

CRIME WITHOUT PARALLEL

OLD MAN COLLINS, OF SALT LAKE, MURDERED BY A BOY.

Clyde Felt Says the Waichman Hypnotized Him and Compelled Him to Do the Deed.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 4.—Clyde Felt, a boy barely 15 years old, today confessed to the police that it was he who cut the throat of Samuel Collins, the aged watchman of the Wasatch Mineral Springs, whose body was found last Sunday in a small cave in the hills above Warm Springs. The deed was done, the boy claims, only after repeated urging by the old man, who told the boy that he intended to kill himself anyway, as he was tired of living. After cutting Collins' throat, Felt says he took the old man's clothes and hid them under a pile of boulders, walked up the entrance to the cave as best he could, wiped the blood off the razor with his fingers, then went down the hill and washed his hands in the stream. Collins, he said, had given him a little money for killing him.

Young Felt told the police yesterday that Collins had committed suicide after arranging with him to walk up the entrance to the cave so his body could not be found. Early this morning, in company with two policemen, the boy went out among the hills to locate Collins' valley, which he claimed he had carried up for the old man the day of his death. After several hours search, Felt broke down.

"I killed the old man," he said, "but I could not help it. He made me do it. We did not go up Ensign Peak at all, and I did not have any value to carry. The old man told me to tell that story if his body was found. When we got up to the little cave he began undressing. I asked him what he was doing that for, and he said he was going to commit suicide. I said 'Oh, don't do that while I am up here.' Then he said 'I want you to kill me. Here are some stakes and some rope. You tie me down and then cut my throat.' I did not like to do it, but he begged so hard that I just could not stand it. He took the rope and wrapped it around his legs and got me to tie his arms to his side. Then I took the razor. He kept on begging, and finally I got scared and carried them away down the gully and buried them. Then I went back and the old man was dead. I took some rocks and built a wall in front of the cave for about a mile. I got scared and did not finish it, so I came back the next day and finished walling up the hole. I could not help doing it. The old man could make me do anything he wanted to."

Felt insists that he was alone with Collins when the murder was committed. Nevertheless, the police believe that the boy has not told all, as his story and are working on the theory that others were implicated.

Behind the crime is a story of moral degeneracy that has few parallels. Collins, according to the police, had a number of boys in the neighborhood completely under his influence, and they expressed the belief that his death was the culmination of a plot on the part of the boys to kill the old man and thus rid themselves of his malign influence. Young Felt, it is claimed by the police, was a constant reader of dime novels. It is stated by the County Attorney that a charge of murder in the second degree will be made against the boy.

A QUICK TRIAL.

Lane, the Philadelphia Murderer, Sentenced to Death.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—William H. Lane, the colored servant who Tuesday murdered Ellen J. Jordan and her daughter, Madeline, and so badly wounded another daughter, Eloise, that she died today, was convicted of murder in the first degree this afternoon, after a trial lasting less than 1½ hours. Lane pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon, and was placed on trial at 1 o'clock today. Because of his plea of guilty, no jury was called, and only three witnesses were called for the purpose of determining the degree of murder. At 2:30 o'clock Judge Biddell sentenced the murderer to hang. The date of his execution will be fixed by Governor Stone.

Who Helped Dunn to Escape?

WICHITA, Kan., April 4.—Until mid-night Governor Stanley and Assistant Attorney-General Hamilton continued investigating John P. Dunn's escape from the St. Francis Hospital. They found that Dunn was aided in his escape by people within the hospital, but no official connected with it. The Governor said at midnight:

"We have made splendid progress, but we have not yet solved the problem of who aided Dunn in his escape. We will not quit till we find out. There is something very rotten in the matter and we must clear it up."

Today both the police and Sheriff's forces began active work in the case, but they are principally watching one another, the Sheriff evidently believing that the police know who Dunn is and vice versa. Some hot and bitter words passed between County Attorney Conley and Assistant Chief of Police Sutton tonight, when the latter was armed with weapons or other physical demonstration.

THE HALE CELEBRATION

President Roosevelt's Tribute to the Boston Author.

BOSTON, April 4.—In a letter sent to Senator George F. Hoar, expressing regret that he could not be present at the public celebration in honor of the 80th birthday of Edward Everett Hale, in this city last evening, President Roosevelt said:

"My Dear Senator Hoar: I very earnestly wish I could be at the meeting over which you are to preside in honor of the 80th birthday of Edward Everett Hale. A classical allusion of comparison is always very true; but I suppose all of us who have read the simplest of his books think of Timoleon in his last days at Syracuse, loved and honored in his old age by the fellow-citizens in whose service he had spent the strength of his best years, as one of the noblest and most attractive figures in all history."

"Dr. Hale is just such a figure now. We love him and we revere him. We are proud of our citizenship because he is our fellow-citizen and we feel that his life and his writings, both alike, spur us steadily to fresh effort toward high thinking and right living. To have written 'The Man Without a Country' by itself would be quite enough to make all the Nation his debtor. I belong in the innumerable army of those who owe him much, and through you I wish him God-speed now. Ever faithfully yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT."
