson stated that about one month ago the dog jumped on board a train at the union depot in this city, as the train was moving, and was placed in the baggage car." Officers of the Kennel Club will consider the matter, shortly.

CHILDREN FORESTALL LOVER OF WILD FLOWERS.—An ardent lover of nature and amateur botanist, who has sought for the earliest wild flowers in the vicinity of Portland for several years, and who has found out the warm, sheltered spots where each of several species make their appearance, went out Sunday to look for trilliums. He sought a secluded place where for several years he has plucked his first bouquet of these blossoms, but to his surprise only an occasional specimen could be found. While hunting around for more, he saw four little girls coming out of the brush, each having a large handful of the flowers he had expected to secure. One of them, holding up her collection of flowers, called to him: "Were you looking for these, Mister?" He admitted that he was, when the little girls shouted in chorus, "Well, we got them!" and away they ran, laughing, and evidently much pleased that they had forestalled him. He says that in future he will have to go farther afield to secure early wild flowers, as there are too many children out scouring the hills near town.

ALL THAT SWELL UP ARE NOT CAPITALISTS.—All that glitters is not gold. Neither does every big man in the city directory belong to a big man—nay, even if the name is in bold type as black as Egypt. A certain man who professes, in the directory, to be a capitalist, reveals that he is not as heavy as the bold print which stands for him. The Lewis and Clark committee which is raising funds thought it had done something clever when it solicited the black-type names in the directory to boost along toward the $500,000. They find that some men are bigger than others, but that all the big men are not in big type and that some big men are bigger in type than on foot. The heavy-typed individual above referred to, although he was advertised as a capitalist, declined to give any money. He said that he has no property in Portland, none in Oregon and none in the Northwest, and that therefore Lewis and Clark may shift for themselves as far as he is concerned. He did not say he is a hot-air capitalist.

POTATO MARKET FLOODED.—Farmers are still bringing in potatoes without end, but are not getting any more for them than was being paid at the beginning of the year. The hauling is better now, however, and at $1 25 per sack the farmers ought all to be getting rich off their potatoes. Some of them are talking of clubbing together and sending back to Kansas or some other place for a carload or two of choice Burbanks, for seed. This would be a much more sensible scheme than to pay 85 cents a sack for small potatoes here for seed, as this would soon result in the farmers being all "small potatoes and few in a hill." The Burbank is the favorite potato here, and has been holding out very well as to quality, but it will be well to change seed occassionally. When every steamer for San Francisco carries away eight or ten or more thousand sacks, at $1 25 per sack, farmers cannot afford to run the risk of injuring their crop by planting small potatoes.

FISHERMEN TO OPEN SEASON.—Quite a number of persons were out fishing Sunday. Of course they were all fishing for salmon trout, as the season for brook trout opens this morning. It may be that some went fishing in brooks for salmon trout, and may have caught brook trout without noticing any difference, for so near the opening of the season "all trout look alike to most people." It is hinted that persons residing in the vicinity of good trout streams have been busy at odd times for the past week or more, endeavoring to relieve their over-crowded condition, or that people who waited till the season was open might not be tempted to catch more than the limit. The annual crop of Spring fish liars will be in evidence in a few days, with accounts of remarkable catches, which even Ananias himself could not believe.

GOLFERS BACK FROM CALIFORNIA.—Charles E. Ladd and J. Bourne have returned from Southern California, looking as hearty and healthy as possible, but tanned about as dark as the sun can make one. They just fairly wore out the golf grounds of that region, and have the game down fine, but say they haven't played all the golf there is, yet. They also say that T. B. Wilcox, who got cold feet and came away home, leaving them to battle for the honor of Portland against all the world, including a delegation from Tacoma, will have to learn the game all over again before he will be in their class. The golf links at Sellwood will soon be ready for playing on, and then others can get out and get tanned a dark buckskin color, without going to California.

W. C. T. U. LECTURER COMING.—Mrs. Nattie Graves, of Centralia, Wash., one of the National organizers of the W. C. T. U., will arrive in Portland today, and will lecture before the W. C. T. U. this evening at the Woodstock M. E. Church. She will also speak Wednesday afternoon before the Central Union, at the Noon Rest, 107½ Third street. In the evening she will address a meeting at Lents.

COMMENCING March 31 the White Collar Line will place in effect a daily service between Portland and The Dalles, leaving at 7 A. M. from foot Alder street.

FLORAL DESIGNS; lilies, pansies, roses, carnation plants. Burkhardt's, 23d and G.

COMMISSIONER DOSCH HAS TROUBLES.—In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, received yesterday, Henry E. Dosch, one of Oregon's commissioners to the Charleston fair, writes that he is arranging entries for the fruit jury, which will hold its first session today. He regrets that he has only 40 appies in the exhibit, and although the apples are very fine they are not representative of the resources of Oregon. The fruits on hand are in very good condition, "but," says Mr. Dosch, "a jury cannot be won by a look. Their good graces must be won through the stomach, and to accomplish this, what state has better fruit than Oregon? Missouri, Illinois, and even North Carolina have hundreds of plates of cold-storage fruit on exhibition, and while they look fine, they are not in it with us when it comes to flavor, size, color, and palatableness. But the jury must taste the fruit. My information as to its quality, no matter how much the jury believes it, will not be received, and hence we, not having enough fruit on hand, cannot expect to win so many medals as at Buffalo. However, we shall make a hard fight for everything in sight. The weather is fine, the attendance is increasing steadily, and we are kept busy talking about Oregon and its resources."

NEW POLICEMEN TO GET STARS.—These new policemen were appointed last night at a meeting of the Police Commissioners: A. G. Vaughn, Second Ward; C. E. Sprague, Eighth Ward; George J. Quinlan, Ninth Ward, and William Hunter, Eleventh Ward. The resignations of Patrol Driver Jacob Reisch and Policeman J. L. Harkleroad were accepted. Reisch is going into business, and Harkleroad is troubled by ill health. These special officers, without pay, were appointed to assist the Civic Improvement Association as to the removal of obstructions and debris from sidewalks, in an endeavor to beautify the city: B. Gibson, W. P. Lillis, C. C. Murphy and Thomas McCusker. These specials will co-operate with the police force.

BRAKEMAN SEVERELY INJURED.—A. P. Cayler, a brakeman from La Grande, employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, was severely injured by being crushed between freight cars yesterday at the Jefferson-street depot. He was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital, and will not be able to leave that institution for about three weeks. He was climbing on he could climb on top of the car the train was going toward another train of cars standing on the same track. The distance between the two trains was shorter than Cayler thought, and before he could climbe on top of the car the trains collided, and he was caught between the cars. He is married and has a family.

EAST SIDE SALOON DENIED LICENSE.—The liquor license committee has decided to refuse a license to some unknown person for a second saloon at the corner of Powell street and East Twenty-first. Several remonstrances, signed by nearly all the women in that district, were presented to the Council, urging that no license be granted for a second saloon there. They urge that the one saloon there, which is decently conducted, is enough for the district, and that a second saloon would cater to the patronage of boys. The committee, in deference to these remonstrances, decided not to allow any license to be granted for a second saloon.

WIND BLOWS UP DUST.—Many who have been growling about the nice, showery weather of the past few weeks, and kicking because Spring, gentle Spring, tarried so long, came to the conclusion yesterday that sunshine and winds and dry streets were not so nice as might be imagined. The wind raised up clouds of fine dust, like the sand storms of the great Sahara desert, and whirled it everywhere, filling eyes, ears and throats and making one wish that the streets were sprinkled with crude petroleum, which is an effectual preventive of dust.

WAG WINS A BET.—A waggish young man employed at the County Courthouse, made a bet that all the people who would visit that place yesterday would say they had attended church on Easter, and that not one of them would remember the text he or she had heard taken as the subject of the discourse on that occasion. He asked some 50 different persons, officers of the courts, lawyers, clerks and stenographers, and did not find one who could remember the text, so he won the bet.

BAD QUARTERS IN SLOT MACHINE.—Some one must have a supply of bogus 25-cent pieces on hand, as a saloon-keeper found no less than nine of them in his "Dawson City" slot machine yesterday morning. The man who played the machine did not lose much, and the proprietor did not make much, so honors are even.

OREGON CITY BOAT.—Commencing Wednesday, April 2, steamer Leona will go on the Portland-Oregon City route, making daily trips as follow: Leave Portland, 8:30 and 11:30 A. M., 3 and 6:15 P. M. Leave Oregon City, 7 and 10 A. M., 1:30 and 4:30 P. M. Round trip, 25 cents. *

RESTAURANT RAISES WAGES.—Watson's restaurant has voluntarily advanced wages as follows: Chief cook, from $17 50 to $20 per week; girls that work six hours per day, $4 to $5 per week; girls that work 10 hours per day, $7 to $8 per week. The above wages include board.

WOMAN'S PRESBYTERIAL SOCIETY TO MEET.—The annual meeting of the Woman's Presbyterial Society for the presbytery of Portland will be held on Wednesday, April 2, in the First Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Alder streets. The meeting will open at 10 A. M.

"ME AND JACK."

An excellent performance is presented at the Fredericksburg Music Hall this week. Several new artists appear, among them the Dockmans, monarchs of physical culture, in novelty bag-punching and original chair-balancing. Young Dockman is without a peer in his line in this country. The 13 Marco brothers are artists of genuine merit, and exhibit with grace and ease feats of contortionism that have never before been attempted, and which have astonished even members of the medical profession. Seymour and Hill, the dancing and singing acrobats, have made a decided hit in their sketch, entitled "Scenes in a Chinese Laundry." Flynn's famous London Gaiety Girls appear in a sparkling burlesque, entitled "Me and Jack," and create a great furore.

MUST DEFEND THE SUITS

GUARANTY SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION SO ORDERED.

Judge Sears Decides That Service of Summons on Retiring Agent Is Valid.

Judge Sears yesterday decided that the service of summons in the suit of S. C. Beach against the Guaranty Savings & Loan Association is valid, and the company must defend the suit.

Beach brought suit in January to recover money which he alleged he overpaid on a building and loan contract. He set forth in his complaint that because of false statements and misrepresentations he was imposed upon, and paid, in settlement of the loan, much in excess of the principal and legal interest. He seeks to recover the sum overpaid, amounting to about $500.

The company has been involved in the courts of late, a number of decisions having been rendered that its contracts are usurious, and that only the principal and legal interest can be collected. The company, to evade further suits, recently transferred all of its assets in this state, and its agent, J. W. Blain, resigned.

Judge Sears in his opinion, which was concurred in by Judges George and Cleland, said in part:

"Indeed, if a foreign corporation may invoke the aid of courts of a state as plaintiff to enforce its claims or contracts with citizens, it would seem consistent with justice that it should be liable to be made defendant in the courts of such state, at least as to transactions entered into with the citizens of the state. Certain obvious difficulties have heretofore prevented the complete attainment of this apparently resultant consequence."

A decision was cited where it was held, "When a corporation thinks proper to invoke the comity of another state, and transact its business there, it ought to be held to have voluntarily submitted itself to the laws of the state."

Continuing, Judge Sears said: "However this may be, if the defendant was allowed to carry on business in this state only upon condition that it would subject itself to the jurisdiction of our courts, as defendant, entered upon business herein in recognition of such condition, and it may be added, under an express contractual recognition thereof, we are of the opinion that such submission must be held to continue until the final conclusion of winding up all of such business; that the attempted retirement of Blain, the attorney in fact, was ineffectual as to this cause, and that service upon him, as such agent, brought him within the jurisdiction of this court.

"In expressing these views, we have not ignored the earnest presentation of the claim of non-jurisdiction of the counsel for defendant. The precise question seems not to have arisen in the jurisdiction of our state, and we are constrained to adopt the view that to hold this court without jurisdiction would result in a nullification of Legislative intent, in intolerable hardship to the citizens of our state, who would be compelled to resort to a distant tribunal, and in countenancing a total repudiation of the binding efficacy of contracts solemnly entered into."

This case was recently argued by William Reid and J. T. McKee as attorneys for the plaintiff, and W. D. Fenton for the defense. There are other similar cases pending in which the Guaranty Savings & Loan Association is defendant.

CALLS HUSBAND HEARTLESS.

Mrs. Lena Hawkins Sues for Divorce on Grounds of Cruel Treatment.

Lena Hawkins yesterday filed suit against Martin Hawkins for a divorce, on the ground of cruel treatment. The parties were married in Portland in 1895 and have two children. The maiden name of the plaintiff was Stafford. Mrs. Hawkins charges her husband with having behaved toward her in a cruel and heartless manner. She avers that because she spoke to a gentleman friend on the street Hawkins called her names, and that while they were living at Astoria he threatened to kill her. She also alleges that she was compelled to have him arrested in the Municipal Court and bound over to keep the peace, on account of threats which he made against her. Hawkins is employed by the Eastern Lumber Company, and Mrs. Hawkins asks that he be made to contribute $75 atorney's fees and $15 per month allmony for the support of the children.

BLUMAUER LOSES CASE.

Judge Sears Dismisses His Suit to Recover $9125 from R. Highet.

The suit of Moses Blumauer against Robert Highet, to recover $9125 on account of the sale of mining claims near Dawson, was dismissed by Judge Sears yesterday. Blumauer claimed one-quarter of what was received by Highet for the claims, alleging that he had an agreement with Highet to that effect. The court found that Blumauer is not entitled to anything, for the reason that the evidence did not show that there was any consideration for the agreement.

Cases Set for Trial.

Judge Frazer yesterday set cases for trial as follows:

A. E. West vs. Susan Cooley, April 3.
Oliphant vs. Oliphant, April 4.
Anna Meyer vs. Henry Meyer, April 8.

Court Notes.

In the divorce suit of James Bennett against William Bennett, an order of default was entered yesterday.

The suit of Edgar Poppleton against Barbaro Mayo, to recover $224 and attorney's fees and costs, was dismissed by Judge Frazer yesterday, on motion of plaintiff's attorney.

In the case of William Hearn, administrator of the estate of Harriett Mangan, deceased, against Rachel Louttit, a motion for a new trial was argued and submitted yesterday, before Judge Sears.

The suit of David West and Robert West, executors of the will of Margaret West, deceased, against A. F. and Josie Squires, to recover $220 on a note, and interest since 1892, was dismissed by Judge Frazer yesterday. The suit was filed in 1897.

Reimbursed by Express Company.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Controller of the Currency Ridgeley has received word from the National Bank of Montana, at Helena, Mont., that the United States Express Company has assumed liability and reimbursed the bank for the unrecovered amount of the $40,000 in complete circulation of that bank stolen in the express robbery of July 2, 1901. All notes of this issue in the possession of the department, or which may be presented hereafter, therefore will be redeemed.

FOOD AND NEURALGIA.

The Right Food Will Drive It Away.

Good food cures neuralgia and many other diseases if it is the right kind of food and taken regularly, for the proper food will surely rebuild the cellular tissues and build the right kind of cells instead of diseased cells. When the rebuilding is under way the disease leaves. That is the fact and the base of the food cure. There are hundreds of thousands of cases to prove the truth of this assertion.

A man in Delaware, Ia., Mr. Thomas Craven, says: "My wife has been greatly afflicted with neuralgia and has never found any medicine that would cure her.

"I was told that if she could be fed on Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food for a time she would probably get well, so we started on Grape-Nuts. Within a very short time Wife became entirely free from pain and is now, to all appearances, entirely cured of her trouble.

"We cannot find words to express our appreciation of the beneficial results from this greatest food in existence, Grape-Nuts."

"'WAY DOWN EAST."

Realistic Rural Drama Makes a Hit at the Marquam.

"'Way Down East," with its truly rural atmosphere, its crowd of folk who really seem to be right from the soil, its wonderfully realistic snow storm, and its pretty love story, opened what, to all appearances, is another big run at the Marquam last night, and made the same kind of a hit with a big house that it did on the occasion of its initial appearance in Portland more than a year ago. The drama is one which cannot fail to create interest. It is a panorama of New England pictures, each one more charming than the last, and each one true to life in every detail that it is possible to put upon the stage. The first act, with its quiet farmyard, and the familiar scenes before supper time, is instantly pronounced to be genuine by those who have been so fortunate as to come from a farm. The country parlor looks like the real thing, and the gathering of the merry-makers on their way to the party is as natural as the jingling of sleighbells outside. Then comes the realistic triumph of the play, the snow storm howling outside the country kitchen, an effect which is so natural that the people in the audience shudder as they see the snow come whirling in the door, and wonder to notice that the snow that is left on the clothing of those who have just come in is really melting away. The last scene of all, in the sugar bush, is a fitting climax to the suggestions of Winter, which have been becoming more pointed all the while. In few plays are the surroundings made to do so much, to perform so important a function as this, where the cold and the storm really enact as forceful a part as any of the characters.

Although the story is one of much interest, it really serves as but a thread on which to string a succession of farm incidents, not the least of which is the comedy of Hi Holler, a character which, in the hands of John E. Brennen, becomes easily the leading part of the play. Brennen enters so thoroughly into his role that one can hardly help believing him to be the real, happy-go-lucky farmer boy, and his infectious laugh is shared and prolonged by every one who hears it. His work last night in the second act when he was reading his "Pickings from Puck" was as clever a bit of comedy as has been seen in Portland for a long time. Charles A. Burke, as Rube Whipple, the town Constable, ably seconds Mr. Brennen's efforts to show the audience the funny side of New England country life, while Loyola O'Connor, as Martha Perkins, a typical old maid, completes an excellent comedy trio. Miss O'Connor received a tribute to her portrayal of the disagreeable side of meddlesome spinsterhood last evening, in the form of violent hisses whenever the ancient maiden endeavored to throw stumbling blocks in the way of the struggling virtue of Anna Moore.

Grace Hopkins, as Anna Moore, plays the character with much more effect than her predecessor of a year ago, and keeps the sympathy of the audience with her first, last and all the time. Grace Craib Hull was a pretty and winsome Kate Brewster, and was the life of many of the scenes in which she took part. Robert Gaillard made a typical city man with city morals. Charles Reigl used a good dialect with effect as the Squire. Julia Hachett was a prim and proper but kindly farmer's wife. Thurlow Bergan played Dave Bartlett acceptably, and Wallace Owen did the needful as Professor Sterling. The remainder of the cast was all that was necessary. A fine feature of the performance was the singing of the village choir, consisting of Harry Richards, Estelle Ward, Nellie Hart and Lydia Byron. Their voices blend perfectly, and are all of unusual quality, and only after half a dozen numbers would the audience be satisfied to let them go.

The scenery is very elaborate, the snow scene being remarkably fine, while the mechanical snow storm is by far the best thing of its kind ever see on the stage here. "'Way Down East" will run all the week, and will undoubtedly prove a strong attraction every night.

"The Octoroon" at Cordray's Tonight.

Dion Boucicault's great story of Southern life, "The Octoroon," will be the Shirley Company's offering at Cordray's this evening.

This is a story of slavery days which will live forever. It deals with a feature of that time which can hardly be realized as possible in this modern day. Briefly outlined, the plot is as follows:

Zoe, on octoroon girl, was the natural daughter of Judge Payton, her master, by a quadroon slave. Wishing to free his child, the Judge executes her free papers, forgetting that at the time a mortgage stood recorded against the estate, which stood as a lien upon all of his property, slaves included. After the death of the Judge, the mortgage is foreclosed, and the estate is to be sold under the hammer, unless a remittance is received from Liverpool in time to save it. To prevent the letter which would release the lien upon it from arriving in time, McCloskey, a neighboring planter, who has assisted in ruining the Judge, and who wished to gain possession of Zoe, murdered the boy who had been sent for the mail, and stole the letter.

The estate was sold at auction, McCloskey bidding in the octoroon at a price which showed conclusively the purpose for which he wanted her.

To divert suspicion from himself, McCloskey endeavored to fasten the crime of the boy's murder upon Wah-No-Tee, an Indian companion of the lad. The truth is brought to light in an ingenious manner, and McCloskey escapes, pursued by the Indian, who eventually overtakes him and avenges the death of his little friend.

To save herself from the fate which awaits her, Zoe obtains poison from one of the slaves, and in death seeks relief.

Miss Shirley is making a feature of "The Octoroon," and is giving it a production with special scenery and effects.

Important Piano News

We have very many cheap pianos at very little prices, but in each instance the money's worth is there in tone, wearing quality and appearance. We have cheaper and more expensive pianos than those fancy new mahogany or oak-cased cabinet grand uprights at $263 (on $10 a month payments if desired), but these latter are better than what you would be asked to pay $350 for elsewhere. These pianos fully deserve your confidence and our unlimited guarantee. Another thing, the very finest pianos manufactured in America are controlled by Ellers Piano House, and by reason of our special facilities and modern merchandising methods, we are in position to supply a really first-class piano at the price that other dealers are compelled to ask for an instrument not nearly so good. This is no mere idle talk. We have sold more fine pianos and are selling more high-class instruments than any other wholesale or retail concern west of the Mississippi, and there are reasons for it. Let us tell you how. We do it at 351 Washington.
